Money Big Problem For '71 Legislature

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

"When you talk about most of the expected business of the 1971 session of the legislature, it all comes back to the question of money. We are going to have to take a real hard look at existing programs and existing taxes before we can approve new programs, no matter how meaningful they may be to the state of Minnesota."

State Representative Andy Skaar was answering questions regarding what might be expected from the legislative session which gets underway this week in St. Paul. The Thief River Falls farmer will be returning for his fifth term as representative, having first been elected in 1962 when the district included Pennington and Red Lake counties.

Following reapportionment at a special session of the legislature in 1966, Rep. Skaar faced Rep. Everett Battles of Warroad in a new district which included Pennington, East Marshall and Roseau counties. This session will likely again tackle the reapportionment question—perhaps one of the most politically motivated questions which the legislature will face.

"Everything is being blamed on inflation," Rep. Skaar said, "but it's a fact that the number of state employees has been increasing by about 100 per month for the past several years. That creates a substantial cost in salaries alone, not to mention equipment and offices. This is one of the areas where legislators must take a hard look when they evaluate the requests of various departments."

At the last session the state budget topped the billion dollar figure for the first time. It is anticipated that budget requests this year will be more than $500 million greater than that figure to carry on existing programs—not to mention new programs which will be proposed.

"Frankly, I don't see how we can prevent a substantial increase in the budget. We have had large increases for the past several sessions. We may be able to hold departments to their present complement of personnel in some areas. In others—such as the programs dealing with environment and pollution and with crime control—increases will be necessary.

"Really, the only place where we can cut government expense significantly is in education—and that is only because education takes about 60 per cent of our total budget. The problem is finding where to cut or hold the line without affecting the quality of education which we want Minnesota children to have," Rep. Skoar said.

He expects a great deal of legislative activity in the environmental field. "There is no way to meet the needs in this area without giving our departments the tools to do the job," he said. In general, this means more personnel and equipment.

"We certainly are going to have to struggle with the real estate tax question. There is talk of establishing a ceiling on the

ON HIS WAY to St. Paul Sunday for the start of the 1971 legislative session was Rep. Andrew Skaar of Thief River Falls. Rep. Skaar, who farms west of Thief River Falls, is in his fifth term as legislator from this district.

MINNESOTA'S 33rd governor, Wendell R. Anderson, was sworn in this morning by Chief Justice Oscar R. Knutson of the Minnesota Supreme court (left). The new governor took the oath of office from Chief Justice Knutson and will formally assume the powers of office. The oath taking will be repeated Wednesday in the Minnesota House chamber before a joint session of the Minnesota legislature. The joint session will convene at noon.

Crops Eligible For Reseal Are Listed By ASC

Wallace Sparby, Pennington county ASCS office executive director, stated today that many questions are asked in regard to which year grain crops in storage now are eligible for reseal and which have to be settled.

Reseal of farm stored oats has been authorized for 1968, 1969 and 1970-crop years under loan. This will require settlements of loans on the 1965, 1966 and 1967 crops.

Reseal of farm stored barley is authorized for 1968, 1969 and 1970 crops presently under loan. This will require settlements of loans on 1965, 1966 and 1967 crops.

Reseal of farm stored wheat is authorized for all classes of 1968 wheat except hard red spring wheat. All classes of 1969 and 1970 crops are eligible for reseal. This will require settlements of loans on the 1967 crop and loans on hard red spring wheat from the 1968 crop.

Sparby stated that all grain under loan will be inspected some time during the winter. He also reminded all farmers that they are responsible for the quality and quantity of their grain which is under loan.

According to information received in the county ASCS office recently, loan rates on some grains will be lower in 1971. The national loan rate on oats has been lowered nine cents per bushel, rye 13 cents per bushel and barley two cents per bushel.

Motor Vehicle Registrar Sets Special Hours

Special hours will be observed by the office of Miss Ardith Johnson, deputy registrar of motor vehicles for Pennington county, during this final week to secure motor vehicle licenses without added penalty. The registrar's office is located in the clerk of court's office in the county courthouse in Thief River Falls.

The office will be open from 8:30 a.m. through 5 p.m., including the noon hour today through Saturday of this week. The office will also be open from 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Monday, January 11, the final day to purchase licenses without penalty. Normally the office is closed from noon to 1 p.m. and all day Saturday.

Miss Johnson adds that she plans on keeping the office open through the noon hour Monday through Friday through January 22.

If experience holds true this year, according to Public Safety Commissioner W. R. Hooglund, the rush for license plates will build up to a climax on January 11.

Normal deadline is January 10, but since this falls on a Sunday this year, the period has been extended through Monday.

"The owner who has not received his application card or who has lost it, or the owner whose title is in the process of being transferred can complete his registration, but extra time may be required. He should make application as soon as possible. After the deadline, the penalty must be paid, regardless of circumstances."

Because two of the statutory penalty deadlines fall on Sunday this year, they are being deferred one day.

On January 12, a $1 penalty goes into effect.

On January 21, the penalty becomes $2.

On February 2, the penalty is raised to $2.50.

City Council Prepares Snowmobile Ordinance

THIEF RIVER FALLS' new chief of police Roland E. Waller (standing) responds to welcomes by mayor A. E. Jacobson and former police chief and present special investigator Elton Cummings (seated). A veteran of the Minneapolis police force, Waller was sworn in as chief this (Monday) morning in a short ceremony in the Thief River Falls municipal courtroom.

In an attempt to control snowmobile traffic in the city of Thief River Falls, the city council is preparing a snowmobile ordinance which will have its first reading on Tuesday, January 12. Safety of snowmobile operators and protection of private rights and property are main objectives of the ordinance.

Aldermen Arnold Narverud and Gerald Wigness, together with City Clerk William Fahey, reviewed the proposed ordinance provisions for the Times late last week.

They noted that the first reading of the ordinace on January 12 would be subject to amendment prior to the second reading scheduled for January 19. The ordinance would go into effect following a third reading January 26, and official legal publication in the Times.

"The streets are not a playground," Wigness emphasized in discussing the ordinance proposal. While the ordinance is not yet in effect, he and Narverud suggested that parents make their children aware of the fact that it is being passed and what the provisions are.

Since the official wording of the ordinance was not available, the aldermen spoke in general terms about intent of the various provisions. Those provisions are as follows:

(1) No one will be permitted to operate a snowmobile on any street, alley, berm or sidewalk in the city except in traveling to or from the open country by the shortest route.

(2) Speed limit for machines within the city will be 15 miles per hour.

(3) Snowmobile operators will be required to yield to other traffic at all intersections when traveling to or from open country.

(4) No operation of snowmobiles will be permitted in the downtown business district, defined as the area between First and Fourth streets and Knight and Atlantic avenues.

(5) All snowmobiles operated in the city must have headlight, tail light, muffler and brakes.

(6) Snowmobiles can not trespass on private property.

(7) No snowmobiles will be allowed to operate in city parks where signs prohibit their use.

(8) No occupied toboggans or sleds are to be towed on the streets unless they are attached to the snowmobile by a rigid connection.

(9) Not over two persons may ride any one machine, and operators must be 14 years of age to operate snowmobiles on the streets of the city.

(10) In accordance with state statute, all operators crossing state highways, state aid streets and-or county highways must be 14 years of age or older, and the machine must be registered with the state department of conservation and have the registration numbers properly displayed.

(11) No driving of snowmobiles in the city will be permitted while the driver is under the influence of drugs or alcohol.

It is the intent of the council, the two aldermen said, that there will be no warnings given to the operators who violate the ordinance. The machines will be impounded at the first violation for a period of up to two weeks.

Swenson, president of Arctic, and Milton J. Lehr, president of General Leisure Products.

General Leisure Products plans full peak season production of its 1971 line of lawn mowers, lawn riders and lawn tractors beginning the week of Jan. 3, 1971, with financial aid from Arctic.

1971 Looms Brighter—Babson

Babson's Business and Financial Forecast for 1971

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., December 31, 1970. A year ago our Forecast for 1970 cited the "freshman jinx" which has plagued four of the past five decade-opening years. It was our prediction that 1970 would suffer a similar fate. For the better part of 1970, financial markets, industrial activity, inflation, the labor situation, world problems, unemployment, and civil disorders have created some unnerving moments.

1971 Looms Brighter

By and large, 1971 should be able to chalk up a better performance on many fronts. Part of this improvement will be due to the absence of a number of the perils which beset portions of 1970. The protracted Teamsters' and United Auto Workers' strikes, for example, exacted a heavy toll from general business. Also, the stringency in credit during the early months of 1970 and the virtual disarray of the bond market which persisted even further into the year had a lot to do with retarding business in the last twelve months. With these factors either out of the way or less oppressive, it is logical to anticipate that the economy will show improvement in 1971.

Shift of Administration's Posture

Failure of the Republican Party to make real inroads at national, state, and local levels during 1970's non-Presidential election is likely to have a significant influence on conditions during the year ahead. Prior to the election, the Nixon Administration was content to maintain a laissez faire policy with respect to management-labor relations, and it emphasized fiscal restraint in an effort to quell inflation. Results of the election, however, pointed up the unmistakable importance of "pocketbook" conditions over the other widely publicized issues. Therefore, the Babson's Reports staff expects the Nixon Administration to take a more active role during 1971 in stimulating the economy and in enlisting labor and management help in the battle to control cost-push inflation.

Not all Clear Sailing

Lest readers of this forecast view 1971 with complacency, however, the staff of Babson's Reports sees a number of potential dangers which the nation and its economy must contend with. The real possibility of a labor tie-up in the steel industry, for example, poses a danger to industrial activity on a par with the disruption caused by the UAW's strike against General Motors. Moreover, inflation and an uncomfortably high level of unemployment seem destined to be problems with which the Nixon Administration and the monetary authorities may have to contend throughout 1971. Summarily, however, unless these potential pit-falls become extreme, healthier business should be the rule for 1971 compared with the washout year of 1970.

Inflation Still Awesome Problem

A year ago, we labeled inflation Public Enemy Number One for 1970. This forecast, unfortunately, was all too apropos, as the upward canter of the indexes of consumer prices, wholesale commodity prices and labor costs in 1970 so dramatically proved. Although there may be interim spells when supply-demand ratios in selected areas raise hopes of some progress in the fight to harness inflation, it promises once again to be a top issue in 1971.

Despite indications that the Nixon Administration will adopt a harder line against the exorbitant escalation of wages and prices, the die has been cast for another upward twist in the wage price spiral. The lush new labor pacts inked by auto firms, the signal gains won by the Teamsters, and automatic wage increments under terms of existing multi year pacts in other industries provide lofty goals for labor's negotiating teams working on new contracts during 1971. On the price front, the squeeze on profits and the resolute uptrend in wage costs leave management no alternative but to raise prices.

In addition to the cost push factor, other forces could also fan the flames of inflation. For one thing, labor's productivity has not yet improved significantly. Another consideration is the likelihood that the Federal Reserve will continue to ease credit, on balance, as it has in the past year. And it may be forced to go further than desirable, at times, in order to create a credit climate favorable to the Treasury's regular refinancing needs plus the new financings that will be required to fund the fiscal 1971 federal budget deficit, estimates of which range anywhere from $10 billion to $20

Miller-Tydlacka Vows Exchanged In Wisconsin

Miss Roberta Lynne Miller and Michael Eugene Tydlacka exchanged marriage vows at St. James' church in Franklin, Wis., at 2 p.m., Saturday, November 28, the 22nd wedding anniversary of the bride's parents.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller of Red Lake Falls. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tydlacka, also of Red Lake Falls.

Rev. David Lawlik officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar graced with bouquets of gladioli and chrysanthemums in pink and white.

Mrs. Chris Pitrowski of Franklin, Wis., was the organist and soloist. She provided a prelude of organ selections as Lon Seeger and Arlan Harmoning of Moorhead, friends of the couple, ushered in the guests. She played "Cherish" for the processional, as the bride and groom were escorted to the altar by their parents, and "Workin' On a Groovy Thing" for the recessional. During the ceremony, Mrs. Pitrowski sang "Never My Love". Michael Derosier of Morris, a friend of the couple, read Genesis 2: 8-24, and a poem selected by the couple.

The bride was attired in a traditional floor-length wedding gown. Styled with an A-line skirt of ivory taffeta, the gown was topped with a lace covered bodice re-embroidered in front with seed pearls. Miniature-covered buttons cascaded down the back. Re-embroidered lace motifs were appliqued on the full-length sleeves of silk organza. Matching lace motifs encircled the skirt at the hemline. A pillbox headpiece held her full-length mantilla, edged with scalloped lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of double orchids and white carnations.

Mrs. Michael Derosier was the bride's personal attendant.

Mrs. Dale Birkeland of Hutchinson was matron of honor and Misses Patricia and Roberta Miller of Red Lake Falls were bridesmaids. All are sisters of the bride. They were attired in gowns of lavender, pink and purple, respectively, featuring high, rounded necklines, long, tapered sleeves and gathered skirts. Each carried a cascade bouquet of lavender, pink and purple mums with ribbon streamers matching their gowns.

Mary Jo Tydlacka, a sister of the groom, was flower girl. She was attired in an orchid dress fashioned with a smocked bodice with raglan sleeves. She carried a miniature cascade bouquet similar to the ones carried by the bride's attendants. David Miller of Red Lake Falls, a brother of the bride, carried the rings.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Charles Tydlacka of Drayton, N. D. Groomsmen were Don Demieux of South Milwaukee, Wis., a friend of the groom, and Jerry Tydlacka of Red Lake Falls, brother of the groom. Wedding programs, designed by the bride and groom, were distributed by Scott Miller, a brother of the bride. The men of the wedding party wore strollers with white carnation boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride was attired in a dusty blue knit dress styled with long sleeves and a flared skirt. Navy blue accessories accented her attire. The mother of the groom wore a pink polyester crepe, A-line dress featuring long sleeves with French cuffs. Both wore identical corsages of lavender and pink tinted mums with lavender-blue accents.

Honor guests at the wedding were the godmother of the bride, Mrs. Thomas LaBerge and her husband, and the groom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Lawe.

Immediately following the ceremony, the parents of the bride were hosts at a reception at Gondick's hall in South Milwaukee. Seventy guests were in attendance.

The three-tiered wedding cake, iced in white and decorated with pink roses, was topped by a ruffled ornament featuring two white doves holding two wedding rings. Mrs. Thomas LaBerge, aunt of the bride, cut and served the cake. Waitresses were Lori and Julie Lemieux and Sue Mattison of South Milwaukee.

For traveling on a wedding trip to Chicago, Ill., the bride wore a long-sleeved purple crepe dress with black accessories and a purple orchid corsage.

The bride and groom are graduates of Lafayette high school, Red Lake Falls, and the groom completed a course in aviation mechanics at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school. Give Portable Appliances The Proper Service

So you found a portable appliance under your Christmas tree!

Regardless of what the appliance is, if you expect it to give you good service, it's essential that you read the directions accompanying it and use it for the intended purpose only, cautions Mrs. Wanda Olson, extension specialist in household equipment at the University of Minnesota.

For example, if your gift was a portable light duty blender or light duty mixer, remember that neither one will work well for heavy, stiff mixtures and batters. The sound of the motor will tell you when it is overworked.

Always use the appliance on the correct circuit. Many of the fast-heating appliances use 1,000 to 1,600 watts. Unless you have a special appliance circuit in the kitchen, it's wise to use only one heating appliance per circuit. The same rule applies when you use coffee pots and grills in other rooms in the house which have not been wired for such electrical equipment. Too little current will result in the appliance not reaching desired temperatures or motors having too little power. Too little current can also be hard on the appliances.

Always give your equipment the care suggested in the directions. Mrs. Olson gives these suggestions of what not to do:

Don't force gears or controls on working parts.

Don't overheat by long preheating of the appliance. Don't overwork the motor.

Don't handle thermostatic controls carelessly. Tender, loving care means you turn off the heat on an electric fry pan and remove the plug from the wall, leaving the probe in the pan for a few minutes. If you drop the control because it is hot, you can affect the calibration of the thermostat.

Never place the heat control in water or connect this control in immersible appliances which have just been washed and are still damp.

Never connect the plug to the outlet or leave the plug end in the outlet and then insert the control into the appliance. When the plug is connected to the outlet there is current in the controls, then as you insert the control into the appliance you could burn out terminals.

Don't yank the cord when disconnecting the appliance. Remove the cord with your hand on the plug.

Abuse of your appliances could mean costly repair bills, Mrs. Olson warns. Such bills may include the cost of replacement of parts as well as the standard hourly rate of $11 to $12 an hour.

Although electrical appliances are usually covered by a one-year warranty, if it is to be effective the appliance must not have been damaged by misuse. The warranty must also have been registered at the time of purchase and the repair or return of the appliance must be within the warranty period. You may need the sales slip to prove that the appliance is still covered by the warranty.

School Board Is Responsible For Safety On Buses

Responsibility for the safe busing of school children should be in the hands of school board members, according to an article in the November issue of "The American School Board Journal," reports the Minnesota Safety council.

"In the final analysis, school board members are ultimately liable for the operation, accomplishments and safety of the total school program, including pupil transportation," the article states.

Policy guidelines should consider the attitude and goals of the school board, contractual agreements for outside busing service, the selection and responsibilities of a transportation supervisor, compliance with safety standards, vehicle maintenance, school bus routes, the hiring and training of drivers, pupil safety instruction and pupil discipline, the Journal article notes.

"School boards can have the quality and safety they want in pupil transportation programs. They must adopt adequate policies, direct their interest and determination downward through administrators and qualified supervisors, and provide funds, facilities and support for the program."

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

Mrs. Clarence Johnson of Goodridge

1971, the year of the Diamond Jubilee celebration, has begun. The year will be spent in much reminiscing as the history of Thief River Falls is unfolded in pictures and stories. For many, the past will be relived. For others it will be a time of excitement as they hear of the experiences of those who settled here and worked together to form this community.

Pioneer homemakers, or their daughters, Kitchen Karnival would like to hear from you. Won't you share your recipes and experiences with the modern cooks of today? How did your menus differ from the menus of today? What did you serve at a coffee party, an evening gathering, at club meetings, birthday parties or ladies aid meetings? What type of salads were made before gelatin salads became so popular? What was served for hurry-up meals or when unexpected guests arrived? All these things would be of interest to the homemakers of today, especially to those who have never baked a cake "from scratch", built a fire in a range, set bread, or churned butter.

To vary the recipes in Kitchen Karnival, we would also like to receive recipes from the modern homemakers. Contributions during the past year have been greatly appreciated.

We are grateful to Mrs. Clarence Johnson of Goodridge for sharing her recipe for coffee cake with the readers of Kitchen Karnival.

Swedish Coffee Cake

1½ cups white sugar
¼ cups butter
3 eggs
1 teaspoon soda
8 ounces of sour cream
1 cup sweet milk
3½ cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
Filling
½ cup white sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cups chopped walnuts

Method: Mix ingredients together in order given. Pour half of the batter in a well-greased angel food cake pan. Cover with half of the filling and carefully pour remaining batter over filling. Sprinkle the rest of the filling over the top of the batter. Take a knife and cut through the batter several times. Bake for one hour at 350 degrees.

Mrs. Johnson stated that since this coffee cake stays moist for a long time she always makes it for deer hunting season. For variation, she sometimes adds white raisins to the batter.

The Johnsons live on a 340 acre farm 25 miles from Thief River Falls. Their farming consists of raising both milk cows and beef cattle, together with some grain farming. Mr. Johnson is also employed as a trucker for the Thief River Falls sales barn.

They have four children. Robert, the oldest, is married and lives at Anoka with his wife and two sons. Donna, is also married and lives about 3½ miles from the home farm. She has a set of twins, a boy and girl, five-years old, and a seven month old daughter. Still at home are Jean, 16, and Jimmy 12.

Mrs. Johnson said that she did a great deal of baking. Her main hobby, which she shares with her married daughter, is making articles using art foam.

The Johnsons are members of St. Ann's Catholic church in Goodridge.

"Men Of Song" Concert Tuesday Next In Series

The "Men of Song" will present the next attraction in the Thief River Falls concert series when they sing Tuesday at 8:15 in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

This concert quartet has sung more than 800 concerts and the program is designed to suit the musical tastes of all concert association members. Admission is by season membership only. The "Men of Song" include Rob Fitz and Jack Horton, tenors; Gay Wald, baritone; Frederick McDonald, bass; Neil Stanaard, pianist.

Fitz is from the greater New York City area, attended Randolph-Macon college and Juilliard, served in the navy with the Atlantic fleet and is now established as an oratorio and opera singer in New York. This is his first national tour with the "Men of Song."

Horton, who counts both Virginia and West Virginia as home states, was graduated from the University of West Virginia. There he was the Metropolitan opera auditions winner. He has worked with the Lake George Opera company three seasons, made three national tours with the Goldovsky Opera theatre and also toured with the Robert Shaw chorale.

Wald is an Oklahoman who was graduated from Wichita state university. His professional credits include the Central City opera, the Santa Fe opera and featured roles with the Goldovsky Opera theatre.

McDonald, from Middleport, N.Y., attended Fredonia state university before completing his studies at Mannes school of music and Juilliard. He has toured as bass soloist with the DeCormier singers and the Whit-Lo singers and appeared on TV with the Ed Sullivan show singing group.

Stannard was graduated cum laude from USC, and was awarded scholarships to the Music Hochschule in Berlin and to Juilliard. He played concerts in seven European countries and as a concert accompanist has played in Carnegie hall, Alice Tully hall and has toured coast-to-coast.

Check Weather, Roads Before Winter Travel

If you have to be on the open highway during stormy weather, you can save yourself a lot of inconvenience and grief by doing what the professional drivers do: Keep up on what the weather is bringing and on road conditions ahead, advises Minnesota commissioner of public safety W. R. Hoaglund.

"A radio is an important driving accessory during the stormy weather season. The driver whose car is not equipped with radio should take along a portable set and keep it tuned to a station that broadcasts frequent weather bulletins.

"Correct information about road conditions is equally important. The traveler can get this on state trunk highways and Interstate routes in advance at any district office of the highway department during the day. Around-the-clock road information service is provided at the central office in St. Paul by calling 221-3076.

"In case of emergency, call the highway patrol emergency number, Zenith 7000 at no charge."

Such information becomes essential in severe weather, Hoaglund pointed out. "It can save the traveler from really dangerous situations, such as impassable sections of highway, blinding storm conditions, detours and other conditions that could immobilize a car venturing into them.

"Keeping informed on what's ahead, both as to weather and as to highways, is not just a good idea, it's a must for the driver on the road during bad weather."

Plastic Permits No Longer Used

Issuance of driver license learner's permits encased in plastic similar to the permanent driver licenses will be discontinued after the first of the year except for renewals, Minnesota Public Safety Commissioner W. R. Hoaglund announced today.

Instead, the applicants for driver licenses will use their receipts for permits. The reason for the change is that the great majority of applicants complete their tests and qualify for licenses within the time it takes to issue the plastic permit. However, it will be issued in plastic for the learner who finds it necessary to renew his permit.

Principal saving to the department will be in the cost of the plastic processing.

Park In Duluth Honors Memory Of Leif Erikson

On May 23, 1926, a half-sized replica of Leif Erikson's Viking ship sailed from Bergen, Norway to duplicate the voyage made by that seafaring adventurer when he discoved the North American continent in 997.

With a crew captained by Gerhard Folgero, the ship touched the Shetland and Faroe Islands and Iceland. After sailing around more than half of Greenland, it continued to Labrador and Newfoundland, arriving at Boston, Massachusetts on August 12.

The 25-foot vessel had covered 6,700 miles in 81 days across the formidable Atlantic Ocean.

After taking part in the Sesquicentennial Exposition at Philadelphia, the ship and crew sailed the Great Lakes, arriving in Duluth harbor on June 23, 1927. The ship was then loaned to the City of Duluth for dedication of the Leif Erikson Drive.

On Aug 25, 1956 the Norwegian-American League of Duluth presented the city with a statue of Erikson, commemorating his voyage to America. Both statue and ship are still featured tourist attractions at Duluth's Leif Erikson park.

Park visitors find it difficult to believe that the ship they see actually sailed the seas to this inland port. But the fact that it did makes Erikson's original voyage—in a craft twice as large—more credible.

Not that Erikson knew exactly what he was doing, of course. His historic trip was the result of being driven off course by a storm while on his way to Norway from Greenland. He did, however, know that he had landed on undiscovered shores and named the land Vinland because of the many wild grapes growing there.

So with all due respect to Columbus (and until the Kensington Runestone is finally authenticated), visitors to Leif Erikson park come away with the conviction that America was indeed discovered in 997.

School Districts Asked To Prepare Disaster Plans

Minnesota's school districts are being directed to prepare detailed plans to go into effect in the event that the district is threatened or affected by a disaster. The plans are to be completed by the beginning of the school year next fall.

The program is a joint effort of the Minnesota department of education and the civil defense division of the department of public safety. The local school boards are being advised to follow the directions of the "Minnesota School Disaster Planning Guide," published by the department of education. They will also use the department's guidelines for civil defense education as a basis for civil defense education in all elementary and high schools.

Fieldmen of the civil defense division will participate in the preparation of the plans, according to the program outline prepared by the department of education. All plans will be subject to review by the department of education, which has advised the school districts that each plan "should be tested and evaluated at least once a year."

While the main emphasis of the program is on plans for dealing with nuclear attacks, it is also concerned with disasters resulting from fire, flood and other natural causes.

Of special concern to the civil defense division, according to Minnesota Public Safety Commissioner W. R. Hoaglund are the plans for handling bomb threats and scares. Civil defense and the bomb squad of the bureau of criminal apprehension are concerned with the development of effective plans for evacuating buildings under threat of imminent danger, he said.

Otter Tail Power Company Budget Is $11 Million

Otter Tail Power company directors have approved a budget of $11,593,645 for construction of electrical and service facilities in its three state service area in 1971, it was announced this week by Albert V. Hartl, company president.

The budget, which is higher than other similar construction budgets of the company in recent years, includes nearly $3 million for engineering and site preparation costs in connection with the $100 million, 400 000 kilowatt generating station the company will build jointly with two other power companies in northeastern South Dakota.

Hartl pointed out, further, that during the five-year period, 1971 through 1975, his company plans to spend more than $83 million for construction, more than half of this amount associated with Otter Tail's 47½ per cent share of the Big Stone plant project in South Dakota. Actual construction of the Big Stone unit will begin in 1972 with completion scheduled for May of 1975. The plant will be a joint project of Otter Tail, Northwestern Public Service company and Montana-Dakota Utilities company.

Of the company's total 1971 construction budget, more than $3.6 million is allocated for high-voltage transmission lines and electrical substations, more than $2.4 million for new and improved electric distribution facilities, more than $2 million for generating plant improvements and pollution control equipment and a little more than $600,000 for tools, line equipment, motor vehicles and other equipment necessary for providing good electric service.

"It is obvious that the key word characterizing our operations over the next several years will be growth," Hartl said. "And although I realize it will not be an easy task to finance all of this growth, I'm confident that we will be able to do so if we're permitted to maintain earnings at a level sufficient to attract the new capital that will be needed.

"Making our job of financing still tougher is the fact that we must not only provide all of the new electric facilities necessary to serve the rapidly growing electric loads of our customers, but that we are anxious to do so in such a way that it will have the least possible detrimental effect upon the quality of our environment. In the future, the increasing costs which we will willingly incur in order to meet our obligations of helping to preserve and enhance the environment will have to be reflected in our customers' electric service bills," Hartl went on to say.

Social Security Report Needed

Every social security beneficiary under 72 who earned over $1,680 in 1970 will need to send his social security office an annual report of his earnings by April 15, according to Clifford Kittelson, district manager.

A wage earner needs to count his gross earnings from wages. A self-employed person counts the net income from his enterprise on which he paid self-employment tax.

Only earned income counts. He need not count interest, dividends, rentals and similar investment income.

A beneficiary who stopped his social security benefits during last year will get the report form to be completed in the mail. Anyone who earned over $1,680 and did not stop his benefits will have to get a form from his social security office. There is a penalty for failure to report.

Anyone who was 72 or older in January of 1970 need not report, regardless of earnings.

"Fiscal Facts" Book Presented To Legislators

Minnesota lawmakers, who open the 67th regular session of the State Legislature at the Capitol in St. Paul this week, found—162 pages of pertinent statistical reference material at their finger tips.

The paper bound volume, titled "Fiscal Facts for Minnesotans," is the eighth such publication issued biennially by the Minnesota Taxpayers association as a service to its members. It is distributed also to legislators, other public officials and news media.

Subject matter, according to Harold T. Miller, research director of the MTA, covers a broad range of state affairs, ranging from taxes on alcoholic beverages and cigarettes to expenditures for welfare. Newest addition to the contents is a separate section dealing with the rapidly expanding field of state and semi-state activities in the Twin Cities metropolitan area.

"The statistics and other factual material have been gathered from official sources," Miller said, "and have been collated objectively to present the most comprehensive picture possible of state government fiscal affairs.

"The legislators, particularly, may find interest in the many tables which set forth spending and taxing comparisons between Minnesota and the other states.

"Probably the toughest question facing Minnesota lawmakers this session is whether to add new or increased taxes to the burden now carried by the state's taxpayers or to hold the line on public spending. We hope that the information contained in 'Fiscal Facts' will help them to arrive at sound decisions."

Roseau County School Supt. Office Closed

Roseau county no longer has a county superintendent of schools.

As of January 1, the position was eliminated and the office closed. O. A. Roberts, who retired from teaching in 1964 but was called back to service as superintendent in 1968, has again retired. Mrs. Dennis Strandlund, who has been clerk in the office, ends her employment there, though she will continue to assist the county fair board.

Consolidation of all Roseau county schools was completed this year when the Grass Lake, Malung-Pencer, Wannaska, Haug-Leo and Salol rural districts joined the village districts.

County superintendents who have served since the position was created in 1895 are L. P. Dahlquist, G. H. Mattson, Anna C. Olson, Eddy Billberg, Charles C. Christianson and George Rinde, in addition to Roberts.

Money Is Main Problem For '71 Legislature

percentage of market value which a person can pay in real estate taxes. But it's real difficult to balance the wants and demands of the public with the ability to pay."

In financing state government costs, Rep. Skaar feels that the legislature will look first at the changes to be effected by passage of Amendment No. 1. Approved by the voters in November, that amendment could provide additional revenue through taxation of some property previously exempt. Second, he said, the legislature will likely seek to plug loopholes in existing tax laws. From there the legislators will look to the sales tax and possibly the state income tax.

"Taxes are a big burden in Minnesota and we must touch all of the bases to affect the best possible tax situation under the circumstances," the legislator said.

There will be a number of extremely controversial questions in the legislature, Rep. Skaar expects. He sees the abortion question being more hotly contested than last year, although he believes many legislators have stronger opinions this term than they did in 1969. Any abortion bill, he feels, will become involved in religion and emotion, although not exclusively with any particular religion or specific emotion.

He also looks for some changes to be made in the so called meet and confer law which affects negotiations between faculty and school boards. An interim committee has been studying the question, he said, and will likely recommend voluntary binding arbitration as one part of its report.

Highway department requests and recommendations will require considerable time, Rep. Skaar said. He believes the legislature will be reluctant to grant the full requests of the department, but expects that adjustments will be made in gas tax and motor vehicle license fees. The proposed surtax on license fees for bridge replacement seems like a necessity.

The debate on studded tires will also be detailed, the representative said, and he has already received a large amount of correspondence with information on both sides of the question. In a pre-election statement, Rep. Skaar said he was in favor of retaining use of studded tires. He feels that they do little road damage in this area of the state.

Changes made by the 1969 legislature will focus more attention on the departments this year, Rep. Skaar said. He expects a reduction in the number of committees from 28 to 24 with members serving on only four or five committees. Last session Rep. Skaar had six committee assignments.

Persons who wish to contact him during the session may write to Rep. Andrew Skaar, State Capitol, St. Paul, Minn. 55101. Since the capitol has its own post office no more detailed address is needed.

"If freight rates do not change from last year we will have these same reductions here in Pennington county. The wheat loan rate is the same for 1971," Sparby said.

License Plates May Be Delayed On Mail Order

Applicants for 1971 motor vehicle license plates who usually register by mail can avoid delays by getting them over the counter from deputy registrars or from the motor vehicle license cashier's office in the state highway building, Commissioner of Public Safety W. H. Hoaglund advised today.

"There will be some delay in mail orders," he explained, "because plates to fill these orders and to meet needs later in the year are still being manufactured. On the other hand, all deputy registrars have ample supplies. Applicants can get their plates immediately from these offices."

Early mail applications have been filled, he said. "To date, 25,000 sets of plates have been mailed. Production will continue after the holidays until all requirements are met, and mail orders will be filled as rapidly as plates are available. Our schedule calls for all orders to be filled and in the mail by February 25. However, owners can help alleviate the situation by picking up their plates in person."

Reasons for the delay are the limited manufacturing capacity at the St. Cloud reformatory, and the necessity of providing ample supplies to all deputy registrars. The St. Cloud facility has been running overtime to meet the demand.

The delay does not apply to validation stickers for trucks and trailers. These are immediately available at all offices and by mail.

Babson Forecast Predicts 1971 To Be Brighter

billion. The Babson's Reports staff estimates a deficit around $15 billion for fiscal 1971, but it could be much higher. President Nixon's budget for fiscal 1972 (covering twelve months from July 1, 1971 through June 30, 1972) is not yet available, but another sizeable deficit seems unavoidable.

Labor Co-Stars on Trouble Scene

The economy was dealt a one-two punch during 1970 by the Teamsters' and United Auto Workers' strikes. But there were a host of other less publicized walkouts. Net result was a skyrocketing of production time lost due to labor disputes. The outlook for 1971 promises little relief from the strike factor. A lengthy series of labor pacts expire in the next twelve months. Among the more significant are the following: Contracts with the major metal container producers run out on February 14; the aluminum industry has a May 31 deadline; the copper producers' pacts expire June 30, and the all-important United Steel Workers' contracts with the steel industry end July 31. In addition, contracts covering approximately 80,000 dockworkers are up for renewal in 1971, involving the International Longshoremen's Association working the Atlantic and Gulf ports, and the International Longshoremen and Warehousemen Union on the Pacific Coast.

Productive Capacity — Helpmate and Villain

As 1971 debuts, American industry is operating well below its theoretical capacity. Moreover, new plant and equipment projects started prior to the deceleration of capital outlays last year will be coming on stream in 1971. The nation's productive capacity—which is growing in might and efficiency—provides at least a measure of hope that inflation can be kept within tolerable bounds. Excess productive capacity relative to current levels of demand tends to moderate the severity of price mark-ups, while the use of efficient facilities can bolster profit margins.

But there is another face to the productive capacity factor. Due to the large gap between productive potential and near-term demand, the urgency to increase new plant and equipment has moderated noticeably. Hence, the Babson's Reports staff does not expect businessmen immediately to resume the expansive rate of outlays for capital equipment which fired the economic boom of the last decade. To the extent that recent cutbacks in business capital expenditures are not fully restored, progress of the economic revival in 1971 could be restrained. Overall, there should be an upward trend in business capital expenditures, but much of this will be due to price inflation. On a physical-volume basis, the increment will not be signally impressive. However, there could be some assistance if efforts to stimulate the economy incorporate measures restoring even part of the investment tax-credit incentive to capital expenditures.

Building and Construction

Physical volume of construction in 1970 slipped below that of 1969, reflecting the low level of residential building during part of the year. However, as monetary conditions eased, a promising pickup in new housing starts emerged. The staff of Babson's Reports forecasts increased vitality in the housing field in 1971. In the move to revitalize the economy, new home building is paramount, and some steps have already been taken to assist housing. With residential vacancies negligible and the nation on the threshold of a surge in new family formation, the need for new housing facilities is certainly present. Thus, with mortgage money now more readily available and mortgage interest rates likely to ease some in 1971, the home building field should provide important support for the economy. The outlook for commercial and industrial construction, however, is less promising. Reflecting deceleration of business capital expenditures, the nonresidential building sector is likely to evidence sluggishness in 1971. In public construction, the holdback in federal spending for new projects because of budget and anti-inflation considerations, plus the stringent credit climate, restricted 1970 activity. But the ease in credit and the termination of federal holdbacks on new construction outlays should enable this phase of the industry to contribute to the overall economic improvement looked for in the ensuing months.

As the recovery in residential building gains momentum, and as consumers loosen their purse strings, production and sales of home furnishings, building materials and supplies, and lumber should show marked improvement.

Business Profits and Dividends

Corporate profits after taxes in 1971 are expected to show a better year-to-year comparison than was the case in 1970. We forecast an increase of some 7 per cent. However, the profits outlook will take on its healthier hue primarily because of the comeback from the lean year just past. Nevertheless, businessmen must stay on their toes during the next twelve months, since cost pressures will keep nipping away at profit margins, even though an anticipated higher rate of general business and price markups should give a fillip to earnings. The degree of improvement in profitability could look quite impressive for those companies which turned in poor earnings results in 1970 due to strikes, inventory losses, and changeovers in accounting procedures for the handling of sales and profits not yet earned.

Reflecting the improvement in profits, the outlook for corporate dividend disbursements in 1971 is more promising than in 1970. While a spate of generous dividend rate increases is not anticipated, we do recognize the change for the better in corporate liquidity which, together with improving profits, will encourage management to take a somewhat more liberal view toward dividend payouts.

Further Easing in Credit Conditions

In 1970, monetary authorities expanded the nation's money supply at a rate which seemed somewhat on the generous side. However, some "armchair quarterbacks" feel even that was inadequate to give the economy a real uplift. So the Federal Reserve may well be under pressure to step up its injection of credit into the banking system, particularly since the Nixon Administration will be applying fiscal measures to pump more life into the ailing economy. In this joint effort both participants are on the horns of a dilemma,—namely, that the economy must be given added vitality without inflationary pressures being granted free rein. Hence, Federal Reserve authorities undoubtedly will keep a finger on the pulse of consumer and business capital expenditures, while the Administration must watch even more closely the rate of increase in prices and wages. Though price-wage controls now seem politically unacceptable, they should not be ruled out as possibilities if "jawboning" tactics fail.

Since short-term money rates have already receded significantly from the oppressively high levels when the credit crunch was most painful, there is likely to be only a moderate further dip despite the salutary monetary policy and added progress in rebuilding bank liquidity. At the long-term end of the interest rate spectrum, we foresee a paring of borrowing costs also, but it will probably be only slight and not till the latter part of 1971. The degree of easing and long-term money rates will be restrained by the ravenous need for capital, not only by the private sector of the economy but also by states, municipalities, the federal government and its various agencies.

The International Scene

International problems evident during much of 1970 will persist in the year ahead. The staff of Babson's Reports visualizes a continued touchy and highly inflammable international climate—with numerous tinderboxes—but no World War III. Instead, there will be stalemates in most 1971 world trouble spots, all having explosive possibilities.

In addition to beefing up the ailing economy, the Nixon Administration can be expected to hew closely to the established "Vietnamization" policy to forestall any further erosion of the GOP's 1972 Presidential hopes. As to other world areas, U.S. foreign policy seems likely to stress persuasion rather than military involvement, in hope that the combatants can amicably resolve thorny issues.

In 1971, the greater danger on the international front may be in the trade and financial sectors. The new Congress will have to tangle with the Trade Bill once again. Because of the likelihood of a massive federal budget deficit—and with the emphasis upon credit-easing measures to move the economy forward—the U.S. balance-of-payments position could once more be in jeopardy. The important European central bankers are renowned for their abhorrence of budget deficits; hence, the American dollar could fall into disfavor again. Such a development could cause another "flight from the dollar" and drain our already grossly inadequate gold reserves. While these dangers are serious and should not be lightly dismissed, we forecast that economic and inflation problems, which are plaguing most of the leading Free World nations as well as the United States, will take enough pressure off the dollar in international currency marts to avert devaluation in 1971.

Bond Market Outlook

The protracted uptrend in money rates resulted in a severely down-trodden bond market during much of 1970. However, toward the end of the year the series of reductions in short-term money rates prompted a vigorous rally in bond prices, particularly in issues bearing near and intermediate-term maturities. Only sustained brisk demand for long-term capital funds kept prices for long-term bonds from posting commensurate gains.

As 1971 unfolds, prospects favor a continuation of firm-to-higher bond prices. Monetary moves to stimulate the economy should enable money rates to ease a little further. This will be translated into somewhat higher bond prices. Just how much further bond prices will advance will be determined by the degree of aggressiveness which the Administration and the Federal Reserve exhibit in seeking to lift the economy. Also, in the second half, and particularly toward the end of the year, the economy should be on a sufficiently strong footing to create more active demand for short- and long-term credit. This could push interest rates back upward.

Even though the extremely generous yields available on bond investments a few short months ago have been pared, investors who require a solid base of fixed income can still find reasonably rewarding bonds among the intermediate- and longer-term bonds. There are also some less lucrative-yield convertible bonds and preferred stocks which can provide inflation-hedge protection via their conversion privilege.

1971 Economic Profile

The staff of Babson's Reports envisions a strong business tempo in the first half of 1971. Depending upon the scope and length of tie-ups in the steel and copper industries, however, at least a significant slowdown seems unavoidable for a portion of the second half. If the steel workers "hit the pavement," industrial production will encounter a downdraft after midyear, but even if the now apparently remote possibility of an amicable settlement occurs, there will be a "breathing spell" in industrial production, as the steel companies and their customers work off strike-hedge stockpiles. Toward the end of the year, renewed buoyancy should be in evidence.

Strength in the first half of 1971 will not be uniform. During the first quarter, we project a definite uptrend in factory output. This will be due largely to the carryover of post-strike catch-up efforts in the automobile industry. This impetus will be augmented by inventory accumulations in preparation for labor troubles in the industries cited earlier. The second quarter of 1971 will likely see a leveling-off in the business climb as the automotive field returns to more normal levels of operation. Thus, the crucial phase is expected to center in the third quarter of the year when the steel industry must cope with the United Steelworkers. The fourth quarter is likely to encounter some lethargy to begin with, but a show of strength should close out the year.

Throughout 1971, residential building is expected to provide a measure of strength for the economy. Since consumers may require some additional time—and a spell of good business—to fortify confidence sufficiently to unleash the pent-up buying potential, not too much vitality is anticipated during the first half of the year from consumer spending; but the tide should run more favorably in the second half, and particularly in the fourth quarter.

Trillion-Dollar Economy

The nation's Gross National Product should rise to a new record rate in 1971, with the year's average exceeding the trillion-dollar mark. This measure of the dollar value of goods and services produced, in current dollars, is expected to average approximately 6 per cent above the rate for 1970. However, much of the gain will stem from price increases; on a deflated basis, Gross National Product will show a much smaller increment, perhaps approximating 3 per cent. Greatest part of the strength is expected to occur during the first half year, with the first three months evidencing most of the vigor, yet with the second quarter sustained at a high level. The second half of 1971 will see a degree of pullback from the first half, with labor conditions the primary determinant.

Consumer Spending Slated For Revival

One of the disappointing aspects of 1970's business picture was the tight-fisted attitude of consumers. Despite the peak rates of personal income, consumers boosted their savings. With the unemployment problem likely to remain a source of concern in much of 1971, the task of reviving consumer confidence will be difficult. We anticipate only moderate gains in consumer spending in the forepart of the year, but strength should become more evident as the year progresses, with 1971 closing out vigorously.

Personal Income

The General Motors strike and layoffs in defense-related lines caused a tapering-off in the upward trend of personal income in the second half of 1970. The stronger trend should be resumed in 1971, but the bulk of the upthrust is expected in the first six months or so, with some tapering off during the second half. Fresh wage boosts under new labor pacts signed during the year, automatic step-ups in wage rates under existing multi-year contracts, pay boosts for federal, state, and municipal employees; and upward wage adjustments triggered by cost-of-living escalator provisions will combine to propel personal incomes upward.

Employment Conditions

On the strength of brisk factory operations in the first half of 1971, total employment is expected to post some gains in the new year. But the pinch on profit margins, plus high labor costs, will tend to restrain job expansion. With the natural growth of the population and the retrenchment of U. S. armed forces overseas, the economy may be hard put to absorb all of the growth in the civilian labor pool. Unemployment, close to 6 per cent of the available labor force as 1970 drew to a close, seems destined to edge past the 6 per cent mark before relief is encountered.

Taxes

Because of the top priority economic stimulus is slated to receive in 1971, the Babson's Reports staff anticipates little change in personal income tax and corporate profits tax rates at the federal level, but somewhat higher federal levies toward the year end should not be ruled out if inflation gets out of hand. The tax burden will surely be heavier at state and municipal levels, occurring in a wide range of levies including those on incomes, corporate profits, sales, and property.

Stock Market Prospects

Threat of a massive liquidity crisis for debt-laden corporate enterprises, and the shock of the Cambodian invasion, sent stock prices sharply lower during most of the first half of 1970. But when investors realized that monetary policy had shifted convincingly to an anti-recession posture, the stock market rallied sharply from late May until midsummer. There followed a fairly confined trading range until the latter part of November when the lowering of money rates sparked a new flurry of buying which carried the Dow-Jones Industrial Average out of its limited range consolidation phase.

Even though the stock market has already recouped a good deal of the ground lost since the long decline began in late 1968, participation in the rally has been confined to a fairly small segment of the market. Thus, there is still ample room for the rally to broaden. With the advantage of expansive monetary and fiscal policies, the Babson's Reports staff foresees an extension of the late 1970 upthrust. Earnings reports more favorable than those of a year ago will also help to bolster investor confidence in the early months of 1971. Thereafter, worries over the steel industry's labor situation may instill renewed caution.

Overall, the stock market is not likely to experience a sustained upsurge into new high ground in 1971. Limiting forces include the restraint upon corporate profits by cost increases, uneasiness over international developments and labor problems. Hence there will be spells of uncertainty as regards the stock market in 1971. A plus factor of significance, however, is the still well-deflated position of a majority of stocks.

There continue to be attractive opportunities for investors who have thus far failed to participate in the market recovery, or for those operating under a conservative investment program. In the long pull growth area, the Babson's Reports staff favors selected issues in the drug and hospital supply, petroleum, utilities, life insurance, and off-shore oil and gas industries. Certain undervalued and depressed cyclical issues offer opportunities for capital appreciation, particularly in the building-related home furnishings, food, automotive equipment, precious metals, trucks, and truck transportation fields. But in view of the many areas of uncertainty, emphasis should be placed upon stocks of companies which are well established and capable of achieving profitability in conjunction with the anticipated business betterment.

FINAL RUN was made by Helmer Sannes (third from right) Thursday after 46 years of service to the Soo Line railroad. Sannes started in the roundhouse in 1924, became a fireman in 1925 and an engineer in 1947, being engineer for the run between Thief River Falls and Noyes for the past six years. His retirement from the Soo Line was effective with the last run Thursday. Pictured left to right above are Willard Stromberg and Earle Anderson, brakemen; Floyd Klapp, fireman; Robert Jenkins, brakeman; Melvin Ernst, conductor; Sannes; Clarence Grindeland, Soo engineer, and Raymond Rambeck, Soo engineer and chairman of the local Brotherhood of Locomotive engineers.

Silverton 4-H club met December 10 at the town hall. President Eldon Myers called the meeting to order. Flag pledges were said, followed by roll call, which was answered by giving a favorite sport.

New business was in regard to the public speaking contest. Demonstrations were given by David Peterson on making a Poinsettia, and Ricky Peterson on making a Christmas tree ornament from a flash cube. Linnae Hanson and Jennifer Duke gave a demonstration on gift wrapping.

A poem on Christmas shopping was read by Melodee Rupprecht. Wendy Rupprecht read a poem, "Beside the Christmas Tree". Penny Jorde played two Christmas carols on the organ. Lisa and Linda recited a Christmas saying and David, Ricky, Julie and Susan Peterson gave a skit entitled "Christmas Presents". Christmas carols were sung by the group.

Pot luck lunch was served and candy bags were also given to everyone. At the close of the evening games were played, directed by Danae Nelson.

Park Authorized

Crowded into the hectic days of closing business in Congress, the bill authorizing establishment of the Voyageurs National park in northern Minnesota was passed Wednesday by voice vote with scarcely a second glance by U.S. Representatives.

If signed by President Nixon, as expected, the bill will authorize the secretary of interior to establish a park of some 139,000 acres of land and 80,000 acres of lakes in the Kabetogama peninsula and Crane lake area along the Minnesota-Canada border.

Establishment of the park had been extensively promoted by a committee formed for that purpose and comprised primarily of Twin Cities and Duluth members. It had been opposed by many from the park area itself—including both individuals and business concerns. Some believe that the park will not attract the large volume of people which its proponents claim; others are fearful that it will.

Our opinion has been that multiple use of the area is the best for all concerned and perhaps best for the area itself. Land that can produce timber and wildlife and provide more forms of recreation than are possible in a park for no outlay of public funds seems like a combination pretty tough to beat.

There are a number of hurdles yet to be cleared which may make actual establishment of the park a long range proposition. Nearly a fourth of the park area must be donated by the state of Minnesota and counties of St. Louis and Koochiching. Spending of $42 million in acquisition and development has been authorized but no money has been appropriated.

Personally, we aren't overjoyed to have the legislation pass.

You Break My Heart

The following article is authored by Commissioner William O. Newman of the Kentucky department of public safety. It was written following two especially tragic weekends wherein 36 Kentucky motorists were killed and epitomizes the feeling of many motor vehicle and traffic law enforcement administrators:

Maybe you're one of them. Are you one of the people who call me on the telephone or write me a letter to tell me my troopers are stopping motorists and giving them tickets for "no reason at all?" I wouldn't know—you never give your name!

You tell me you're a good citizen and a safe driver just using Interstate 64 for what it was intended—speed. And that "dumb cop" gave you a ticket.

You break my heart! I hope the next time you're tearing down the road at 85 miles per hour that trooper catches you again. I hope he gives you another ticket and the traffic judge takes your license away. I hope he catches you before you smash into a concrete bridge abutment at 85 miles per hour and he has to help pry your lifeless body out of that crushed speed machine of yours.

I hope we can teach you a lesson with a ticket so maybe you won't cause a wreck and cost somebody else his or her life.

You really break my heart telling me you don't have time to go to court about that ticket. I wish you could come with me to the scene of a wreck sometime. I wish I could make you stand and watch a man writhe in the gravel on the shoulder of a highway while he waits for an ambulance that will get there too late to do anything but carry him to the morgue!

I wish I could make you help scrape the bits of bone and flesh of a whole family off the asphalt and into baskets. You'd vomit—just like my troopers do, but you'd think differently the next time you climbed into that car of yours.

You said you were driving safely when the trooper stopped you. The road was clear and there was no harm in edging over the speed limit a few miles per hour—you said. I'm really impressed with your ability to judge road conditions. I'm only sorry a trooper wasn't at that place a few months ago when a man with a wife and four children had a blowout at over 80 mph. He might have slowed him down; and his children would still have a father and his wife a husband.

Oh, am I getting you mad again? That man might have been mad if the trooper had stopped him. He might have written me a letter. But he'd be alive!

Your letter doesn't bother me, friend. What bothers me is that you apparently haven't learned your lesson. You're probably going to get back behind the wheel of your car thinking you own the road and nothing can happen to you. You don't think about the other people on the road who want to go on living.

And who gave your kid driving lessons. You? Then he's probably gotten a couple of tickets, too. It's no wonder he weaves in-and-out of traffic, speeds and leaves strips of burned rubber at stop lights.

I hope we catch him, too, mister; before we have to call you and your wife to come identify his body at the morgue. I don't want to watch you crying and wishing you hadn't let him have a car until he learned to drive maturely.

And you say you want my troopers to let you off with a warning. What you really want is for us to stop doing our jobs! You want us to let you go until you meet another guy just like you—head on!

I wish you could come with me to a wreck and see the seared body of a victim after the fire department has finished its job of extinguishing 15 gallons of flaming gasoline. I wish you could go with me to her home and help me tell her husband that his wife isn't coming home because some idiot ran her off the road while trying to pass her. I want you to help him explain why mommy won't be home.

You're mad because you got a ticket, and you have to take time off from work to go to court.

You break my heart, mister!

Boxing and Ballyhoo

Never renowned for its high moral and ethical standards, the fight game isn't improving its image with the forthcoming fight between Cassius Clay and Joe Frazier. Each of the fighters is reportedly being guaranteed two and one-half million dollars for engaging in the night of fisticuffs.

The questionable background of both fighters and their fitness to be champion of any sport isn't the really disappointing aspect of the fight. It is the staged pre-fight theatries which are so less-than-artfully designed to sell closed circuit television seats that are disgusting.

It doesn't take a poke in the solar plexus by a professional fighter to cause you to take leave of your dinner. A professional promoter can give you much the same feeling in just a couple minutes of TV time.

Clay was considerably more appealing when he was knocking out everybody who came in the ring with him as he established himself in the professional field. His willingness to pat himself on the back was somewhat refreshing in an athletic world of disciplined modesty and on-camera humility. And his poetic predictions of disaster for his foes were so bad they were laughable.

But the ballyhoo about the Clay-Frazier fight is a little too thick to cut. The ever-present Howard Kosel in the role of match-maker is remindful of the pro wrestling promoter in establishing fictitious antagonism .... except that he is even more phony. He has the look of an over-eager youngster who can't wait for Christmas because he knows what's in the packages, but wants to goad the other children into being excited about the unknown.

Clay will win the fight, of course, and the pugilists and the promoters and the publicists will divide the spoils before they begin pushing for a rematch—a grudge fight—another way to tap the financial trough filled by the always gullible American fight fan.

New Conservation Boss

In appointing Robert L. Herbst as commissioner of conservation for Minnesota, Governor-elect Wendell Anderson has secured a young man with a strong background in the conservation field. Herbst will be returning to a department which he served for 12 years prior to becoming national executive director of the Izaac Walton League of America in 1969.

The new commissioner joined the conservation department in June of 1957 as an assistant area forestry supervisor. On Feb. 15, 1966, he was named deputy commissioner, and from July 16 of that year until Feb. 14, 1967 served as acting commissioner. He was reappointed deputy commissioner on Feb. 14, 1967 and served in that capacity until accepting the Izaac Walton league position last year.

When most people think of the state conservation department, they think of game and fish problems. Perhaps the most controversial questions surround that division of the department.

But the new name for the conservation department—the department of natural resources—perhaps indicates the broader role of the agency. The department includes divisions of enforcement and field service, game and fish, land and forests, parks and recreation and waters, soils and minerals.

Those divisions cover a lot of material in which all Minnesotans have a vital interest—whether they realize it or not.

We expect Herbst to be a good commissioner .... one who knows his homework and can present a good case for conservation before the legislature and the public. We respect the new governor's appointment to this important post.

PAM KJENSRUD goes up to block a shot by Crookston's Mary Hinkley but the ball had already rolled out of bounds during Wednesday night's girl's basketball game in the Lincoln high school gym. The contest matched girls from Lincoln against a team from Crookston and was played as a preliminary game before the Thief River Falls-Chisago Lakes contest. Miss Kjensrud led a second half rally for the local club and ended with a game high 12 points.

PAM HURBER seems a bit perplexed over the referee's call in Wednesday night's all-girl basketball game played in place of the B squad contest before the TRF-Chisago Lakes contest in the Lincoln high school gym. Bonnie Huhedujk (27) stands in the background during the play as Thief River Falls broke a 6-6 halftime tie enroute to their 21-10 win.

BOBBI BALLINGRUD shows near-perfect form in this lay-up attempt during Wednesday night's girl's basketball game in the Lincoln gym, but unfortunately missed the shot for the Thief River Falls team. Miss Ballingrud did score later in the game, however, on a 15-foot jump shot, as her team went on to defeat Crookston 21-10.

RANDE SMITH, 6-5 junior center for the Prowlers, grabs this rebound away from Gordy Hellig of the Trojans during the second quarter of Wednesday night's 62-55 win for the Prowlers over Chisago Lakes in the Lincoln gym. Mike Hamerlinck (53) of the Prowlers tries to get in position under the net in case of a loose ball as the Prowlers' Randy Carlson (21) watches the play from the background.

Prowlers Bump Trojans To Even Record At 3-3

Leading by just a single field goal at the end of the first quarter the Thief River Falls Prowlers out-scored the Chisago Lakes Trojans 14-7 in the second quarter and held on the rest of the way for a 62-55 win in the Lincoln gym Wednesday night.

The visiting Trojans, coming off a 52-49 loss to Newfolden Tuesday night, jumped out to a 6-3 lead with 5:33 remaining in the first quarter before the Prowlers came back to take the lead 10-8 on Mike Hamerlinck's lay-up with 3:53 left in the opening stanza and took the lead for good, 13-11 with 1:45 remaining on Rande Smith's short jump shot after the Trojans had tied the game 11-11 with 2:40 to play.

Hamerlinck gave the Prowlers their biggest lead of the opening quarter at 15-11 but a lay-up by Dale Hanson with three seconds remaining was needed for the Prowlers' two-point 17-15 edge at the end of the first quarter.

Hanson took the ball from the jump opening the second quarter and drove in for a lay-up for a 19-15 Prowler lead but Russ Malcomson, the Trojan center, pulled his team to within one point 19-18 with 6:48 remaining in the half.

With both teams using a full court press the Prowlers picked up a few more loose balls than did the Trojans and built a 28-20 edge with 2:39 to play and Hamerlinck connected on two free throws with 26 seconds remaining for a 31-22 halftime lead for the Prowlers.

Baskets by Hanson and Kent Smith gave the Prowlers their biggest lead of the game at 33-22 and 35-24 with 7:02 remaining before Malcomson scored five straight points for the Trojans to cut the Prowler lead to 38-34 with 4:03 remaining. Hanson and Hamerlinck picked up baskets for the Prowlers for another ten-point lead at 38-28 with 5:2L remaining but again the Trojans managed to trim the Prowler bulge to 39-34 and went into the final quarter trailing 45-39.

Chisago Lakes came to within four points 53-49 on Gordy Hellig's two free throws with 2:08 remaining but a free throw by Kent Smith and a field goal by brother Rande put the Prowlers on top 56-49 with 1:57 remaining.

The final two minutes of the game were frustrating for both coaches as the Trojans were never able to come closer than within four points of the Prowlers while the local quint never led by more than seven points.

Chisago Lakes pulled to within five points 60-55 with 30 seconds remaining in the game but free throws by Hamerlinck and Hanson gave the Prowlers their win.

The game put both clubs at 3-3 for the season with the Prowlers' next three games scheduled out of town at Bagley on Saturday night, January 9, at Bemidji January 15 and at East Grand Forks January 22. The Prowlers next home game is slated for Saturday night, January 23 against Cass Lake.

The Prowlers shot 34 per cent from the field against the Trojans, hitting on 16 of 55 shots while Chisago Lakes hit 20 of 63 attempts for 32 per cent. From the free throw line the Prowlers hit on 24 of 39 attempts for 62 per cent while the Trojans connected with 15 of 18 tries for 84 per cent. The Prowlers held a rebound edge of 42-32 for the contest.

Prowler mentor Whitey Olson said he was pleased with his team's overall performance but was a little dismayed at the number of turnovers his team committed. "I thought we did make some improvements and we did have a pretty good effort." At the same time Trojan coach Nick Berchin was extremely happy with his team's play against the Prowlers, saying it was his team's best effort of the year.

In the preliminary contest, girls from Lincoln high school broke a 6-6 halftime tie with 14 points in the final quarter for a 21-10 win over the Crookston girls. The Thief River Falls gals scored four points in the first quarter, two in the second and just one point in the third before their final quarter eruption led by Pam Kjensrud's twelve points, with ten coming in the final quarter.

41 Million Fish Killed By Water Pollution In '69

An estimated 41 million fish were killed in 45 states by water pollution during 1969, according to the federal water quality administration.

The number of fish deaths reported is the highest since the annual census began in 1960, and is attributed to greater cooperation by state reporting officials, greater public attention to fish kills, and to one very large kill which occurred.

The unusually large kill—20.5 million fish—took place in Lake Thonotosassa at Plant City, Fla. Untreated sewage from industrial and municipal sources had been entering the lake for 15 years and the combined load of nutrients finally reduced the oxygen level in January, 1969, to the point where fish could no longer survive.

Industrial operations were responsible for the highest numbers of fish killed during the year, while municipal pollution killed the fewest.

In 1960, municipal pollution was the greatest single cause of fish deaths.

Minnesota recorded nine major fish kills during 1969, with the largest kill of 5,000 fish occurring in the Roseau river. Someone deposited dieldrin—a poisonous insecticide—into the city sewer system.

Firearm Mishaps Are Year-Around Potential Danger

Firearms accidents are a 365 day a year problem and do not end with the close of the fall hunting seasons, the Minnesota department of natural resources noted today.

About one-half of all firearms accidents happen outside of the hunting seasons or are unrelated to hunting activity, according to William Severson, outdoor safety specialist.

Many such accidents occur in the home and result from failure to store the hunting firearm properly and in a safe place, he said.

He declared that the hunter's family deserves the protection afforded by these simple precautions:

(1) Make sure the gun is unloaded.

(2) Store the gun where young children cannot reach it.

(3) Place both gun and ammunition in separate locations and, if possible, under lock and key.

Severson also listed the hazards associated with the "Christmas gun" purchased as Christmas gifts for both youngsters and adults.

"Since the gun is new," he observed, "the mechanism, operation of the safety and method of disassembly are all strange, but many persons cannot restrain the temptation to put in a shell to see, for example, how the ejection system works.

"The instant that happens we have a loaded gun in the house—one of the most dangerous hazards confronting firearm handlers."

He advised those parents who give a firearm to their child for Christmas to make sure that the youngster receives competent instruction in the handling of guns through the firearm safety program administered by the Minnesota department of natural resources and carried out by some 3,000 volunteer instructors.

"These dedicated individuals have trained over one quarter of a million young persons in safe gun handling since 1959", Severson said.

Among the "off-season" causes of firearms accidents, Severson cited the problems associated with miscellaneous target practice, known as "plinking".

Many of the accidents in this category are from the use of pistols or revolvers although long guns play a part in "plinking" shootings also. "But the handgun is inherently more dangerous to use than the rifle or shotgun," he stated.

"The childish hobby of practicing the quick-draw in order to imitate the heroes of popular western novels contribute several shooting accidents to the list each year," said Severson.

"No one should engage in this ridiculous practice and instead should seek the special training required for the safe handling of hand guns," he concluded.

Select City For Pilot Study

Thief River Falls has received a $10,100 federal grant for a "Crime Prevention Through Public School Education" pilot project.

Funded through the Omnibus Crime bill's Safe Streets act, the goal of the project is, according to Doyle Aultman, Bemidji Region A director of the Governor's Crime commission and assistant project director, "to establish attitudinal objectives throughout the public school system."

The project will be implemented in four areas, consisting of primary grades, upper elementary grades, and junior and senior high school. A committee, made up of three teachers and a chairman as well as some students at the junior and senior high levels, will offer guidance in each area.

Topics to be covered include drug education, the corrections system, driver education, alcohol abuse, and the functions and obligations of prosecutors, judges, public defenders and other members of the law establishment.

The three-year program is to be administered by the city through the public school system. At the end of the project, results and methods will be evaluated by the committees involved, by the students and also by the community at large.

In addition to existing school facilities and personnel, the project will involve sessions between students and members of the law enforcement complex, such as police officers, attorneys, judges and corrections personnel. The fact that Thief River Falls has an abundance of such personnel available and interested in the project is one of the reasons that it was chosen as the locale for the pilot project, according to Aultman.

Should the pilot prove to be a success, similar programs may be implemented in other school systems throughout the country. An actual starting date for the local program has not yet been decided upon.

WHILE SOME of the parties involved look on, Thief River Falls mayor Dr. A. E. Jacobson, acting as applicant representative, completes the paperwork necessary for the $10,100 federal grant for a pilot project in "Crime Prevention Through Public School Education." Others taking part in the Monday afternoon session were (left to right) Bill Fahey, fiscal agent, Frank Hamerlinck, project director, and Doyle Aultman, Region A director of the Governor's Crime Commission.

Soo Line Proposes TRF Service Center

Soo Line Railroad company has asked the Minnesota Public Service commission to approve a plan for central agency service that would be implemented in nearly all parts of the state that it serves.

The plan calls for installation of 11 traveling agents, working out of five regional service centers located in Minneapolis, Glenwood and Thief River Falls, Minn.; Superior, Wis., and Hankinson, N.D. The Soo Line currently has in the state of Minnesota 78 open stations with agents assigned and 26 "pre paid" stations that would be serviced under the plan.

Centralized agency service is one of the newest innovations to railroading, brought about through changing patterns in rail transportation over the past several decades. The depot, once the center of railroad activity in smaller communities, no longer handles enough business to be efficient in meeting modern day needs of customers, a release from the Soo Line states.

Through regionally located service centers, central agency service now offers customers direct contact on such matters as car billing, tracing, rating, routing and other freight information. Traveling agents, each assigned territories adjacent to the service center, call directly on customers at their convenience, literally bringing the "depot" to their door. Customers can elect to contact the service center directly via toll-free "Enterprise" phone or arrange for the traveling agent to call directly.

The 102 stations that would be affected by the proposal would be termed "open" once the plan is fully operative. An "open" station is one at which railroad business may be transacted and to which freight charges need not be pre-paid. The plan calls for gradual implementation.

Central agency service is currently being used by the Soo Line in Wisconsin, North Dakota, Illinois and the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. The company takes pride in the fact that both shippers and station employees have been well satisfied with the plan.

The proposal calls for traveling agents to be assigned to:

Minneapolis; covering stations from New Brighton to North St. Paul; operating out of the Minneapolis service center.

Buffalo, covering stations from Henry Spur to Eden Valley, operating out of the Minneapolis service center.

Paynesville; covering stations from Paynesville to Genola, operating out of the Minneapolis service center.

Moose Lake; covering stations from Onamia to McGregor, operating out of the Superior service center.

Elbow Lake, covering stations from Lowry to Tenney, operating out of the Hankinson service center.

Alexandria, covering stations from Forada to Richville, operating out of the Glenwood service center.

Detroit Lakes; covering stations from Dent to Mahnomen, operating out of the Glenwood service center.

Oklee; covering stations from Bejou to Leonard, operating out of the Thief River Falls service center.

Oslo, covering stations from Rosewood to Oslo, operating out of the Thief River Falls service center.

Thief River Falls; covering stations from Newfolden to Orleans, operating out of the Thief River Falls service center.

Federal Dam, covering stations from Palisade to Pinewood, operating out of the Thief River Falls service center.

No TB Indicated By TRF School Montoux Tests

No evidence of active tuberculosis was turned up during the Mantoux testing carried out in Thief River Falls schools during December.

According to Margaret Race, school nurse, no new reactors were found among the faculty members and the old reactors, when X-rayed, did not show signs of the disease. Testing of students in grades one, seven and 12 and all new students produced one new reactor, but neither the new reactor nor any of the former reactors showed any evidence of the disease when X-rayed.

City Asks Study Of Tax Situation

Investigation into the Thief River Falls valuation and tax situation is being asked by the city as a result of action taken by the Thief River Falls city council December 30. The council is requesting an investigation by the state tax department.

In other action at the December meeting, William Peterson was named manager of the municipal liquor store to succeed the late Thomas Fuller, with the position being made retroactive to December 1. Alan Gehrls was appointed assistant manager as of January 1. Appointments were made on recommendation of the liquor store committee.

The council also authorized payment of an easement of $750 to the Thief River Falls Cooperative Creamery association for the emergency by-pass which crosses creamery property.

Top News Stories Of 1970 Are Reviewed

As frequently happens when news happenings are reviewed, important events become a series of stories rather than a single newspaper article. Selection of the top news stories of the year thus becomes a matter of grouping articles dealing with a particular subject. Such is the case for the Thief River Falls area in 1970.

In the opinion of the Times news staff, the major news story of the year was the re-valuation of all taxable real and personal property in Thief River Falls. No other story directly affected so many people nor created so much public discussion as this activity did.

Tied closely with this top story was the increase in total assessed valuation in the county to $7,207,437, including an increase in Thief River Falls to $3,813,762. Both are all-time high figures and up substantially from the previous year.

Second place would go to a general category which might be termed simply school situations. Included would be controversy over negotiations for faculty salaries and benefits, first enrollment over 3,000 students (3,080) in kindergarten through grade 12, and first school budget over $4 million at $4,096,182. Also included might be the projection that school enrollment would be expected to increase by about 100 per year for the next 10 years.

Community growth would be the third major news category for 1970. Preliminary census figures indicated that the city had grown from 7,151 in 1960 to 8,648 in 1970. Building permits totaled $3,213,805 with the 140 permits including 52 new dwellings. Arctic Enterprises announced annual sales of $46 million and later first-half fiscal year sales of $26 million. Schroeder Industries began operation in the city's industrial park.

There were other significant stories during the year. Farmers and others at a public hearing flatly rejected a proposed county zoning ordinance. Thief River Falls United Fund had cash and pledges of $32,000 to go well over its quota for the first time. November elections showed voter unrest, with good turnouts and several surprises. Fire caused much damage to part of the Osborne-McMillan Elevator company. The Red Lake river claimed two lives by drowning. The city had its first armed robbery in 20 years. Area young men gave their lives as the war in far away Vietnam was brought close to home. Spring rains continued into early summer and washed out hopes of many farmers to seed their crops. Traffic mishaps took their toll of life, personal injury and property damage.

And 1970 gave way to 1971—the Diamond Jubilee year for Thief River Falls—when more news will be made and recorded for posterity in the Times.

History Society Board To Hear Reports Sunday

Review of work done by various committees will take place at a board meeting of the Pennington County Historical society Sunday at 1:30 p.m. in the basement meeting room of the county courthouse in Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Inga Geving, president of the society, has called the meeting with specific committees to determine the course of action to be taken as the society assists in observance of the Thief River Falls Diamond Jubilee. All board members are asked to be in attendance.

Only the legal, finance, pioneer buildings and site committees will meet with the board Sunday, Mrs. Geving said. Meetings will be called later for other committees which have been organized to conduct affairs of the organization. All members of the committees mentioned are urged to attend the Sunday session.

Mrs. Geving also announced that a public meeting will be held Sunday, January 24, at the Washington elementary school gymnasium. Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre, of Fargo, N. D., members of the Cass county and Red River Valley historical societies, will show slides of the pioneer village at Fargo and other items of historical interest. Further details will be announced later.

Record Equity Payment Made By Land O'Lakes

Farmers throughout the upper midwestern states of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Illinois will be sharing in the distribution of almost $6 million of equity retirement mailed out in December. Over 33,000 checks have been mailed to member cooperatives or patrons who have marketed their products through Land O'Lakes or have purchased agricultural supplies or services from Land O'Lakes.

The payment of $5,970,326, which represents equities received by members from business transacted in previous years, is the largest equity retirement ever made by Land O'Lakes in its 50-year history, according to D. H. Henry, general manager.

In addition to this amount, it is estimated that approximately $2,800,000, which is 20 per cent of the 1970 estimated earnings of $14 million dollars, will be distributed in the first half of 1971. The total of past equity retirements and 1970 earnings paid in cash will be over $8½ million.

"In the past 10 years, the payment of over $45.5 million in cash to members from earnings generated by Land O'Lakes, has added substantially to their income," Henry said. "At the same time that Land O'Lakes has carried out the policy of equity retirements, we have been able to maintain a strong and healthy financial position through earnings generated on current business and the continued support of our members."

City Gains 1,467 In 1970 Census Count

NEW YEAR'S BABY at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls is Roger James Wold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Wold of Thief River Falls. Roger James, who has a two-year-old brother named Scott Allen, arrived at 3:53 a.m. Monday, January 4. He weighed six pounds, 13½ ounces and was 20 inches long.

Thief River Falls had a net gain in population of 1,467 people during the 10-year period from 1960 to 1970, according to official figures released this week by the U.S. census bureau. The city's population climbed from 7,151 in 1960 to an official mark of 8,618 in 1970. The official count of 8,618 was 30 fewer than the preliminary figure of 8,648 announced early in June.

Pennington county was one of only two among northwestern Minnesota's 11 counties to show a population increase although the non-Thief River Falls population declined substantially. Total county population, including Thief River Falls, rose from 12,468 in 1960 to 13,266 in 1970 for a gain of 798. The non-Thief River Falls population in 1960 was 5,317 while the non-Thief River Falls population in 1970 was 4,646—a loss of 671 people.

The only other northwestern Minnesota county to show an increase was Beltrami, which grew from 23,425 in 1960 to 26,373 in 1970.

The largest percentage loss of inhabitants was reported for Kittson county in the extreme northwestern section of the state. It population declined 17.8 per cent to 6,853, from a 1960 total of 8,343.

Other counties which showed decreases were Roseau, 12,154 and 11,569, Marshall 14,262 and 13,060, Polk, 36,182 and 34,435, Red Lake, 5,830 and 5,388; Norman, 11,253 and 10,008, Clearwater, 8,864 and 8,013, Mahnomen, 6,341 and 5,638 and Lake of the Woods, 4,304 and 3,987.

East Grand Forks showed an increase of 609 people. In 1960 the East Grand Forks population was 6,998 and in 1970 it was 7,607. The final total was 52 more than the preliminary figure of 7,555 announced some months ago.

The Minnesota total of 3,805,069 persons is up from a preliminary spring report that said 3,767,975 persons lived in Minnesota. The corrected figure indicates a growth of 11.5 per cent from the state's 3,413,864 inhabitants in 1960.

Larger city totals for 1970 were Minneapolis, 434,400, St. Paul, 309,980 and Duluth, 100,578.

Vows At St. Dorothy's Said By Votava-Altepeter

Miss Carol Ann Votava, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Votava of Fort Bragg, Calif., and Richard Altepeter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Altepeter of rural Red Lake Falls, exchanged marriage vows at 2:30 p.m., December 19, at St. Dorothy's Catholic church at Dorothy.

Rev. Gerald Foley officiated at the double ring ceremony attended by approximately 200 relatives and friends. Vocal selections during the offertory and communion were provided by Monte Cassavan, Wayne Mercil and Joann Brunelle, friends of the couple. Mrs. Lawrence Cassavant presided at the organ.

Forming the setting for the bridal party were baskets of white gladioli and carnations accented with palm branches.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in an empire fashioned gown of white satin with an organza overlay. The fitted bodice of rose point lace was styled with a high mandarin collar and full length sleeves ending with silk organza in a wide bell effect. A fabric rose, fashioned of white satin, held her chapel length mantilla, edged with scalloped lace. She carried a cascade arrangement of red roses accented with pink carnations.

Miss Sharon Loeffler of Grand Forks, N.D., was maid of honor and Misses Sharon Knott of Crookston and Pauline Kruse of Thief River Falls were bridesmaids. All are friends of the bride. They were attired in floor-length gowns of mint green chiffon styled with long sleeves. Complimenting the gowns were emerald green velvet boleros. To complete their attire, they wore matching velvet bows in their hair and each carried a single long-stemmed white mum.

Serving as junior bridesmaid was Benita Altepeter, a sister of the groom. Her gown, styled like those worn by the bride's attendants, was fashioned of emerald green velvet with full-length sleeves of mint-green chiffon. Similar gowns, in street-length version, were worn by the flower girls, Tammy Votava of East Grand Forks, cousin of the bride, and Julie Dubuque, also of East Grand Forks, a cousin of the groom.

The groom chose Clyde Fyring of Red Lake Falls, a friend, as his best man. Groomsmen were Michael and Timothy Altepeter of Red Lake Falls, brothers of the groom. Seating the guests were Tim Votava of Thief River Falls, cousin of the bride, and Alan Votava of Fort Bragg, Calif., brother of the bride. The men of the wedding party were attired in black tuxedos with black bow ties. The groom wore a red rosebud boutonniere and all his attendants had white carnations pinned on their lapels.

The mother of the bride was attired in an avocado, two-piece ensemble accented with black patent accessories. The mother of the groom wore a celery green dress fashioned with long sleeves. Black patent accessories also complimented her attire.

Honor guests at the wedding were Mrs. Celema Hughes of Thief River Falls, grandmother of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dubuque of Gentilly and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Altepeter of Crookston, grandparents of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Votava, uncle and aunt of the bride, hosted a reception in the church parlors following the ceremony. Mrs. Frederick Larson, aunt of the groom, registered the guests as Mr. and Mrs. Larry Jorgenson of Warren, cousins of the bride, served the punch.

Centering the serving table was a four tiered wedding cake baked and decorated by Mrs. Louis Schultz of Red Lake Falls. The cake was iced in white and trimmed with green in shades of mint and emerald. Topping the cake was a gold Christogram. Mrs. Ward Votava of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Robert LaPlante of Fisher, aunts of the bride and groom, respectively, cut and served the cake. Aunts of the groom, Mrs. Robert Krisel and Mrs. Virgil Glass, served the ice cream.

Waitresses were Julie and Ellen Vatthauer, who were in charge of the head table, RaeAnn Wavra, Debbie Amolt, Bonnie and Alein Prudhomme, Peggy Loeffler, Karen Stephens, Margarente and Sandy Altepeter and Gail Grenier. At the gift table were Jan Guillemette, Bonnie Amolt and Mrs. Richard Knott.

The bride and groom are graduates of Lafayette high school at Red Lake Falls and both are presently attending the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school. The bride is enrolled in the cosmetology department and the groom in auto mechanics. The groom is also employed by Arctic Enterprises.

Mr. and Mrs. Altepeter are now at home at Oaks Trailer Court in Red Lake Falls. Photo, LeMar Studio, Crookston.

For the marriage celebration, which the couple shared with their families and close friends, Miss Suzanne Stewart, sister of the groom, lighted the white candles surrounded by pine greens, and the lavender and white tapers in the candelabra on the altar. Arrangements of white Fuji mums, holly greens and purple star flowers graced the altar.

The taped prelude and processional included the couple's favorite Indian altar music, folk selections and hard rock. Marshall Weldon played "A Meditation", "The Doxology" and the recessional "Haba Nagila" on the French horn. Playing guitar accompaniment for one of the hymns was George Martin, brother of the bride.

The wedding party, made up of Miss Cheryle Martin and George Martin, sister and brother of the bride; Jonathon Stewart, brother of the groom; Wayne Martinson of Thief River Falls and Miss Kathleen Swick, formerly of Thief River Falls; Miss Sandra Anderson, Jonathan LaBreche and Miss Colleen Curran, entered the chapel from the rear. They distributed carnations in various colors to the 50 guests in attendance. The couple then entered together and presented roses to members of their families. During the ceremony, the bride and groom also presented their mothers with corsages of red roses.

Also during the ceremony, to correspond with the joyful theme of the marriage celebration, readings from "Song of Songs", de Saint Exupery's "The Little Prince" and Kahlil Gibran's "Sand and Foam" and "The Prophet" were given by Marcus Vale, Mrs. George B. Martin, grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Doris Ramsey, sister of the groom, and David Wagner. Both families and friends who had assembled for the ceremony, which was written entirely by the bride and groom, participated by affirming the couple's marriage vows. This included their responsibilities towards each other, their families and to society. The couple, unprompted, exchanged their vows at the altar. The receiving line formed at the door of the chapel following the Antiphonal benediction.

The bride was attired in a floor-length gown of royal purple panne trimmed with gold braid and complemented by gold sandals. Her headpiece of fresh flowers was designed of white miniature roses and purple star flowers. She carried a bouquet of two white orchids with purple throats, surrounded by a mist of babys' breath.

The groom wore a white open-neck buccaneer shirt with a vest of Stewart tartan.

The bride's attendants were floor-length attire in various colors and styles, selected by each as their expression of joy. The groom's attendants were also attired in what each felt expressed the theme of the joyous occasion.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Martin wore a sleeveless white dress of silk and wool blend, jeweled in gold at the hemline and accented with gold accessories. The mother of the groom wore a royal blue knit dress designed with long sleeves with white fur cuffs.

Following the ceremony, a buffet supper featuring ham and roast beef, was held at the Country House. At one serving table was a three-tiered wedding cake, iced in white and trimmed with lavender and purple. Topping the cake were pine greens accented with white roses. Mrs. Diane Vale, a friend of the couple, baked and decorated the cake and also assisted Miss Margaret Robertson in cutting and serving it. Mrs. Lawrence Holbrook, sister of the groom, served the coffee and tea and Miss Nancy Sims presided at the punch bowl.

Special guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. George B. Martin of Summit, N.J., and Mrs. Russell C. Johnson of Riverside, Ill., grandparents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ramsey of Stonebrook, Pa., brother-in-law and sister of the groom and their daughter, Paige; Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson of Grosse Pointe Park, Mich., uncle and aunt of the bride, and their children Nancy and Robert; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rodecker of Geneva, N.Y., uncle and aunt of the groom; Mrs. Samuel Felton of Edmonds, Wash.; and Dr. Anne Benjamin of Dune Acres, Ind., aunts of the bride, and Mrs. Lawrence Holbrook of Greenville, Pa., sister of the groom.

For her going away attire, the bride wore a Stewart tartan woolen pants and vest ensemble complemented by a white bonded crepe blouse. To correspond with the colors of the tartan woolen plaid, she wore a corsage of yellow miniature roses, blue star flowers and red carnations.

The bride is a 1967 graduate of Lincoln high school, Thief River Falls. She is a senior at Michigan State university, East Lansing, Mich., where she has a divisional major in philosophy, religion, psychology and related fields. The groom, a 1967 graduate of Reynold high school, Greenville, Pa., is also a senior at Michigan State University, majoring in psychology.

Disaster Relief Act Improves FHA Loans Here

Disaster Relief Act of 1970, signed by President Nixon on Dec. 31, 1970, substantially broadens the Farmers Home administration emergency loan program for farm operators who have been hit by natural disaster, according to Albert Mattson, county FHA supervisor for Pennington and Red Lake counties. He announced the following major changes which are effective immediately for farmers in this area:

(1) Emergency loans can now be made to finance eligible applicants within the first full operating year following a disaster whether or not they have other credit available. Previously applicants who could obtain credit elsewhere were eligible only on less favorable terms.

(2) All emergency loans will now be made at an interest rate based on the cost of certain federal government borrowings but not to exceed 6 per cent per annum.

(3) The maximum cancellation authorized on loans in areas designated as a major disaster area by the President has been increased from $1,800 to $2,500.

Mattson urges farm operators who suffered losses in 1970 to make application as soon as possible in his office located in the courthouse at Thief River Falls or at the Security State bank in Oklee each Wednesday between 1 and 3 p.m. Early applications will greatly assist the FHA office to provide faster and better service.

Loans will be made available as soon as the interest rate is established.

City Requests State Look At Tax Structure

valuations within the county and school district, the resolution sent to the state tax department states the following:

"WHEREAS a re-assessment and equalization of all taxable personal and real property within the city of Thief River Falls has been conducted by the Minnesota department of taxation, effective for taxes due and payable in 1971, and

"WHEREAS the city council believes that the making of such adjustments has created substantial inequities in the tax burden carried by property in the city as compared with other real property located within the county of Pennington and the boundaries of Independent School District No. 564 now therefore

"BE IT RESOLVED that the commissioner of taxation be and hereby is requested to conduct an investigation as to the actual circumstances and to order such adjustments to be made in valuation as are required to equalize the tax burden in the affected areas."

No indication has been given us to when such an investigation might take place.

Farmers Advised To Test Seeds Early This Year

Now is the time for Minnesota farmers, and particularly for all seed growers, to take advantage of the free purity and germination tests offered by the Minnesota department of agriculture.

Gleason M. Diser, acting director of agronomy services division, in making this announcement, advises that the department's laboratory testing facilities can provide the best service now to seed growers, well ahead of the spring rush.

He also called attention to the fact that the tests are available free only until next March 15, and that seed samples submitted after that date will require, by law, a fee ranging from 75 cents to $4 per sample. (Fees are charged annually from March 15 through June 30).

Minnesota seed laws and regulations require that all seeds offered for sale must be fully labeled for purity and germination. This information is required for the mutual protection of the consumer and the seed industry. Six free tests are allowed each fiscal year. Purity and germination are considered as two tests. Samples must be representative of the lot of seed being tested.

The seed purity test determines the percentage of pure seed, other crop seed, weed seed and inert material in each sample. The test also determines the number of restricted noxious weeds per pound and lists prohibited noxious weeds if found. The sale of seed containing prohibited noxious weed seed is unlawful.

Growers and seed dealers may obtain service sample envelopes and further information from their local county agricultural inspector Ray Johnson, 841 No. Kendell, Thief River Falls, or the county agricultural agent.

Astronomer To Speak Mon. At Northland JC

Dr. James Wertz, assistant professor of physics and astronomy at Moorhead state college, will speak to the Northland astronomy and physics classes and to the public on "Future Space Programs—Their Potential and Limitations". The lecture will be given on Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the lecture hall at Northland.

His program will include a brief discussion of practical rocketry, current limitations of the space program and possibilities of technical developments necessary for exploration of the Solar system. The lecture will be kept brief to permit questions and open discussion of interesting aspects of current and future programs.

Dr. Wertz was previously scheduled for December 5, but due to inclement weather the program was postponed and rescheduled for January 11.

Anyone interested in aspects of current and future space programs is invited to attend the Wertz lecture. There will be no charge for this community service program.

IRS Office At Crookston Open To Taxpayers

Persons who need information or help with federal tax problems may contact their local revenue service office. Telephone and walk-in assistance will be available from 8 a.m. to noon on Mondays, according to George Lethert, IRS district director.

Orion A. Thoen has been appointed to handle taxpayer assistance for this area. The local IRS office is located in room 202 of the post office building in Crookston. The telephone number is 281-2169. Taxpayers were urged by Thoen to telephone for information and service.

The revenue service suggests that taxpayers file their 1970 tax returns early, particularly if they have a refund due. Faster processing is available for early filers.

Thoen pointed out also that the one-page, one-sheet tax return will be used by many taxpayers. Form 1040 has been improved, providing more open spaces so that the form will not confuse filers not concerned with certain entries. The basic tax package has been trimmed from 32 to 24 pages. Instructions will be provided as a separate booklet, numbered and indexed, located in the center of each package.

Other IRS advice to taxpayers: File a complete return; remember the surcharge tax—2½ per cent added to the regular tax, use the preaddressed label, and send your return to the service center in the preaddressed envelope.

December '70 Is Coldest Last Month Since 1964

The final month of a stormy decade was, appropriately enough, cold.

Mean temperature in December 1970 was 5.6 degrees, the coldest mean for any December since 1964, when it was 2.7 degrees. December 1969 came through with a balmy 14.5 degrees, and in 1968 December's mean temperature was 9.6.

The highs and lows averaged 13 degrees in 1967, in 1966 the mean was 8.8 degrees. December 1965's mean was a nearly stifling 18 degrees.

Average high during the December just ended was 12.9 degrees, and the average low was -1.6. The mercury dropped below the zero mark on 18 of the month's 31 days, but failed to climb above the break-even point on only four of those days—the 19th, when the recorded high was -4, the 20th, when the high was -8, the 23rd when the high was -8 again, and on the 28th, when the thermometer hit -5 after the month's low of -25.

December's high was 37 degrees, noted on the first day. The temperature skidded, with cooler nights, until it hit -12 December 6. Area residents got a two-day respite December 7 and 8, when daytime highs of 28 were recorded, and the lows were 11 and 16.

Moderate temperatures prevailed with highs ranging from 2 to 19 above, and lows from 10 to -10, until the month's 19th day, when the low was -14 after the -4 high. Winter came in earnest the next day, when the mercury plummeted to -23.

The temperature was less extreme December 22, when the high was 15 and the low 8. After a low of -17 and a high of -8 on the 23rd, the temperatures stabilized for two days, with peaks of 10 and 9, respectively, on December 24 and 25. The lows were -3 and -9.

A warm air mass entered the area the day after Christmas, pushing the thermometer to 32 degrees, and loosing four inches of snow upon northwestern Minnesota. The next evening, however, the mercury dropped to -22, followed by a high of -5 and the month's low of -25 on December 28. As the new year approached, more warm air graced the area, which highs of 23 and 28 and lows of 11 and 19 on the 1st two days of the old year.

Precipitation wise, the month of December was relatively dry. A total of 1.24 inches of moisture, in the form of 10 inches of snow, fell upon the area. The five year average for moisture is 1.6 inches.

The most precipitation to fall during a recent December was the 2.55 inches in 1969. December 1968 was dryer than a WCTU picnic, with only .48-inch of precipitation. The 1.44 inches of moisture during December 1967 was very close to average, but the year before a damp 2.31 inches fell.

There were two inches of snow on the ground when December 1970 came up on the calendar. On the second of the month .58-inch of precipitation, contained in three inches of snow, whitened the earlier supply of snow, which had fallen November 21. Another inch of snow, .28 inch of moisture, came on December 3, and two more inches, with .30-inch of water, added depth to the landscape December 4.

The eight inches of snow on the ground December 5 settled to seven inches by December 7 and dropped to a half-foot by December 14. That half-foot, aided by traces of precipitation in the form of flakes on seven of the succeeding 11 days, held its own, making Christmas white. Four inches of dry, fluffy snow descended on the day after Christmas, making an accumulation on the ground of 10 inches, which stayed until the end of the month. Only .08-inch of moisture was contained in the four-inch snowfall.

Two Food Stamp Program Changes Are Announced

U.S. department of agriculture has announced two food stamp program changes to speed retail transactions for food stamp users, grocers and other shoppers in stores which accept food stamps.

Revised program regulations will permit up to 49 cents change in food stamp transactions and allow payments of deposits on bottles or other containers of eligible foods, to be made with food stamps.

Presently, program regulations require that change in food stamp transactions must be in form of unendorsed 50-cent coupons and credit slips not exceeding 49 cents in a single transaction. The 50-cent coupons can be spent for eligible foods at any authorized store, while the credit slips can be spent for eligible foods only at the store which issued them. Deposits on containers must be paid in cash by the food stamp customer.

Officials of USDA's food and nutrition service said the revisions came as a result of recommendations from both food stamp recipients and the food retailing industry.

Revised regulations spelling out the new procedures became effective upon publication in the Federal Register December 30.

With the initial issuance of $5 coupons now being made across the nation, FNS officials also announced that the program regulations governing the use of $2 coupons apply to the $5 coupons. Two dollar and $5 coupons should be detached from the book of coupons by the customer only at the time of purchase. Loose $2 or $5 dollar coupons cannot be accepted nor can loose $2 coupons be returned to the customer as change.

Gregory Havel Is Biggest Liar

Burlington (Wis.) Liars club has selected a former resident of Thief River Falls as the biggest liar of 1970.

Brother Gregory Havel, Green Bay, Wis., clinched the title with a yarn about northern Minnesota floods being so bad last spring "the turtles climbed out of their shells and used them for boats." Havel is the second clergyman in the club's history to win first prize.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril M. Havel, formerly of Thief River Falls, the Franciscan Brother lives at St. Mary of the Angels Friary, Green Bay. He is attending St. Norbert College, West DePere, Wis.

400 At Arctic Idled As Quota For 1971 Nears

Approaching its production quota for 1971 models of Arctic Cat snowmobiles, Arctic Enterprises in Thief River Falls has idled approximately 400 employees this week. Those whose jobs have been suspended are nearly all assembly line workers or welders and reportedly come from both shifts at the plant.

Approximately 400 assembly line workers are being retained for the present time, and virtually no change has been made in employment in the machine shop, sheet metal shop or fiberglas departments. Two shifts are still being operated at the present time.

No figures regarding production of 1971 models were available at this time.

Farmers To Air Grievances On Disaster Program

General meeting of farmers who have grievances regarding the federal farm disaster unemployment assistance program will be held Friday at 8 p.m. on the main floor of the Thief River Falls city auditorium, according to Albert Kotrba, Goodridge, who is making arrangements for the meeting.

Other area counties are being organized, with Roseau county among the first to hold its meeting. A statement from Hanley Hemmingson, Warroad, secretary of the Roseau county farmers grievance committee, states the following:

"In progress at the present time are efforts to unite with other counties to more effectively combat the procedural changes which are resulting in substantial cuts, if not total elimination, in payments promised to area farmers under the disaster unemployment assistance program."

Kotrba said the meeting for this area Friday will be to "find out what we can" about changes in the disaster unemployment assistance program and how it affects farmers in this area.

Heart Fund Gets Memorials

Minnesota Heart association has received gifts in memory of two late residents of Thief River Falls.

David Drotts, Box 412, Thief River Falls, Pennington county memorial gifts chairman, announced that memorials in honor of Charles S. Krause and Mrs. William Jensen have been received by the heart association. The gifts will be used for research into the causes and control of heart disease.

Heart memorials offer "a way of paying significant respect to relatives, friends and associates who have passed away, and give hope to the living by supporting projects designed to help reduce the toll of death and disability resulting from the various forms of heart and circulatory diseases", Drotts said.

The great need for heart research funds, Drotts points out, is indicated by the fact that it is estimated more than 19,000 Minnesotans will die from heart disease and circulatory diseases this year. In Pennington county, for example, there were 125 deaths last year, and of this number 62 were from heart disease.

Border Patrol Needs More Men To Fill Quotas

U.S. border patrol of the immigration and naturalization service needs physically fit young men desiring a career in federal law enforcement work. This is a career for those who like action and outdoor work.

The border patrol is the mobile, uniformed enforcement branch of the immigration and naturalization service. Its principle purpose is to prevent the smuggling and illegal entry of aliens into the United States. The border patrolmen, called border patrol agents, work along international boundaries, although their duties are not necessarily confined to these areas. They work in jeeps, cars, on foot, in boats and even in airplanes.

Officers investigate violations of the immigration laws and frequently make arrests. They are often required to work irregular hours, under all weather conditions.

Entrance salary of a border patrol agent is $8,098 a year (Grade GS-7). There are promotional opportunities up to executive levels in the immigration and naturalization service. On-the-job training offers opportunities for promotion to positions of greater responsibility.

No experience is required for these positions. To qualify, applicants must pass a written test of verbal abilities, judgment and aptitude for learning a foreign language. Candidates who pass the written test are called for oral interviews in the order of their standing on the list. The oral interview is designed to determine if the candidate has the personal qualities needed for the work.

Applicants must also pass a rigid physical examination. Candidates who are selected for appointment are assigned to the border patrol academy for a period of intensive training in such subjects as immigration laws, Spanish, physical training and marksmanship. Trainees receive full pay while in the academy.

Applications are accepted on a continuing basis and four written examinations are given each year. Full information is given in Announcement No. WAM-011 (Revised) which may be secured from interagency boards of examinees and from any post offices as well as any office of the immigration and naturalization service. Applications should be submitted on the tear-out application form on the announcement or CSC Form 5000AB and forwarded to the Interagency Board of U.S. Civil Service Examinees for Washington D.C., 1900 'E' Street NW, Washington D.C. 20415.

Jan. 19 To Be Sheep-Stamp Day

January 10, 1971, has been selected as the release date for a six-cent postage stamp commemorating the 450th anniversary of the advent of sheep to this continent.

Las Vegas, Nev., will be the initial issue point, to coincide with the convention there of the National Wool Growers association. The stamp, which bears a picture of a ewe and her lamb, will be issued in panes of 50.

The vertical stamp was designed by Dean Ellis of New York City. He based his design on a photograph by Bob Taylor, Cordell, Okla., which appeared in the May 1970 issue of "National Wool Grower."

Collectors desiring first-day cancellations should submit orders to Postmaster, Las Vegas, Nev., 89114, plainly indicating name and address, including zip code, with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps desired. File Early For Refund On Taxes

If you have a refund due, you will receive faster processing service if you file early, states George O. Lethert, district director of internal revenue.

"Refund checks will be received within four to six weeks if you file now. Those who delay until the April filing rush will find it takes six to eight weeks, or longer, to process their return."

More than 170,000 refund checks were issued by the end of February last year. The amount exceeded $42 million.

"For faster processing service, file now; be sure your return is complete and accurate, and you'll receive your refund without great delay," Lethert said.

Soo Line Railroad Warns Snowmobilers

Putting a chill up the spine of a highly experienced locomotive engineer isn't an easy thing to do, especially when you consider the muscle he has in the 6,000 ton train behind him.

But it is being done as snowmobilers who believe railroad property offers an ideal trail, take to the rights-of-way to pursue their sport. And it's creating situations engineers would best describe as "absolutely frightening".

Put yourselves in an engineers' shoes for a moment. You're clipping along at night when a headlight appears in the distance heading for you down the track. Your immediate reaction—did I miss a signal, is it another train? You apply your emergency brakes while reaching for the horn and wonder if an accident can be avoided.

Then a snowmobile and its rider slides over the rail and slips along side your engine while brakes squeal, and the slack between cars begins to take its maximum effect.

Sound dramatic? Not to an engineer who has had it happen. And it does happen! These are things the Soo Line will be confronted with during the next few months as snowmobilers pursue their sport.

It's simple enough to remind snowmobilers that riding on the right-of-way is trespassing and operators are therefore subject to arrest and a stiff fine. It's difficult to convince them that by riding on the right-of-way they not only put their safety on the line, but the safety of train crews as well.

Last winter numerous incidents occurred on the Soo's property, including a not-so-pleasant case where a snowmobiler lost his leg in a train snowmobile confrontation. More recently, a young boy escaped possible death on Christmas day 1970, when his snowmobile hit the side of a train. His companion saved him from going beneath the wheels.

Perhaps the most frightening thought though, is the number of unreported "near misses" and incidents where a snowmobiler tangled only with a tie, rail or switch point as he attempted to get his machine on or off the tracks.

In most of the reported incidents only the snowmobile fell victim. Unfortunately, in each of these incidents a human life was at stake. We don't believe that the snowmobiler can rely on luck in a train accident.

With safety the primary motivation, the Soo Line wants to pass along a number of reminders to snowmobilers, before they choose to ride on the right-of-way.

Trains don't necessarily pass at the same time each day and more than one may be running.

The ear-deafening sound put out by a snowmobile is enough to prevent a rider from hearing the whistle of a diesel, until avoiding a disaster is too late.

Obstructions on the track such as switch levers, track intersections and maintenance walkways could cause an accident. It doesn't necessarily take a train to cause an injury.

Rights-of-way are private property and laws in all of the upper midwestern states provide for penalties for trespassers.

Cleaner Waters Programs

Clean water programs should be everyone's business. The very first permanent Federal Water Pollution Control Act was in 1956. Amendments were enacted in 1961, 1965, 1966, and again on April 3, 1970. The Federal Government had to take the leadership role in our environmental efforts. Earlier laws only pointed to basic public health due to water borne diseases. The name of the Agency has been changed from Water Quality Improvement Act of 1970, to Federal Water Quality Administration, Department of The Interior.

Attention to Winter Sportsmen Everywhere

No matter the sport you may engage in this winter, remember it can lead to additional pollution. Keep your litter with you. In car, in pockets, or on your snowmobile machines. Don't leave it on the trails, on lakes, where it will end up as land pollutants or in water pollutions, in the spring thaws. Do your honest share for the battle of total survival. Total, meaning: ALL OF US WANT TO LIVE, NOT JUST A FEW OF US. "Every Litter Bit Does Hurt" Remember too, we fishermen can no longer feel free to empty pails or use the public waters as toilets. This is also pollution (and there are thousands of ice houses in our state.)

Machines Pollute Too

Operators of recreational machines in the out of doors must be on guard to prevent adding pollutions to the wilderness. Breakdown repairs create problems which can leave spare parts over, broken parts, waste rags of oil or gas, containers of all types, strewn across the trails and routes. These may be found by our trees in the beautiful forests or in lakes and streams come spring thaw. Just as Jets cause vapor streams in our air, so do cars with their exhaust. Trains and planes and cars are basically for transportation. The snowmobile is another added strain to our age of progress. Most outdoorsmen and their families use their snowmobiles wisely and safely. There is a definite need for snowmobiles, but educate the operators.

Farmers may use snowmobiles to transport feed to their marooned stock, adults and students use machines to attend school, work or recreation. Hunters use them for health reasons removing large animals from the woods. It serves as another convenience to man in his search for progress.

One may think of the explorers as they sent rockets to the moon, leaving some equipment there, or of the Arctic explorers, who left equipment on the Arctic Ocean. Let us return with our equipment and our litter. Let us work towards cleaner living habits in the desire to save a dying planet.

"Say Goodbye"

DON'T FORGET TO WATCH "SAY GOODBYE" a memorial to wildlife on January 8th 1971, 6:30 p.m., CST NBC-TV. A powerful film, brutal and frankly filming wildlife in its unsurpassed beauty and strong points of view conservation wise. You will see prairie dogs exploded by rifle fire, or baby seals sacrificed for its coats of fur. This film will challenge your thinking in relation to the ever dwindling wildlife and to its survival, (which is now vanishing), and will create contemplations for the survival of man as well. Quaker Oats presents this documentary. Again in February, on the 12th, they will present a documentary on the assassination of President Lincoln, at 6:30 p.m. NBC TV. These are important films and we stress your attention to these programs.

New Experience-Foods

"All Minnesota Foods", 590 State Office Bldg., St. Paul, Mn. Dept of Agriculture can well be proud of our local restaurants using only Minnesota products. Wild Rice is a Minnesota product that is proudly served topped with artichokes turkey and cheese sauce, at THE LODGE in the Hotel Radisson's addition (through the SKYWAY) in Minneapolis. Popcorn is popped right by the huge fireside by children diners! Hostess Judy Jacobs welcomed us explaining the total menu of Minnesota products. This has been reported by many out of state reporters and by Will Jones and others in Minnesota, as one of the finer places to dine using all of our Minnesota products deliciously. The Lodge served HOT corn bread (Johnny Cake) with all meals. A dessert is the well known ALL MINNESOTA DESSERT, Minnesota ice cream, honey on top covered with sunflower seeds. The Lodge is decorated like a resort type building. It is truly a new experience in a large city in wintertime!

11 Scholarships Given By NASA To NSJC Players

Eleven athletic scholarships to Northland state junior college students have been awarded for the winter quarter by the Northland Area Sports association (NASA). The scholarships to basketball and hockey players total $750.

Recipients of $100 scholarships are basketball players Ron Visness, Kennedy; Curt Jensen, Erskine; and Tony Burke, Bemidji. Basketball coach is Chet Engelman.

Hockey scholarships for $75 were awarded to Larry Skime, Roseau and Robert Lundbohm, Roseau, while $50 hockey scholarships went to Leo Marshall and Richard Ellerbusch, Warroad; Mike Hitchen and Maurie Pearson, Crookston, Rick Lindegard and Bill Sugden, Hallock. Swede Lund is the Northland hockey coach.

Northland Area Sports association receives its scholarship funds from contributions through area business places and individuals and makes its awards on the basis of academic scholarship and financial need. Athletes must meet high scholastic standards during the fall or winter quarters to qualify for the scholarships given only in the winter and spring quarters. NASA scholarship winners for the winter quarter may also qualify for assistance during the spring quarter.

Scholarship recipients are selected by the college scholarship committee upon the recommendation of the athletic department staff.

'500' Snowmobile Race January-25

Three hundred drivers have entered the St. Paul, Winter Carnival Winnipeg-Saint Paul International "500" snowmobile race. Heading the entries are former winners Dale Cormican, Herb Howe, LeRoy Lindblad and Roger Janssen who will be competing for a prize of $7,500 from a total purse of $17,700. All qualified finishers will share in the prizes. Second through tenth place winners will share in prizes totaling $7,700. All finishers beyond tenth place will divide $2,500 to a maximum of $400 each.

While the race is identified as the "500", it is actually 587 miles long. It is the most gruelling test of man and machine ever devised. Temperatures may fall to 40 degrees below zero, not counting wind chill factors. The race covers a variety of terrain from city streets, highways and open fields to icy, wind-swept lakes. Drivers have been removed from their machines at the end of a days race nearly frozen, and suffering from utter exhaustion. The cold is so severe, drivers have suffered from the heat of hotel rooms at night, and have had to sleep with windows open and the heat turned off.

In spite of this torturous weather and route, both men and women have entered to seek fame and fortune. Six brothers from Stephen will start the race. At least two man and wife teams have entered. One serviceman has taken leave from his station in California to spend it competing in the race and one father-daughter combination will try their luck.

Begun in 1966 with only 36 competitors, this race has grown to be the biggest single cross-country snowmobile race in the world. This year's race has attracted competitors from Norway, Sweden, Czechoslovakia and Canada. It starts in Winnipeg, Canada on Monday, January 25, and ends in Saint Paul on Thursday, January 28. It is sponsored by the St. Paul Carnival association in cooperation with the Manitoba Tourist and Convention association. Official fuel and lubricant supplier for the race is Standard Oil, Division of American Oil Company. Basic entry requirements require the drivers to be at least 18 years old, be a licensed motor vehicle operator, and drive a snowmobile that is licensed or registered in the state of Minnesota or province of Manitoba, Canada.

The "500" preludes the 10-day Saint Paul Winter Carnival scheduled for January 29-February 7, 1971. This year Winter Carnival celebrates its 85th anniversary on the theme of "Snow Foolin'".

Unwanted Fish Seen As Litter Under State Law

Apparently some Minnesota anglers don't consider an unwanted fish thrown out on the ice as litter, but it is under the state law, the Minnesota department of natural resources warned today.

Hjalmer Swenson, state fisheries supervisor, said the department is receiving complaints from persons living on state lakes that anglers are throwing fish they catch, but don't want to take home, out on the ice.

While the angler is usually not around when the spring thaw comes, the year around resident must endure the smell of rotting fish wafting off the lake when the days warm up and the ice goes out.

On page four of the new 1971 fishing regulations it is stated that "it is unlawful to deposit garbage, rubbish, offal, in public waters or on the ice thereon, or on public lands."

Swenson said dead fish are covered under this provision. "These fish should be taken home and deposited in the same manner as other household garbage," he said, "not left to putrify and pollute our lakes."

Card of Thanks

I sincerely wish to thank all my friends and neighbors who have been so thoughtful after my snowcat accident. Special thanks to the Dick Radniecki family for taking me to the doctor, Rev. Gunderson for his visit and words of prayer, and all of those who visited with me during my hospital stay and at home, and to those who sent cards. It is all deeply appreciated. May God bless each and everyone of you.
Korydon Chervestad 1t2c

Card of Thanks

The family of our dear brother, Ole Hegland wish to express our sincere thanks to the staff at Northwestern hospital, the Green Funeral home for their thoughtfulness, the pallbearers and the Ebenezer Ladies Aid, who served lunch, the organist, soloist, to Pastor M. J. Sheldahl for words of comfort, and all the relatives, friends and neighbors for cards of sympathy, floral tributes and memorials. Your kindness will always be remembered. Special thanks to Mrs. Lydia Olson for her acts of kindness. May God bless you all.
The Family of Ole Hegland 1t2c

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our husband, father and grandfather, Howard Dean, who passed away 2 sad years ago January 1st, 1969.

What would we give if we could say,
Hello Dad in the same old way.
To hear your voice, see your smile,
To sit with you and chat a while.
So you who have your loved ones,
Cherish them with care.
For you will never know the heartache,
Till you see his vacant chair.

Sadly missed by wife Dora, Daughter Eileen Freeman and children 1t2p

Prowler Matmen Flatten Rams 37-11 With 5 Pins

Ed Krystosek's Lincoln high school wrestlers needed just 3:28 to build up a 15-0 lead over the Roseau Rams last night in the Lincoln high school gym and went on to win nine of the twelve matches for a 37-11 win over the Rams.

Lyle Swanson, Ron Kalinoski and Dean Dahl all did away with their Roseau opponents in the first period after gaining quick takedowns for the 15-0 Prowler lead. 95 pound Swanson stretched Dale Jaenicke with 1:19 gone in the opening period while Kalinoski decided he could do better and flattened Brian Zak with 1:17 elasped in their match. Dahl outdid both his teammates as he pinned Jeff Sluka with just 52 seconds gone in their 112 pound match.

The Prowlers' Joe Kezar slowed things down a bit but still added points to the Prowler total as he gained a 4-0 decision over Dave Dahlgren in the 120 pound division. Kezar earned a second period reversal and almost had the Ram pinned in the final period but came away with a two-point predicament for the win.

Rick Nordhagen built the Prowler lead to 21-0 in the 127-pound division with a 7-5 win over Paul Syverson of Roseau. The Prowler led 4-1 at the end of the first period with a takedown and a predicament while Syverson gained a one-point escape. The Ram climbed to within 4-3 in the second period on a reversal before Nordhagen scored three points in the final period on an escape and a reversal after Syverson scored on a takedown.

The Rams finally broke through on the scoreboard at 133 pounds when Dale Jensen decision the Prowlers' Tim Wold 4-2. Wold jumped out in front with a first period takedown before Jensen came back with a reversal and added a third period reversal for the win.

Perry Omdahl put the Prowlers on top 24-3 with a 13-2 blasting of Dwight Lissel at 138 pounds. Omdahl scored in the first period on a takedown and two nearfalls for an 8-0 lead and added another nearfall in the second period but couldn't keep Lissel's shoulders down. Omdahl scored a third period reversal and Lissel gained two points on a reversal just before the buzzer.

Prowler captain Jerry Muzzy earned a first period takedown for a 2-0 win over Randy Sandstrom at 145 pounds although Muzzy dominated the match from the outset.

Mark Koushagen gained the fourth pin for the Prowlers in the 154 pound match as he achieved a first period takedown and then pinned Wayne Ziska with 21 seconds gone in the second period for a 32-3 Prowler lead.

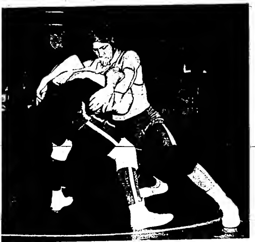
Doane Kujava broke through for the Rams at 165 pounds when he pinned the Prowlers' Bob Sorvig with 1:21 gone in the first period after gaining a takedown.

The Prowlers came right back in the 175-pound match as Steve Thorstad pinned Don Erickson with just 21 seconds gone in the opening period to put the Prowler lead at 37-8.

Prowler heavyweight Jerry Myers lost his first match of the season in the evening's finale as the Rams' Ron Grothem earned a third period reversal with 1:15 remaining for a 2-0 decision for the final 37-11 count.

The Prowler B squad was a winner in the preliminary contest as they dropped the Rams' B squad 31-11. The Prowlers are now 2-3 on the year and will travel Saturday to participate in the Grand Rapids Invitational tournament beginning at 11 a.m. Next home match for the Prowlers will be Thursday, January 21, when they will host East Grand Forks in the Lincoln gym.

TIM WOLD of the Prowlers tries to slide away from the Rams' Dale Jensen during their 133 pound match last night in the Lincoln gym. Jensen recorded first and third period reversals to defeat the Prowler 4-2 but the Prowlers won nine of the twelve matches for a 37-11 triumph. Next action for the Prowler matmen will be this Saturday when they travel to Grand Rapids to participate in an Invitational meet.



JERRY MUZZY tries to lock his opponent's arms in position for a takedown during his 145 pound match in last night's meeting with the Roseau Rams in the Lincoln high school gym. Muzzy did get the takedown for a 2-0 win as part of the Prowlers' 37-11 thumping of the Rams.

PROWLER 112 pound Dean Dahl has a firm hold on Jeff Sluka's leg as he pins his Roseau adversary with just 52 seconds gone in the opening period of their match as part of the Prowlers' 37-11 win over the Rams last night in the Lincoln gym. The Prowler B squad was also victorious as they dumped the Rams 31-11 in the preliminary match.

PLAY BY PLAY ON SPORTS

with Mike Lundgren

One of the main topics of conversation this week has been the elevation of the Roseau Rams to the number one position in the Minneapolis Tribune's weekly hockey poll.

The Rams have been climbing in the polls each week and after their win over Anoka finally made it to the top of the heap with a 6-0 record for the year.

It seems the only way a team can make the poll is to be from the Twin City area or at least beat a team from the metropolitan area so the Minneapolis writers will notice the score.

Just four teams from northern Minnesota made the latest rating that came out Monday. The four are, Roseau, International Falls (3), Warroad (5), and Hibbing (10).

What has to be rated a surprise is the position Anoka holds after losing twice during the Holiday Tournament in Thief River Falls. The Tornadoes are still rated as the 7th best team in the state after suffering 3-1 and 2-1 setbacks by Thief River Falls and Roseau and carry a 5-3 record on the year.

Almost all coaches will respond to the poll with the remark, "the ratings don't mean a thing," but I would like to find a coach anywhere who isn't aware of the polls each week as they appear.

The top fifteen hockey teams in the state are: 1—Roseau, 2—St. Paul Hill, 3—International Falls, 4—Minneapolis Southwest, 5—Warroad, 6—Minnetonka, 7—Anoka, 8—Richfield, 9—North St. Paul, 10—Hibbing, 11—South St. Paul, 12—Alexander Ramsey, 13—Armstrong, 14—St. Paul Johnson, 15—Edina.

For some reason the Super Bowl doesn't seem quite as exciting this year as it did in the past, the same way the World Series lost its god-like appeal after the Twins lost to the Dodgers in 1965.

The Vikings played a poor game against San Francisco to lose a chance to return to the contest this year to face the Baltimore Colts. Instead the Dallas Cowboys, a team the Vikings humiliated during the season, will play in the get-rich-quick-bowl.

Even the flavor of the AFL-NFL showdown is lost now that the owners decided to merge and what is really taking place is a showdown of two NFL teams with the AFL left out on the sidelines.

Maybe the Cowboys really have improved since their loss to the Vikings but I still can't see them as winners in the game against the Colts, so from this angle it looks like the Colts 17-3.

Muskie Fishing In Minnesota On TV Program

Fishermen, particularly those who are addicted to muskies, are advised that ABC's "American Sportsman" will present a segment on Minnesota muskie fishing on Sunday at 3:15 p.m.

The half-hour film was produced in Grand Rapids last June and features "Doc" Milburn Stone and "Festus" Ken Curtis of "Gunsmoke" fame. Gil Hamm, president of Muskies, Inc., acts as a guide in the production, which took nearly a week to film.

Muskies lurking in their natural habitat and underwater footage of a muskie taking a lure are among the many absorbing highlights of the show. For those who like "how to" features, the film also treats the subject of proper equipment and technique for catching this highly sought game fish.

Six muskies were actually caught during filming—the largest weighing 22 pounds—and were released unharmed.

Cooperating with ABC in the production were the Minnesota Department of Economic Development and Muskies Inc., a non profit club of sportsmen dedicated to upgrading muskie fishing in Minnesota.

TRF Sports Action Plentiful This Week

All six Thief River Falls sports teams will be back in action by this weekend, beginning tonight (Wednesday) when the Northland state junior college basketball team entertains Bottineau in the Lincoln high school gym with game time set for 7:30.

The Northmen will be seeking their first win of the season after suffering nine straight defeats thus far on the campaign. NSJC coach Chet Engelman isn't about to give up although he does admit Bottineau is a good team and as he put it, "are bigger than a house."

"We're in pretty good shape now but we still haven't played a good game yet," says Engelman. "Our best effort was against Inver Hills and we played pretty good against Brainerd in our last game."

Engelman will go with the same line-up as before with one exception; 6-2 sophomore Scott Rousseau will start in one of the forward positions in place of the absent Conrad Lubarski. The other starters will include Tony Burke at center, Curt Jenson at the other forward and Jim Goudge along with [illegible] at the guards. "Scott played a good game for us at Brainerd," said Engelman, "and there's nobody on the club who wants to win more than Scott."

The Northmen will also see double duty this weekend when they travel to Ely to take on Vermillion on Friday night and Saturday afternoon take on Mesabi. Bottineau and Vermillion have defeated the Northmen already this season by the scores of 91-60 and 110-65. "Vermillion killed us once already and they will be tough on their own court while Mesabi has been off and on this year. What we will probably do is to leave at noon and stop at every church we see on the way," Engelman quipped.

Bob Tuff's Lincoln high school pucksters will host the Hallock Bears in the city arena Friday night beginning at 6:15 with the B game and 8 p.m. with the A contest.

Coach Tuff is naturally pleased with his team's current seven-game winning streak after opening the campaign with two losses and is confident the Prowlers can maintain the streak going into next week's action against Warroad and Roseau.

Tuff reports everyone on his club is in good shape and ready to go against the Bears and feels the Prowlers have been improving with every game. "Our sophomore line has continued to play well for us," said Tuff, "and the line of Roger Leo, Tom Wurst and Merv Eriksson is really coming along for us. Our defensemen have been improving and especially the play of Mike Protz, who has looked real good."

The Prowler mentor reports he knows nothing about Hallock but looks for a good game from his team. "I'm pleased with the performance of our third line which is the most improved part of our club, all of our forward lines are coming on strong. We need three strong lines to be a contender for region honors. A team just can't do it with two lines any more."

The Lincoln high school basketball team will be in action this weekend when they travel to Bagley on Saturday night to take on the Flyers. The Prowlers will be facing the Flyers with the same starting line-up that defeated Chisago Lakes with everyone in top shape and ready to go. Coach Olson said his team is in the best shape they have been in all year and said it should be a good game.

Coach Olson reports his team will be facing the Pine-to-Prairie conference foes without any scouting report this year. "It's good for a team to go into a game completely unaware of the opponent this time of year and try to adjust to the circumstances," says Olson.

Northland state junior college icemen will see action twice this weekend when they travel south to take on conference foe Lakewood junior college of White Bear Lake Friday night and then tackle the University of Minnesota junior varsity in the preliminary game to the Minnesota-[illegible] Saturday afternoon.

"I feel we have been doing pretty good offensively in the other team's end but we have been having trouble getting the puck out of our own end at times," reports NSJC coach Swede Lund. "We've played pretty much the way I expected we would this year although I feel we should have beaten Itasca in the game we lost to them 8-7 and we should have beaten Rainy River twice instead of splitting with them."

"We're all in good health and will go out and try to get Lakewood and I'm looking for an interesting game against the Minnesota junior varsity."

Also in action this week will be Ed Krystosek's Lincoln high school wrestling squad which travels to participate in the Grand Rapids Invitational meet Saturday beginning at 11 a.m.

Quiet Term Noted At U of Minnesota

by Bill Huntzicker
University of Minnesota
News Service writer

Protests could have been sparked by several issues this fall at the University of Minnesota, Twin Cities campus. And most who experienced last spring on campus were predicting a turbulent year for the nation's universities.

But U of M students ended 1970 with a fall quarter which saw very little protest activity.

"The contrast between the current mood and the vigorous protests which only six months ago focused on the Kent State shootings and U.S. involvement in Cambodia is startling," observed Roger Bergerson, campus reporter for the St. Paul "Pioneer Press."

Events which would previously draw hundreds of protesters appear hardly noticed on campus this fall. Bombing of North Vietnam was resumed, a military mission was sent to a POW camp near Hanoi, and the Board of Regents strengthened the academic status of ROTC at the University.

Some feel the student movement is in trouble. "Many students are becoming more cynical with the same old war and the same old batch of lies which have been going on a long time," noted Sharon Vaughan, a graduate student in American Studies. "It's hard not to become cynical in the face of what's happened."

But, Mrs. Vaughan said, there is a positive side—to the current mood. "Students are giving in to more serious involvement rather than the hysterical browbeating reaction to the Cambodian invasion."

An example of such involvement has been the formation of the Minnesota Public Interest Research Group proposed by Ralph Nader. The group will ask for student funds to hire a full-time staff to work on consumer and environmental issues.

Students have also been forming cooperative stores and day-care centers in hopes of finding meaningful community relationships. Residents of the West Bank area of Minneapolis are organizing for this purpose and to fight the expansion of the University and Cedar-Riverside developers into their neighborhoods.

The Eco-Coop, a group of students and faculty organized to buy organically grown food, has been active for a year and is now expanding into two cooperatives.

But demonstrations have been a disappointment to those looking for a militant expression of student feeling.

In October, police estimated that fewer than 1,000 students participated in a peace march from the University to the Minneapolis federal building in contrast to the national Vietnam Moratorium march a year earlier which drew some 10,000 persons.

More than 50,000 persons marched from the University and other Twin Cities colleges to the State Capitol Building in St. Paul after President Nixon's decision last spring to send troops into Cambodia.

But this fall, activist leaders have organized several demonstrations and most have failed to draw more than a handful of students.

One student, Floyd Egner, a writer for the Minnesota "Daily," said it will be a long time before massive peaceful demonstrations will be tried again. "There just weren't any results in the eyes of most people."

In an interview, Paul Cashman, vice-president for student affairs, said he has noticed a genuine shift away from confrontation tactics.

"For many students, there was peaking of energy last spring and this has been followed by a period of reassessment," he said. "And there is the fact that people can't keep up that kind of an emotional pitch."

"Another group of students became disillusioned with teach-ins, demonstrations and other activities which have had appeal during the last couple of years. They have turned to more realistic methods."

Another response, Cashman said, has been less productive. "Some activist students have simply developed a kind of cynicism out of their frustration in the spring and that cynicism is likely to breed further problems later on. These few students are feeling a "sullen hostility" toward the government and the University, he said.

Some who participated in protest activity disagree with Cashman. "I can't tell much difference between this year and last," replied political science Professor Mulford Q. Sibley when questioned about the change. "Most people—students and faculty—are apathetic anyway. Even last spring I think people exaggerated the degree of turbulence."

Sibley said he feels there has never been enough unrest. "I think it ought to be a severe questioning of many of the values and attitudes of contemporary America—particularly the foreign-policy and tendency of the military to dominate. I recommend strong nonviolent types of criticism and action."

"A lot of people are wondering what they can do," according to Don Olson, who has been convicted of interfering with the Selective Service office at Winona. "A lot of people who have been active before are moving off the campus."

Olson said some have become disillusioned and have resorted to harmful, violent tactics. "Part of the question is whether you want to bring revolution or whether you are at war, how you bring a revolution in which people are not terrorized."

State Says Many Trailers Aren't Listed Properly

Is your boat, utility or snowmobile trailer properly registered?

Many are not, and there is widespread misunderstanding of the law covering their registration and tax, Commissioner of Public Safety W. R. Hoaglund pointed out today. "This is because the type of registration and amount of tax is determined by the classification of the towing vehicle.

"The same trailer can be within the law when towed, for example, by a station wagon registered as a passenger vehicle, but in violation when towed by a station wagon with YW or truck license plates. It can be within the law when towed by a pickup truck with a camper body permanently attached and a recreational vehicle registration, but if it is towed by a pickup truck with a demountable camper body and a truck registration it is in violation.

"The determining factor is the towing vehicle's registration. If it has a YW or truck license, the trailer requires a Z license, annual registration at $4 per ton of carrying capacity plus 5 per cent surtax and, if in the Twin City or St. Cloud areas the $1 wheelage tax.

"A two-wheel trailer having a total gross weight of 3,000 pounds or less, used only by the owner and towed only behind a vehicle with a passenger car or recreational license, can use the A, B, or C license plate. This is good for two years and costs $2 plus the surtax. It is exempt from the wheelage tax.

"If the trailer is to be towed at any time by a vehicle with truck license plates, whether it is a station wagon, pickup truck, panel or sedan delivery vehicle, it should be registered accordingly and carry a Z license plate."

Do you believe in the tremendous capabilities of man? Christians do . . .

Do you, on the other hand, believe that man is quite helpless to overcome many of the forces that threaten his progress? Christians do . . .

How can the same religion support such contradictory views?

Well, we take for granted that a tank-load of gasoline will propel an automobile many miles. But there are cold mornings when we can't even get the engine started. What is missing?

A spark! A continuing series of sparks!

Never over-simplify the functioning of the human soul. Like the internal-combustion engine it can be powerless when denied the fire that unlocks its energy.

To be himself — to be all that God intended him to be — a man needs God.

Bring your hopes and frustrations to church next Sunday.

Revive a colonial mealtime tradition this winter by serving warm Steamed Corn Bread with a pot of flavorful baked beans. Relative of famous Boston Brown Bread, though lighter in color and texture, Steamed Corn Bread is a delightful addition to cold weather menus. Spread slices of Steamed Corn Bread generously with butter and serve with baked beans, assorted vegetable relishes, glasses of milk, and for dessert — apple crisp or spicy baked apples.

STEAMED CORN BREAD

Makes 1 large loaf or 3 small loaves

1⅓ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1⅔ cups enriched corn meal
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
2 teaspoon baking powder
2 cups milk
1 egg, beaten
⅓ cup vegetable oil
¾ cup molasses

Sift together flour, corn meal, salt, soda and baking powder. Add remaining ingredients, stirring just until dry ingredients are moistened. Pour into 3 empty greased 1 lb. 2 oz. cans or a greased 1½ qt. mold. Cover tightly, steam 3 hours. Uncover, bake in preheated hot oven (450°F) 5 minutes. Unmold. Serve warm.

1971. You've changed. We've changed.

Change. That's what it's all about this year. And that's what we mean by putting you first.

These are uneasy times.

There are major concerns. About pollution. About safety. About the economy. About your hard-earned dollar. We know.

For the past 10 years Chevrolet research people have questioned thousands of people on every subject from rising taxes to the size of the glovebox in their cars.

We've found that price and maintenance costs, trade-in value and quality have become tremendously important.

Your car has to work. It has to last. And each new model must have more built-in value.

At Chevrolet, we understand.

You want meaningful change. And our aim is to give that to you, as you'll see in the 1971 Chevrolets.

Caprice. The biggest, most luxurious Chevrolet ever. A complete change.

Bigness in itself is nothing. But if it allows you to lengthen the distance between the front and rear wheels (which we did), then you've got something.

You've got a smoother ride.

The idea in the 1971 Caprice was to give you the looks and comfort of a six- or seven-thousand-dollar car, without asking you to pay anywhere near that much for it. And above all, to build in as much dependability and economy as possible.

So we changed the body structure for 1971, too. We made it stronger. And we made it quieter by putting a double layer of steel in the roof.

Caprice, as you can see below, is a lot of luxury at a Chevrolet price.

Vega. The littlest Chevy ever. It wasn't changed from anything.

Before building Vega, we read everything we could get our hands on about little cars. We talked to owners. We studied little cars up one side and down the other and, literally, tore them apart. We found out what made them tick, or why they didn't tick.

What ticked were gas economy and dependability. What didn't were underpowered engines, cramped quarters and getting blown around in the wind.

In our little Vega, everything ticks. It's not just another little car. You didn't want that. It's one little car that does everything well.

It Seems Reasonable

Because they feel that a regulotory framework is necessary to effect some form of control, the Thief River Falls city council plans enactment of a snowmobile ordinance. Because of the legal procedure which must be followed, enoctment of thot ordinance into law can not take place until at least the end of January.

But the council has outlined the provisions of the proposed ordinance (see the January 4 issue of the Times) in the hope that snowmobile operators will adjust their habits to meet the forthcoming regulations.

We don't think the councilmen are eager to make life miserable for those who enjoy the winter sport of snowmobiling. In fact, we believe they have been most patient in not attempting to enact an ordinance prior to this time. Over the past several years, however, there have been enough problems regarding snowmobile use in the city to cause the council to take some regulatory action.

The proposed ordinance seems reasonable and shouldn't prove to be a hardship for any snowmobile owner. It provides protection to the pedestrian and the automobile driver as well as to the operator of the snowmobile. It calls for a 15-miles-per-hour speed limit—very adequate for in-city operation. It allows operators to drive their machines in the city while enroute to or from the open country, including the river.

The downtown business district is taboo for snowmobiles, but there is no good reason why snowmobiles should be operated in the heovy traffic of the downtown area. Rules regarding age of operators and pulling sleds or toboggans with ropes are common sense safety rules.

We think that most snowmobile riders have abided by the rules of their own free choice, and would continue to do so without the ordinance. We think that existence of the ordinance will not stop a few others from committing violations and thereby jeopardizing the safety of themselves and others. But it should help the problem of enforcement by providing some rules to enforce.

If the council does enact the proposed ordinance, it should be prepared to give the local police department a chance to enforce it. That means securing at least one snowmobile for the police department. You can't enforce water safety laws without a boat, and it is equally impossible to enforce snowmobile laws without a snowmobile. Laws without enforcement are really no laws at all.

But by and large the proposed ordinance seems reasonoble, and we don't expect to hear much complaint.

New Sessions Begins

Many and complex will be the problems facing the 1971 Minnesota legislature during—the session which began this week. Northwestern Minnesota will be well represented at the session.

On the senate side of the legislature, Sen. Donald Sinclair of this district has the greatest seniority of any senator. He is in his seventh term. There are no senators in their sixth term and only five in their fifth term. Senators are elected for four-year terms.

On the House of Representatives side, Rep. Richard Fitzsimons of Warren is in his 10th term, one of only seven representatives to have 10 or more terms of service. Rep. Andrew Skaor of Thief River Falls is in his fifth term, but only 22 representatives have more seniority. In the House and Senate this year there are 61 first term legislators, and that's an awful lot of new blood to infuse into the state law-making process.

We look for a stormy session this year, with great pressures by special interests of several kinds. The attempt to secure available funds for the various departments will result in competition which will be exceedingly strong. In spite of the cries of the taxpayers for relief from the tax burden, the state budget will rise again and taxes will climb in several fields.

Departments will attempt to justify their requests by pointing to inflation, but we fail to see where inflation of five or six per cent can require budget increases of 50 per cent.

We will watch with interest as Gov. Wendell Anderson attempts to work his programs through the legislature. It will be a vital session for Minnesota and Minnesotans.

Borrowed Nonsense

Little Boy: "Dad, does bigamy mean that a man has one wife too many?"

Father: "Not necessarily, son. A man can have one wife too many and still not be a bigamist."

No Rural America?

Minnesotans may take a lot of verbal abuse about the cold winters and the generally sparse population of the northern areas, but those of us who live here and like it couldn't care less. The time may come when those who are so free with wisecracks about "the sticks" will be eager to join us.

California has long been pointed to as a growth state. Other states have envied California's ability to attract industry and population. The coastal state just seemed to grow and grow.

Now California is in trouble and an editorial writer for a Los Angeles paper believes a major exodus is possible.

In the southern part of that state, he says, air pollution could get so bad that children would suffer frequent, serious respiratory ailments. School boards would advise parents to keep youngsters home on critically smoggy days, and parents would start looking for healthier climates.

Northern communities would take action to prevent southern communities from draining off their water supplies. Industries and power plants would be deprived of water and forced to shut down. Californians left jobless would move away.

Those left behind would have to pay the costs of running the communities, and the financial pressures would drive more people away. State and local governments would find themselves without revenue needed for vital services and still more people would leave.

We would not be vain to think that many of those who leave California would eventually come to Minnesota or North Dakota. Certainly they would come here, to the land where food is produced in abundance, where there is yet a plentiful supply of water, where the air is still fit to breathe.

What happens when the farm states are faced with exploding populations? Will there be a rural America at the turn of the century? We hope so. We hope that the populous states will find ways to solve their pollution and population problems, and that they can keep their people healthy and happy.

There should always be a rural America.

Another Bite

Beginning with the first pay day in 1971, federal law requires increased social security-medicare tax payments by both workers and employers. The new combined rate will be 5.2 per cent instead of the 4.8 per cent rate in effect for this year.

Congress now has under consideration legislation which calls for an increase in the taxable wage base from $7,800 to $9,000 next year and if this measure passes it will further increase the total yearly tax on both parties.

The increased rate, coupled with the proposed higher base, will mean a maximum tax of $468 for the employee earning $9,000 or more a year. For 1970 the maximum rate was $374.40. And while the employee is making this payment toward his retirement, disability, death or hospitalization, the employer is matching it dollar for dollar.

If the base is increased to $9,000 for 1971, the total payment to the social security-medicare fund by the employee and employer would be 10.4 per cent or $936. That would pay the premium on a pretty good insurance policy from a private firm. Banked at six per cent interest for a working span of 40 years it would also provide a nice nest egg at retirement.

And no matter how you look at it—from the employer's 5.2 per cent or the employee's 5.2 per cent—it's another big bite out of the take-home pay for everyone concerned.

Profit A Dirty Word?

To some people, profit is a dirty word. But if profits are so dirty, how come ours is the most productive economic system, and yet it runs on profits?

A lot of people think profits are too big. They confuse profit with markup. Business averages only about four cents of profit per dollar of sales, 12 cents per dollar of invested capital.

A lot of people think profits come at the expense of employees. Actually, the most profitable businesses pay the highest wages and salaries.

A lot of people question the motives of profit-seeking. But, whatever a businessman's motives, profits serve a vital social function. Profits tell society what people want and losses tell society what people don't want.

A lot of people don't know what profits do. Profits are carrots that make business produce more efficiently. Losses are valuable, too, because they force change.

Far from being a dirty word, profits are an ingenious social invention to get producers to make what people want. In fact, the communists are having to reinvent profits for just that reason.

AMERICAN VETERANS ARE GUESTS OF SWISS

Visiting a land of peace after winning a war, nearly 500,000 American GI's went to Switzerland in 1915-16, and to commemorate the occasion, three of the troops appeared on the cover of a souvenir book.

Now, two of those three soldiers, Jesse Ellsworth, left, of Richmond, Va., (left in souvenir book photo) and Steve Marcinek, of Ford City, Pa., (center of cover photo) have returned via Swissair with their families for vacations in Switzerland as guests of the Swiss National Tourist Office. The third soldier is being sought.

Thousands of other ex GI's are also going back, alone and with their families to enjoy again the towering mountains and the down-to-earth informality.

Available particularly for World War II veterans and their families, a series of 17 two-week package trips with weekly departures during spring and fall 1971 to Switzerland have been planned. Veterans can make a sentimental return trip to Geneva, Lucerne, Interlaken, St Gall, Berne, Lugano, St Moritz, Zurich, Basel and many other memorable places they enjoyed a quarter century ago.

Write Swiss National Tourist Office, 608 Fifth Avenue, N.Y., N.Y. 10020, or 661 Market Street, San Francisco, Cal 94105 for descriptive brochure.

In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Eckstein and family drove to the Oliver St. Martin home in Thief River Falls where they and Pastor and Mrs. Lloyd Huckearth and family of Springfield, South Dakota, Ruby St. Martin of Annapolis, Maryland, Carol St. Martin of Mt. Prospect, Ill., and Rose Ella St. Martin of Minneapolis were supper guests and evening visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hesse and family and Mrs. Henry Hesse drove to Oslo to spend Christmas eve at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson. Mr. Goodwin Lofstrom of Alvarado, brother of Mrs. Hesse's, was also a guest there.

Prepare In Advance For Sunny Vacation

Wintertime has become vacation time. Increasingly, American families seek the sun in their winter vacations and plan holiday trips to such warm weather places as Mexico, the Caribbean, Central and South America, even Africa and Asia.

If you're planning to follow the sun abroad this winter, make sure that your vacation is a happy and a healthy one. Far too many travelers fail to take common sense health precautions before leaving home and, as a result, wind up with a medical emergency or, at the least, suffer discomfort and inconvenience.

What health precautions should you take before you set off for the tropics?

Experts in international health recommend that the time to see your family physician is as soon as you see your travel agent. Consult your doctor at least four weeks in advance, preferably more, to allow time for immunizations to become effective. Your visit should include a thorough physical checkup.

The only immunization usually required to re-enter the United States is a small pox vaccination. However, for tropical areas, international regulations may call for immunizations against yellow fever, cholera, tetanus, diphtheria, polio and typhoid-paratyphoid. For children, recommended precautions add vaccinations against measles and whooping cough. Other protective injections may be required depending on the specific areas you plan to visit. Your doctor, public health service or travel agent will be able to advise you.

Travel to the tropics may pose some special health considerations. Tropical diseases have been eradicated from western countries, but still are common in underdeveloped areas, particularly if you travel off the beaten path, away from cosmopolitan cities and into rural areas.

Before heading south, put together a practical medical kit so that you can easily dispatch those minor medical problems that you encounter abroad as well as at home. Your medical kit should include: insect repellent, eye drops, suntan and skin creams, aspirin, antibiotic ointment, antacids, a fever thermometer, antihistamines, a first aid kit, a kaolin-pectin mixture for diarrhea, milk of magnesia, liquid surgical soap, antifungus powder and ointment and water purification tablets.

Your basic medical kit will save many a groan in the early morning hours when you suffer a headache or stomach upset. In fact, you may find that these items are not always available if you try to buy them on the spot. Even when they can be found, the quality may be doubtful.

Be sure to bring along extra supplies of any medicine prescribed by your physician. Tuck spare eyeglasses into your suitcase. Sunglasses are a must. Supplementary salt tablets can be helpful in preventing heat disorders.

To further assure an all round sunny holiday, experts advise:

Pack light, loose fitting clothes. It's especially important in the tropics to wear comfortable clothes that will give you maximum ventilation. Wear shoes at all times because of the danger of picking up hookworm.

Be careful of the tropic sun. Bring along a sun hat or other protective head gear, and use common sense in acquiring a tan.

Be sure to put on that hat and sunglasses, and apply protective creams.

Be careful of the water. Limit your swimming to the ocean or to swimming pools. Avoid fresh water, such as lakes and streams, because of the possible danger of contracting schistosomiasis.

Be wary of what you eat. Avoid salads, sauces and milk products. Eat raw fruits and vegetables only if they can be washed in bottled or boiled water and then peeled. Don't drink fresh milk, boil it first. Stay away from cold salads and bread rolls offered locally. Don't indulge in the cold platter presented in the hotel lobby in a tropical area.

Exercise caution in what you drink. Don't drink water right from the tap. Use bottled water both for drinking and brushing your teeth.

Employ moderation in what you do. Jetting through time zones can disturb your internal biological clock. The result may be headache, fatigue, irritability and loss of appetite—sometimes lasting for days. Take a bath and a nap when you arrive at your destination, and you'll avoid a lot of discomfort. In general, take it easy on sightseeing, eating, drinking and sports.

Fuel Consumption Of 97.5 Billion Gallons Forecast

Minnesota highway department has received a report from the federal highway administration pointing out that motor fuel consumption is expected to reach 97.5 billion gallons for the United States in 1970, an increase of 5.7 per cent over 1969. State reports of motor-fuel consumption and other sources form the basis for the 1970 estimate.

Highway use of motor fuel in 1970 is expected to be 5.9 per cent more than in 1969, as compared with a 6.2 per cent increase in the previous year.

According to Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe, 93.3 billion gallons of motor fuel are expected to be consumed in highway use during 1970, including 86.4 billion gallons of gasoline and 6.9 billion gallons of special fuel such as diesel and butane. Non-highway use of motor fuel is estimated to be 4.2 billion gallons.

Based on this estimate of highway use of motor fuel and the current estimate of 109 million motor-vehicle registrations in 1970, the average fuel consumption for 1970 is expected to be 856 gallons per vehicle, compared with the 838-gallon figure for 1969.

California will lead the states in motor-fuel consumption on the highways in 1970 with 9.6 billion gallons. Texas and New York come next, with 6.3 and 5.6 billion gallons, respectively. These are followed by Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania, and Michigan in the 4 billion gallon class, and Florida with over 3 billion gallons. These eight states account for 46 per cent of the total consumption. Seven other states will each use more than 2 billion gallons of highway motor fuel in 1970.

The estimated gasoline consumption for Minnesota for 1970 is 1 billion, 700 million gallons.

Treat yourself to some time-saving kindness. Make aprons and kitchen tablecloths out of terry cloth. Easy to wash and no ironing.

Council Opens Bids At Annual Meeting

When two firms submit the low bid for a given quantity of a product, what does the purchasing party do?

This is the problem currently facing the Thief River Falls city council, after two major oil companies turned in the same low bid, 14.3 cents per gallon, for the coming year's supply of Diesel fuel. American Oil company (Standard) and Farmers Union Oil company turned in the low bids, which were opened by the council at the January 5 meeting. Other bidders for fuel were Mobil Oil company, 14.4 cents per gallon, and Continental Oil company, 14.8 cents per gallon.

To resolve the conflict without incurring the expense of rejecting all the bids and re-advertising, city clerk Bill Fahay reports he has sent letters to both companies submitting the low bids, asking that company representatives come to Thief River Falls to witness the deciding toss of a coin or participate in some other mutally agreeable method of deciding which firm will get the fuel contract.

American Oil did receive the bid for gasoline, however, with a low bid of 13.69 cents per gallon. Mobil was a close second with 13.7 cents, Continental bid 14.35 cents; Gulf Oil Corporation 14.5 and Farmers Union Oil 14.7 cents per gallon.

Aviation gasoline and jet fuel will all be delivered to the municipal airport by Shell Oil company. Shell bid 21.87 cents per gallon for 80-87 octaine gasoline, 24.37 cents for 100-130 octaine gas and 18.63 cents per gallon for jet fuel.

The only other bidder in the aviation gas category was Mobil Oil, with a low price of 22.59 for the low-octaine gasoline, 25.09 for the higher octaine, and 23.37 cents per gallon of jet fuel.

The low garbage-container bids came from L. B. Hartz Wholesale, Inc. Bids were asked for two quantities of bags, 700,000 and 810,000, and in two different thicknesses of material, 1½-mill plastic and 1¾-mill plastic. In addition, the city asked for comparative bids for two different colors, purple, and green or buff.

While the quantity to be used is as yet undecided, the city has tentatively accepted the bid from L. B. Hartz Wholesale for 700,000 1½-mill green or buff bags. The winning bid was $30.87 per thousand bags in either the 700,000 or 810,000 quantity.

Hartz' other bids were $31.95 per thousand in either quantity for purple bags of the lighter material, and $37.35 for the purple bags in 1¾-mill plastic. The bags made of the thicker material in either green or buff and in either quantity would have cost $36.09 per thousand.

Also turning in bids for the garbage container contract were Fargo Paper company and Mobil

Wheat Program For 1971 Offers More Freedom

"Wheat producers who choose to take part in the 1971 voluntary wheat program will have considerably more freedom in planning their farm operations than they've had in the past," reports Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee.

Under the 1971 wheat program, wheat growers will receive allotments based on a national domestic wheat allotment of 18.7 million acres. The 1971 farm wheat allotments will be used only to determine acres to be set aside on each farm and the amount of payment a producer may receive under the wheat program. Unlike previous years, the allotments will not determine the amount of wheat grown on a farm.

Wheat producers are no longer required to plant wheat in order to qualify for program benefits. The wheat allotment does not restrict a producer to a set number of acres of wheat, nor does it indicate to him what crop or crops he must or should plant.

The general outline of the new wheat program has already been announced, and full information on all provisions are expected before March 1.

"Every effort will be made to see that all farmers are fully informed about the new farm program. Farmer meetings are planned prior to the sign-up which will be March 1 through April 9, 1971, Dahl stated.

'70 Fire Damage Totals $163,500

Thief River Falls firemen responded to 79 calls during 1970.

This is the summary of the annual report issued by Roy Langevin, chief of the Thief River Falls Fire department. The department dispatched men and equipment in Thief River Falls as well as in North and Rocksbury townships, which the local department serves.

Fire damage, boosted by the $109,000 fire January 23 at the Osborne-McMillan elevator in North township, reached $163,500 in the local fire department's service area. Thief River Falls property sustained $52,500 damage from fires.

The largest amount of loss in Thief River Falls occurred when the Harwood Olson home, valued at $23,000 was destroyed. Danny's Grocery was damaged $10,000 worth by fire, and the Willard Peterson home had an estimated $9,000 damage after being swept by flames.

Alarms received by the firemen involved faulty stoves and furnaces, appliances, grass fires, fires caused by careless smoking, rubbish fires, gasoline spills, fires caused by children with matches, faulty electric wiring, electric motors and welding sparks. Burning roasts and toast, and lint in an electric dryer also caused summonses for firemen.

In addition to incidents involving smoke and fire, the department responded to requests to wash spilled gasoline off city streets and requests to rescue children who had locked themselves in bathrooms. Personnel and equipment from the fire department also were involved in river dragging efforts to locate the bodies of Bonnie Forsythe, Fertile, who drowned in Tindolph pool June 28, and Jeffrey Harrison, who drowned in the river below the dam December 7.

On a comparative basis, fires caused more damage in Thief River Falls this year than any previous year, except 1969. In 1965 fire damage was estimated at $50,520, in 1966 it was $9,000, in 1967, $14,825, in 1968, $11,800, in 1969, $162,000, and in 1970, $52,500.

The national per capita fire loss for 1970 is $9.21, according to the fire chief. During the same year, fire loss in Thief River Falls was held to about $5.56 per capita.

Public Schools Offer Special Rates For Meals

Free or reduced-price lunches are available in Thief River Falls public schools.

The schools—Mark Twain, Knox, Washington, Northrop, Franklin Junior high and Lincoln Senior high—regularly make a charge of 25 cents per meal for elementary students and 30 for junior and senior high school students. Since some families may find it difficult to pay the full price, the schools also offer lunches free of charge or at a reduced price for students who qualify.

Families feeling that their children may be eligible for the free or low-cost lunches are urged by the school administration to apply. Copies of the application form were sent home in a letter to parents last week, and additional copies are available at any of the Thief River Falls schools.

The completed application, signed by an adult member of the family, should be sent to the school social worker at Lincoln High school. Families will be notified within three days whether they have been found eligible for the free or low-cost lunches. All information provided on the application will be held in the strictest confidence by the schools.

EAST SIDE SERVICE at Plummer is being reduced to ashes in the above photo taken about 7 p.m. Sunday. Two Plummer fire fighters are silhouetted against flames in the residence portion of the service station, which was home for Mrs. Janice Mattison and her six children. The station and living quarters were completely destroyed, although some appliances and furnishings were saved in the early stages of the blaze. Firemen's initial efforts were also directed successfully toward saving four large fuel storage tanks located immediately south of the flaming building.

East Side Service At Plummer Burns Sun.

Fed by exploding fuel containers—including a bulk delivery truck—fire completely destroyed the East Side Service station at Plummer early Sunday evening. The building, approximately 60x60 in size, housed a service station, repair shop and snowmobile sales and living quarters. Loss has been conservatively estimated in excess of $25,000.

The garage was owned by Mrs. Janice Mattison and operated by herself and her brother, Mike Lefebvre. The living quarters were occupied by Mrs. Mattison and her six sons, ranging in age from four to 11. Mrs. Mattison's husband, Gene, was killed in a deer hunting accident in November of 1969.

R. H. Pahlen, Plummer fire chief, stated that the fire began about 5 p.m. in the garage area of the structure. It was noticed by Mrs. Mattison who had gone to the front of the station to fill gas in the car of Mrs. Robert Pahlen.

The station was in flames when the fire department arrived. An attempt was made to pull the bulk delivery truck out of the garage but the chain broke. Shortly thereafter the truck exploded and spread flames throughout the garage. Lost in addition to the truck were two snowmobiles, approximately 200 tires, all garage tools and equipment, a large supply of Arctic clothing, a large inventory of automotive goods and most of the family's personal possessions.

"We're going to have to have some awfully honest people around here," Pahlen told the Times this morning. "All of the records for the station were destroyed. There is no more accounts receivable file."

Aided by fire departments from Red Lake Falls, Gonvick and Oklee and some volunteer firemen from Thief River Falls, the Plummer fire department saved four bulk storage tanks south of the station and a frame warehouse behind the structure. Pahlen said the storage tanks held regular and Ethyl gasoline and No. 1 and 2 fuel oil. He expressed his appreciation to all who helped the department during the fire.

Included in the Mattison family are twins Neil and Dale, 11; Jerry, 10; Allen, 9; James, 6; and Carl, 4. The family stayed at the Robert Pahlen home Sunday night as Mrs. Pahlen and Mrs. Mattison have been close friends for some time. They had attended snowmobile races at Plummer earlier in the day. Because of the races, the station had been closed for the day. It is usually open on Sunday.

A meeting has been called for 8 p.m. tonight (Monday) at the Plummer hall to organize assistance for the Mattison family. All persons in the community interested in the project are invited to attend.

Soggy Spring, Hot Summer Summarize 1970 Weather

Several residents of the Thief River Falls area were reportedly seen building arks during the soggy spring which was probably the most memorable weather phenomenon of 1970.

The year started with 14 inches of snow on the ground. By the end of January this amount had increased to 22 inches, and another inch fell February 1. Four more inches of flakes hit the ground February 4, and another four were added on March 3.

Several days of above freezing temperatures reduced the snow cover in February, and another thaw in Mid-March reduced the depth still more before April began. However, even though the snow was all melted by April 24, the abundant moisture comprising the snow—combined with 4.88 inches of precipitation during April—made the area resemble Florida's everglades. Conditions were no better in May, for rain in amounts varying from a trace to 1.47 inches fell on 18 days during that month, totaling 4.85 inches.

Even area farmers who had withstood the previous two months of rainfall, which idled all seedbed preparation and seeding equipment, must have uttered some appropriate phrases when, after a dry first week in June, the gates opened again. Rain fell every day except two from June 8 through June 19, reaching a total of 4.97 inches for the month.

The wet spring weather gave way to a hot, dry summer. A .24-inch sprinkle dampened the area on July 2, followed by .05 inch four days later. Not a drop fell then until July 15, when a .68-inch shower passed through the area.

Maximum temperatures boomed in the 80's and 90's from July 6 through 18, fell into the 70's for four days, then climbed back up staying in the 80-90 degree range until August 13, when the mercury hit 98. Nary a drop of moisture fell the first 15 days of August, parching the area small-grain crop during its crucial "filling" stages.

A paltry .05 inch of rain came down August 15, and .12 inch followed on the 18th, but not until nearly one and three quarters inches fell August 21 was the dry spell broken. A tornado caused some damage on the Archie Ptacek and Harold Harder farms, and wind accompanying a rain shower slid a self-propelled combine about 75 feet across a

New Officers Begin Terms In Red Lake County

Red Lake county is beginning the new year with a number of new county officers.

Sworn in January 5 as the new county sheriff was Kermit Knutson, elected by a 116 vote margin over incumbent Gerald Hinze during the November general elections. The new sheriff has indicated that Mrs. Carl Kankel will remain deputy, a position she has held by appointment for the past 13 years.

Two other new faces in the Red Lake county courthouse are those of Martin Schiefert, county treasurer, and Duane Dargon, clerk of district court. Also beginning his first full term in office is Gerald Thibert, register of deeds, who was appointed to the office in March after the death of Martin Pouliot created the vacancy.

The first change in personnel of the county board of commissioners in eight years was brought about by the November election. New members of the board are Irving Beyer, from the first district, and Russell Boutain, fifth district. Arnold Persun, third district representative, ran unopposed for re-election.

Marcia Gail Murphy Is Wed At Denver, Colo.

Roman Catholic church of St. John the Evangelist, Denver, Colo., was the setting for the 6 p.m., wedding on Monday, December 28, of Miss Marcia Gail Murphy and Dr. Bondall H. Lortscher of Rosebud, S. D.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David R. Murphy of Denver, Colo., and a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Tonnes Nelson of Thief River Falls. An aunt, Mrs. K. Russell Anderson resides in this city. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lortscher of Denver.

The Rev. Frank Morfeld of St. John's and the Rev. Dale Strong of First United Presbyterian church, officiated at the ecumenical ceremony before an altar banked with scarlet poinsettias and fresh Christmas greens interspersed with miniature lights. Burning cathedral tapers, entwined with greens, lined the pews.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a formal gown of candlelight peau de soie with a tucked yoke of English net. Re-embroidered Alencon lace enhanced the empire waistline, stand-up collar, lantern sleeves and the wide chapel length train that swept back from a sheath styled skirt. A fitted half moon hat of matching lace encrusted with seed pearls, held her veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of orchids, stephanotis and Christmas greens.

Miss Karen Murphy of Denver was her sister's maid of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. Stephen Pate, Mrs. Wesley Segelke, Mrs. Max McGee, all of Denver, Colo., the groom's sister, Miss Marcia Lortscher of Ithaca, N. Y., and Denver, and Miss Ann Butler of Mexico City.

They wore floor-length gowns of ruby red velvet designed with high rise bodices, choir-boy collars and sleeves of Cluny lace. Edwardian clusters of garnet roses, tied with matching velvet ribbon, formed their headpieces. Each carried an English lantern festooned with holly and mistletoe, tied with moss green velvet ribbons.

Three-year-old Karen Segelke, the flower girl, attired in a long frock of ivory silk, sashed with ruby red velvet, scattered rose petals from a white wicker basket. The ringbearer, five-year-old Scott Wyatt, wore a black velvet court suit.

Loren Lortscher of Denver, Colo., attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Dr. David A. McGuire of Rosebud, S. D., Dr. Deane B. Jacques of Albuquerque, N. Mex., George Smith of Denver, Thomas Findley of Sausalito, Calif., and the bride's brothers, David E. Murphy of New York City, and Steven R. Murphy of Denver.

The mother of the bride wore a long sleeved princess styled gown of antique yellow alaskine with gold beading forming the collar and front panel. A gold French bow in her hair and a purse corsage of green cymbidium orchids completed her attire. The groom's mother was attired in a long sleeved tunic of imported silk brocade in gold and ivory. Her flowers were also green cymbidium orchids.

Christmas greens and small white carnations formed the setting for the dinner dance that followed at the Cherry Hills country club. Tables, covered with pink cloths, were centered with Dickensonian lanterns trimmed with greenery and holly.

After a wedding trip to Southern California and Las Vegas, the newly-weds are at home in Rosebud, S.D.

The bride is a graduate of East high school, the Pine Manor Junior college in Wellesley, Mass., the University of Colorado and the Katherine Gibbs school in New York City. She is a member of Delta Gamma and the Junior League of Denver.

The groom received his bachelor and medical degrees from the University of Colorado. He is a member of the Waring society and worked with the U. S. Vows Said In Florida By C. Knowles-David Erickson

Miss Deborah Catherine Knowles and David Allen Erickson exchanged marriage vows in Florida at a 7 p.m., ceremony on November 14 at Eglin Chapel Three. Chaplain Beryl T. Hubbard officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is a daughter of CWO George E. Knowles and Mrs. Knowles of Valparaiso, Fla. She together with 15 other daughters of military fathers was presented recently to Lord and Lady DeRamsey of Huntington at the first American Debutante ball to be held in England. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Erickson of Minneapolis and formerly of Thief River Falls.

Mrs. William Thomas, organist, provided appropriate nuptial selections as David Knowles, brother of the bride, lighted the candles. She also played the traditional wedding marches for the processional and recessional.

For the ceremony, the chapel was graced with arrangements of white, yellow and bronze mums with greenery and ferns.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of Chantilly lace fashioned with an empire bodice with high ruffled neckline and long sleeves edged at the wrists by ruffles. Her A-line skirt flowed from a satin band in a redingote effect at the center front. Soft gathers in the back created a chapel-length train. A profile headpiece of lace petals, accented with pearls, held her bouffant veil of bridal illusion. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white carnations.

As her only attendants, the bride chose her sisters: Mrs. James A. Poppell, as matron of honor, and Miss Christine Ann Knowles, as bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of gold peau de sola designed in empire fashion with high necklines and A-line skirts. To complement their attire, they wore matching headpieces and each carried a lighted candle in a crystal holder, nestled in a small nosegay trimmed with ribbon.

Gerald Erickson attended his brother as best man. The bride's brothers, Douglas and David Knowles, served as ushers and Timmie Poppell was the ring bearers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Knowles chose a dress of blue crepe with a corsage of yellow and white mums. A similar corsage was worn by the mother of the groom who was attired in a beige linen dress complemented with lace trim.

A reception followed in the chapel annex. Those pouring and serving were Mrs. Al Peterson, Mrs. James Poppell and Miss Christine Knowles.

The couple visited in Thief River Falls during the holidays. While here they were houseguests at the home of the groom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Randall Erickson. Among the relatives visited were his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Matson.

Mr. and Mrs. Erickson are now at home in Minneapolis where the groom is attending college.

While continuous or prolonged exposure to excessively loud sounds is a major source of hearing losses, noise is not the only villian. Other causes are ear infections, self-diagnosis of illness and the use of self prescribed medications.

Mrs. Dale Lundgren
of Peru, Indiana

According to the official census report, released last week, the city of Thief River Falls has had a gain in population of 1,467 in the past 10 years. A number of these are junior college and vocational students away from home for the first time. While some of the students adjust very quickly, others find it a most nostalgic experience. Missed are the everyday home activities and Mom's cooking, which take on a glowing perspective when viewed through the eyes of the lonely.

Students who have adjusted and adopted Thief River Falls as their home, occasionally miss some favorite foods that only their mothers can prepare to their complete satisfaction. It was while talking to one of these that today's recipe was obtained. I'm grateful to Mike Lundgren, the Times Sports writer, for letting me share his mother's recipe with the readers of Kitchen Karnival.

Gov. Anderson Proclaims Jaycee Week In Minn.

Governor Wendell Anderson has proclaimed January 17-23 as "Jaycee Week" in Minnesota, and asked state and local organizations to cooperate in this observance.

The governor, a former St. Paul Jaycee, said the purpose of the week is to focus attention on young men and the work they are doing, and emphasized in his proclamation that the Minnesota Jaycees have made significant contributions to state and community betterment in many fields. Some of their current priority programs include drug education, "Honey Sunday" for the mentally retarded, "Do Something" a community involvement program, "Vote Yes 19" and environmental improvement.

The week celebrates the founding of the Jaycees in 1915, when Henry Giessenbier of St. Louis saw a need for a young men's civic group and organized the first chapter. The movement spread so fast that in 1920, the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce was formed with 24 cities represented.

The name of the national organization was changed from U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce to U. S. Jaycees in 1965.

Built on the foundation of creating opportunities for leadership training through community betterment projects, the Jaycees today are active in 198 Minnesota communities and over 6,000 in the United States. National headquarters is located in Tulsa, Okla.

Newfolden Man Gets Navy Medal

Bruce Elseth has been awarded the Navy Achievement medal. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Elseth, Newfolden. The ex-sailor entered the Navy in March 1968 and was discharged April 27, 1970.

The citation, issued by admiral John J. Hyland, commander in chief of the U.S. Pacific fleet, reads "For professional achievement in the superior performance of his duties while attached to and serving on board USS PAGE COUNTY (LST 1076) as Seaman and Yeoman Third Class from 29 May 1969 to 18 April 1970 during combat operations against the enemy. Petty Officer ELSETH was assigned to the Operations Department without the benefit of having attended a Yeoman 'A' School. Within 4 months he became the Leading Yeoman and supervised the work of a striker (assistant). In December 1969 he supervised a difficult transition period for the Ship's Office when the ship's force of USS MADERA COUNTY (LST 905) tranferred en masse to USS PAGE COUNTY (LST 1076). Petty Officer ELSETH displayed a tremendous amount of professional ability throughout the complex operation and later was cited for outstanding performance by the staff of Commander Landing Ship Squadron TWO during the annual administrative inspection. By his outstanding performance in the administrative functioning of the ship, Petty Officer ELSETH made a significant contribution to the overall readiness of PAGE COUNTY. His determination, pride and professionalism were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

Petty Officer ELSETH is authorized to wear the Combat "V".

Municipalities League Approves Two Proposals

Members of the League of Minnesota Municipalities have approved two new legislative proposals which would affect the borrowing power of municipalities.

The first would have the state of Minnesota guarantee the local bond issues of school districts, municipalities, counties and townships at the option of the local governing body. The second would permit municipalities to make short-term loans without issuing bonds or certificates of indebtedness.

The approval means that the proposals will become part of the league's over-all legislative program and that the league will support legislation to enact the proposals during the 1971 legislative session. The proposals received strong support from municipalities throughout the state, league officials said.

The state guarantee of local bond issues is aimed at long term financing problems. Local governments - without bond ratings or with bond ratings lower than "Baa" are expected to be prime beneficiaries. In the past year and a half, such jurisdictions both outstate and in the Twin Cities area have found that money for their long term capital needs has been difficult and expensive to borrow.

According to some financial consultants, if the state places its full faith and credit behind local bond issues, no local issue should merit less than a Baa rating. This would improve the market for such issues, by making them eligible for the portfolios of banks and other financial institutions. It is also likely to result in considerable savings in terms of lower interest rates.

Under the league proposal, local governments would participate in the state guarantee program at their own option. Local governing bodies would issue bonds within the same limits that operate now, with no additional review by any state agency.

However they would have to agree to a uniform assessment of one per cent of the bond issue which would be deposited in a bond guarantee fund until all of the bonds are retired. This bond guarantee fund would be used in event of a default. Although there is no history of defaults on general obligation issues in Minnesota, the guarantee fund would be an additional safeguard for the state's present AA credit rating.

The second proposal would allow municipalities to borrow limited amounts for up to three years from local banks. Smaller municipalities—those with smaller financial reserves—are expected to be the main users of this alternative to finance emergency repairs and small construction projects. If the amount borrowed is more than one per cent of the assessed valuation of the municipality, a referendum would be required if more than 10 per cent of those voting at the last municipal election filed a petition.

If enacted, this proposal would give small jurisdictions an alternative to the practice of issuing warrants, which has been criticized in recent years.

The League of Minnesota Municipalities is a cooperative organization, whose members include more than 700 municipalities throughout the state.

County E and H Bond Sales At 97% Of Quota

By November's end, Pennington county sales of U.S. Savings bonds series E and H had reached 97 per cent of the 1970 quota.

Sales in the county totaled $13,024 during November, bringing sales for 11 months to the year to $109,543. J. M. Roche, Thief River Falls, is the county volunteer chairman.

George H. Dixon, state volunteer chairman, notes that E and H series bond sales are up 11 per cent for a year-to-date sales total of $57,943,678. Sales in the state during November were $5,271,869, which brought the state-wide sales effort to 97 per cent of its goal.

SSG Halverson Takes Part In "Acid Test III"

Army staff sergeant Edgar B. Halverson participated in "Acid Test III" at Fort Greely, Alaska, November 30 to December 14.

The son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Nelson of Thief River Falls, Halverson is stationed at Fort Wainwright, Alaska, as a maintenance sergeant in the 12th Aviation company. He and his wife Donna live at Fort Wainwright.

"Acid Test III" was the code name for a northern warfare training operation. Combined forces of the Canadian army and air force joined with elements of the U.S. Army, Alaska, the Alaskan Air command and the Air National Guard to train and test individuals and units in cold-weather warfare tactics.

Approximately 4,700 soldiers and airmen participated in the test, using 500 vehicles and 100 aircraft.

Persons who experience difficulty hearing radios or television sets played at normal volumes, or who find it hard to hear clearly in theaters, should have a hearing test to determine whether or not they are suffering from an undetected hearing loss.

State And Local Roads Use Small Part Of State

State and local roads in Minnesota occupy only 68 per cent of the state's total area of 80,068 square miles. This statistic was cited by the Minnesota department of highways in a report showing the increase in road mileage as compared to the growth in the number of registered motor vehicles and licensed operators.

Criss-crossing the state are approximately 127,000 miles of rural roads, city streets, and state highways, a total which is roughly 47,000 more miles than there were in 1909. That represents an increase of 37 per cent since shortly after the turn of the century.

At the same time, the number of vehicles has increased from 10,410 in 1909 — which was the first year registration was required by law — to 1,694,930 passenger cars in 1969.

In 1934, the first year that operators' licenses were required by law, there were nearly 931,000 licensed operators in Minnesota. The latest tally shows that there are now just over 2,000,000 operators in the state.

In Minnesota, with motor vehicle registration (passenger cars) reaching toward 2 million, the aggregate travel mileage on the roads, streets and highways was 20.8 billion miles last year.

In the nation, the 3.8 million miles of roads occupy one per cent of all the area. In Minnesota, the 127,000 miles of state and local roads occupy about 0.68 per cent of the total area of 80,068 square miles in the state.

In Minnesota, only 1,156 miles of controlled access highways (including I-35, I-90, and I-94) carry 19 per cent of the total traffic on roads in the state.

Two Hands Best To Control Auto

Driving on today's superhighways, where vehicles travel 60 to 70 miles per hour, is a two-hands job. The same thing applies to city streets where children are likely to run out from between parked cars and to rural roads where farm implements may be around each bend in the road, says the Minnesota Safety council.

A driver steering with only a limp wrist draped over the steering wheel has virtually no control over his car. The ease of modern driving and power steering may lull him into thinking he is driving safely, but unless the driver is always alert and driving defensively with two hands on the wheel, unexpected events may arise which he may not be able to handle immediately.

If it takes the motorist going 60 miles per hour one full second to get his hands back on the wheel, the car will have traveled 88 feet before the driver even touches the wheel. In addition, he will reflexively apply the brakes. If his foot should hit the brake before his hands fully grip the wheel, the car may lurch out of control.

Always use two hands on the steering wheel. The Minnesota Safety council says the "10 and 2 o'clock" position for the driver's hands on the wheel gives him the most control over the car and is therefore the safest steering position.

Farmers Set New Production Marks In Some Crops

Minnesota farmers set new production records for corn and soybeans and set yield records for soybeans and rye in 1970, according to the annual crop summary released by the federal-state crop and livestock reporting service of the Minnesota department of agriculture.

Total crop production was one per cent higher than 1969, but was two per cent lower than the record 1968 crop output.

The year-end estimate pegged 1970 corn production at 390 million bushels, six per cent more than the previous record in 1968 and up 11 per cent from 1969. The yield for Minnesota's biggest grain commodity averaged 85 bushels per acre, equalling the 1969 record.

Soybean production totaled 83 million bushels, up 10 per cent from last year's record and 17 per cent over 1968. The new yield record is 26.5 bushels per acre, comparing with 24.5 bushels in 1969 and 22 bushels in 1968. Soybeans are the second most important grain crop in Minnesota for income.

Rye production showed the sharpest increase, 2.7 million bushels, up 26 per cent from 1969. The 27 bushel per acre record yield was 1.5 bushels greater than last year and up two bushels from the 1968 average.

Soggy Spring, And Hot Summer Summarize 1970

stubble field on a farm northeast of Thief River Falls, but damage was not extensive.

The warm summer weather was succeeded by a fall that started out warm. On September 4 the thermometers in the area zoomed to 94 degrees, followed by 92 the next day. Though Labor day was marred by a 1.09-inch rain, most of September was dry and warm, with only 2.17 inches of rain recorded for the whole month.

October, despite 5.11 inches of rain, was of the same spirit, with all but a short period in the middle of the month and the last few days of the month sunny and warm. October 5, with a high of 84, was the warmest October day since October 1, 1963.

Autumn continued throughout the first 20 days of November, with no recorded precipitation and high temperatures ranging from the month's high of 50 degrees to 28. Two inches of snow blanketed the area November 21, and the first below zero temperature of the season, a -2 reading, was recorded November 22. Low for the month was a snappy -10 November 24.

The final month of the year entered the scene mildly enough, with a comfortable 37 for the high the first day, and 22 degrees for the low. On the second day, the mercury went down and the snow deepened six inches in three days, with three inches the second, one the third and two the fourth.

Some real winter weather came with December. Evening lows below zero became common, with the coolest a -25 recorded December 28, and second best a -23 on December 20.

The ground remained covered with snow, which was whitened somewhat Christmas night when four more inches settled over the terrain, raising the year end total to 10 inches on the ground. As the end of the month neared, temperatures moderated, with a high of 28 degrees listed on the final day.

Average mean temperature for the year was 36.5 degrees. The average high was 47.3, the average low temperature 24.8. A total of 28.99 inches of precipitation fell.

The coldest temperature was -44 degrees, recorded January 18, the lowest temperature in Thief River Falls in over five years. The high was 98, on August 13, which gave area residents a 142-degree variation in temperature during the year.

The following summary of the year's weather was provided The Times by the weather observation station operated by North Central airlines at the Thief River Falls municipal airport.

Council Opens Bids At Annual Meeting Jan. 5

Chemical company. Fargo Paper submitted a bid of $34.60 for either 700,000 or 810,000 1½-mill purple bags and $40.03 for either quantity of 1¾-mill purple bags. In green or buff colors the prices dropped to $33.60 for either number of 1½ mill containers and $38.83 for either number of containers in the 1¾-mill weight.

Mobil Chemical's bids were $36.40 for 1½-mill purple bags and $33.60 for the same bags in green or buff. For the purple bags made of 1¾ mill plastic, Mobil asked $42.57 per thousand, or $39.30 per thousand for the 1¾-mill green or buff bags. Again the prices were the same in either quantity.

Union State bank and Northern State bank, both of Thief River Falls, bid the same, five per cent interest, in the bidding for the official depository of the city. The city will, therefore, continue to divide deposits between the two institutions.

The single bid for official newspaper was submitted by the Thief River Falls Times. Legal notices and minutes of council proceedings will be published in The Times for $1.80 per folio for the first insertion and $1.20 per folio for each subsequent insertion, with an additional charge of 60 cents per folio to be made on the first insertion of any tabulated matter.

Also accepted was a bid for an electronic accounting computer, placed after earlier bids were rejected due to the introduction of a model more suited to the needs of the city. The council agreed to a five year lease for a Burroughs L-5000 accounting computer, furnished the city at a cost of $462.12 per month. Maintenance after the first year, during which no additional charge will be made, will cost $1,080 per year.

In business other than bid-opening, the council agreed to hire Thomas Duke, Thief River Falls, effective January 1, 1971, at a salary of $480 per month. Duke will be assigned to the Park and Recreation department.

The council also granted a permanent leave of absence to Harold Pierce, Thief River Falls, due to Pierce's permanent disability. The action was taken so that Pierce may remain eligible for Public Employees Retirement association benefits.

Baudette Region Sold To North Star Publishing

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Kellogg have announced the sale of the Baudette Region.

New owner of the weekly newspaper is North Star Publishing Co., owned by Harry Davey, publisher of the International Falls Daily Journal. Dwight L. Austin, advertising manager of the Daily Journal, will assume the duties of publisher of the Region, and Frank F. Abbott, a 25-year veteran at the Region, will continue as editor and ad manager.

The Kelloggs reportedly intend to seek a larger newspaper operation so that a partnership with a brother of Mr. Kellogg may be formed. They will remain at the Region during the transition of ownership, however.

O. W. Kellogg has been on the Region staff since 1953, and has served as editor and publisher since 1958. His wife joined the staff in 1965.

Albert Kammen Regains Roseau Co. Board Chair

Fourth district commissioner Albert Kammen has once again been elected chairman of the board of commissioners in Roseau county.

The Badger man, who served as chairman in 1963, 1964 and 1965 was named to the post at the reorganizational meeting January 5. Re-elected as vice-chairman is Greenbush's Wayne Juhl.

The present chairman when replaced in 1966 by A. J. Landby. However, Landby's term as chairman ended when he was defeated in last year's county commissioner election.

Joining the board this year for the first time are Manfred Holm, Roseau, representing third district, and Doran Horner, Warroad fifth district. Howard Degerness, Roseau, second district, is the fifth man on the board.

H & R Block To Open TRF Office

H and R Block, America's largest firm dealing exclusively in preparation of federal and state income tax returns, opens an office today at 101 East Second street in Thief River Falls. The space was formerly occupied by the motor vehicle license bureau.

Mrs. Karen Wolff, manager of the office here, noted that the firm has more than 4,000 offices across the nation and expects to handle more than seven million tax returns this year. The firm notes that nearly 75 per cent of its first-time customers have been over-paying their state and federal income taxes.

"I think that there is far too much work done in the world, that immense harm is caused by the belief that work is virtuous, and that what needs to be preached in modern industrial countries is quite different from what always has been preached." —Bertrand Russell

Which Route To Go?

It was just a couple of years ago when improvements were completed on highway 59 to make that a first class route between Winnipeg and the Twin Cities. Thief River Falls has received great benefit from the ease of travel by our Canadian friends to our city. There is a good deal of international travel between Thief River Falls and metro Winnipeg.

With this as a background, the following editorial from the Kittson County Enterprise at Hallock should be of concern to our area:

A proposal to widen highway 75 from Ft. Gary (Winnipeg) to Emerson has been filed with the Manitoba Minister of Transportation. The resolution proposes that the route be made into a four-lane highway to connect with I-29 in North Dakota. Construction would be started in 1971.

While the proposal would seem to be a good thing from the standpoint of Minnesotans making the last 70 miles into Winnipeg, we are concerned about the effect the new road would have on our tourist business from Canada. It would seem to us that our Canadian traffic, now coming down 75 or 59 would be re-routed directly to Grand Forks via I-29.

Should this happen, the loss of revenue to Northwestern Minnesota in gas, food and lodging would be tremendous. In fact, we think it is time those concerned take a good look at just what the I-29 project will do to Vikingland tourism.

As we understand it, some private business interests at Noyes are already considering the move to the Pembina port of entry. People are creatures of habit and if Canadians, truckers, etc. get in the habit of I-29 it will be many years and many promotion dollars before we get them back in Minnesota.

More History

With Thief River Falls observing its year of Diamond Jubilee in 1971, area history has taken on a new interest. Brought to our office this week was a 50th anniversary book published by the Minnesota state board of immigration in 1908 when John A. Johnson was in his third term as governor.

Allen Iverson found the book among the items in a one-room house on a farm which he purchased a number of years ago. It includes summaries of the various counties in the state. Regarding Red Lake county—which included what is now Pennington county—the book stated the following:

This county was organized December 24, 1896, with the county seat at Red Lake Falls, and is situated in the northwestern part of the state. It is bounded on the north by Marshall county, east by Beltrami and Clearwater counties, and on the south and west by Polk county.

The soil is very rich and productive, being a black loam with a clay subsoil. The character of the county varies considerably, the greater part of it being gently rolling; other parts sparsely timbered, while still in other sections we find dense hardwood timber.

The county is well watered by the Red Lake, Clearwater, Hill, Thief and Black rivers.

The area of the county is 1,116 square miles, or 714,050.28 acres, of which 713,438.52 acres are land, and 611.76 acres are water. The land surface is divided into 2,082 farms at an average value per acre of $17.36.

Nearly every farm home in this county is supplied with United States rural free delivery, and local and long-distance telephones.

Your Shrinking Dollar

Since half of all Americans living today were born—in late 1942—the value of the dollar has shrunk 58 cents.

If this rate of decline continues, another 28 years will produce a 1942 dollar worth only 18 cents, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States points out.

The main reason for the inflation that has eaten away the dollar's value since 1942 has been federal spending—and particularly deficit spending.

Suppose the same rate of inflation continues; what is in store for the average worker?

What will he have to earn—or pay—on 18-cent dollars just to equal the same amount in terms of today's 42-cent dollars?

$7,200 in wages would have to be $16,800.

$3,000 cars would cost $7,000.
$25,000 homes—$58,000.
$4,000 college tuition—$9,400.
$275 television sets—almost $640.
$125 suits of clothes—$290.
$25 pairs of shoes—$58.

This inflation does not have to continue, the National Chamber asserts. Citizens should demand that their government officials—national, state and local—keep spending within income. Otherwise, we can all expect deficit spending to feed the inflationary forces and hasten the day when our dollar could be worth only 18 cents.

Unsettled World

Following editorial is from the St. Louis Post-Dispatch:

When preachers and politicians warn us from pulpit and podium that our nation is adrift, their social analysis may be subject to question but their science is impeccably precise. The North American continent is drifting westward at the rate of slightly less than one-half inch a year, two government geologists reported recently.

Those alarmed to learn that terra isn't as firma as they thought may be consoled to know that things are moving at a more rapid pace elsewhere: India and Australia are racing north at the headlong speed of four inches a year.

It all began 200 million years ago, the scientists say, when the world's single huge continent was split in two by movements deep within the earth's crust. The splitting and drifting continued over the ages, resulting in the present alignment of six major land masses, most of them still looking for a place to settle down.

We leave to the mathematically proficient the chore of figuring out how long it will be before California is contiguous to Hawaii, contenting ourselves with the observation that East may be East and West may be West but sooner or later they won't.

Borrowed Nonsense

An Australian bushman arranged to give his daughter in marriage to a young man in the next village. It was agreed they would meet at a bend in the river to exchange the girl for a couple of cows and a few sheep. The older man and the girl arrived at the appointed place and time, but the young man and his livestock showed up across the river. "Stupid boy," mumbled the older man. "He doesn't know which side his bride is bartered on."

Interesting Opinions

"When I reflect back upon what I have seen, what I have heard, and what I have done myself, I can hardly persuade myself that all that frivolous hurry and bustle, and pleasures of the world, had any reality; but they seem to have been the dreams of restless nights." —Lord Chesterfield

Reminds Aliens To Give Report About Address

John W. Bowser, district director of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization service, St. Paul, advised today that the annual alien address report program is again under way.

Aliens have until the end of January to submit their address reports to the government. Forms for this purpose may be obtained at any post office or any office of the Immigration and naturalization service.

All noncitizens, with few exceptions, are required to report. Those excused from this requirement include diplomats and persons accredited to certain international organizations. Aliens who are minors must also report, but the parent or legal guardian should submit the report for an alien child under 14 years of age.

Social security number should be shown on the registration card. Aliens and employers are advised that the possession of a social security card does not entitle aliens to work in the United States. Only aliens admitted for permanent residence or certain classes of nonresident aliens authorized to do so by the immigration and naturalization service may take employment. Violators of this restriction are subject to certain penalties.

VA Pensioners Asked To Report Annual Income

Veterans administration has reminded Minnesota recipients of monthly VA pension checks to carefully fill out, sign and promptly return their annual income questionnaires by January 15 at the latest.

John R. Murphy, director of the VA center in St. Paul, said that most veterans and dependents, including parents of deceased veterans drawing dependency and indemnity compensation, have already returned the questionnaires received with their November 1 checks.

Murphy said the questionnaires request information on the amount of income the beneficiary received in 1970, and the amount expected in 1971. Since 1971 pension payments will be based on this information, he said it is important that questionnaires be filled out accurately and completely, signed, and returned no later than the January 15 deadline.

He emphasized that if they are not returned, beneficiaries, under the law, will not only lose next year's benefits, but may also be required to refund payments received in 1970.

He urged veterans and dependents who need help with annual income questionnaires to contact the VA office in the new federal building at Fort Snelling or their local veterans county service officer.

Some People May Not Be Required To File Return

Tax reform act of 1969 changed federal return filing requirements. Single individuals, entitled to claim one exemption, will not have to file a return unless their gross income is $1,700 or more.

A married couple who file jointly need not complete a return unless their combined income amounts to $2,300 or more. The levels increase $600 for each additional exemption the taxpayer or married couple are entitled to claim.

Seasonal or part-time workers also have been exempt from tax withholding, if they certified no liability for the past or current year, so a return is not necessary to secure a tax refund.

Farmers Union Directors Air Rural Problems

Rural communities in the state and nation which are experiencing problems because of the shortage of doctors and health personnel may suffer further setbacks to their hopes as a result of recent developments, officers of a state farm group meeting here today declared.

Meeting at the state headquarters in St. Paul, members of the state board of directors of Minnesota Farmers Union, referred to President Richard Nixon's veto of a bill providing some $225 millions in funds for three years to assist medical schools in training more family care physicians and to the apparent hesitance of University of Minnesota officials to push actively ahead with programs for training of family practice doctors authorized by the 1969 legislature.

As its statewide convention in December, delegates recommended an expansion of the university family practice educational program and other measures to provide a more adequate supply of health care personnel.

The 1969 legislature had appropriated more than a half-million dollars for the university family practice program.

The MFU board also suggested that state officers meet with Minnesota's new attorney general Warren Spannaus to explore the possibility of an investigation by his office of the extent of violations by corporations of the existing state law barring land holdings for farming in excess of 5,000 acres.

It was proposed that the attorney general's office conduct the survey through the county attorneys, auditors and tax officials to disclose the land holdings by corporations.

Such a survey would be useful, not only in exposing law violations but also in supplying the 1971 Legislature with additional data on corporate farming.

Edwin Christianson, state Farmers Union president, told the board meeting that if the legislature adopts a disclosure-only law for corporation farms as recommended recently by the House agriculture committee, it could delay any regulatory legislation until the 1973 session.

"Enough is known about the extent of corporate farming to justify legislation at this session," Christianson said, "but an official report by the attorney general's office would help by verifying the facts."

The Farmers Union group also protested rumored changes by the Nixon administration in the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP). It was recently announced by the White House that the ACP program voted by Congress would be continued, but that changes might be made in its nature.

Congress had voted $195 million for the program and had instructed the U.S. department of agriculture to continue the program in the same form as in 1970, Christianson said.

Northland Basketball "5" Lose Twelve Straight

Chet Engelmon's Northland state junior college basketball team finds itself past the halfway mark of their season and still looking for their first win of the year following three losses last week to drop their season record to 0-12.

The Northmen lost to NDSU branch at Bottineau Wednesday night 81-79 in the Lincoln gym and then traveled to Minnesota's Iron Range to lose to Vermillion and Virginia Friday and Saturday by the scores of 71-62 and 81-78.

Northland's Scott Rousseau put the Northmen in front 4-1 against Bottineau with 17:55 remaining in the first half as the Northmen led until Rich Kosel tied the contest 8-8 and Rich Goodman put the Lumberjacks in front 9-8 with 13:46 remaining.

Northland tied the contest 24-24 with 5:51 remaining in the half before Bottineau jumped to a 41-32 halftime lead.

Sophomore guard Craig Stuberg led a second half Bottineau surge as he finished the game with 35 points while the Lumberjacks built a 13-point lead with 11 minutes remaining to be played in the contest. The Northmen scored nine straight points to trim the Jack lead to 48-44 with 15:32 remaining and climbed to within two points at 57-55 on a Tony Burke lay-up with 10:37 remaining.

Stuberg continued to hit from the outside as he led the Jacks to a ten-point, 75-65 lead with 4:22 remaining before the Northland press forced the Jacks into turnovers and sophomore guard Steve Haaven of McIntosh scored on a driving lay-up for a 79-77 count with 47 seconds remaining in the game.

Once again the Jacks' Stuberg put points on the board as he sank two free throws with 16 seconds remaining—for an 81-77 lead before Haaven came right back with another lay-up to trim the margin to 81-79 with five seconds remaining.

After Haaven's basket there was a big mix-up on the floor when Northland coach Chet Engelman called for a time out with Bottineau in possession of the ball out of bounds. The referees said Engelman could not call time out and awarded the ball to the Jacks with just five seconds remaining in the game. Stuberg's pass from out of bounds was stolen by Northland's Tony Burke underneath his own basket but the husky center was unable to put the ball in on two tries for the Northmen.

Burke and Haaven shared scoring honors for the Northmen as they each collected 19 points while Ron Visness socred 16 and Scott Rousseau accounted for 10 points to reach double figures. Burke hauled down 12 rebounds for the Northmen while Rosseau grabbed 10 against the Jacks. Freshman guard Jim Goudge had a fine game from the floor as he was credited with 5 assists.

Engelman said his team didn't play too well against Vermillion on Friday night although they went into halftime trailing just 30-25 and came to within six points, 66-60 with just one minute remaining to be played before the Ironmen reeled off nine points for the 71-62 win. Earlier in the season the Ironmen crushed the Northmen 110-65 on the Lincoln hardwood.

Jim Mitchell led the game's scorers with 17 points and Jim Pecha hit double figures for the Ironmen with 15 points as eleven Ironmen got into the scoring column. Burke and Haaven tied for game honors for the Northmen once again as they scored 15 points apiece while freshman forward Greg Hafdahl connected on 9 of 9 shots from the free throw line for the Northmen. Burke was again the leading rebounder for the Northmen as the freshman hauled down 14 against the Ironmen.

CRAIG STUBERG, 6-1 sophomore guard from Leeds, North Dakota goes over the top of Northland's Tony Burke (left) and Steve Haaven (34) for a shot while Jim Goudge (22) keeps an eye on things in Wednesday night's 81-79 Bottineau win. Stuberg led both teams in scoring with 34 points as he followed his performance of his first game against the Northmen this year in the Crookston tournament when he scored 31 points.

Engelman felt his team played their best game of the year against Mesabi on Saturday afternoon, saying the Northmen played a fine second half and looked real tough on the boards.

After falling behind in the opening minutes because of mistakes the Northmen came back to tie the score 39-39 with 1:04 remaining in the half before they once again coughed the ball up and Mesabi scored seven straight points to take a 46-39 advantage into the locker room at halftime.

The Northman experienced their best shooting performance from the field in the second half as they connected on 33 of 81 shots for 44 per cent against the second ranked team in the Northeast Division.

Northland came back to take a one-point lead, 55-54 with 12:10 remaining in the game for their only lead of the contest. The Northmen stayed close to Mesabi and trailed just 77-75 with 1:42 remaining before falling 81-78.

Doug Foschi and Ron Visness tied for the game high honors with 20 points while Mesabi's Randy Martinson followed with 14, Mark Lind 12 and Don LaLonde 11 points to reach double fighres. For the Northmen Tony Burke scored 18, Scott Rosseau 14 and Jim Goudge 11 for double figures.

Engelman was pleased with the play of Rosseau who recovered seven loose balls during the Mesabi contest and the head mentor said Goudge played another fine game, coming up with seven assists.

The Northmen will be back in action Saturday afternoon, January 16 when they will host Hibbing in the Lincoln gym beginning at 2 p.m.

NSJC CAGERS Curt Jenson (left) and Tony Burke, a pair of 6-4 freshmen tower above Bottineau's 6-3 forward Roy Lunde as they go for the rebound on this shot during Wednesday night's 81-79 win for the Lumberjacks in the Lincoln high school gym. Dennis Johnson (33) and Rich Kosel (15) watch the play under the Lumberjack net. Northland will be back in action Saturday afternoon when they take on Hibbing in the Lincoln gym beginning at 2 p.m.

ROGER JANSSEN of the Arctic Enterprises racing team blazed to a first place in the 650cc class Sunday to total 185.12 points and win the coveted Kawartha Cup at Peterboro, Ont., Canada. Janssen drove his Arctic King Kat to a third place finish in the same class Saturday, to help amass his winning point total.

NSJC Icemen Lose Two; Host ISJC Wed.

Northland state junior college hockey team traveled to the cities over the weekend and suffered two set-backs to drop their season record to 3-8 on the campaign.

Conference foe Lakewood junior college of White Bear Lake dropped the Northmen 5-1 Friday night in Aldridge Arena and Saturday afternoon the Northmen lost a 9-2 contest to the University of Minnesota junior varsity in the preliminary to the Minnesota-Duluth contest on the U of M campus.

The Northmen jumped out to a 1-0 lead against Lakewood Friday night as sophomore wing Steve Huot of Red Lake Falls pumped in a shot with 12:59 remaining in the second period with Larry Skime and Mike Hitchen getting assists on the play.

Lakewood came back with two second period goals and added three third period scores, one on a power play to drop the Northmen who stand 2-5 in conference play in their first season of hockey. NSJC goalie Maurie Pearson, a freshmen from Crookston, kicked out 24 shots during the Lakewood contest.

The Northmen stayed with the Gopher JV's in the first period but after a scoreless opening canto the University erupted for five second period goals. The Northmen scored twice in the second period to go into the final period of action trailing 5-2 but the Gophers scored four more times for the win.

Northland goals came from sophomore wing Mike Schmitz of Red Lake Falls on an assist from Leo Marshall with 12:50 remaining in the second period and from Marshall, a freshman center from Warroad on assists from Rich [illegible] and Larry Skime with just 2:20 remaining in the second period.

Freshman goalie Bill Sugden of Hallock was credited with 44 saves in the Northland nets against the Gophers.

Next action for the Northmen pucksters will be Wednesday night when they will host conference foe Itasca of Grand Rapids in the city arena in a 7:30 p.m. contest. NSJC has split a pair of games with the Vikings thus far on the season, winning the first game 7-2 at Grand Rapids before Itasca came back to nip the Northmen 8-7 in the city arena.

LHS Icemen Win 7th Face Warroad, Roseau

Led by junior left wing Tom Wurst's three-goal hat trick the Lincoln high school Prowler hockey team breezed to its seventh straight win Friday night in the city arena over the Hallock Bears 5-0.

Prowler goalie Brian Peterson picked up his second shut-out of the season with his performance Friday night in the Prowler net as he kicked out 14 shots without a score. His previous shut-out was a 5-0 blanking of Moorhead December 21, in the Fargo Coliseum.

In the preliminary contest the Prowler Bee's blitzed the young Brats 16-0 to remain undefeated for the season.

Wurst put the Prowlers in front 1-0 on a power play goal with 10:25 remaining in the first period when he skated in on goal with Roger Lee and fired from close range with Lee getting an assist on the play.

Hallock was unable to mount anything resembling an offensive showing for the contest although center Scott Pearson did have a first period breakaway shot go wide of the Prowler net.

Trying to make up for their lack of offense the Bears went into a rough checking game and Brian Johnson was whistled off the ice for kneeing with :56 remaining. Wurst took advantage of the situation as he broke past his defender and let fly with a hard drive from 15 feet that sailed past Hallock goalie Tom Woddard into the left side of the Hallock net for a 2-0 lead with 15 seconds remaining in the first period.

Prowler captain Roger Lee put his team in front 3-0 with a long slap shot into the high right corner of the Bear's net with 5:43 remaining in the second period with Wurst getting an assist on the play.

The Bears did have a scoring opportunity in the second period after Wurst was called for elbowing as Scott Pearson intercepted a clearing pass in front of the Prowler net but Peterson came up with the save for the Prowlers.

The third period found very little offensive action from either team as the Bears managed just two shots on goal while the Prowlers didn't do much better with three shots at the Bear net, but the Prowlers did add a third period score as Wurst picked up his third goal.

Wurst scored while the Prowlers were a man short with Mike Protz called for tripping. The junior wing scored from the left side unassisted with 11:04 remaining to be played.

Thirteen penalties were called during the contest with the referees showing no favoritism by calling six on Hallock and seven against the Prowlers.

Next action for the Prowlers will be tomorrow night when they travel to Warroad for a region eight clash and the next home action for the Lincoln six will be Saturday night, January 16, when they will take on the state's number one team, the Roseau Rams in the city arena beginning at 6:15 with the B game.

Senior wing Merv Kriksson (17) looks for a rebound off Hallock goalie Tom Woddard on the power play goal. Vo-Tech Bounces Brainerd 71-55

Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school Aquarian basketball team avenged an early season one-point loss to Brainerd Thursday night as they jumped out to a 41-20 halftime lead enroute to a 71-55 thumping of the Lumberjacks in the Franklin junior high school gym.

Brainerd edged the Aquarians 54-53 in the second game for the season for one of only two wins on the year for the Lumberjacks who now own a 2-4 season record. With the win the Aqarians boosted their season mark to 4-3 and will see their next action Thursday, January 14 when they travel to Moorhead.

Aquarian coach Lyle Longtin had high praise for forward Milo Reck and center Marshall Undesser who scored 23 points apiece and completely dominated the boards. For the season Reck is averaging 11.4 points per game while Undesser leads the club with an 18.1 clip. Glenn Cramer of Brainerd won game honors with 25 points in a losing effort. The Lumberjacks did manage to contain high scoring Terry Bowers who managed just seven points, well below his 17.1 average.

The Aquarians led at the first quarter break 20-12 before coasting to their 15 point halftime bulge. The Lumberjacks stayed with the Aquarians in the second half but couldn't trim the margin of difference as Thief River Falls led 55-38 at the end of three quarters.

The Aquarians connected on seven of 16 free throws while the Lumberjacks managed just three of ten attempts from the gift line.

League standings now find Staples leading the pack with a 6-1 record with Moorhead 5-1, TRF 4-3, Brainerd 2-4 and Bemidji and Detroit Lakes bringing up the rear with 1-5 records.

Next home action for the Aquarians will be Thursday, January 21, when they will host Detroit Lakes in the Franklin gym beginning at 8:10.

TRF Hoopsters Ground Bagley Flyers 75-43

Whitey Olson's Lincoln high school Prowler basketball team limited the Bagley Flyers to a total of 10 points for the second and third quarters Saturday night as they blasted the Flyers 75-43 on the Bagley hardwood.

Senior forward Dale Hanson led a first quarter burst with 10 points as the Prowlers jumped out to a 23-16 lead at the quarter break. The Prowlers held the Flyers to just four points in the second and six points in the third quarters as they went into the final quarter holding a 52-26 bulge.

Paul Erickson and Dave Lee hit on short jumpers for the Flyers as they jumped out to a 4-0 lead in the opening minutes of play before junior center Rande Smith beat his defender to the inside for a lay-up for the Prowlers first points of the game with 6:26 left to play in the opening quarter.

A full court press by the Prowlers forced a Bagley turnover as Dale Hanson connected on a free throw with 4-3 with 6:05 remaining. The Flyers broke the Prowler press as Jim Merschmann found himself under the Flyer basket and drew a foul shot for a 5-4 Bagley lead with six minutes remaining. Rande Smith again took his defender to the inside to give the Prowler the lead 6-5 with 5:43 remaining and the Prowlers were never again headed during the contest.

Curt Backer cut the Prowler lead to 9-8 on a lay-up with 3:12 remaining before Hanson scored three points to put the Prowlers in front 12-8 with 3:47 left to play in the quarter. Erickson brought Bagley to within two points 12-10 with a corner jump with 3:30 remaining before the Prowlers scored five points for a 17-10 lead and built that margin to 23-16 at the break.

The Prowlers rolled off 10 points before Bagley was able to score its first basket of the second quarter on a long jump shot by Lee Prestemon with 3:55 remaining in the half with the Prowlers in front 33-18. The Prowlers were more deliberate in their attack in the second quarter as they tried to get inside the Flyers' zone defense as they led 35-20 at the intermission.

Kent Smith connected on two short jump shots for a 41-20 Prowler lead with 6:46 remaining in the third quarter as the Prowlers out-scored the Flyers 17-6 in the quarter with the Prowlers scoring on the Flyers' man-to-man defense.

Junior guard Mark Laien lead the attack for the Prowlers in the final quarter as he scored eight points while senior Pat Hamilton scored seven for the Prowlers in the fourth quarter.

ROW UPON ROW of shelters are used to house mink at the Miller Fur farm southeast of Thief River Falls. Miller built the shelters and cages himself as he has developed his mink herd. Feeding is accomplished once a day with two machines being used. The motorized feed carts are driven through the houses between the rows of cages and the feed mixture—resembling a thick paste—is dropped on the top of the cages through a pressurized hose. Feeding takes about an hour and a half per day.

Miller Mink Top Market At World High Average

by Marvin Landin
Times Editor

MINK SO BLACK that they defy description are products of the Miller Fur farm southeast of Thief River Falls. Otis Miller, who began mink ranching here in 1945, has topped the Minneapolis mink market for 21 of the past 22 years. This year the average price received for his mink at auction is the highest in the entire world. The mink shown here is one of the males kept for breeding purposes.

In a time when mink ranchers across the nation are going under like low rocks at high tide, a Kentucky transplant to northwestern Minnesota is counting his blessings and keeping his fingers crossed. Otis Miller of Thief River Falls is one mink rancher who has parlayed know-how, business sense and a little good luck into survival in the fur business....and hopes he can continue to survive.

In fact, one might conservatively say that the Miller Fur farm is a cut above the average in the industry. Miller's pelts this year sold for the highest average in the entire world and his herd is rated as the world's best. He has topped the Minneapolis market for 21 of the past 22 years—selling primarily to United States buyers but occasionally to top European furriers.

A native of Kentucky, where his father still lives, Miller had a good job with Humble Oil and Refining company in the early 1940's. In 1945 he gave up that position and moved to Thief River Falls to fulfill a longtime ambition to become a fur farmer.

He purchased seven bred female mink and started his operation just on the south edge of Thief River Falls. With all the commotion in the residential area, three of the seven females killed their litters and the year wasn't a great success.

Miller then purchased a quarter section of land five miles southeast of the city, east of highway 59. He has since added an adjoining quarter. For two years he was engaged in truck gardening in addition to raising mink, then he took on a number of mink on shares from a breeder at Fisher who was going out of the business.

Gradually Miller built the number of his herd up to what he terms an "efficiency point" about seven or eight years ago, and has concentrated entirely on quality since that time. His specialization in standard black mink and black mutation mink has earned him a reputation for quality throughout the industry.

"Women's Wear Daily", which reports on the fur markets of the world, stated in its January 4 issue: "Blackglama minks sold up to $29 for males and $15 for females (at the Minneapolis auction). The males were purchased by Johnny Martin for Tiersdell Furs, Berlin, Wis., and the females for Lederman Bros., Chicago. Both males and females were shipped by Otis Miller, Thief River Falls, Minn."

Miller is now vice president of the New York Fur Auction of Minneapolis. Other directors are from Minneapolis, New York City, New Orleans, La., Portland, Ore., and Switzerland. There were 150,000 mink skins consigned to the December 29-30 sale where Miller's mink were sold at auction.

In addition to Minneapolis, mink fur auctions are held in

Man Held In Iowa Had Local Items In His Car

Apprehension in Iowa of a man who claims St. Petersburg, Fla., as his home may shed light on the mystery surrounding break-ins at a number of area homes during recent months.

According to the Thief River Falls police department, the county sheriff at Greenfield Iowa, recently notified the victim of one house breakin, Mrs. Ray Jorgenson, city, that Robert Udeson, 45, had been apprehended by the Iowa highway patrol, and had been found to have some of her belongings in his possession. The Iowa sheriff also mailed some small items which had been contained in Mrs. Jorgenson's purse to her.

The local police department has contacted the sheriff in Iowa in an attempt to clear up some of the other as-yet-unsolved burglaries in the area, since Udeson admitted committing illegal entries and burglaries in 45 Minnesota cities, as well as in cities in 13 other states. When apprehended, the burglar had about 700 stolen credit cards in his car, as well as other personal effects he took during the burglaries. He had all the cards, keys and other items taken from each victim placed in an envelope, with the victim's name written on it.

The Iowa official also told local police that all the credit cards recovered from Udeson were being returned to the respective issuing companies. Udeson is currently serving a burglary sentence in the Iowa state penitentiary.

Other action undertaken by the local police department includes the investigation of a snowmobile trailer theft. Arnie Lee, city, reported to police January 5 that his trailer was missing from his back yard.

The following day, Julian Lendobeja, rural Thief River Falls, notified police that he found the bed of the trailer near the Smiley bridge, but that the undercarriage had been removed. The trailer had been valued at $170.

The day before, January 4 at 3:30 p.m., a wrecker driven by Ray Shumway, city, was going east on highway 1 and beginning to make a left turn into the driveway of the Area Vocational-Technical school. A car driven by Rodney Hoffman, Rt. 1, Goodridge, which was also going east on the highway, started to pass the wrecker just as it turned.

The car struck the truck, then rolled into the ditch on the north side of the highway. Hoffman was checked for injuries at Northwestern hospital and released, the wrecker sustained $50 in damage, and the car $2,500.

At 3:45 p.m. January 6, a pickup truck driven by Linnae Hanson, Rt. 4, was traveling south on Atlantic Ave. When Miss Hanson attempted to turn right onto Second street, the vehicle skidded and struck a car driven by Lester Evenson, Rt. 3, who was turning onto Atlantic after driving east on Second. The result was $125 damage to the truck and $500 to the car.

Police were told January 7 of the theft of a wallet from the Franklin junior high school gym. The wallet, which belonged to Carl Ferber, city, contained $24.

John E. Jaranson, city, reported to police January 7 that someone had attempted to steal his snowmobile trailer the night before, but that the thief proved unsuccessful because he had chained his trailer to a clothesline post. The taillights and light wiring harness, worth about $20, were removed from

Police Chief Says Officer Is Symbol

by Jim Lee
Times Reporter

DIRECTING ACTIVITIES of the Thief River Falls police department is Roland E. Waller, who became chief of the local force January 4. Chief Waller is a veteran of 22 years' service with the Minneapolis police force.

"The police officer is a symbol of society's discipline. Most people resent discipline applied by others, therefore these people look upon the police officer as someone to be suspicious of."

Roland E. Waller, Thief River Falls police chief, commented on anti-police sentiment which appears to be prevalent among people in general—the young in particular. The occasion for the interview was the first anniversary of his becoming police chief—he took the oath one week before.

The chief feels that this sentiment is the result of the combination of two phenomena—the permissive society we now live in, and the idea that knowledge and education have progressed to the point where many individuals have a tendency to feel they know more about any given situation than anyone else, and therefore should be the judge. "They feel they should be the exception to the law," Waller states.

"Solution of the problem of disrespect for the law and police comes in three parts," Chief Waller feels. "One, people will have to realize that the police officer has been placed in the position of the strong right arm of the public in general. Then each and every person will have to reaffirm his belief that law is for the good of all as well as for the individual, and that the in-

Joyce Peterson-John Sang Vows Spoken At Trinity

Flocked pine trees, trimmed with blue lights, graced the chancel at Trinity Lutheran church on December 12 for the 7:30 p.m. wedding of Miss Joyce Elaine Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Peterson of rural Thief River Falls, and John Edwin Sang, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Sang of rural Karlstad.

To complete the setting, white pine boughs, tied with large white bows, were entwined around the spiral candelabra flanking the altar arranged with bouquets of baby mums. The pews along the center aisle were trimmed with Western cedar and white ribbon bows.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony were Rev. Reuben A. Wangberg and Rev. Donald Krebs of Middle River, priest at the Middle River Catholic parish.

Mrs. Walter Larson presided at the organ. Prior to the ceremony, she played a medley of nuptial music and wedding chimes. For the processional, she played "Holy, Holy, Holy," "The Hallelujah Chorus" followed by a number of Christmas carols, formed the recessional music. Mrs. Larson also accompanied the guests as they participated in the ceremony by singing, "Love Divine, All Love Excelling." Howard Johnson, the soloist, sang, "The Wedding Prayer" and "Two Hearts Are Joined."

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her parents. She was attired in a Victorian floor-length gown of silk organza fashioned with a graceful flared skirt. Embroidered lace motifs enhanced the scalloped neckline and flowed over the fitted bodice, designed with slim, tapered sleeves. A detachable chapel-length train completed her gown. Her petaled headpiece topped by a miniature crown of rhinestones and pearls, held a fingertip veil of bridal illusion. She carried a colonial bouquet featuring a large white mum surrounded by lavender baby mums, foliage and lavender and white ribbon streamers.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Roger DeLap of Bemidji. Other attendants were Mrs. David Dupree, a friend of the bride, Miss Ann Sang, sister of the groom, and Miss Judy Mosbeck, a niece of the bride. They were attired in identical gowns of purple knit designed with gathered floor-length skirts and fitted bodices with long bishop sleeves secured at the wrists by snugly fitted cuffs. White trim accented the waistline and formed the bow that complemented the back. Matching trim, gathered to form their headpieces, held their veils of purple nylon tulle. Each carried a nosegay composed of one white mum surrounded by green foliage and purple and lavender ribbon streamers. Their rhinestone, heart shaped pendants were gifts from the bride.

Hubert Sang of Moorhead attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Mark and Peter Sang, brothers of the groom, and Jerry Brutler of Moorhead, a friend of the couple. Dwight Johnson, a nephew of the bride, and Jerry Altendorf, a friend of the groom, seated the guests and served as acolytes. All the men of the wedding party wore black, double-breasted tuxedos with black bow ties. The groom's boutonniere was a white baby mum and the others wore lavender mum boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Peterson chose a red knit dress complemented by black accessories. The mother of the groom wore a royal blue knit dress. Both wore corsages of white double cymbidium orchids.

Also presented with corsages or boutonnieres were the bride's godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Peterson of Houston, who are also her uncle and aunt; and the bride's sisters, Mrs. Irvin Johnson, Mrs. Warren Mosbeck and Mrs. Donald Rupprecht. Unable to attend the ceremony, but presented a corsage later in the evening, was the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Louis Houpt.

Following the ceremony, the parents of the bride hosted a reception in the church parlors for approximately 225 relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Peterson, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, served as host and hostess.

To correspond with the bride's chosen colors of purple, lavender and green, purple and lavender candles, surrounded by greenery, graced the tables. The bridal table, covered with purple netting over white, featured purple streamers and green foliage. Purple streamers also accented the white netting that skirted the serving table lighted by candles.

Highlighting the serving table was a candlelight wedding cake baked and decorated with purple and lavender roses by Mrs. Donald Rupprecht, sister of the bride. A miniature bridal party graced the candlelit steps attached to the three lower tiers. Topping the upper tiers, separated by swan pillars, was a miniature bride and groom beneath a satin flowered archway featuring a filigreed bell that cast a soft light over the cake. On either side of the five tiered cake, surrounded by greens, was a heart shaped cake, decorated with lavender and purple roses and inscribed with the names of the bride and groom. Mrs. Elaine Peterson of Angus, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. David Furbo of Karlstad, friend of the groom, cut and served the cake. Pouring were Mrs. Thorvald Myhrer, and Mrs. Richard Wirth of St. Paul, aunts of the bride and groom, respectively.

Serving the cherry punch, at a table skirted with white net and purple streamers and bows, were Mrs. Wendell [illegible] and Mrs. Stanley Johnson of Grand Forks, N.D., friends of the bride. Miss Melodee Rupprecht, a niece of the bride, registered the guests.

Waitresses were Mrs. Jerry Brutler of Moorhead, friend of the couple, Mrs. Arne Ohnstad, Mrs. Paul Wold, cousins of the bride, and Miss Renae Ptacek of Moorhead, Miss Ruth Dupree and Gale Berard, friends of the bride. All wore white nylon aprons, trimmed with purple bows, and corsages composed of lavender lace carnations with white ribbons, gifts from the bride.

Opening and displaying the gifts were Mrs. Larry Waldon of Hibbing, friend of the bride, and Miss Eunice Wold, cousin of the bride. Assisting in the kitchen were members of the Miriam circle, Mmes. Edwin Helgeland, Louise Steenerson, Emma Kays, Albert Baivin, Emil Hedlund, Val Chommie and Richard Soderberg.

During the reception, Eunice Wold and Paul Wold, cousins of the bride, sang "Together Life's Pathway We Thread".

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were from Hillsboro and Grand Forks, N.D., Minneapolis, St. Paul, Moorhead, Hibbing, Ronneby, Angus, Bagley, Owatonna, Karlstad, Middle River, Greenbush, Stephen, Euclid, Bemidji, Halstad, East Grand Forks and the area surrounding Thief River Falls.

For the wedding trip to Detroit Lakes and the Brainerd area, the bride wore a red sweater dress with black accessories and a silver pendant, a gift from Mrs. Gerd Brevig of Norway, a cousin of the bride.

Following the rehearsal, the evening preceding the wedding, the parents of the groom hosted a luncheon in the church parlors for all the members of the bridal party.

The bride is a 1967 graduate of Lincoln high school and the Thief River Falls area vocational technical school of practical nursing. She is presently employed at Deaconess hospital in Grand Forks. The groom is a 1966 graduate of the Karlstad high school and the Thief River Falls area vocational school of carpentry. He recently completed his tour of duty with the United States Army.

Mr. and Mrs. Sang are now at home at 405 South Fifth Street, Grand Forks, N.D. Photo, Rude Photography, Thief River Falls.

Hoffman And Hoefer Vows Exchanged At St. Bernard's

Miss Patricia Ann Hoffman of Fort George G. Meade, Maryland, and Donald Andrew Hoefer of rural Thief River Falls, exchanged marriage vows at 2 p.m. December 19, at St. Bernard's Catholic church in this city.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Hoffman of Orlando, Fla. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hoefer of rural Thief River Falls.

Rev. Frank R. Reid officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar graced with white potted mums complemented by jardinieres and ribbons in shades of blue. Presiding at the organ was Margaret Oven. She presented a program of Christmas selections as the guests were ushered in by Dale Koep and Leonard Rondorf of Thief River Falls, friends of the groom. She also played the traditional wedding marches for the processional and recessional.

For her wedding, the bride chose a floor-length gown of white satin designed in empire fashion with bishop sleeves of white lace. Matching lace motifs outlined the high neckline and marked the high-rise waistline. Flowing in soft folds from a bow in the back was a chapel-length train. Her tiered veil of bridal illusion was held by a floral wedding-ring headpiece. She carried a hand bouquet of white mums and daisies tied with blue satin ribbon.

Attending the bride were her sisters: Miss Susan Hoffman of Orlando, Fla., as maid of honor and Mrs. Thomas N. Roberts of Odenton, Md., as bridesmatron. They were attired in identical floor-length gowns fashioned with light blue skirts with deep blue bodices featuring contrasting trim around the waistline and elbow-length sleeves. To complete their attire, they wore blue veiled headpieces held by light blue bows, short, white gloves and each carried a long-stemmed white mum, tinted blue, and tied with blue ribbon.

The groom was attended by his brothers: Lloyd Hoefer of Blaine as best man and Earl Hoefer of this city as groomsman. They were attired in dark business suits and black bow ties. The groom's boutonniere was a white carnation and his attendants and ushers wore blue tinted carnations on their lapels.

For her son's wedding, Mrs. Hoeffer wore a red knit ensemble with black and white trim down the front and on the sleeves. Her corsage was composed of two red tinted carnations. The mother of the bride was unable to attend the wedding.

The parents of the groom hosted a reception in the church parlors following the ceremony. Approximately 75 guests were in attendance. Mrs. Earl Hoefer, sister-in-law of the groom, presided at the guest book as Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Welsch, stepbrother and sister-in-law of the groom, served the punch.

Watershed Sets Advisory Group

Fourteen persons were appointed to the advisory committee of the Middle River-Snake River Watershed district at the regular meeting recently. First meeting of the committee with the district's board of managers will be held Monday at the PKM meeting room at Warren.

Named to the advisory committee were Oscar Rokke and Verne Green, Newfolden; Art VanSickle, Helmer Peterson, Charles Peterson, and Leo Fournier, Warren; Gaylord Solem, Leonard Nelson and Arnold Larson, Oslo; Kenneth Dufault and Loren Jorgenson, Argyle; Lester Ellis and Selmer Sorter, Middle River, and Duane Krohn, Viking.

Watershed laws require the board of managers of the district [illegible] consisting of at least five members. Included are to be a supervisor of a soil conservation district, member of a county board, member of a sportsmen's organization and member of a farm organization. Others may be appointed at the discretion of the managers but must be residents of the district.

The committee will advise and assist the managers in all matters affecting the interest of the district and make recommendations to the managers upon all contemplated projects and works of improvement within the district.

Milton O. Sands of Alvarado, secretary of the district, explains funding of the district as follows: "There are two funds the District can levy a tax for. They are the organizational fund and the administrative fund. The organizational fund is a fund to be used for organizational expenses and preparation of an overall plan for projects and improvements. This is a two mill ad valorem tax levy on each dollar of assessed valuation of all the taxable property in the district. This can be levied for one year only and will be on the 1971 taxes.

"Office supplies and equipment and anything else incidental to running an office will be paid for out of this fund. Any unexpended funds collected for the organizational expense may be transferred to the administrative fund and used for the purposes authorized there.

"The administrative fund consists of an ad valorem tax levy not to exceed three mills on each dollar of assessed valuation [illegible] district. These funds shall be used for general administrative expenses and maintenance of projects of common benefit to the district. The managers may [illegible] levy for this fund and this has been done for the 1971 taxes.

"We now have a total tax levy of five mills on all taxable property for 1971 and after this year the limit can only be three mills. The only way this can be increased is by action of the Minnesota state legislature. There does not at this time seem as though any more than the three mills will be needed annually to run the district.

"Any other funds of the district have to do with specific projects and specific areas of benefit. The establishment of these funds are not likely for some time and will be discussed when that time comes.

"All of our meetings are open to the public and anyone is welcome to come to any of them. We have set our regular meetings at the conference room of the PKM building in Warren at 1:30 p.m. We are grateful to the PKM manager, Robert Graham, the PKM board of directors and the employees for their cooperation in letting us have our meetings there," Sands concluded.

Police Chief Comments On Public Sentiment

dividual has to accept the penalty provided if he violates the law. And, the individual will have to return to the good old foundation of personal belief and acceptance of what he knows to be right and wrong."

During his 22 plus years on the police force in Minneapolis, Waller, 51, [illegible] hand experience in a number of police capacities. He started as a patrolman and sergeant in the communications department for five years, then spent a month as a lieutenant in Minneapolis' first precinct.

After that, Waller was a burglary detective for seven months before moving to the fifth precinct, where he served as police lieutenant and, later, captain. He was captain and commander of the fifth before moving to the first precinct, where he worked before coming to the force in Thief River Falls.

Prior to his law enforcement career, Waller served in the U S Army Air corps, then attended North Central Bible college in Minneapolis, an Assembly of God-affiliated institution. It was during his education at the Bible institute that Waller became involved with police work.

"I became aware that Minneapolis needed officers on its police force. I took the test and placed high enough so I felt that perhaps police work was where I belonged. I stayed with them (the Minneapolis force) 22 years."

Working as a policeman, the chief also continued his education. At that time, the Bible college offered only a three-year diploma course, and when Waller completed work for his diploma he stopped. Later, the college became a four-year, degree-granting institution, and in 1968-69, the chief completed work for his degree in theology.

In addition to the theological training, Waller took part in a number of courses in police sciences, including two courses taught by the state Bureau of [illegible] Hills; management courses at the St. Thomas college management center; a two-week supervisory course at the Northwest Traffic Institute, a 12 week police sciences course at the University of Louisville, Louisville, Ky.; police instructor's training courses sponsored by the state of Minnesota Police Officers Training group; and innumerable local seminars. He was also involved in the training of police recruits for the Minneapolis force for five years.

As to his being appointed as chief of the Thief River Falls force, Waller says he was looking for an opportunity to be the chief of a department for some time. He heard about the local opening from a colleague in Moorhead, and applied on that basis.

At present, Thief River Falls has a 15-man force, including the chief. One vacancy exists, due to the recent resignation of captain Donovan Liden, which the chief hopes to fill during a reorganization of the force he plans to propose to the city council.

"I might add, though," the chief says, "that I am [illegible] caliber of men in the Thief River Falls police department. The city council members are to be commended for their progressive approach to the problem of law enforcement."

The toughest part of the job of a [illegible] chief, is the harrassment that officers are subjected to when engaged in attempts to control racial confrontations and youth movements. "It's just harrassment because they're hoping to see you over-react," Waller comments. "They'll stand right there and spit in your face. And we have to train the officers to stand and take it.

"It's a case of being damned if you do and damned if you don't," the chief continues. "The average officer feels he's there holding the line all by himself. If he asks any help from the average citizen, he's answered with 'I don't want to get involved.'"

Waller qualifies his statements by adding [illegible] case in smaller communities where the officer is known personally. But it is certainly true in the larger communities, where the officer is recognized only as a uniform."

The chief says he has had only minimal contact with the problem of drug abuse because he has worked mainly in supervisory capacities since drug-users became a major problem. "My only connection with the problem was as the officers brought it before me. I feel that drug abuse is a major problem, however, and that it is increasing faster than the public realizes. In fact, one drug case came in just since I've been here."

Speaking on parking and traffic control, the chief notes that he has not yet had time to study the situation enough to make any recommendations for changes, if any are necessary.

[illegible] of the chief and his family are mainly church-related. Waller was a member of the board of the church he attended in Minneapolis, and served as a Sunday school teacher for 15 years. "We do have a place on a lake at Sauk Centre," he notes. "We spend a lot of time there in the summer."

The chief and his wife have four daughters, two of whom are married, one about to be married, and the other to accompany her parents to Thief River Falls when arrangements are completed.

Also included on the program will be greetings by Mayor A. E. Jacobson and by W. W. Prichard, who served as mayor of Thief River Falls for 14 years and who arrived here when the city has board sidewalks. Cub Scout Pack 60 of Trinity Lutheran church will provide ushers for the program and coffee will be served by Mrs. Andrew Kisch, Kermit Hanson, Art Stenberg and Mrs. Walter Fischer.

"We know that the program [illegible] have an interest in history," Mrs. Geving said, "and we certainly hope to have a good attendance. Come and bring your friends."

Last Sunday afternoon the executive board of the society met with several of the committees to hear reports and make plans for the annual meeting to be held February 1. Much of the meeting was devoted to discussing proposed changes in the constitution of the society, with members to vote on the proposals at the annual meeting.

Reports were presented by the finance, legal, site and building committees. Art Stenberg was appointed chairman of the finance committee and co-chairman of the legal committee which is concerned with [illegible] of the constitution.

Moratorium On New Spending Is Urged By MTA

Three suggestions for "holding the line" on state spending in Minnesota in the 1971-73 fiscal two year period were proposed this week by the Minnesota Taxpayers association. They are:

1. A two-year moratorium on the initiation of new state spending projects.

2. A "[illegible]" reduction in the number of state employees through establishment of a policy of attrition, under which vacancies resulting from retirements or other causes would not be filled except in cases of demonstratable need.

3. A "zero base" budgeting policy, under which all state departments and agencies would be required to justify existing levels of staffing and spending as well as any increases asked for the coming biennium.

"Minnesota is heading into fiscal trouble, as are many other states and cities throughout the nation," said Harold T. Miller, research director of the taxpayers association.

"The governor has been confronted with budget requests for the next two years that exceed by about $700 million the total provided for the current biennium. It appears that revenue from present taxes, at present rate levels, will fall approximately $500 million short of meeting the asked-for spending level.

"Two collateral circumstances underscore the seriousness of this revenue gap. One is the fact that the state-and-local tax load now [illegible] already is one of the heaviest in the nation, whether considered on a per capita basis or in relation to personal income. The other is the uncertain state of the national economy, with increasing unemployment reducing the collective ability to pay taxes at the same time that demands on public funds, particularly for education and welfare, are burgeoning.

"Under these circumstances the initiation of new spending projects would be sheer folly. Fiscal prudence requires that the garment of state spending be cut to fit the cloth of revenue available without unduly adding to the already high burden borne by our taxpayers."

Gov. Anderson Makes Several Appointments

Governor Wendell Anderson has announced the appointment of Gerald W. Christenson as director of the Minnesota state planning agency.

The governor also announced three other appointments. They are:

Morris Hursh, renamed commissioner of the welfare department;

Duane C. Scribner, named consultant on legislative matters for the administration department and the governor's office; and

Robert Crew, named staff assistant in the governor's office.

Christenson, 40, has worked for the educational research and development council at the University of Minnesota for the past year while completing work on a doctorate in educational administration.

As director of the agency, Christenson will supervise a staff of 00 persons. He has overall responsibility for developing long-range state programs and coordinating activities of various state departments.

Hursh, 64, joined state government in 1931 as executive secretary for Governor Floyd B. Olson and has been welfare commissioner for the past 15 years.

Scribner, 39, has been director of [illegible] University of Minnesota for the past year. In his new capacity he has responsibility for coordinating research and liaison on a variety of legislative subjects.

Crew, 32, has been named assistant professor of political [illegible] university since 1967. His responsibilities on the governor's staff will include maintaining liaison with the Metropolitan council, the welfare, corrections and human rights departments and the Pollution Control agency.

Both Crew and Scribner were granted two-year leaves of absence Friday from the university.

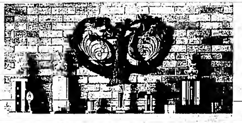
TWO TOP SPECIMENS from the Miller Fur Farm mink herd are shown by Otis Miller, left, and one of his employees, Allen Carver. After building his herd in number up to what he terms an "efficiency point", Miller has concentrated strictly on improving quality of the herd for the past seven or eight years. The ranch now produces both dark standard mink and black mutation mink—good enough to command the highest average price paid in the world this year.



IMPRESSIVE TROPHIES line the mantle on the fireplace in the Otis Miller home, tribute to the quality of mink raised on the Miller Fur farm. Miller's mink have topped the Minneapolis market for 21 of the past 22 years and buyers agree there are no finer mink grown in the world today.

STRONG AND ALERT, Otis Miller's German Shepherd guard dog keeps a watchful eye on the Miller Fur farm. The dog alerts the Millers to strangers entering the yard, guards against trespassing in the mink yard and helps catch mink which occasionally escape from their pens.

The "Blackglama" label [illegible] Daily" reports denotes the finest black mink used in the fur trade. Garments made from these elite furs carry the "Blackglama" label in them and are the top line of the garment field.

During the early years, Miller experimented with many mink color phases. As he turned toward specialization, he acquired mutation strain males from breeders in Iowa and Nova Scotia. Used with his standard black mink, the mutation strain developed into animals with good size and extremely fine and silky fur. Miller has sold some breeding stock but does not now consider it an important part of his business.

The road to apparent success was cemented with sweat and tears, however, as hard work and frustration are the mink rancher's lot. Miller built his own cages and shelters, kept close watch on his herd, listened and learned and made mistakes.

"Nutrition is 90 per cent of a mink rancher's problem," Miller insists. "Bad feed can wipe you out in a day or two. A few years ago stilbesterol in commercial feed really hurt Canadian ranchers. Botulism (food poisoning) is an ever-present threat."

Miller vaccinates his mink for distemper and for botulism and virus enteritis.

There was the time a few years ago when he used some flax straw from a new flax variety for bedding in the pens. At that time it was his policy not to open pens to inspect litters, fearing it would upset the females. At a friend's insistence, however, he did open one pen to find the young kittens twisted up in the fibrous straw.

"I had to go through every pen," Miller said, "and it was the worst mess you ever saw. I lost a large number of baby mink due to [illegible]. That fall there were a number of animals with white rings around their necks or legs where the straw had been twisted when they were small."

Miller said that a litter of 3.5 kittens is a good average across the industry. He has pelted as high as 4.8 animals per litter. "The difference between 4 and 4.8 doesn't sound like much," he said, "but that's 800 mink from 1,000 females and I'd rather have the extra 800 any day."

For many years Miller was president of Midwest Fur Breeders association, an organization of breeders in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, North Dakota and South Dakota. He was also a delegate to the National Board of Fur Farm organizations and until last year was vice president of Minnesota Fur Breeders association. He now chairs the legislative research committee for Minnesota Fur Breeders.

"We've got to do something about foreign imports which are absolutely ruining the mink industry in the United States," Miller declares. "Right now 53 per cent of the mink fur used in the United States is grown in foreign countries. And don't think we don't feel it.

"In Minnesota the number of mink ranchers had dropped from 900 to 200 in the past five years, and there's no reason to expect we won't lose a lot more if things don't change. Small and large ranchers have all gone under. I don't see why the government can't do something to hold down the imports to help the domestic industry.

"Mink ranchers have never asked the government for a dime in subsidy or for any other assistance. All they want is a chance to be competitive in the American market place. I don't think that's too much to ask."

Similar circumstances surrounded vandalism the same night to a car owned by Mrs. Neil Taverna. At 9:45 p.m. she told police that someone had shot a [illegible] vehicle, possibly using a BB or pellet gun, then rode off on a snowmobile. The window was valued at $40.

TRF Implement Dealers At Meet In Minneapolis

Two Thief River Falls implement dealers are attending the Retail Farm Equipment association (RFEA) of Minnesota and South Dakota convention in Minneapolis.

Leonard Furuseth and Leo Nelson, both members of the staff at Furuseth-Nelson, Inc., local dealership for Minneapolis-Moline, Cockshutt, Oliver and Gehl farm machinery, are being accompanied by their wives at the session, which begins today (Wednesday) and will run through Friday.

The meeting, which normally draws over 2,000 people, is more than a business meeting for the association. Main purpose of the convention, according to Kenneth L. Austin, RFEA executive secretary, is to help farm equipment people gear up to do a better job of serving farmers and others in their communities.

"In most communities, the farm equipment dealer is a vital member of the main street business team," Austin said. "These men play an important role in keeping the agriculture of the area up-to-date and prosperous and they often shoulder important civic responsibilities in their community.

"To perform these services well over the long pull, it's important for these dealers to get together each year, share ideas and knowledge, and learn how to run their businesses more effectively and more profitably."

If you get a raise to $1,000 a week and are required to pay no taxes, how long will it take you to earn a billion dollars? Answer—[illegible] years!

Herbst Becomes First Natural Resources Head

Robert Herbst became Minnesota's first commissioner of natural resources on Monday, January 4, when he took the oath of office in St. Paul.

Herbst replaces Jarle Leirfallom, who was the last commissioner of conservation under the department's former designation "Minnesota Department of Conservation."

A native of Minneapolis, Herbst is 35 years old, married and has three children. He is a graduate of the University of Minnesota school of forestry and has an extensive background of professional experience in private industry and government.

His most recent post was national executive director of the Izaak Walton League of America. Prior to that he held several positions with the Minnesota department of conservation, including those of deputy commissioner and acting commissioner in the department.

He first joined the department in 1957, then left in 1964 to become executive secretary of Keep Minnesota Green, Inc. He returned to the department in 1966 as deputy commissioner.

Herbst said it will take approximately three weeks to wind up his committments to the Izaak Walton league and expects to assume full time duties as commissioner about February 1.

In the interim, he has designated Clarence Buckman, present deputy commissioner, to act for him while he is away from his office.

Herbst said he wanted to extend his personal greeting to all of his former friends in Minnesota, and particularily to "those dedicated, competent department employees with whom I plan to work so closely during the coming years."

Bemidji Hosts Royal Winnipeg Ballet Jan. 24

A 30-year history of excellence will be just a small part of the tradition that the Royal Winnipeg Ballet company brings to Bemidji Sunday, January 24, for a 3 p.m. performance in the high school auditorium.

Headlined by prima ballerina Christine Hennessy and premier dancer David Moroni, the company has won critical acclaim worldwide and is the only North American company to appear in the world ballet capital of Moscow. A season ago, the company was further honored by being named best company at international competition in Paris. At the same competition, Miss Hennessy won a gold medal as best female dancer.

The first ballet company in the English commonwealth to add the official prefix "Royal" to its name—and only the second royal ballet company in the world—the Winnipeg company has performed before Queen Elizabeth twice, was the first Canadian company to tour the U. S. and performed Canada's first coast-to-coast televised ballet.

Established in 1938 as an amateur company, the troupe did not gain professional status until 1949. Two years later it appeared before then Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh and gained royal designation in 1953.

The 25 dancers of the company are backed by 23 administrative people, a nucleus orchestra that is augmented by local musicians wherever they perform, and 12 tons of stage and scenic equipment.

Travel is a way of life for the Canadian company, but in their 30 year history, the company has only missed one performance, when fog delayed their departure to Puerto Rico and they were forced to hold their performance a day later than planned.

Cold, snow, illness, bad roads—they have encountered all of these and other problems, but the show has always gone on.

The Royal Winnipeg is being sponsored in Bemidji through the auspices of Bemidji state college cultural arts committee and tickets are now on sale at the BSC business office and normal downtown business outlets.

How's Your Health

(Prepared in the public interest by the Minnesota Medical Association.)

Disease prevention through immunization is for everyone, not just children, says the Minnesota State Medical association.

Adults, too, need to maintain protection against communicable diseases. And, an adult who has had the basic protection against these diseases may easily maintain protection with occasional booster doses to recall or reinforce his immunity.

The smallpox vaccination should be renewed every ten years, three years if one travels internationally or is subject to unusual risk. Tetanus immunity should also be reinforced about every 10 years or whenever one is injured.

Whooping cough and measles vaccine and diphtheria toxoid are no longer needed by most adults, however, adults subject to undue risk may need an adult type of diphtheria toxoid. If one has had all three strains of oral polio vaccine, this, too, may be discontinued unless a person is subject to undue risk. Influenza vaccine may be administed in special cases and typhoid vaccine given when exposure is expected or continues, as in foreign travel.

Success in disease prevention depends upon you. See that your child is given his initial protection against smallpox, tetanus, diphtheria, polio, measles, whooping cough, and typhoid in infancy and subsequently receives booster doses where needed to replenish a fading immunity.

Recognize, too, that your immunity wears away with time and the time varies among individuals and with different diseases. Therefore, it is wise to see your physician about renewing your immunities periodically.

What is the difference between a heart attack and a stroke? Many persons are confused by these two terms; many equate them. Actually they are distinct conditions, explains the Minnesota State Medical association.

A stroke occurs when a part of the brain is deprived of blood and as a result the nerve cells in that part of the brain cannot function. A heart attack occurs when blood is withheld from an area of the heart.

Both may be due to a slowly developing disease called atherosclerosis. In atherosclerosis, fatty deposits which harden into patches and become covered with scarlike tissue roughen and narrow arteries along the inner lining much as lime deposits affect the inside of a water pipe. As the arteries narrow, there is little or no room for blood to pass. If a blood clot forms in the narrowed artery, the supply of blood to the heart or the brain is stopped—resulting in a heart attack, in the case of the heart, or a stroke, in the case of the brain.

Strokes may also be caused by pressure on the brain—by a brain tumor, for instance—or hypertension, high blood pressure, which may cause arteries in the brain to burst, producing a stroke.

The causes of atherosclerosis which sets the stage for heart attacks and strokes are still unknown. Suspected factors such as hormones, diet, age, smoking and heredity, however, are being intensely studied.

Movie and TV spooks are graceful creatures which can float up and down stairs and through walls as easily as sound. But the pint-size human variety who haunt and beg on Halloween are clumsy and accident-prone. The Minnesota State Medical association offers the following suggestions for making Halloween safer for them.

Paint false faces on your child with eyebrow pencil, grease paint, burnt cork and cosmetics. Do not use a mask. A mask can be dangerous because it may slide over a child's eyes and block his vision.

Use only nonflammable costumes and decorations. Flameproof homemade costumes by dipping them in the following solution: three quarts of warm water, seven ounces of borax, and three ounces of boric acid.

To make little spooks stand out in the dark, use the new retro-reflective materials such as tape, arm bands, and dangle tags on anything that they wear and carry. Retro-reflective tape can be purchased at any retail paint and hardware store.

Alter costumes so that they fit well. Costumes which are too long create a tripping hazard.

Do not allow your child to carry lighted candles or torches, knives or other sharp instruments.

Remind him of basic safety rules: not to dash between parked cars, not to play in the street, cross at corners only and only after looking both ways.

If you are driving on Halloween, slow down. Watch carefully for children on the streets.

Your mouth and its three principal components, teeth, tongue and gums, is your most versatile body organ. As such, it should be kept in tip top health through good care.

Good dental health care is neither intricate, difficult nor expensive. The most important requirement is that good dental health habits be established early and be consistently maintained, says the Minnesota State Medical Association.

Your teeth have three functions. The main function is the preparation of food for good digestion. Healthy teeth permit a wide selection of food and encourages a better balanced diet. Poor teeth may limit food selection and lead to a monotonous diet or malnutrition.

A second function of teeth is an attractive personal appearance. Appearance, in turn, could affect personality. Poorly arranged or unsightly, diseased teeth may cause a person to become socially withdrawn. The appearance of the lower half of the face, too, is determined to a large extent by the teeth.

The third function of teeth is facilitating speech.

It is clear, then, that the teeth should receive the best of care. Here are four basic dental health rules to live by:

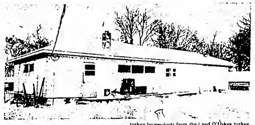
1. Follow an adequate, well-rounded diet — one in which sweets are kept at a minimum.
2. Have early and frequent examinations and care by your dentist.
3. Cleanse the mouth thoroughly immediately after eating.
4. Drink fluoridated water or have fluoride solution applied by the dentist directly to children's teeth.

Begin 1971 with a full fledged campaign to wipe out baby "booby traps". Baby's age of awakening begins about the time he becomes four months old. He begins to look around, pull himself up and maybe tries to sit up. He reaches for objects and puts them into his mouth, yet he cannot comprehend the dangers around him. He needs his parents' protection, says the Minnesota State Medical association, and there are a number of steps you might take to protect your baby.

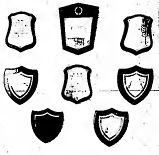
Since children are seldom still at this age, never leave your baby alone on a table, bathinette or other high object. Be sure, too, that crib sides are always up.

Small objects used near your baby, such as safety pins, should be kept out of his reach. Marbles, tacks, beans, buttons and other small items should also be kept away from him. Toys should be too large to swallow and in one piece with no removable parts. Dolls or pandas with removable eyes can be a special attraction and he may pull them out and swallow them. In addition, make sure your baby's toys have rounded corners and smooth edges.

When bathing baby, be sure the hot water faucet is out of his reach and that the water is not scalding hot. Never leave a child alone in the bath for any reason. If the phone or doorbell rings while you are bathing baby, ignore it or take him with you.



FEED HOUSE at the Miller Fur farm is located right next to the mink pens. The 24x60 building houses a feed mixer, feed room and freezer storage. The mink feed ration includes about 30 per cent turkey by-products from the Land O'Lakes turkey plant in Thief River Falls and processed by Thief River Fur Foods, Inc. The remainder of the ration includes beef by-products, cooked eggs and commercial cereal (grain).



ENGRAVED PLAQUES indicating top mink in the Midwest Fur Producers association hang on the wall of the Otis Miller home. Miller headed the association as president for a number of years, also representing the five-state organization on the National Board of Fur Farm organizations.

NSJC To Offer Karate

First organizational meeting of a karate class at Northland Junior college will be held on Thursday, January 14 at 7:30 p.m., room A39.

Gary Flynn, a recent graduate of the University of North Dakota, will be the principal instructor. Flynn holds a semi fifth Kyu, or purple belt, in Shodakan Karate and is a member of the Midwest Karate Association, Inc., Minneapolis.

The instructor became interested in karate when one day during a rather dull lecture the humanities professor suddenly executed a side snap kick over the podium to capture the class's attention. The professor, it turned out, held a green belt.

A karate club was soon formed and when the professor left the University of North Dakota, Gary, the highest ranking member, took over as instructor of the UND Karate club. This position he held through his junior and senior years.

There will be no fee charged for the class at NSJC. The course is open to men and women—any person interested in physical fitness and in the art of self-defense. The only equipment needed will be loose fitting clothing—either shorts or sweat pants and a t-shirt.

The two-hour class will probably meet two nights per week. Three basic areas will be covered during each period—punches, blocks, and kicks. Following this will be "kumite" or sparring, and "kata". "Kata" is a sequence of moves which puts into actual application the basic techniques.

Visits by other karate clubs may be arranged as well as demonstrations and instruction under a person who has attained the rank of black belt. Students will be encouraged to test for various ranks but this will be left up to the individual student.

This class is being offered as another community service course by Northland State Junior college. For further information contact Northland's Community Service office, 681-2181.

KARATE INSTRUCTOR Gary Flynn applies a defensive maneuver to Roger Reierson (left) of Northland State Junior college. Flynn will be the instructor of the Karate class that will begin at Northland college on Thursday January 14 at 7:30 p.m.

NSJC Intramural Program Begins

Northland junior college winter intramural program began the week of January 11, with students participating in hockey, basketball, bowling and ping pong.

The intramural program, which is gaining in popularity, can be comprised of students competing on teams against other student teams within the college. In some sports the intramural competition is on an individual and co-recreational competitive basis.

In hockey, two 12-man teams will represent Northland in the six team Thief River Falls city recreation league.

An intramural basketball team from Northland will play in the Thief River Falls city recreation league. The team will be made up of twelve men.

Ten teams, made up of five members each, will make up the popular Northland bowling league. This will be a co-recreational league sponsored by the college with teams playing at 4:15 p.m. Wednesdays for the next four weeks. The 10 teams will be divided into two divisions with the winning team from each division playing off the fifth week. 53 students are involved in the bowling league.

Ping pong will also be sponsored as a co-recreational activity and is certain to draw many students. Students will sign up for participation during this week of January 11 for play in a ladder tournament. The ping pong ladder tournament should prove very popular with keen competition expected.

Al Adams, intramural director, feels that better than 100 Northland students will participate in the various intramural activities.

Farmer Suggests Snowmobilers Avoid Culverts

More on snowmobiles.

Harold Berg, rural Thief River Falls, passes on a tip concerning "sno-cats" and culverts. He notes that enthusiasts have been driving their machines directly over the center of approaches and driveways intersecting with the trunk highway which runs past his farm, and that if the snow should settle, it would be possible for the skis or some other protrusion on the bottom of the snowmobile to "hook" or get caught in the culvert, possibly damaging the machine and launching the rider.

As a solution, Berg suggests that snowmobile enthusiasts cross adjoining roads at the edge of the crossing, near the ditch bank, and avoid the center or culvert area. "Those cats' are running day and night," he adds. "I'd hate to see somebody get killed on my corner."

TRF Sno Drifters Meet Tonight

Thief River Falls Sno Drifters will meet tonight, (Wednesday) at 8 p.m. at Geno's Body Shop.

The club also announces they are collecting old license plates and would like any donors to leave them at Gibson Agency or the 8th Street Gulf station.

Hibbing Next NSJC Cage Foe On Sat.

Northland junior college will attempt to break its junior college 12 game losing streak Saturday, January 16, when they host the Hibbing junior college Cardinals at 2 p.m. in the Lincoln high school gymnasium.

Coach Chet Engelman expects Saturday's game against Hibbing to be another tough one. Hibbing is presently 2 and 6 in the win-lose department. They have played some excellent games and are showing much improvement. While not a big team, the Cardinals are quick and pretty fair shooters. They are led by co-captains Dave Homoky 6-3 and Dale Moore 5-11, a pair of ex-Merrillville, Indiana, cagers.

"We are starting to come around," said Engelman, referring to the Northmen. "Since the Christmas break we have played our best basketball even though we lost 3 games (Bottineau 79-81, Vermillion 62-71 and Mesabi 78-81). The team is improving and morale is higher than it has been since the start of the season. Northland has made personnel changes since Christmas which has helped strengthen the team.

Saturday's lineup will find Ron Visness (Kennedy) and Jim Goudge (Clearbrook) at the guards and Tony Burke (Bemidji) at center. At the wings Northland will be rotating Scott Rousseau (East Grand Forks), Steve Haaven (McIntosh) and Curt Jenson (Erskine).

"When we finally put a full game together we will be tough for anybody," said Engelman.

As a result of a fine, twenty-point performance against Mesabi junior college, Ron Visness has moved up to a number 8 spot in the list of all-time scorers for the Northland junior college basketball Northmen.

"Ron is pretty steady," commented coach Chet Engelman, "and barring any unforseen misfortune, I expect he will finish a lot higher. He is our captain and we expect him to do a lot of things and he usually comes through pretty well."

Visness is currently scoring 12.2 points per game and could conceivably move as high as third behind Nick Neibauer (class of 1970) and Greg Farder (class of 1968).

Ron, a 6-0 sophomore guard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Visness of Kennedy and a 1969 graduate of Kennedy high school where his coach was Louis C. Deere, Jr.

Game Foreman Receives State Award Of Merit

A foreman in the Minnesota department of natural resources section of game has received a check for $45 and a merit award for a suggestion that will save the department many hundreds of dollars.

The employee, Reuben Niemi of Grand Rapids, is currently working on projects to improve browse conditions for deer. For the purpose, a crawler type tractor is used with a blade to bulldoze off timber to permit sprouting of small trees and brush for deer food.

Trouble is that the ordinary earth moving blades are not adequate for shearing off trees, and shearing blades manufactured for the purpose are poor earth movers.

Niemi's idea was to combine the two by making a cutting edge that could be attached to the conventional earth moving blade when the tractor was used for shearing, and removed when it was to be used for earth moving duties.

It worked so well that the unit has been used on three habitat improvement projects so far with more planned for the future.

It saved the department the cost of having to buy a separate shearing blade and the time involved in interchanging the two blades.

Attaching the cutting edge to the earth moving blade takes less than one hour.

Iron Is Tested As Replacement For Lead Shot

A spokesman for Federal Cartridge corporation of Anoka says his company has not given up efforts to substitute iron for lead shot in shotgun shells.

A recent news release from the arms and ammunition makers indicated that until the technological problems of producing soft iron shot were solved, it would not be possible to conduct the required firing tests.

Although this was widely interpreted as an announcement by the industry that it was abandoning efforts to solve the lead shot poisoning problem afflicting ducks, Federal Cartridge has made it clear that it is continuing testing.

The spokesman said the company now has on hand some 24 barrels and soft iron from four different manufacturers for further extensive testing purposes. While early tests with soft iron were encouraging, later tests have shown significant barrel wear.

Blight Is Only One Seed Corn Factor

Minnesota corn farmers faced with the decision of what kind of seed to buy due to the possibility of southern corn leaf blight in 1971 should first use the same criteria they've used in the past.

"Continue to select corn hybrids on factors such as yield, lodging, insect and disease resistance. Then when you've made your selection, consider the cytoplasm type for resistance to southern corn leaf blight," suggests Dale Hicks, extension agronomist at the University of Minnesota.

Hicks bases these suggestions on the severity of southern leaf blight in Minnesota during 1970 and the expected seed supply for 1971.

"Many people are asking about the difference between N, B and T seed," Hicks says.

N seed is produced by hand detasseling—the plants have normal cytoplasm and are male fertile. Seed labeled N is tolerant to race T of the southern corn leaf blight.

Seed labeled T is susceptible to race T of southern corn blight. This seed is produced by using plants with male sterile cytoplasm as the female with a male which contains a fertility restorer gene. The hybrid plants produce tassels with fertile pollen.

Seed labeled B is a mixture of N and T cytoplasm types, Hicks explains, and is produced using male sterile and hand detasseled plants. Male sterile rows and detasseled rows are usually planted together in the seed production field, and the mixing is done during harvesting and processing.

This seed production method for B seed provides hybrids with both male sterile and male fertile plants in farmer's cornfields. They are blends of cytoplasm types, not a blend of genetically different hybrids, Hicks points out. Selection of the word "blend" to describe the B class of hybrid may have been unfortunate, since many farmers associate "mixture of varieties" with the word blend.

Hicks says most B labeled seed will probably be 50 per cent N and 50 per cent T—the label will specify. Plants in the mixture with T cytoplasm are susceptible and those with N are tolerant to race T of the southern leaf blight fungus.

Without southern leaf blight, there should be little difference in yields between N, B, or T cytoplasm types for any one hybrid.

Usually seed with N ctyoplasm type will cost the most, B will be intermediate and T will be lowest in cost, according to Hicks. Some reasons for the increased costs for N seed include lower yields in seed production fields, higher corn prices plus increased labor requirements for detasseling, removing infected ears and extra handling during processing.

"From the farmer's standpoint, the cost of N seed represents an increased production cost, but it may be justified as an insurance factor," the agronomomist adds.

Corn companies have recently estimated the amount of each type seed available in the states of Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin and North Dakota. The proportions were 20 per cent N, 28 per cent B and 52 per cent T. However, the amount of each class of seed varies among companies.

Hicks suggests that Minnesota farmers first select the hybrids they want to plant, then consider cytoplasm types. The priority for ctyoplasm types should be N, B and T, in that order. If a given hybrid is available with N ctyoplasm, this should be the first choice, with B second and T third.

"But if the hybrid you select is available only with T cytoplasm, don't buy another hybrid just because it has N or B cytoplasm," Hicks advises. "You may select another hybrid with N ctyoplasm, but don't base your choice just on cytoplasm type. Consider other production factors such as yield and resistance to insects and other diseases which are almost certain to be prevalent next year."

If you can't buy N or B seed, don't select second generation (F2) seed in preference to T seed, Hicks advises. The yield reduction will range from 15 to 35 per cent, which is greater than that due to southern corn blight in most areas in 1970.

Grant Is Given To Mayo Clinic

National Foundation March of Dimes grant of $3,500 has been approved for the establishment of a pilot medical program for genetics counselling in relation to birth defects at the Mayo clinic in Rochester.

Dr. Hymie Gordon, M.D., Mayo clinic consulting physician, will head the program. The initial grant will run from Jan. 1, to Dec. 31, 1971. The grant will pay for "additional investigations which are required in the course of genetics counselling which cannot be regarded as a routine clinic service and for which no funds are presently available," according to Dr. Gordon.

Hospital Service For Pets Grows In Minnesota

Thousands of pets in Minnesota can now get hospital service comparable to the service that their owners receive.

Quality veterinary facilities are available in nearly all areas of the state, says University of Minnesota veterinary professor George W. Mather in the recent issue of "Minnesota Science," published by the university's agricultural experiment station.

"If a pet is struck by an automobile, he can receive an emergency blood transfusion and be placed in an oxygen cage if it is required," Mather said.

"And the same miracle drugs available to humans, such as broad spectrum antibiotics and modern cortisone derivatives are equally available to pet animals," he said.

Broken bones can be evaluated through the use of x-ray equipment. If the animal suffers a broken leg, it can be set using modern pinning techniques or even a "super modern" compression bone plate, according to Mather.

Presently, some veterinarians are confining their practices to a single type of pet in an effort to give in depth care.

"'Kitty clinics' are becoming commonplace in large cities," he said, "and many veterinarians treat only horses."

Veterinary care for horses has improved immeasurably, he said. Highly effective drugs now adequately control the never-ending internal parasitic diseases of the horse and surgery for displaced intestines or caesarean section is now possible.

Specialized equipment for care of horses includes portable x-ray machines, horse ambulances and specially designed operating tables.

Further improvements of veterinary care can be expected in the 1970's, Mather explains.

The trend of group practice in small animal care is well underway and can be expected to increase through the 1970's. Many small animal hospitals presently have three and even four staff veterinarians. Each one specializes in certain classes of pet ailments, just as doctors specialize in human ailments.

"One veterinarian might handle most or all cases involving an animal's eyes, the second general surgery, the third orthopedic surgery, and the fourth might have a special interest in the operation of the x-ray equipment, he said.

In the somewhat distant future, central animal hospitals that operate much the same as hospitals for humans may be established. A single hospital might serve the needs of perhaps 10 or 12 veterinarians who would still maintain their practice in clinics apart from the central hospital, the veterinarion contends.

In the central animal hospital, lay staff supervised by a veterinarian will care for the animals under the direction of the veterinarian responsible for the pet, Mather said. Complex operations may be performed by a specialist.

Ag Dep't. Will Seek To Regulate Pesticide Use

Minnesota department of agriculture will sponsor and seek passage by the 1971 legislature of a measure granting the agency authority to further regulate the use of pesticides, Commissioner Jon Wefald has announced.

He said the department has effectively implemented a 1969 law regarded nationally as a model in environmental legislation to guard against pesticide pollution of foods and natural resources.

"Although we have drastically restricted the use of nine ecologically hazardous pesticides, experience has demonstrated a need to further regulate the sale and use of pesticides," Commissioner Wefald declared.

Minnesota has restricted the sale and use of DDT, DDD (TDE), aldrin, dieldrin, endrin, heptachlor, lindane, thallium sulfate and compound 1080. Permits are required of both dealers and users, and application is limited to some 30 specific plant, insect and disease problems.

Commissioner Wefald said the department is asking for the authority to license all dealers and regulate the sale and use of all pesticides.

"There are hundreds of pesticides on the market, and new ones are being introduced steadily, both as replacements for the restricted materials and to combat new economic and health problems. Many of these are more caustic and are a greater immediate hazard to humans, pets, livestocks, beneficial insects and aquatic life than the restricted persistent pesticides."

"Compliance checks made in the metro area during the last six months by department inspectors revealed a shocking lack of general knowledge and respect for the management and use of all pesticides. I have been advised by Dr. Rollin M. Dennistoun, administrator for plant and environmental concerns," Commissioner Wefald declared.

According to Dr. Dennistoun, inspectors found few retail store personnel able to identify even the nine restricted pesticides by the proper chemical names appearing on the label. Few personnel were aware of the proper uses for the vast array of pesticides carried in inventory, or of the warnings on the labels.

"We cannot afford to allow the indiscriminate sale of pesticides as casually as bread or chewing gum to continue, for the safety of our society today and the security of the environment for future generations are at stake," Commissioner Wefald insisted.

"Pesticides are economic poisons, and poisons are designed to control selective targets only. The present system of free merchandising lacks adequate assurance that only the selective targets will be destroyed. I hope to convince the 1971 legislature the department's bill to license all pesticide dealers and regulate the sale and use of pesticides deserves the highest priority," Commissioner Wefald stated.

Builders Take Steps To Save Minnesota Soil

Minnesota highway department is responding to recently-aroused public concern for the environment by establishing guidelines for highway contractors to follow in removing construction materials from the soil.

When removing native materials such as earth and rock from public lands, contractors must take steps to avoid causing or contributing to soil erosion. Crops, forage and timber growth at the site or in the vicinity are also protected. Contractors may not unnecessarily pollute the air and water nor damage improvements at the site.

Vertebrate fossils, historic or prehistoric ruins, or artifacts may not be destroyed, damaged, or removed. If objects of historic or scientific interest are discovered, they are left intact and immediately brought to the attention of the Minnesota Historical Society.

Projects will not be approved if they are located within a thousand feet of the center line of a highway, and they may not encroach within 25 feet of highway right of way. When a contractor begins excavation work he must strip and stockpile the top six inches of material so it can be used to cover the area when the work is completed.

The surface of the land must be restored to its former condition. The bottom or floor of the excavated area is graded with sloped banks to present a neat and uniform appearance, and all waste is put on the floor of the area. Then the material which was stockpiled at the beginning of the excavation work is uniformly distributed over it, and "No Dumping" signs are posted. The Highway Department engineer must approve the excavation site at the completion of the work.

Prowlers, Warroad Skate To 3-3 Tie; Roseau Next

Led by the outstanding goal tending of senior Brian Peterson Bob Tuft's Lincoln high school Prowler hockey team extended its unbeaten streak to eight games last night in the Warroad Memorial arena as the Prowlers and Warriors skated to a 3-3 overtime tie.

Peterson kept the Prowlers in the contest time and time again as he repelled shots from all angles from the usually crack-shot Warriors. Peterson was credited with 37 saves during regulation time, compared to Warroad netminder Jeff Hallett's 14 stops. Warroad got off eight more shots in the eight-minute overtime for a game total 45 stops for the Prowler goalie.

The first period ended with no scoring although the Warriors out-shot the Prowlers 13-4. Cal Olson of Warroad almost put his team on the scoreboard with 11:40 remaining as he found himself alone on the left side of the Prowler net but his hard slap shot went wide of the mark. Defenseman Ed Boucha intercepted a Prowler clearing pass with 9:28 left in the first period and shot right on target from the blue line with Alan Hangsleben slipping at the rebound but Peterson went to his knees to freeze the puck and force a face off for the Prowlers.

The Warriors had one more excellent scoring opportunity in the first period as All-stater Hangsleben broke around his defenseman and went in on Peterson alone only to be foiled by a nice save by the Prowler goalie.

Warroad broke into the scoring column with 8:03 remaining in the second period when senior center Jerry Hodgson took a pass on the right side from Hangsleben and hit the high right corner for a 1-0 Warrior lead.

It took Warroad just 23 seconds to score their second goal as Jack Storey slapped in a rebound from close range that went into the high right corner of the Prowler net with 7:40 remaining. John Taylor and Ed Boucha were credited with assists on the score.

The Prowlers came back to put some pressure on the Warrior defense and although they had just four shots at Hallett they scored twice within a 1:57 span to go into the final period tied at 2-2.

Paul Olson scored the Prowler's first goal with 3:51 remaining in the second period as he took a pass from the left side of the Warrior net and pushed in the close range shot on an assist from Jeff Bottem to cut the Warrior lead to 2-1.

Junior wing Jon Jensen tied the contest 2-2 with his unassisted goal from the right side with just 1:54 remaining in the period.

Warroad continued to pressure the Prowlers as they shot 17 times at the Prowler net in the third period while the Prowlers managed just six shots on goal.

John Taylor put the Warriors in front 3-2 with his shot from the point after a hard slap shot by Ed Boucha with 10:58 remaining in the game.

Thief River Falls came back to tie the contest once again on John Wangberg's unassisted power play goal with 5:22 remaining in the game. The goal came after a scramble in front of the Warrior net as Wangberg was able to slip the puck under Hallett for the score.

Both teams missed on fine scoring opportunities in the last minutes of regulation time as Storey broke in alone on Peterson with 2:08 remaining after an intercepted pass but Peterson went to his knees to stop the Warrior shot. Prowler captain Roger Lee's slap shot went just wide of the left corner of the Warrior net with 1:13 remaining before the game went into the sudden death overtime.

Warroad is now 5-4-1 on the year and will take on Grand Forks Central Friday night at Warroad while the Prowlers will put their 7-2-1 record on the line against the state's number two team Saturday night as the Roseau Rams invade the city arena beginning at 6:30 with the B game.

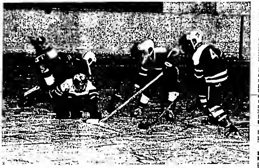
PROWLER GOALIE Brian Peterson had to come out of his net to cover the puck on this shot during last night's exciting 3-3 tie with the Warroad Warriors in the Warroad Arena. Peterson was called on to make 45 saves in the Prowler net during the contest which went into an eight-minute sudden death overtime. Sophomore wing Tom Goddard (8) tries to help the senior goalie on this Warroad shot. Next action for the Prowlers will be Saturday night when they will host Roseau in the city arena.



UP AND OVER goes this youngster during action in the old arena in the junior high school hockey program. 72 boys participate on six teams which play their games on Monday nights in the new arena and Thursday nights in the old building. The North Stars are on top in the standings with a 5-2 record with the Penguins just one point behind with a 4-2-1 mark.

Arctic Cat Team Wins In Canada

Arctic Enterprises' racing team went north of the border to make its most impressive showing of the 1970-71 racing season this weekend. Former world champion Roger Janssen paced the Arctic racers by capturing two major events.

Janssen won the coveted Kawartha Cup at Peterboro, Ont., Canada with his racing prowess on Saturday and Sunday, and followed that by winning the World Cup for modified racing machines on Monday at Peterboro. His total take for the weekend was estimated at $3,000.

In winning the Kawartha Cup, Janssen amassed 185.12 points on his racing Saturday and Sunday. Points are based according to placing and the size of machines raced. The Crookston racer placed third on Saturday and first on Sunday with oval track races being held both days. On Sunday he trailed a Polaris machine until the third turn of the final lap in a five-lap race when he came on with his 650cc King Kat to win.

Second place for the Kawartha Cup was captured by Scott Henning of Peterboro, also riding an Arctic Cat, who placed first in Class C stock both days to total 184.24 points. Third place went to Gaston Ferland of Valcourt, Quebec, riding a Ski-Doo and taking 182.01 points.

Fourth place went to Larry Coltom of the Arctic team with 179.44 points as he placed first in the Class B modified both days. Fred Jillson of Brainerd, also on the Arctic team, took fifth place in Kawartha Cup competition at 175.36 points. He had first place in Class A modified on Saturday and second on Sunday.

The World Cup competition for modified racers Monday was an all-Arctic finish. Following Janssen was Larry Coltom with 177.53 points. Janssen had 182.43 points with first place finish in Mod. 4 and third in Mod. 4 classes. Coltom had first in Mod. 3 and third in Mod. 4.

Dave Thompson of Thief River Falls placed third with 175.96 points, placing first in Mod. 2 and second in Mod. 4 races. Fred Jillson was fourth with 165.51 points, with a first in Mod. A and third in Mod. C.

Minnesota will hold its first "Tournament of Champions" to name the best amateur hockey teams in three divisions which will be held March 19, 20 and 21 in the Metropolitan Sports Center.

Harry Dornseif, President of Minnesota Amateur Hockey Association and tournament director, said pairing will be made so the best six teams of southern Minnesota will meet the best six of the northern region.

The matches are drawn so in each of three sessions there will be a northern and southern team in each of the divisions, Pee Wee (11 and 12 year olds), Bantam (13 and 14 years) and Midgets (15 and 16 years).

"The calibre of hockey played at these levels will amaze the average hockey fan who now has an opportunity for the first time to see the best of its class and it gives the teams and players a chance to compete for truly grand championship honors," said Dornseif.

Teams in 125 communities have attracted more than 40,000 young players this season in the 16 districts, supported by 107 amateur athletic associations affiliated with the MAHA, Dornseif reported in a meeting at Metropolitan Sports Center, Bloomington.

MAHA directors named Dornseif to head the tournament at their Saturday (January 9) meeting and approved a ticket plan that prices season seated at $6.50 for rink sides, $5 for bowl ends, and $3.50 for general admission. Individual session reserved seats Friday and Saturday (March 19 and 20) go for $3.00 and $2.50 and Sunday for $3.50 and $3.00.

Persons who buy season tickets before February 25 will earn priorities on seats for future "Tournaments of Champions".

General admission prices are $1 for Friday and Saturday and $1.50 for the Grand Championships session Sunday. The first two are evening games starting at 6:30 p.m. The Grand Championship session starts at 1 p.m. Sunday, March 21.

"Players and spectators alike will see Championship games only," Dornseif said. "Further interest comes from the system of putting three different divisions into each session."

The play-downs for this tournament are underway now in the 16 districts in each half of the state, the two best championship teams in each of the three divisions — Pee Wee, Bantam and Midget — will advance to the new Tournament of Champions.

Northland state junior college basketball fortunes have been below expectations this year, but the team has an excellent academic record in the classroom.

According to data made available by Northland's recorder, Dennis Bendicksen, Northland's basketball team had a confirmed grade point average of 2.85 (B-).

Leading the team scholastically were Greg Hafdahl (Roseau) and Jay Forney (Thief River Falls) whose 3.7 and 3.4 grade point averages earned them recognition on the President's honor list.

Steve Haaven (McIntosh), Curt Jenson (Erskine) and Lee Visness (Kennedy) all made the Honor Roll with a grade point average of better than 3.0.

VA Administrator Takes Issue With Congress Testimony

Head of the Veterans administration has branded recent Congressional testimony by a Harvard university sociologist as demeaning and an insult to the millions of veterans who have served in Vietnam.

Donald E. Johnson, administrator of veterans affairs, took issue with testimony presented to the subcommittee on veterans affairs of the Senate labor and public welfare committee by Dr. Charles J. Levy.

"I not only question the broad applicability of his conclusions," Johnson said, "but there is considerable doubt in my mind about the validity of the research on which Dr. Levy's testimony was based."

Dr. Levy's testimony, the administrator noted, was built around only eight quotations he had selected from taped interviews with just 60 Marine veterans of Vietnam. The VA Chief said Dr. Levy had indicated his findings were typical of Vietnam veterans in general by informing the subcommittee that the 60 men interviewed were "representative of most men in the Armed Services."

The "quotations" used in Dr. Levy's prepared testimony, Johnson added, tended to show that America's veterans of Vietnam: (1) Are violence-prone upon return home, (2) Enjoyed maltreating severely disabled South Vietnamese servicemen, (3) Were "invariably positive" in their good thoughts about the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese Army enemies, but despised members of the allied South Vietnamese armed forces, and (4) Hated their own United States commissioned and non-commissioned officers.

"Even if these stories were true," Johnson declared, "it is an insult to infer that they are typical of most of our American veterans of the fighting in Vietnam."

The VA administrator said the chairman of the subcommittee, Senator Alan Cranston, apparently shared some of this same feeling. He noted that Senator Cranston interrupted Dr. Levy's prepared testimony to say, "I find your statement very shocking and startling and very deeply disturbing. I didn't know what you were going to say until late last night in any detail."

Senator Cranston told the witness he had a great many questions about the interview quotations to determine the extent they were representative of Vietnam veterans, and "to determine how much of it is hearsay and how much it goes beyond hearsay..."

"Unfortunately," said Johnson, "most of the media reported only Dr. Levy's prepared-in-advance testimony. Generally unreported were the witness' admissions—mostly under questioning by Senator William B. Saxbe—that his 'typical' veterans were in fact 60 Vietnam Marine-veterans from just one neighborhood in one city in America."

The VA administrator pointed out that the more than 2,500,000 veterans who have served in Vietnam, including 430,000 Marines, entered service from every point in the United States, and included representatives of every race.

"Yet," he added, "Dr. Levy admitted his interview group came from only one branch of military service, from only one community in the Boston area, and were all white. He also admitted that some in the group were not honorably discharged from military service."

Johnson said he could find no indication in the testimony that Dr. Levy had even tried to substantiate the stories told him by the interview group except for possibly cross-checking individual conversations in the interviews that happened to be on the same subject.

Noting that he has visited with combat troops in trips to Vietnam, has a son recently returned from combat in Vietnam, and has talked with many hundreds of Vietnam veterans in VA program, Johnson said:

"By every yardstick known to VA people who have regular contact with thousands of Vietnam veterans, these young men are readjusting remarkably well to civil life. All they ask is an equal opportunity to compete without penalty for time out for military service."

The VA administrator cited Dr. Levy's testimony that, "The thinking of these veterans seems to be dominated by a fear of their own violence. They therefore thend to withdraw from the outside world."

He then noted that nearly 1,000,000 Vietnam veterans are sufficiently "with" the outside world that they are right now seeking to make up for lost years through education and training under the GI bill.

"Dr. Levy," he suggested, "might look around him on the Harvard campus where nearly 3,000 Vietnam era veterans have gone to school under the GI bill during the last four years.

"He would find that more than 000 Vietnam era veterans are attending Harvard today. It is difficult to associate the term 'withdrawn' with the fact that most of these veterans are studying for careers in such outgoing pursuits as business, teaching, medicine, diplomacy and the ministry."

Pointing out that Dr. Levy had testified to "an overwhelming need for a boot camp in reverse that will help the men undergo what might be called de-Vietnamization," Johnson said that this type of thinking "is typical of much you read and hear that Vietnam veterans come home with a killer instinct. I submit that there is not an iota of scientific proof that this is so.

"On the contrary, I would argue that Vietnam veterans, having met military entrance requirements, and having been subject to disciplined, teamwork living during their tours of duty, are much less likely to commit an act of violence than non-veterans."

Another Dr. Levy recommendation, Johnson said, was that American troops should engage in constructive work in Vietnam as a form of emotional rehabilitation. "Only in this way will each man acquire enough self-regard to again consider himself a 'person'," Dr. Levy testified.

"This makes you wonder," said the VA chief, "if the doctor is even aware that our troops in Vietnam have been engaged in the largest civic action program in the history of our Armed Forces. These 'non-persons' have taken on willingly and voluntarily such compassionate tasks as building or rebuilding huts and churches, feeding the hungry, clothing the naked, and caring for the sick."

Added Administrator Johnson: "It is high time the war critics stopped using our Vietnam veterans as whipping boys in their denunciation of the war in Vietnam. These veterans fought the war bravely and with determination. They neither started nor expanded the conflict.

"In my estimation, our Vietnam veterans are the cream of our young manhood today—and will be the leaders of the nation tomorrow. The recognition of this fact should be expressed, the nation over, and I, for one, am glad to voice the feeling of pride that exists in American families who have contributed sons, brothers and husbands to the military service of their country."

Forest Products Hold One Billion Dollar Potential

Minnesota forestry has the potential of being about a billion dollar industry by 1980, according to Richard A. Skok, professor and assistant director for the University of Minnesota's college of forestry.

Much of the growth is expected from the major segment of Minnesota's forest products industry—pulp production. If the state maintains its share of national pulp output, pulp tonnage will almost double to about two million cords by 1980, he added.

Seventy-five per cent of the state's total timber harvest is used for pulpwood. Pulpwood volume in 1969 was 1.2 million cords.

"Products derived from our forests are in increasing demand. Forest service projections for 1985 indicate that the demand for timber products in the U.S. will be 50 per cent above the 12 million cubic feet consumed in 1968.

"Meeting these timber requirements offers rural employment opportunities that are unparalleled for areas with land in forest use. But at the same time it will require forest land managers to draw on new knowledge to implement programs that will protect the forest environment for other uses," Skok said.

Timber and associated uses undergird many local economies and forestry stimulates many secondary activities such as petroleum, hardware and equipment sales. About 45,000 Minnesotans find direct full or part-time employment in forest industries and forest land management activities, he added.

About $400 million is added annually to the state's economy from harvesting and processing Minnesota's timber, which represents about $2.50 per cubic foot of timber harvested in the state. Another $100 million to $150 million is added annually in processing timber products, imported from outside the state, Skok said.

Minnesotans consume in cubic foot equivalents more timber each year than is harvested in the state. Only in the case of pulp-based products does the Minnesota timber harvest exceed what is consumed in the state, he added.

HIGHLANDING

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marquetta, Bruce and Kim of Eden Prarie visited from Tuesday until Saturday at the John Hoffman home. They also visited with Mrs. Gunstenson in Thief River Falls.

Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Henry Waalo were dinner guests at the Asbjorn Aabjornson home.

New Years eve Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Appleman visited at the Emil Hagman home.

Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Anderson visited at the Henry Hovet home.

Many Join In Campaign To Fight Pollution

For years people talked about litter, environmental contamination and polluted air, but no one did anything. Now it seems that almost everyone is doing something about it.

Automobile manufacturers are scrambling to produce pollution-free engines, bottling and canning industries are developing methods of recycling disposable containers, and educational bodies are producing lectures, slide series and textbooks in efforts to curb the gargantuan problem.

Everywhere law enforcement agencies have also begun to bear down on offenders. Pickens county, S.C., has a full-time deputy sheriff to enforce litter-prevention laws; in Taipei, Nationalist China, littering and polluting the air are considered crimes and incur penalties up to life imprisonment; and in Ontario, Canada, five-man teams of civilians patrolling the highways are empowered to swear out warrants against littering motorists.

Private citizens haven't been sitting on their hands either. One man in the Midwest recorded the license plate number of a camper pulling out of a litter-strewn campsite. From the license number he got the address of the family and mailed the garbage back—C.O.D.

Numerous civic organizations have sponsored clean up campaigns with members hiking along highways and city streets picking up after careless citizens.

Children, perhaps the nation's most ardent anti-pollutionists, have also gotten into the act. In Houston, Texas, a group of children known as K-Y Kids (kindergarten minus one year) keep their neighborhood free of litter. They even have a slogan "We don't litter—We don't strew—We don't play with kids who do!"

Soul-Searching

Someone has said the eyes are the windows of the soul.

And when it's our own child — how easy to believe that in these sparkling eyes we have seen and understood an infant soul.

Well, we have seen a mind eager to grow . . . character ready to be molded.

If in our child's eyes we would see his soul, then one thought should possess us. This is a soul known to God but not yet knowing God.

Soul-searching is always the threshold to spiritual growth. The need we recognize in a baby's eager eyes is a need adult souls never outgrow.

Remember as you plan your family's religious future: God knows each and every human soul. The life He has given us is our opportunity to know Him.

SCHOOL LUNCH PROGRAM

Independent School Dist. No. 561, Goodridge Public Schools, Goodridge, Minnesota

NOTE: "Family" means a group of related or nonrelated individuals who are not residents of an institution or boarding house, but who are living as one economic unit.

"Income" means income before deductions for income taxes, employees' social security taxes, insurance premiums, bonds, etc. It includes the following: (1) Monetary compensation for services, including wages, salary, commissions, or fees; (2) net income from nonfarm self employment; (3) net income from farm self employment; (4) social security; (5) dividends or interest on savings or bonds, income from estate or trusts or net rental income; (6) public assistance or welfare payments; (7) unemployment compensation; (8) Government civilian employee or military retirement, or pensions, or veteran's payments; (9) private pensions or annuities; (10) alimony or child support payments; (11) regular contributions from persons not living in the household; (12) net royalties; and (13) other cash income.

In applying these guidelines, school food authorities may consider both the income of the family during the past 12 months and family's current rate of income to determine which is the better indicator of the need for free and reduced price lunches.

2. Additional Criteria

   a. Any additional criteria to be used in making eligibility determinations must (1) be included in the policy statement, and (2) relate to providing free or reduced price lunches to children who would not be eligible for such lunches under the minimum (economic) criteria alone.

   b. Such Criteria might include (1) illness in the family, (2) Unusual expenses caused by natural disasters as fire, flood, hurricanes, accidents, etc., (3) seasonal employment patterns, or (4) other emergency situations. Note: In no event may any such additional criteria be applied so as to deny free or reduced price lunches to children who qualify for such lunches under minimum (economic) eligibility criteria.

C. A provision to permit any family which does not meet the established minimum eligibility criteria to apply for a free or reduced price lunch for its children.

   1. Such family must state the reasons why it believes that its children are unable to pay the full price of the lunch even though it does not meet the minimum eligibility criteria.

   2. If the designated school official(s) determines, on the basis of such application and the additional information presented, that the children of such family are unable to pay the full price of the lunch, a free or reduced price lunch must be made available to such children.

D. A provision to grant a family whose children have been determined to be eligible for a reduced price lunch the opportunity to make application for a greater price reduction or a free lunch, setting forth its reasons why it is unable to pay for the reduced price lunch offered to its children under the eligibility standards.

Four Former 4-H'ers Receive Minnesota Recognition Award

A former state senator, a college president, a woman farmer and an elementary school teacher have been cited by the Cooperative Extension Service as outstanding Minnesota 4-H alumni.

They are George R. Conzemius of Cannon Falls; Dr. John W. Torgelson of Willmar, Mrs. Delty Rantanen of Middle River and Mrs. Harold Davy of Brownsville.

Each received a bronze and walnut plaque from Olin Corporation, 4-H alumni recognition sponsor. The program honors former 4-H'ers for community leadership, public service, service to 4-H and success in their chosen careers.

Conzemius served as state senator four years. He was defeated in the fall elections. He supported and authored legislation dealing with youth groups and individuals, particularly with rural minority groups such as Indians.

Mrs. Davy G. R. Conzemius Dr. Torgelson Mrs. Rantanen

Conzemius, one of Dakota County's leading farmers, helped to develop irrigation systems on farms in the county. He was a vocational agriculture and science teacher at Cannon Falls High School.

He credits his 12-year 4-H membership in Dakota County for providing the opportunity to learn important agricultural practices and to develop his leadership. His swine project won him a trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago.

Dr. Torgelson was named president of Willmar State Junior College in 1967. He previously served as high school principal in Roseville and Harmony.

Dr. Torgelson is a member of several educational associations.

His 11-year 4-H membership was in Swift County. He served as president of the county 4-H Federation and vice president of the Minnesota Federation.

Mrs. Rantanen and her late husband began farming 300 acres in 1945. Four years later they owned 940 acres. After her husband's death 12 years ago she reduced the herd of 100 registered Brown Swiss cattle to about 40 head. She and her five children manage the farm.

The Rantanen farm is now conservation-oriented. Annually they plant 50 acres of wildlife food and several hundred trees. They provide feed for over 3,000 geese and 5,000 ducks along with other game birds.

In her six year membership in Marshall County, Mrs. Rantanen won the Elks award for junior leadership, county dairy awards and was state girl champion in the radio story contest. A 4-H leader for 24 years she is active in the conservation project.

Mrs. Davy has taught elementary grades for 26 years. She is past president of Houston County Educational Association and is a member of the state, national and local education associations.

Her 12 year 4-H membership was in Houston County where she carried home economics, poultry and leadership projects. She has been a 4-H leader for 18 years and served on the county 4-H advisory board.

The four former 4-H'ers were selected by the Cooperative Extension Service from candidates nominated by extension agents, local 4-H leaders, 4-H members or other interested individuals in the states in which they enrolled in 4-H or the state in which they currently reside. The program is arranged and announced by the National 4-H Service Committee.

"My friends," says Mr. Chadband, "Peace be on this house! On the master thereof, on the mistress thereof, on the young maidens, and on the young men! My friends, why do I wish for peace? What is peace? Is it war? No. Is it strife? No. Is it lovely, and gentle, and beautiful, and pleasant, and serene, and joyful? O yes! Therefore, my friends, I wish for peace, upon you and upon yours." — Charles Dickens

Same Old Story

Taxes in the Thief River Falls area have been conversation starters almost as frequently as the weather in the past month or so. The substantial increases in property valuations and dollar assessment of taxes has not a few people staggering under the load.

It might be argued, with some validity, that those who saw their property increased in value the most by the reassessment haven't been pulling their equal weight in previous years. That conclusion, however, doesn't make it any easier to meet the tax obligation. In truth, the taxpayer today is spending more but enjoying it less.

And while Thief River Falls residents are just beginning to regain their breath after the shock of learning of hugo increases, the real cry will rise when individual tax statements are mailed out—probably around the end of the month. Preparation of these statements has been slowed by people who call the county treasurer's office to learn about their own taxes—thereby taking precious time of the office personnel.

Rest assured, however, that the problem of taxes is not only a local one. The following editorial appeared in the Anoka County Union.

Those of us who were rather happily looking at the real estate taxes and noted with some gaiety that school taxes would be down by some 35 mills and that county taxes would be down and that municipal taxes would drop a bit, can now face reality. In Coon Rapids a blanket reassessment of residential property was accomplished and this means, despite the lower mill rates, that those who paid $800 in taxes on a home a year ago, can look at about $880 or more next year...Mill rates may drop but more and more is being spent...And those who have sought office on a hold-the-line basis on taxes are going to be frustrated before they even start holding office. .We have said for some time that the line should be held on real estate taxes, .But only when spending is held down, will taxes be held down too ..We feel sure that some of the services that some think the people want could be eliminated...

No Longer Fringe

Many of today's workers, when asked what their jobs mean to them and their security, frequently think only in terms of the wages they earn.

However, if these workers had to pay for all the benefits they now receive as part of their jobs—and for which their employers are paying—their paychecks would be reduced by more than one-fourth, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States reports.

These employee benefits, which long ago outgrew the term "fringe benefits," now average 27.9 per cent of employer payrolls. In terms of dollars and cents, this means that for every $100 in wages a worker is paid, his employer provides additional benefits averaging $27.90.

The latest National Chamber survey shows that the 1,115 companies which participated were paying an average of over 98 cents per payroll-hour for employee benefits last year. This represents an increase of 330 per cent in benefits over a 20-year period, and is 19 per cent higher than the 1967 figure.

These benefits include not only payments of the employer's portion of legally required programs, such as social security and unemployment and workmen's compensation; but also a wide variety of voluntary benefits. Chief among these are pensions and insurance, rest periods and sick leave, vacations, holidays and other time not worked; and special bonuses, awards and profit-sharing plans.

Ninety-nine per cent of the surveyed companies reported payments for various kinds of insurance. Life, sickness, accident and hospitalization.

Pension payments were also widely reported, with 86 per cent of the firms maintaining such programs for their employees.

The National Chamber's survey shows nonmanufacturing firms, on the whole, paying a higher average amount for benefits than manufacturers. Average annual figures for these two categories are $2,181 and $1,965, respectively.

Among nonmanufacturers, the highest total benefits were reported by public utility companies, averaging $2,551 a year. The petroleum industry led manufacturing firms with average benefits of $2,938.

The dramatic growth of employee benefits is further illustrated in a comparison of benefits paid by 146 firms, which also participated in the National Chamber's survey of 20 years ago.

In 1949, these companies were paying benefits averaging $547 a year per employee. Last year, these same firms had raised average benefits to an equivalent of $2,498 annually, an increase of 357 per cent.

With these impressive figures, there is no wonder the term "fringe benefits" no longer adequately describes what has become an increasingly important adjunct to the average worker's job.

In Just 10 Years . . .

Fantastic speed of technological advancement is difficult to comprehend, and the U.S. space program is one of the main indicators. As pointed out in the following feature from the National Aeronautics and Space administration in Washington, D.C., much has transpired in this pioneer field.

"Tell us what it was really like in the good old days of space flight."

"Well, it was like this," Alan Shepard will be able to say with equanimity to his fellow astronauts, Command Pilot Stuart A. Roosa and Lunar Module Pilot Edgar D. Mitchell, who will fly with him in Apollo 14 when it lifts off from Cape Kennedy, January 31.

Shepard was the first American in space when he went aloft in May, 1961, in his Mercury spacecraft, Freedom 7. His two cohorts weren't even in the space program then. As a matter of fact they didn't come aboard until the United States had worked its way through the Mercury and Gemini manned space flight programs. This makes them third generation astronauts.

So Shepard can say to his crew, "See that Saturn V launch vehicle? Well, it can place 60 of my old Mercury spacecraft into orbit in a single launch."

"I was launched into space with a Redstone missile with a thrust of 78,000 pounds—remarkable rocket power for just ten years ago. The baby we're going to ride, the mighty Saturn V, the world's most powerful rocket, has a thrust of 7,500,000 pounds."

"And you see that Apollo 14 spacecraft. It weighs more than 100,000 pounds, and it will carry the three of us. My Mercury weighed only 2,100 pounds and I flew solo."

"Furthermore," Shepard might continue, "the Saturn is going to launch us to the Moon at top speeds of more than 25,000 miles-per-hour. My Mercury flight travelled at a snail's pace, only 5,100 miles-per-hour."

Shepard was weightless for five minutes during his 303-mile-long, 116-mile-high suborbital mission. "That's how it all began, meager beginnings, indeed," Shepard can add, "but look at what it leads to — our lunar flight, if all goes well, will take us more than a million miles."

The contrast with the old days is going to be difficult for third generation astronauts to fully appreciate; after all, they've been weaned on Apollo, but for Alan Shepard, who cut his space teeth on Mercury, he'll know the difference when he feels the gut-rumble of the mighty Saturn V on January 31.

Thot's A Switch

Just how far have we "advanced" in this so-called "civilized" society which we speak of with such great pride? Here is one indication.

The Blue Cross "Wire Digest" reports that in the two months since New York's liberalized state abortion law went into effect, at least 11,288 abortions have been performed in New York City hospitals.

Some side effects of the new law, the "Digest" said, are complaints by physicians of bed shortages and less operating room time for patients with other medical needs; restrictions by some municipal and voluntary hospitals against performing abortions on out-of-state women; and long waits of up to eight weeks for women who cannot afford a private hospital and must seek municipal hospital care.

Two private hospitals, Park East and Park West, report the highest number of abortions in the city—with 70 to 80 a day.

Charles Price, consultant administrator for the two hospitals, predicted that his institutions could handle 35,000 abortions a year and added that Park East will become "a special hospital" in abortions.

This is how far we have advanced in civilized society—to the stage where wholesale termination of life has become a medical specialty.

Sauce It With Fresh Cranberries

Those first of the season fresh cranberries coming to your market now are at the peak of flavor and color. Make them the basis of a delicious topping for your favorite breakfast fare. This easy-to-make fresh Cranberry Lemon Sauce turns convenience foods such as frozen waffles, hot cakes and French toast, into gourmet fare.

Cranberries are a snap to freeze, and will keep their bright red appearance until you are ready to use them in your favorite recipes. Simply pop some extra bags or boxes of berries, unopened, into the freezer. No need to wash. When ready to use, do not thaw berries. Just rinse quickly and use whole, chopped or ground, for any recipe calling for fresh cranberries.

4 cups (1 pound) Ocean Spray fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained	1 lemon, seeded and finely chopped

Combine cranberries, water and sugar. Add lemon and nutmeg. Simmer until cranberries are tender, about 10 minutes after mixture starts to boil. Stir in butter until it melts. Spoon hot over pancakes, waffles or French toast.

Chutney — 1/2 cup chopped chutney

Free Lunch Rules Adopted By Most Schools In U. S.

The U.S. department of agriculture said that an informal survey of all states last week indicated that a substantial majority of the nation's schools have already complied with new federal rules requiring approved free and reduced price lunch policy statements by January 1.

The requirement is part of Public Law 91-248, enacted last May, which broadens and expands the national school lunch and child nutrition acts. Local school food authorities desiring federal foods or cash for school meals after January 1 must announce publicly the standards of eligibility under which needy children will be entitled to free or reduced price lunches. The standards have three mandatory criteria—family income, family size and the number of children in the family attending school or pre school or pre-school day-care centers.

Officials of USDA's food and nutrition service said that most state educational agencies, through which the federally-assisted school lunch and other child feeding programs are administered, reported they have approved policy statements from all affected schools, or were in the final stages of review. In the few instances where actions were lagging, FNS field employees had been working closely with state agencies to assure their meeting the New Year deadline.

After January 1, any school children from a family whose annual income is at or below the "income poverty guidelines" prescribed by the secretary of agriculture must be served a free or reduced price lunch in participating schools.

The income poverty guidelines for the 1970-71 school year were announced by USDA on August 4. For a family of four members, the income poverty minimum is $3,720 a year in income.

The policy statements, under the law, must be submitted to and approved by state school food service directors. FNS wired the state agencies that school food authorities that did not have an approved policy by the close of business December 31 were to be notified in writing that the 10-day notice of termination of their agreements, as provided in operating agreements, is being invoked starting January 1. This will mean that no reimbursement from Federal funds will be made for lunches, nor can USDA-donated foods be used in lunches served after January 1.

FNS officials said that if the schools receiving these notifications submit and obtain approval of their policy statements before the termination date, the termination notice will be withdrawn, and lunches served in the interim period would be reimbursed if they meet program requirements.

The rules apply both to schools participating in the national school lunch program which serve the complete Type A lunch, and to the so-called "commodity-only" schools which get no cash reimbursement but use USDA-donated foods to serve meals that may meet somewhat less stringent nutritional requirements.

State Farmers Use 1.3 Million Tons Fertilizer

Minnesota farmers used 1.3 million tons of commercial fertilizer in the fiscal year ended last June 30, according to a report from the Minnesota department of agriculture.

That was [illegible] reduction from the amount of fertilizer used the previous year, but was nearly six per cent greater than the amount used in 1968, the state's record crop production year, Acting Commissioner Roy D. Carlson said.

Minnesota was one of 27 states to cut fertilizer consumption in 1970. The state, 15th in the nation in land area, dropped from ninth to 11th in use of commercial fertilizer. Ranking ahead of Minnesota, in order, are Illinois, California, Iowa, Texas, Georgia, Florida, Indiana, North Carolina, Missouri and Ohio.

Sharpest reductions in Minnesota were recorded in the phosphate fertilizers under scrutiny for possible hazard as pollutants damaging the environment. Cutbacks in the five categories of phosphate fertilizers ranged from 25 to 45 per cent. Minnesota also is one of 21 states that discontinued all use of sodium nitrate fertilizers.

Primary plant nutrient materials—nitrogen, phosphorus and potash mixtures—continued to account for almost one third of the total fertilizer used in Minnesota, although volume was [illegible].

Potassium chloride 50-62 per cent supplanted anhydrous ammonia in second place. Minnesota ranks fourth and sixth nationally in the respective use of these.

Sales of natural organic fertilizers decreased by 25 per cent, to 3,951 tons.

Minnesota farmers increased the use of only four categories of fertilizer among the 17 groups evaluated. The four are urea, other nitrogens, potash chloride 50-62 per cent and other potashes.

Early Research On Corn Borers Proves Its Value

Minnesota farmers may have saved as much as $13 million this year by heeding recommendations which resulted from University of Minnesota research 20 years ago.

"In 1949 the second brood of the European corn borer caused large economic losses in the state. At that time the insect was newly established in Minnesota and we knew little about it," says H. C. Chiang, entomologist at the university.

Research conducted in 1949 by Chiang and A. C. Hodson, another university entomologist, established the relationship between weathering due to delayed harvesting and increased ear droppage and stalk breakage at harvesting. Their results showed that when the corn crop is hit heavily by second brood borers, farmers should harvest the crop early to avoid harvest losses.

In September of 1970 field checks showed an unusually high second brood borer infestation in southern Minnesota. On the basis of knowledge gained through the 1949 research, the entomologists knew that if farmers delayed picking as in most years, heavy harvest losses would result. So extension entomologists used news stories and radio programs to encourage early picking.

With the level of borer population in the fall of 1970, it was estimated that harvest waste would be about five per cent if done at the normal time and much higher if done late. But losses would have been nill if harvesting had been done early, Chiang adds.

If all state farmers could have heeded the early harvest recommendations, they would have avoided a potential loss of 13 million bushels of corn or about $13 million in the southern Minnesota corn growing area. This is assuming that a potential five per cent loss was avoided.

There were no infestations of second brood borers serious enough to cause economic damages between the years 1949 and 1970. But a research project which was initiated to gain basic biological knowledge about the corn borer paid off in practical terms 20 years later.

School Board Hears Report, Opens Bids

Preliminary progress report on alternative school plant development plans were presented by Dr. Charles H. Sederberg at the Thief River Falls board of education meeting Thursday evening. Dr. Sederberg is director of the bureau of field studies and surveys for the University of Minnesota, which has been contracted by the local board of education to review the local district's situation and prepare a report.

Dr. Sederberg's report took a large portion of the meeting which was extended due to debate and deliberation on several questions. Among these were the awarding of bids for three new buses, payment of annual dues in the Chamber of Commerce and installation of a new program in the area vocational-technical school.

After lengthy discussion of the school bus bids, the board voted to purchase three Fords with automatic transmissions and automatic radiator shutters from Tunberg Motor company at a total price of $17,880. The price included $390 for the radiator shutters. Low bid without the shutters was submitted by Northern Chevrolet at $16,947. The board accepted the higher bid to obtain the radiator shutters which were not available on the Chevrolet.

There were six bidders for the bus bodies with the board awarding contracts for two Carpenter bodies at $4,650 each and one Thomas body at $5,110. Each body was to be equipped with thermopane windows and crash padding as options at additional cost. The two trade-in buses will go to the Carpenter company.

In voting on the two motions, [illegible] voted as opposed on acceptance of the Tunberg bid and Wallace Sparby voted as opposed on the bus body bid.

At a special meeting Friday at 5 p.m., however, the board changed its decision and awarded contracts for two buses to Tunberg Motors and one to Northern Motors. One Ford is to be equipped with automatic transmission and the other with five-speed standard transmission, both to have automatic radiator shutters, with a total cost of $10,960. The Chevrolet will have automatic transmission and cost $5,949.

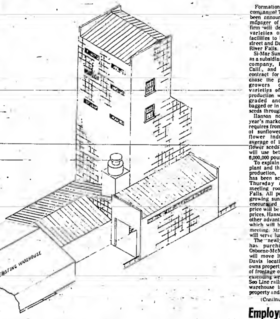
ELECTED to the board of directors of Union state bank at the annual stockholders' meeting last week was Mervin D. Prestebak. All present officers and directors were reelected, according to J. J. Womack, president, who said that Prestebak's appointment "complements the agricultural [illegible] board of directors". Prestebak is a grain and cattle farmer in addition to being a road contractor, and serves as chairman of the Thief River Falls board of education. He is married and has four daughters.

Si-Mar Sunflower Co. To Begin Construction



A NEW INDUSTRY for Thief River Falls will be housed in this complex to be completed by May 1 for Si-Mar Sunflower company. The Osborne-McMillan elevator will be moved to a site at Sixth street and Davis avenue and connected to an existing warehouse there by a 30x40 building. Additions will also be connected to the elevator itself. Si-Mar Sunflower company will contract for the production of confectionery varieties of sunflowers in this area.

Formation of Si-Mar Sunflower company of Thief River Falls has been announced by Si Hanson, manager of the company. The firm will deal in confectionery varieties of sunflowers with facilities to be located at Sixth street and Davis avenue in Thief River Falls.

Si-Mar Sunflowers will operate as a subsidiary of the Ed J. Lyng company, Inc., of Modesta, Calif., and will deal in seed, contract for acreage and purchase the production of local growers of confectionery varieties of sunflowers. Fall production will be cleaned and graded and shipped either bagged or in bulk to users of the seeds throughout the nation.

Hanson notes that the first year's market for the local plant requires from 5,000 to 6,000 acres of sunflowers. Since the sunflower industry figures an average of 1,000 pounds of sunflower seeds per acre, the plant will use between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 pounds of seed this fall.

To explain the operation of the plant and the contracts for 1971 production, a sign-up meeting has been scheduled for 2 p.m. Thursday at the Rex cafe meeting room in Thief River Falls. All persons interested in growing sunflowers in 1971 are encouraged to attend. Contract price will be above 1970 contract prices, Hanson said, with several other advantages to the contract which will be explained at the meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Hanson will serve lunch at the meeting.

The newly-formed company has purchased the former Osborne-McMillan elevator and will move it to the Sixth and Davis location. The company owns property with about 250 feet of frontage on Davis avenue and extending west from Davis to the Soo Line railroad tracks. A 40x30 warehouse is currently on the property and a 40x30 building will

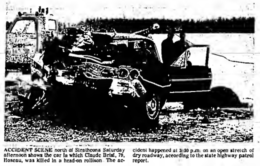
Four Die In Highway Crash



ACCIDENT SCENE north of Strathcona Saturday afternoon shows the car in which Claude Brist, 79, Roseau, was killed in a head-on collision. The accident happened at 3:30 p.m. on an open stretch of dry roadway, according to the state highway patrol report.

THREE PERSONS riding in this car were killed Saturday afternoon in a head-on collision on highway 32 about a mile north of Strathcona. Dead are Mrs. Gilbert Peter (Janet) Olson, 23, Middle River; Chester Arlo Olson, 28, and Mrs. Chester (Janice) Olson, 23, rural Strathcona.

Four persons were killed and a fifth seriously injured about 3:30 p.m. Saturday in a two-car, head-on collision north of Strathcona on highway 32. The accident happened on an open stretch of dry roadway, according to the Minnesota highway patrol, which conducted the investigation.

Dead at the scene were Claude Brist, 79, Roseau, driver of one of the two cars, and Chester Arlo Olson, 28, Middle River. Dead on arrival at Greenbush community hospital were Mrs. Chester (Janice) Olson, 23, and Mrs. Gilbert Peter (Janet) Olson Jr., 23, rural Strathcona. Seriously injured and hospitalized at Greenbush is Gilbert Peter Olson Jr., driver of the second car.

Dr. L. H. Kiefstad of the Greenbush community hospital told the Times this morning that Gilbert Peter Olson Jr. suffered severe head injuries and facial lacerations and is still in serious condition, although he was showing signs of improvement this morning. There were also severe injuries of the extremities, he said, but no fractures requiring immobilization had been determined.

According to the highway patrol report, the Brist car was traveling north on highway 32 and the Olson vehicle was southbound. Brist's car came to rest on the roadway following the crash while the Olson car spun into the snow-filled ditch.

An ambulance from the Collins Funeral home at Middle River came upon the scene and rushed two of the victims to Greenbush. Ambulances were later summoned from Roseau and Karlstad.

Combined funeral services for Mr. and Mrs. Chester Olson and Mrs. Gilbert Peter Olson will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. from First Lutheran church in Middle River with Rev. Donald Fredine officiating. Visitation hours will begin at the Collins Funeral home in Middle River after 2 p.m. Tuesday but the caskets will be closed.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Olson are survived by three children and Mrs. Gilbert Peter Olson by two children, all of pre-school age. Complete obituaries will be published in the Wednesday edition of the Times.

Conflict On Fuel Bids Is Resolved

Calm has settled over the great oil conflict.

At the regular January 13 meeting, Thief River Falls city council was notified by representatives of the American Oil company (Standard) and [illegible] the two companies had agreed to be co-contractors for the city's supply of fuel oil for the coming year. Both companies turned in bids of 14.3 cents per gallon for the annual meeting January 5, raising the question of what to do when two firms submit the low bid.

The oil companies still agreed to the price of 14.3 cents. They will deliver the oil to city tanks on an alternating monthly basis.

Business also enacted at the meeting included confirmation of the reappointments of Gene Beito, Merle Smith and Mrs. Stan Dahlen to the city library board. Mayor A. E. Jacobson made the initial reappointments.

The council also heard the first reading of an ordinance annexing 59 acres of land to the city. The land, located west of the city, is presently owned by Randall Noper and Dan Helle.

Thief River Falls' proposed snowmobile ordinance received its first reading at the meeting, then was discussed at some length by council members and two representatives of local snowmobilers. The discussion

$15,000 Grant Given To TRF Foundation

(Editor's Note: The following summary of the Thief River Falls Foundation scholarship association was written by Robert J. Lund, vice president and one of the original founders of the organization.)

Thief River Falls Foundation is the recipient of a $15,000 gift under terms of the will of the late Judge Paul A. Lundgren. Judge Lundgren was one of the main organizers of the foundation, and a very enthusiastic supporter. With the inclusion of this bequest, the assets of the foundation total $42,753 as of December 1, 1970.

According to the records of the foundation, L. B. Hartz, who was chairman of the Thief River Falls Rotary club student loan activities in 1956-57, had contacted Judge Lundgren, suggesting that a corporation be formed to ad[illegible] loans to needy students on a community wide basis. The Rotary Club did not have a student loan fund of its own.

It was then upon the invitation of Mr. Hartz that a meeting of a group of men consisting of Paul A. Lundgren, L. B. Hartz, F. A. Rinkel, Robert J. Lund, Wm. E. Dahlquist, F. E. Tunberg, E. O. Peterson, Dr. Milton R. Starckow, Wm LaFave and O. G. Ekeren was held in the chambers of Judge Lundgren in the Pennington county court house on Jan. 15, 1957. Six of these men were members of the Rotary club.

As the result of several meetings held by this group of men, who became the original incorporators, the Articles of Incoporation and by-laws of the foundation were adopted on Sept. 5, 1957, and filed with the secretary of state. The Articles of Incorporation were later amended which provided that "no donation or bequest shall be received or administered by the foundation which shall in any manner conflict with the purposes for which this corporation was formed, or violate or impair the status of the foundation as a tax exempt corporation under the laws of the State of Minnesota or under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954." No member of the board of directors, excepting the secretary-treasurer, is permitted to receive any compensation what-so-ever for his services.

First officers of the foundation were [illegible] president; L. B. Hartz, vice president; F. E. Tunberg, secretary; and Robert J. Lund, treasurer. The first student loan of $750 was made and approved on Aug. 11, 1958. Hartz reported to the Rotary club in August of 1959 that the fund had grown to $3,721.86. Loans totaling $2,250 had been made to five students; the largest loan of $1,000 was made to a young man to enable him to take his third year of college work at the University of Vienna.

Since 1958 a total of approximately $90,000 in loans have been made to students for advanced educational study together with several scholarship grants. The foundation also made an outright grant of $2,000 to the Northwestern hospital to assist in establishing a department of physical therapy at the hospital, which department is functioning today. The grant to the hospital was made possible through the $10,000 bequest from the F. A. Rinkel estate.

The by-laws provided for an advisory committee on nominations for members of the board of directors. This committee consists of the county board of commissioners and county auditor, the board of

Employment Hits Record Level In TRF In December

Minnesota Department of Manpower Services Thief River Falls office reports that record high employment levels were reached in Thief River Falls during December.

The number of employed workers reached 5,990, an increase of 613 since the high of 5,389 employed in September. A gain of 505 workers in the manufacturing complex, despite the halt in poultry processing, made the greatest contribution to employment. Retail trade, with a gain of 47 workers, and government, with an added 85 workers (adjusted to compensate for an erroneous figure in the September report) also supplied a portion of the new jobs.

Unemployed workers, though in short supply, are mostly highly skilled construction workers who are seasonally unemployed, and workers from the local turkey processing plant, which has ceased operations for the season. The supply of workers is expected to increase when processing at area sugar beet plants is completed for the season.

New-Member Is Welcomed By Sun-Brite Club

Mrs. Carl Anderson was welcomed into the Sun Brite garden club as a new member at the regular meeting of the club held Tuesday at the Edgar Napiln home.

President Mrs. William Kruse presided at the meeting. Roll call was answered by naming the favorite floral fragrance. Mentioned most often was the lilac and rose. The new garden creed, to be used for the year, was read by the hostess. Also added to the club's activities for the year, was the secret pal system of adding cheer to the lives of a member whose name was selected at a drawing. Members of the club also voted to give a memorial in memory of Don Hoag of NDSU, who died recently.

The program for the afternoon featured a showing of slides of popular annual garden flowers grown in Minnesota. Gladys Person was in charge of the showing. In addition to these, many slides featured views of test plots owned by a large seed company, and slides taken by Mrs. William Kruse of Ak-Sar-Ben gardens.

The next meeting of the Sun Brite club will be held Tuesday, February 2, at the Arlo Scholin home.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

Mrs. L. A. Meyer
811 Duluth Avenue North

What better way to begin a series of recipes during this diamond jubilee year than by publishing a recipe from Mrs. L. A. Meyer, who was born in rural Thief River Falls the year the city was incorporated. (Mrs. Meyer stated that her husband was also born in rural Thief River Falls that same year.)

Although she lived in rural Thief River Falls until about four years ago, Mrs. Meyer recalls visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John N. Whitman, Sr., who lived where the Thief River Falls creamery is now located. The Whitmans were originally from Massachusetts. They came to Thief River Falls from Ottertail county in 1884. When she came here Mrs. Whitman brought many recipes and traditions from her home in Massachusetts. Many of these have been handed down and are still used today. Mrs. Whitman maintained the Eastern family tradition of serving home-made beans and steamed brown bread every Saturday evening.

We are grateful to Mrs. Meyer for sharing this old recipe for steamed brown bread with the readers of Kitchen Karnival.

Brown Bread

- 3 cups sour milk or buttermilk
- ½ cup molasses
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 2 teaspoons soda
- 3 cups graham or whole wheat flour
- 1½ cups corn meal
- 1 teaspoon salt

Method: Sift sugar, corn meal, soda and salt together. Set aside. Combine molasses and sour milk add dry ingredients, together with the unsifted whole wheat flour. Grease coffee cans or ungrooved tin cans and fill about half. Cover cans tightly (two thicknesses of aluminum foil, tied securely with a string) and steam for three hours. Remove from steam and bake in a 350 degree oven for about 10 or 15 minutes. Remove from tins, slice and serve with baked beans.

While discussing cooking and baking methods with Mrs. Meyers, she stated that not too long ago, they had rented a cabin furnished with a wood-burning stove with instructions for building a fire. She said that in her childhood, many of the cookstoves, or ranges, as they were later known, were equipped with ovens without a heat gauge. One of the methods of gauging the heat in the oven was by placing their hand into the oven and counting up to a certain number. If the hand had to be removed before reaching that number, the oven was too hot. While baking, if the oven became too hot, a sheet of brown wrapping paper (a much heavier grade than is used today) was spread over the cake or bread to prevent burning. The oven doors were also equipped with notches so the door could be opened slightly, letting the heat escape. Dampers in the stove pipe and below the fire box helped control the fire and oven heat.

Housewives in those days were experts in selecting the size and kind of wood for their needs. Wood for various purposes was selected with great care, such as cedar for kindling or quick fires, dried poplar for on-top-of-the-stove cooking, well cured pine for baking, and tamarack for long-burning, to keep the fire going until time to prepare the next meal.

Mrs. Meyers also recalled that her maternal grandparents, the Simon Warrings, also resided here. Originally from New York and Pennsylvania, they came to Thief River Falls in 1882 from southern Minnesota. Grandmother Warring was a staunch believer in the Pennsylvanian tradition that no meal was complete unless it included seven sweets and seven sours. Contrary to the belief that people in those days were obese, most of them were not as their diets included meats, homegrown vegetables and wild fruits and berries.

The Meyer family includes five children, all grown. One daughter, Mrs. Bert Kron lives near Rosewood, and the others reside in Colorado, South Dakota and Iowa. Their only son lives in South Dakota. Sixteen grandchildren and one great-grandchild completes the family circle.

Before retiring and moving into this city, the Meyers farmed in the Steiner community.

Add 537 Phones To Bring Total Here To 6,420

Northwestern Bell Telephone company has earmarked in excess of $134 million for new facilities to meet the growing communications needs of its Minnesota customers in 1971, Wayne L. Huffman, vice president, announced today.

D. L. Lindquist, local manager, said 1970 was a busy year for telephone employees serving this area and that 1971 will be even busier.

"We added 537 phones in Thief River Falls through November to bring the total to 6,420, and we see no let up this year," he said.

Huffman said the record budget will be used for outside plant and dial switching facilities, for placing additional local and long distance underground cables and wire, for expansion of direct dialing of long distance calls to more customers, for new calling arrangements between communities and for a host of other service improvements.

During 1970, Northwestern Bell added 88,000 telephones in Minnesota, and the company estimates a similar number will be installed this year. By the end of 1970, it was serving 919,000 Minnesota customers and 1,805,000 telephones.

The company also handled 93 million long distance messages in the past year and expects the calling load to increase in 1971.

On a statewide basis, Northwestern Bell placed 93 per cent of [illegible] underground during the past year to safeguard the service as well as for employee safety and beautification. The company added 2,900 miles of new cable and now has nearly 30,000 miles of such facilities throughout the state.

"During 1970, the cost of telephone operations in Minnesota continued to grow while return on the operations reflected the general decline in economic conditions and business activity," Huffman said. "Unless there is a substantial upturn in over-all business activity plus a lessening of inflationary pressures, we might well expect the same to hold true this year."

The money programmed annually by Northwestern Bell for new plant and equipment has more than doubled in Minnesota over the past five years and may pass the $200 million mark annually by 1975. Total value of plant investment in the state is expected to reach $1 billion before the end of 1972 and the $2 billion mark within the following 10 years.

Data transmission and long distance calling volumes are rising rapidly. These, as well as the growing importance of the telephone in homes and businesses are factors creating service demands far greater than those of any previous era.

Laurel Art Club Hears Mitten Tree Report

Report on the successful mitten tree project was given at the meeting of the Laurel art club held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Mittelstadt.

It was reported that 26 pairs of mittens, two scarves and a knitted cap had been placed on the tree. Among them was a pair of mittens from a donor at Alverado who sends a pair every year. Although the project is sponsored by the Laurel club, donations were received from other clubs and interested individuals. Members of the club expressed their appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. R. Mehlhoff for again providing space at Elaine's for the tree.

Ten members attended the meeting. Recipes for preparing turkey were distributed and while members worked on incompleted projects, projects for the new year were discussed.

1,246 Receive SDA Welfare Aid During Year

Welfare society of the Seventh-day Adventist church gave assistance in some form to 1,246 area people during 1970, according to the society's yearly report.

The welfare group gave 8,203 articles of clothing to needy persons, as well as bedding and food in some cases. Three families which were the victims of home fires were aided by the society.

In addition, 21 food baskets were distributed to needy families at Christmas. The canned goods contained in the baskets were collected from homes in Thief River Falls by young people who solicited canned foods at Halloween, rather than engaging in the traditional "trick or treating."

Mrs. Leo Herber, 1970 Welfare Center president, reaffirmed that the center is here to help the community. The center personnel also expressed thanks to the public for help given the society during 1970. Among those deserving special thanks, according to the society, were individuals who contributed used clothing, merchants who contributed new clothing, and those who contributed canned foods or cash.

Mrs. Eugene Howes has accepted the position of society leader for 1971. Persons wishing to contact her concerning anyone who needs assistance or anyone who is willing to offer assistance to the society may call her at 681-4007. Mrs. Floyd Borgen is secretary of the welfare society.

TRF Postmaster Comments On Snow, Tax Forms

If you expect to receive your mail on time, keep that sidewalk clear of snow and ice.

Thief River Falls postmaster James Dryden has reminded postal patrons that "to insure delivery of mail snow must be promptly removed to provide a clear and unobstructed path from your mail box to the street. The ridge left by the city snow plows as well as compacted snow and snow covered patches of ice on steps and sidewalks are especially dangerous.

"Carriers have been injured in the past delivering mail where these conditions exist. As a result they will no longer be required to do so. Please provide a safe walkway promptly so that your carrier can deliver your mail."

The postmaster also notes that many patrons may not be aware of a restriction on the mailing of income tax returns. According to Dryden "where more than one tax return is mailed in a single envelope, each return constitutes a separate letter. They may not be mailed in one package by a compensated representative of the taxpayer unless the package or envelope is endorsed on the outside to show the number of tax returns enclosed and enough postage is paid to cover the first-class rate on each return."

Salt To Control Ice On Roads Is Determined Best

Minnesota Commissioner of Highways N. T. Waldor today, in answer to the many inquiries relating to use of salt for snow and ice control, released the following quotation from a recent report of the joint highway executive committee comprised of state legislators concerned with studying highway problems during the current interim between legislative sessions.

"At the present time salt is the most economical and effective de-icer available. It does not appear practical to abandon its use and suffer the consequences of greatly increased winter traffic accidents resulting in more deaths and injuries. This committee urges the department of highways and other road and street authorities to keep salt applications at the lowest levels possible consistent with the need to create safe winter driving conditions. It also encourages the department to continue searching for more acceptable means of control and to keep the legislature informed on the progress of research efforts to identify and evaluate salt pollution problems."

In response to these comments, Commissioner Waldor stated that the Minnesota highway department will continue to search for other, less damaging chemicals to control ice and packed snow. He also pointed out that so far there appears to be no satisfactory substitute for salt.

In conjunction with the above assurance, Waldor cited the highway department's great responsibility to the traveling public for maintaining safe driving surfaces and requested the public to understand the position of the highway department in coping with this complex problem. "The highway department policy will be to continue, as it has in the past, to maintain pavements on the trunk highway and freeway system in a clear, dry condition—with the minimum amount of sand and salt required to prevent the accumulation and persistence of dangerous icy and slippery surface conditions."

Inspect tire exterior regularly for excessive or abnormal wear, fabric breaks, and cuts. Remove imbedded foreign matter.

School Board Hears Report And Opens Bids

Question on Chamber of Commerce dues payment was raised by Samuelson as the board reviewed bills to be paid. Last year the district paid $100 annual dues which covered membership for the superintendent, administrative assistant and each of the principals in the district, and the billing was for renewal of membership.

After debate regarding the objectives of the Chamber of Commerce in the community, and several other questions regarding other bills presented, the board approved payment of the bills with Samuelson opposed and Kenneth Murphy abstaining from voting. An amendment by Samuelson to approve payment of the bills with the exception of the $100 failed for want of a second.

Approved by the board was an agriculture program for post high school young men interested in farming. It will be run through the area vocational-technical school and will include six months of classroom instruction and six months of on the farm application of skills.

Question of closing the swimming pool during Christmas vacation was raised. Dale Folger, pool director, explained that the pool must be closed at some time during the year for maintenance, including draining the filters and painting the pipes. He said the Christmas vacation period is the period of least use for the pool—about one-tenth the use during the summer months. He did not expect that the pool needed to be closed more than once during the year, he said.

New Sunflower Company Will Start In City

be constructed to connect the elevator with the warehouse. The elevator has a capacity of about 750,600 pounds of sunflower seeds.

Precision grading and cleaning equipment has been ordered, since the sunflowers purchased must be graded to extremely close tolerances. The company will market three different grades of sunflowers and will contract only for edible varieties.

Hanson expects the firm to employ a total of about seven people during the peak season this fall.

"But we certainly have plans for expansion," he said. "We are establishing the initial plant and equipment which we will need for operations this year. We are confident, however, that the market will increase and that we can grow to meet more of it. Capacity of the equipment ordered is far in excess of the quantity of sunflowers we expect to handle this year. We also have acquired sufficient property to permit future construction."

Hanson has raised sunflowers for a number of years on his farm east of Thief River Falls and is convinced of their ability to produce profitably for farmers in this area. "With grain prices as they are today and support prices dropping for feed grains, sunflowers should look all the more attractive to farmers this year," he said. "We hope to get a good turnout at our sign-up meeting Thursday."

Interest among individuals who he has talked to in the past several months has been very good, Hanson added.

Construction of the warehouse and moving of the elevator is expected to be completed by May 1. In the meantime, Si-Mar Sunflowers will maintain its office in the area formerly occupied by the motor vehicle license bureau at 101 East Second street.

Conflict On Fuel Bids Resolved By City Council

resulted in a minor change in the ordinance, providing a clause banning the operation of snowmobiles from sidewalks within the city.

A reorganizational plan for the police department, submitted by chief Roland E. Waller, was tentatively approved by the council. Major changes in the structure of the force include the termination of Bren as tentatively been appointed to the new position pending a decision on the legality of the change in department structure.

The police department organization suggested begins with the position of chief at the top, then deputy chief, then special investigator and juvenile officer and then the sergeants of the three shifts, each with his subordinate patrolmen. While no official council decision has been reached concerning a possible increase in pay for the deputy chief, the proposal by the chief suggests that the duty chief receive $762 per month, $10 per month more than the special investigator.

Councilmen then voted for the construction of an alley between LaBree and Main avenues in the 1200 block north, when weather permits.

As a routine action, the council passed its annual resolution requesting technical assistance from the Minnesota department of highways.

Next meeting for the council is scheduled January 19. Business at the meeting will include the second reading of the proposed snowmobile ordinance and a possible decision concerning the proposed position of deputy police chief.

Oakland Park Is Certified By Dep't. Of Health

Oakland Park Nursing home has been certified by the Minnesota department of health to operate a "Class I" intermediate care facility of 65 beds for the 1971 year, according to L. W. Larson, administrator. The home is operated by Marshall and Pennington counties.

According to regulations, Class I intermediate care provides "those services suitable to the needs of individuals who, because of their physical or mental limitations, or both, require living accommodations and care that, as a practical matter, can be made available to them only through institutional facilities and who do not have such an illness, disease, injury or other condition as to require the degree of care and treatment that a hospital or skilled nursing home provides."

Pennington 4-H Has Delegates At Leaders' Forum

Mrs. Wilbur Hallstrom and Mrs. Ronald Tollefson of the Black River 4-H club will be among about a hundred adults from throughout the state expected to attend the third 4-H leaders' forum at the St. Paul Hotel today through Thursday.

Purpose of the forum is to help adults become more effective 4-H leaders by gaining a better understanding of youth and learning how to establish lines of communication with them. The forum also provides an opportunity for the volunteer 4-H leaders to express their perception of needs in the 4-H program and to suggest ways to meet them, according to Juanita Fehlhafer, assistant state leader, 4-H and youth development at the University of Minnesota.

A program of speeches, discussions and tours is scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday. Registration will begin at 4 p.m. Monday in the St. Paul hotel.

To acquaint the 4-H leaders with the workings of state government, Thursday has been designated as a legislative day. Leaders will invite their representatives in the House and Senate to be their guests at breakfast. A program on Capitol Hill following the breakfast will give leaders information about the legislative process and the problems facing Minnesota state government in the future.

The forum is sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck foundation in cooperation with the University of Minnesota's agricultural extension service.

Sheriff's Dept. Notes Break-Ins

Investigation of two break-ins last week was carried out by officers of the Pennington county sheriff's department.

Approximately $600 worth of frozen meat, clothes, tools, cigarettes, coffee, and baby food, and $16 cash, were taken from the St. Hilaire Hartz store during a break-in during the early morning of January 7. The burglary was discovered by Vern Lindquist, manager of the store. Entry had been gained by forcing a screen door lock, then forcing the inside door.

Ron's Auto Sales, Thief River Falls, was the victim of a break-in January 8. The lock of the front door of the building was broken, but nothing was taken from the building. Two cars on the lot were vandalized, and the battery cables on a truck on the lot were damaged, but again nothing was reported missing. Ron Phillipp, manager of the lot, reported the incident.

Vicki Olson On Pine City List

Vicki Olson, Rush City, was included on the Pine City Area Vocational-Technical school Director's list for the fall term.

The daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Lindberg, Thief River Falls, is enrolled in the secretarial training program at the school. She was included on the list for achieving grades in the top level of her class.

Ag Day Slated For January 30 At Minn. Tech

FFA and 4-H members and leaders from all over Minnesota and eastern North Dakota will congregate in Crookston on Saturday, January 30, to attend the third annual "Ag Day" sponsored by the division of agriculture of the University of Minnesota technical college.

The program for the day will include judging contests, presentation of awards, swimming and attendance at both a wrestling match and a basketball game between the Tech Trojans and the Fergus Falls junior college Spartans. Participants will have their chance to test their skills in appraising general livestock, dairy, crops, horticulture, wildlife and farm mechanics, and in cow clipping.

All contests will start at 9 a.m. and will be held either on the college campus or at the Red River Valley Winter shows building. Agricultural faculty will serve as judges. Registration will take place at the Winter shows building.

Housing will be provided for those who plan to arrive on Friday evening, according to Erman Ueland, general chairman. Faculty assisting Ueland with general arrangements are Truman Tilleraas, Bruce Beresford and Charles Habstritt Jr.

FFA contestants in dairy, horticulture, farm mechanics and cow clipping who represent Region I will be taking part in their regional judging program. Others will be entering the contests for practice. More than 700 young people attended last year's Ag Day activities.

On a long trip, radio reception can sometimes become weak or full of static. Putting up the antenna will usually improve the quality of reception.

Bell Announces Lights On For Safety Campaign

Northwestern Bell Telephone company has launched a "Lights on for Safety" campaign for company-owned vehicles in Minnesota.

Manager D. L. Lindquist said anyone who drives a company car or truck is instructed to turn on the headlights anytime the vehicle is in motion, day or night.

Besides combating hazardous winter driving conditions, the program is also designed to alert other motorists of an approaching Bell vehicle as well as to remind NWB drivers to drive safely and think safety.

"The 'Lights on for Safety' campaign also ties in with our current plan for gradually changing to a new color scheme for all NWB cars and trucks," he said. "The familiar olive-green vehicles are being replaced by those with lighter colors and reflective striping to increase night visibility of the vehicles.

"So far this year, we have experienced less than one (0.93) accident per 100,000 miles driven in company-owned vehicles," he said. "This compared with the national average for all drivers of 1.46 accidents per 100,000 miles."

Northwestern Bell's fleet of [illegible] cars and trucks [illegible] approximately 25 million miles in Minnesota each year.

Phil Jorgenson Will Sing Role In "Pagliacci"

Rehearsals have begun for the winter quarter opera production of "Pagliacci" by the Bemidji state college music department.

Starring in the BSC production will be Richard Knoll, who will serve as guest artist in the production. Knoll is currently at the University of Missouri, and has performed the part of Canio in "Pagliacci" about 50 times, working with the Chicago Lyric company and other leading midwestern companies.

Other leading performers in the opera will include Linda Wagner of Rochester, who will sing the part of Nedda; Phil Jorgenson of Thief River Falls, singing Tonio; and Gail Hanson of Silver Bay and Mike Guenin of Baudette in the part of Peppe.

"'Pagliacci' is one of the most dramatic works in the Italian opera theatre," states Fulton Gallagher, director. "It consists of a play within a play, and the events outlined in the opera actually happened."

The production will run February 9-10 in Bemidji high school auditorium, with curtain time at 8 p.m. The public is invited and tickets will cost $1.50 for adults and $1 for students. Tickets will go on sale at the BSC business office February 1.

Use Low Beams On Divided Highways

"It has come to our attention," said Minnesota Public Safety Commissioner W. R. Hoaglund, "that some out-state enforcement agencies have been advising drivers to use only high beams when driving on divided highways. This is in direct conflict with Minnesota state law and violators will be subject to arrest.

"Minnesota law requires that headlights be used on low beam when oncoming vehicles approach within 1,000 feet, and when following another vehicle within 200 feet, so that the glaring rays are not projected into the eyes of the other driver.

"This law applies to all cases where the beam of light is not obstructed, as with terrain elevations or tree or shrubbery growth between the traffic roadways. A narrow, flat median strip between roadways does not normally prevent the headlight rays from glaring into the eyes of oncoming traffic.

"We know from experience that many drivers, particularly those at middle age and above, are troubled with bright lights while driving at night. This is evidenced by their slowing down when meeting other cars. There is a better than even chance that bright, high beams could blind an oncoming driver and cause serious injury or death."

Lundeen Herd Tops In County DHIA For Month

Darrow Lundeen's herd, with average per-cow production of 1,394 pounds of 3.7 per cent butterfat milk, or 50.8 pounds of fat, topped the Pennington Dairy Herd Improvement association in November.

Other herds which averaged high enough to be included in the top 10, according to Jerry Hamre, supervisor of the association, included those of Mylo Carlson, which produced 1,038 pounds of milk, 4.3 per cent butterfat, and 45 pounds of fat per cow; Marian Austine, with 1,235 pounds milk, 3.6 per cent, and 44 pounds fat; Martin Hanson, 950, 4.2 and 39.8; Clarence Swanson, 1,093, 3.8, 39.8; Carl and Duane Krohn, 1,616, 3.7, 37.8; Mordy Morrison, 919, 4.1, 37.5; Gene Nelson, 964, 3.8, 36.2; Earl Erickson, 764, 4.7, 36; and James Muzzy, 890, 4, 35.7.

Hamre notes that herd averages are affected by the number of dry cows in the herd. The amount of milk or butterfat produced is averaged out over all the cows in the herd, so that the farmer may have a record of the earning power of the herd for the month. If too many dry cows are included in the herd, than the average for the month may be low, though the lactating cows produce a large quantity of milk. In Pennington county, 38 herds were on test during November. A total of 1,324 cows were tested for production.

Producing over 500 pounds of butterfat during a 305-day or shorter lactation were Chester Gast's cow "Sandy," milked for 305 days, produced 14,940 pounds of milk testing at 3.6 per cent for 545 pounds butterfat; Kermit Swonson's "16", 305 days, 15,280 pounds milk, 3.5 per cent, 533 pounds butterfat; Kermit Finstad's "Nancy 7", 274 days, 14,430 at 4.1 for 595; and Mehrkens Farm Inc. "17A", 290 days, 14,040 at 4.1 for 573.

Others in the over-500-pound category included Gene Nelson's "15WB," 297 days, 12,546 at 4 for 500 pounds, and "13EA", 305 days, 15,146 at 4.2 for 637 pounds; Carl and Duane Krohn's "Nora", 280 days, 16,390 at 3.5 for 575 pounds; and "Flower", 305 days, 17,340, 3.5 for 603 pounds; Harold Sabo's "43", 289 days, 14,970, 3.4, 514 pounds; and "51", 304 days, 13,860, 3.0, 534 pounds; James Muzzy's "Leona", [illegible] days, 14,440, 3.6, 569 pounds; and "Sandy," 294 days, 12,860, 4, 510 pounds;

Also, Martin Hanson's "5A", 305 days, 15,180, 3.0, 542 pounds; Donald Erickson's "18A", 105 days, 12,220, 4.2, 516 pounds; and "15A", 293 days, 14,500, 3.6, 522 pounds. Swanson Brothers, "44N", 283 days, 13,920, 3.9, 545 pounds; and "46GN", 305 days, 15,476, 3.0, 551 pounds. Warren and Lowell Hamrichs "20A", 305 days, 12,360, 4.2, 515 pounds, and Mylo Carlson's "22", 295 days, 16,200, 4.2, 686 pounds; "28", 304 days, 14,480, 3.7, 534 pounds, "32", 264 days, 12,850, 4.4, 566 pounds and "18", 305 days, 12,010, 4.5 and 545 pounds butterfat.

Reviews Concert By Men Of Song

by Sverre Solheim

An audience of Thief River Falls Concert association patrons responded appreciatively to the third program of the series.

Objects of their appreciation were five men who, throughout the evening, gave just cause for the name of their group, "The Men of Song." Individually, each man gave solid proof of his musical ability, including the pianist, who must be given special mention for the excellent manner in which he accompanied the group.

Songs of Beethoven, Mozart and Schubert, songs from Broadway musicals and operas, as well as ballads and American folk songs were sung with equal facility, technical mastery and enthusiasm.

This enthusiasm, along with their showmanship, established a rapport with the audience that manifested itself in three encores.

Members are reminded of the next concert in the series, "The Tucson Boys Choir", on Friday, March 5, at 8:15 p.m.

Austin Clinic Will Work With Drinking Drivers

A special driver improvement clinic dealing with the problems of the drinking driver will open in Austin in February, with a student body made up of persons convicted of driving while intoxicated and other traffic offenses in which alcohol was involved.

The special Austin clinic is modeled on one which has been operating in Phoenix, Arizona for several years, and which has attracted nation-wide attention.

While the new clinic will operate under the Minnesota driver improvement clinic law, it will concentrate on the problems of the drinking driver, using medical men, insurance specialists, and Alcoholics Anonymous members for resource people.

The new clinic will alternate with the regular Austin clinic, one of the first organized in Minnesota. The new program has been undertaken on the initiative of Municipal Judge Fred A. Kralt, who has devoted many years of study to the problem. Administrator will be Deputy Sheriff Nolan Dugan, who also administers the regular clinic.

Also assisting in setting up the clinic is the Austin Auto club. The local club is an affiliate of the American Automobile association which has made a special study of the Phoenix experiment and has produced a 30-minute motion picture of the clinic's operation. Francis B. Dunnigan, chief of the driver training office of the department of public safety, which administers the driver improvement clinic law, has provided guidance for the new program.

Like the regular clinics, the special clinics will involve attendance at nine hours of classes. Tuition is $15. Drivers involved in law violations are assigned by the court to attend the school as part of their sentences. Voluntary attendance is also permitted.

Of assistance in setting up the program is a book about the Phoenix experiment, "Rehabilitation of the Drunken Driver," by Dr. Ernest I. Stewart, Arizona state university professor, who is chief instructor at the Phoenix clinic, and Dr. [illegible], Columbia university professor, who devoted a sabbatical year to studying the program.

Minnesota's school bus safety program is well advanced toward standards which the federal department of transportation is proposing to promulgate this month, Minnesota Public Safety Commissioner W. R. Hoaglund said today.

The department of transportation has decided not to push for improved design of school buses at this time, but is emphasizing safety programs to be carried out by the states and the local school boards.

"An important point in the new standards is inspection of each bus twice annually. Minnesota now insists on at least one annual inspection by the department of public safety. In addition, many local jurisdictions make regular inspections, so that a substantial number of buses are now being inspected more often than twice a year.

"Daily inspection of each bus by the driver before taking it out on his route is another point of the proposed standards. This practice is recommended by the department of public safety and by the school transportation section of the department of education. It is carried out on a voluntary basis by many of the bus operating units, especially the larger ones.

"In another area covered by the new standards, Minnesota requires a school bus driver's license, a written examination and a road test. The license, including a physical examination, must be renewed annually."

23 Per Cent Of Vehicles Found To Be Defective

Of 46,731 trucks, highway tractors, trailers and semitrailers inspected during 1969 by the bureau of motor carrier safety, a surprising 23 per cent were found to be mechanically unsafe and were placed out of service until repairs were made.

"It definitely appears," said Minnesota Public Safety Commissioner W. R. Hoaglund, commenting on the report, "that some type of periodic inspection is indicated, not only for trucks but also for passenger vehicles."

The most common defect found was brakes. Of 8,400 brake-system defects found, over 6,000 were found within service brake application systems. Next to brakes came signal light devices on trailers.

There were also 31,000 driver violations noted, over half of which related to the driver's daily log. Some entries showed violations of maximum driving hours, and some turned up false entries.

"All of these items—defective brakes, signal lights, excessive driving hours, relate directly to safety," Hoaglund continued.

"Accident records show a large percentage of single vehicle crashes. Although the causes of many of these are unknown, experts attribute a high number to over-fatigue on the part of the driver."

"It's stupid to say that genius is merely long-drawn-out patience. Because in the first place patience itself doesn't mean anything—it requires more than patience to get what you want—you must go straight for it. And secondly, there is one kind of genius, perhaps the best and most precious, into which not a grain of patience enters. But there is another kind which is due to effort, a fierce application, and to that, for my part, I pay respect." —Georges Clemenceau

One Squobble Ended

With a decision handed down Wednesday by the Minnesota supreme court, one squabble in the state legislature is ended. The court ruled that Lt. Gov. Rudy Perpich could not vote on organization of the senate and that Sen. Richard Palmer of Duluth must be seated pending result of the suit against him for unfair campaign practices.

The Liberal power play to open the session certainly put the spotlight on the legislature, but we think it did no little harm to respect for our state's lawmakers. With virtually no end of problems and potential problems facing our state, the citizens aren't apt to take too kindly toward legislators playing games on public time.

Sen. Palmer had only recently announced his intention to caucus with the Conservatives for organization of the senate. It is to be recalled that the Liberal leaders had found no fault with him while they were attempting to coax him to the Liberal side. The odor of bad politics wafts all the way to northwestern Minnesota.

One wonders to some degree what the big fuss is all about. Legislators in Minnesota have a history of organizing as either Conservatives or Liberals and then [illegible] the entire session. There will be many more squabbles before this session is ended, and at least some of them will be tied to ill feelings made in the opening dispute.

All of which makes us wonder all the more about what would happen if the legislators were elected on a party basis. Then, we believe, there would be even more time lost due to internal power struggles in the legislature.

Right On!

One of our readers has called to our attention a student editorial from the Fargo North high school "Sparton" which seems to be a cut above the expected fare in high school publications. Here is that editorial:

What right do students have to students' "rights?" In the light of all the student wrongs that persist, they have little right to rights. In the light of another self-evident truth, that students' rights should not be granted automatically and revoked only in the case of serious offense, but granted only when there is a lack of offenses, students haven't earned half the privileges they are screaming for. Students don't even know what they're screaming about half the time. It's talk for the sake of talking, rebellion for rebellion's sake.

"Free the students from administrative tyranny!"

"Give us a campus system so we can come and go as we damn well please!"

Right on.

"We shouldn't have to read anything that we don't want to, see anything we don't want to, do anything we don't want to, or be anything we don't want to!"

Right on. And on and on and on.

Too many students haven't discovered yet that you don't have to read, see, do or be anything to be nothing. To have nothing and to owe nothing is to be nothing. To be free from nothing and to be oppressed by nothing is to be nothing. Come with nothing and leave without anything and you will be nothing.

Too many students haven't yet realized that this nothingness is the very basis of our rebellion from the generation of-our-parents. We see a lot of well-developed nothing in nine-to-five jobs, beer and football games on Saturday afternoon, and institutionalized murder in Vietnam — but no one stops to wonder what will happen if we continue to try to change the world over night without any direction, without any reason.

Rebellion for rebellion's sake alone will create a society of nothing. A society where rights are granted to whoever screams the loudest, and denied to the man who listens to both sides but doesn't talk loud enough to be heard. A society where all men will be truly equal, because nobody will see anything, care about anything, do anything or be anything. Nobody will have bothered to stop screaming long enough to listen and learn how to be something. We will be the Nothing Generation.

But scream on, you screamers! Don't listen when they feed you all that garbage. Don't listen when they try to teach you the difference between garbage and beauty! Don't bother to learn that change will always be a slow process! Above all, don't let anyone convince you that you're wrong. We are the Enlightened Generation. Television and all that. Scream! Go out and destroy everything and see exactly what you will have left.

Nothing.

The Silent Protectors

Following is from the American Rifleman publication:

Last year The American Rifleman published in its "Armed Citizen" columns 112 actual instances in which the mere presence of a firearm in the hands of a resolute citizen prevented crime without bloodshed. Every case came from news reports confirmed by police records in 97 communities across the land. Among these were Seattle, Kansas City, San Jose, Atlanta, Baltimore, Dallas, Detroit, El Paso and 89 others.

Every one chronicled a triumph of a self-reliant American with the "cool" to use the current slang, to stop a crime without shooting anyone. They prevented robberies and quite possibly rapes and murders. They were able to do so because they were armed — with guns.

Now on the 100th anniversary of the National Rifle Association of America, we would like to ask a simple question: Can anyone show us where 112 crimes have been averted by the Federal Gun Control Act of 1968?

Those who uphold this act and would further disarm law-abiding American citizens owe it to the American public to explain themselves.

Can they say why it is that crime continues to rise under the 1968 act instead of decreasing?

Without putting words into overworked mouths, we can surmise that they will say the answer is a need for even stricter gun laws.

In all honesty, we must disagree. The answer is a need for many things, but laws that deprive decent persons of self-protection are not among them.

The answer may be a need for more uniformed policemen patrolling our crime-infested big cities. Philadelphia in chopping down its crime rate provided prima facie evidence of this. The Washington, D. C., police department, recruited to full strength for the first time in many years, also brought about a distinct reduction in crime by putting more properly-trained patrolmen on the streets. Some other communities have succeeded, likewise.

The answer may be a need for longer sentences that keep habitual criminals in jail instead of allowing them to whiz through courtrooms with a speed that makes justice somewhat like a revolving door.

The answer may be the need for broad rehabilitation programs that reorient all but the most hopeless hardened criminals (if there are such), and end the cycle under which many criminals find themselves compelled to return to crime for lack of anything better.

The answer may be an end to flabby permissiveness and a "lie down and quit" attitude on the part of some local courts and authorities whenever unruly, lawless elements "make a fist" at them.

The answer may be a return to a traditional American creed recognized and practiced by every good NRA Member, of respecting the rights and the way of life of all respectable fellow Americans.

It is proper to discuss all this on the 100th anniversary of The National Rifle Association of America, an organization founded to promote marksmanship and broadened to support conservation and national improvement, because the legitimate ownership of firearms is an integral part of our Nation. This the NRA recognizes and champions.

As shown in this magazine and elsewhere, the mere presence of firearms in the hands of responsible Americans can serve to curb violence. The Federal Gun Control of 1968 apparently can't.

There is reason to believe and hope that the next Congress will recognize this fact and repeal the 1968 Act, at least insofar as it places burdens and restrictions on individual law-abiding gun owners.

That, coupled with the mandatory penalty laws that the NRA has long advocated for criminal misuse of guns, will do more to curb crime than the senseless provisions of the 1968 act which tend to stamp out legitimate gun ownership while criminals run riot and thumb their noses at all laws.

Borrowed Nonsense

"I used to think I was poor. Then they told me I wasn't poor, I was needy. When it was determined that needy was self-defeating, they said I was culturally deprived. Since deprived gave a bad image, I became underprivileged. Then they said underprivileged was over-used and I became disadvantaged. I still don't have a dime but I've got a great vocabulary."

Wife, to husband with a snootful: "Homer, I could forgive you if this was the first time, but you came home in exactly the same condition on November the 24th, 1921!"

Legis Lative Letter

from ANDREW SKAAR
STATE REPRESENTATIVE

On January 5 the members elect of the Minnesota House of Representatives took their oath of office from Martin A. Nelson, an Associate Justice of our state supreme court. When the members arrived they found the House chambers had been completely renovated during the [illegible] use. New lighting and carpeting had been installed and the chamber is much brighter and seems even more beautiful than it did previously.

On the following day our new governor gave his inaugural message to the members of the House at a recessed session. Normally the governor's address is given to a joint session of the House and Senate but due to the inability of the Senate to organize, that was not possible. The impasse in the Senate is due to the refusal of the lieutenant governor to permit one of its members to be seated and the Supreme Court is being asked to resolve this question.

Governor Anderson's inaugural address was the shortest of any inaugural in recent years. He gave a generally good inaugural speech and outlined most of the problems facing our state today. Undoubtedly by the time you read this news letter all the details of the governor's message are well known to you. The governor devoted far less time to specific programs than have most recent Minnesota chief executives in their inaugural speeches. Governor Anderson apparently decided to change the style of the inaugural and will spell out his programs to the legislature in a series of special messages during the session.

A somewhat unique touch was added to this year's event with all former living governors invited and all but one were in attendance. They occupied positions of prominence in the front row of the House chambers when the inaugural speech was made.

On Thursday, Aubrey Dirlam, speaker of the House, announced the committee assignments for the coming session. The present organization of the House contains 24 committees of which I am chairman of the committee on Commerce and Economic Development and a member of the committees on Appropriations, Reapportionment and Elections, Regulated Industries, Rules and Legislative Administration, and Transportation. The House is now fully organized and I expect that on Monday bills will be introduced and the committees will very shortly begin scheduling their regular committee hearings.

If you wish to contact me during the session, please address your correspondence to the Legislative Post Office, State Capitol, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101.

4-H CLUBS

Smiley

Smiley 4-H club held it's Christmas party at the hall December 9. During the business meeting, the radio speaking contest was discussed. A snow cat party was planed for the February meeting. A vote was taken on taking part in the flower show again and the club voted in favor of it.

Christmas singing was led by song leader Cindy Basinger. Each family contributed a number for the program and the junior leaders put on a skit "The Night Before Christmas." Candy sacks were passed out, gifts exchanged and a pot luck lunch was served.

There will be no meeting in January. Every family will be notified when the February snow cat party is to be held.

How's Your Health

(Prepared in the public interest by the Minnesota Medical Association.)

How often have you been annoyed when a fly seeks you as a special friend, hovers around your head or perches on your hand? Annoying but harmless, you think. Not so, says the Minnesota State Medical association. The common house fly is a carrier of disease, capable of transmitting numerous conditions including typhoid fever, dysentery, cholera, diarrhea, tuberculosis and food poisoning.

Flies bask in accumulations of filth. Garbage is their delight as are any polluted or waste materials. The fly is a hairy little creature and as it feeds on contaminated food and water, some of the matter clings to its hairs. Afterward, whenever the fly lights it leaves bacteria-infected deposits in the form of fly specks.

Fly control is a problem for every individual. What can you do about this pesky carrier of disease?

First, keep him out of your home by screening your windows. If a fly enters, do not ignore it, swat it.

Wrap trash, garbage and other refuse firmly in newspapers and place in disposal containers. Then cover the containers tightly so that flies cannot work themselves inside to feed. After garbage is collected, wash the can.

Do not leave food uncovered or dishes unwashed and lying about as bait for flies.

Do your part to prevent the disease spread by flies. Eliminate the culprit by waging a personal clean-up campaign on all their favorite nesting and resting places.

Accidents can happen to anyone—anywhere, anytime. In a major medical emergency, minutes, even seconds may be vital in saving a life.

Do you know recommended first aid procedures for common emergencies? The following multiple choice quiz has been prepared by the Minnesota State Medical association as a refresher to help you recall what immediate first-aid steps to take while waiting for qualified medical help. The correct answers follow each question.

BLEEDING: (A) Press with sterile compress directly over wound, or (b) use tourniquet between wound and heart.

Don't waste time, press hard with sterile compress directly over the wound until bleeding stops. If severe, send for physician.

MINOR CUTS: (A) Lick wound to remove blood and ignore, or (B) Wash under warm running water.

Minor cuts should be washed with soap under warm running water. Apply mild antiseptic and sterile compress.

ANIMAL BITES: (A) Cleanse with alcohol, or (B) wash with soap and water.

Wash wound thoroughly with soap under running water and bandage wound. Capture the animal alive and have it tested for rabies. Take patient to physician.

BURNS: (A) Apply butter or another form of grease, or (B) use cold water.

Forestry Research Can Broaden Base

Wood products are needed to build homes in the United States, yet forests are needed for outdoor recreation. An irreconcilable conflict?

Not necessarily. Research and its implementation can contribute importantly to the use of our forest base towards both ends, according to Richard A. Skok, professor and assistant director of the school of forestry at the University of Minnesota.

Skok commented on forestry research in a recent issue of "Minnesota Science," a University of Minnesota publication.

"Providing wood building materials in a variety of new forms from our renewable forests can be achieved without detriment to forests as producers of other public benefits such as recreation, water and wildlife. But to do so requires increased knowledge of the ecology of our forests, the environmental perception of forest visitors and the processes of timber users and their environmental effects," he said.

U.S. Forest service projections for 1985 indicate that the demand for timber products in this country will be about 50 per cent more than the 12 million cubic feet consumed in 1958.

"Meeting these timber requirements offers rural employment opportunities that are unparalleled for areas with land in forest use. But at the same time it will require forest land managers to draw on new knowledge to implement programs that will protect the forest environment for other uses.

"New methods of producing high forest yields while lessening the impact on the environment are already under study. Removing timber in ways that minimize the environmental impact on the land and processing this timber with a technology that meets new standards of water and air purity represent research needs that must be achieved if we are to deal with the issues of the 70's," Skok said.

He predicted that forestry research in the 70's would rely to a greater degree than in the past on new tools, such as radioisotope tracers, computers and infrared sensing. Also, a systems approach to problem solving is currently being adapted to forestry research, he added.

"Spacecraft photography will be tested and developed for classifying and mapping agricultural and wildland vegetation to provide broad resource statistics," forestry professor Frank D. Irving commented in the same issue of "Minnesota Science."

He predicted a refinement of aerial photography techniques to detect crop diseases, insect infestations and moisture stress. Heat sensing and radar techniques will be tested for special resource surveys, Irving added.

"Simulation" will be tested for predicting future performance of forest stands managed by alternative methods. Mathematical models of stand development will be developed so that stands "grown" in a computer in a matter of seconds simulate growth that might occur in nature over 100 years," Irving said.

"By compressing the life span, the researcher will be able to compare the consequences of several strategies under different conditions, enabling forest managers to select the best course of action. Developing this model will require basic growth data on individual trees by age class and competitive position in the stand," he said.

U of M Students Dig Ruins From Ancient Israel

by Judy Vick
University of Minnesota
News Service Writer

Near the Sea of Galilee, just above the village of Meron in Israel, is the Khirbet Shema, a collection of ancient ruins, steeped in traditions and legends.

Last summer a University of Minnesota teacher and five University students joined a group of 70 Americans in a two-month expedition to uncover some of the historical secrets hidden there among the olive trees and stone ruins of a village that flourished at the time of Christ.

"We want to learn what life in that town was like—by looking at its synagogue, its public buildings, its homes and its tombs," said Thomas Kraabel, associate professor of classics. "We are trying to find out more about Judaism and early Christianity.

"From this one specific example, we can gain more knowledge of that period in history and in religion," Kraabel said. The village has been dated from between the birth of Jesus to about 500 or 600 A.D.

Kraabel, who is chairman of the religious studies committee of the college of liberal arts, was associate director of the expedition, led by Professor Eric Meyers of Duke university.

The five university students who went were Holly Doyne, Chaska, James O'Connor, St. Paul, Diana Furmanik, Taunton, Mass., and Irving Strauchler and Barbara Schochet, Minneapolis.

The American group became a part of the community of Meron.

"The first thing we did was to clean the site," Kraabel said. "The tombs and burial chamber were filled with earth and rubbish. The next step was mapping the hill, marking the important spots. Then the digging began.

"We dug two trenches that intersect a large building that had a mosaic floor, well-plastered walls and colums—a synagogue, looking toward Jerusalem. This was apparently the most important building in town.

"One of the most important finds in helping us determine the dates during which the town was inhabited are coins—we've found more than 180," he said, adding that pottery fragments also assist in the process of determining time.

On a slope overlooking the Khirbet Shema stands a square rock that was given the name of "Elijah's chair." Traditionalists believe that when he comes, he will from that chair proclaim the Day of Redemption and that Galilee will be the first place in Israel to hear the good news.

The expedition was sponsored by Harvard, Duke, Drew and Dropsie universities, the University of Minnesota and Luther college in Decorah, Iowa. A major grant of $50,000 from the Smithsonian Institution, plus additional funds, financed the project.

Bergland Opens Dstrict Office In Washington

Washington office of the 7th District's new Congressman, Bob Bergland, is now in full operation. "The primary duty of our office will be to provide personal service to the people of the 7th district," Rep. Bergland said.

To make services more convenient and readily available, Bergland said that he will be opening an office within the 7th District as soon as plans can be completed. "I hope all of you realize that my staff, and I, will always be available to help each of you in every way possible," he said.

Rep. Bergland, who arrived in Washington Friday after attending inaugural ceremonies for Minnesota Governor Wendell Anderson, has his office in Room 1008, Longworth House Office building.

Bergland's staff, which preceded him to Washington, includes five Minnesotans. They are Miss Sara Yager, who will assist Bergland in legislative maters, Mike Sullivan, who will help the district residents with their individual problems and requests, and Miss Lorlee Bartos, Bergland's receptionist. As previously announced, Ron Schrader, Wadena, will be Bergland's top aide and Tom Sand, Wendell, will be Bergland's press aide.

Miss Yager, a native of Jackson, served on the Senate and Vice Presidential staffs of Hubert H. Humphrey. Sullivan, Motley, was 7th District DFL fieldman during the 1970 Bergland campaign. He is a 1959 graduate of Motley high school and a 1965 graduate of St. John's university. Miss Bartos, Alexandria, managed the Alexandria Bergland campaign office. She is a 1965 graduate of Alexandria high school and a 1969 graduate of the University of Minnesota, Morris.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—I returned from Vietnam recently, and was separated from active duty after serving 21 months. As I plan to apply to the Veterans administration for educational assistance to attend college, could you tell me how many months of entitlement I will have?

A—You will have 36 calendar months of entitlement. Any veteran with other than a dishonorable discharge who has served at least 18 months on active duty is entitled to the maximum entitlement.

Q—I am a World War II veteran with service-connected 20 per cent disability. The VA doctor who examined me recently said I must be hospitalized for this condition for about six weeks. I have no disability income insurance, and my employer does not have a sick plan. What can I do to provide for my family while I am hospitalized?

A—Any veteran who is hospitalized by the Veterans administration for a service-connected condition for 21 days or more is automatically rated 100 per cent disabled, and receives compensation at that rate from date of his admission. In your case, you should make sure that proof of your marriage and birth certificates for your children are in your VA records.

Q—I am a World War II veteran and a widower. I am planning my insurance estate, and have heard that some type of death pension is payable by the Veterans administration to my children when I die. Does this pension depend on the child's income?

A—Yes. It does if at the time of your death you leave a minor child or one who has not yet attained age 23 and is attending school; the child quite possibly could be entitled to death pension benefits if income limitations are not exceeded. You should arrange for some responsible adult relative to contact the VA after your death.

Q—My husband receives a VA pension, and has to have someone with him constantly. Can his pension be increased to pay for this assistance?

A—Veterans who receive pension, and who become so helpless as to need regular aid and attendance of another person, may be eligible for an additional allowance. Apply at your nearest Veterans administration office.

Q—What are the VA regulations for servicemen who want to take correspondence courses?

A—Currently, servicemen must have been on active duty for at least two years, with a period of at least 181 days of continuous duty. Also, the correspondence course must be approved by the state approving agency and lead to an identified educational or professional objective.

Q—My father, a disabled veteran, is receiving compensation from the Veterans administration. Since I have lost contact with him, will the VA give me his address?

A—No. All information in a veteran's record, except the amount of payment, is confidential and can be released only on the written request of the veteran. The VA may, however, forward a letter to a veteran, so long as its purpose is not debt collection, canvassing, harassment or propaganda purposes. The letter must be inclosed in a stamped unsealed envelope with no return address.

Q—How much compensation does the Veterans administration give for a helpless child over 18 years of age where there is no widow?

A—Compensation is $109 per month.

Q—I have a service-connected shoulder condition with a 10 per cent rating that I feel should be rated higher because the condition has worsened since the Veterans administration examined me. How can I get my compensation increased?

A—Start by submitting a statement from your local physician noting his findings concerning your shoulder. Or you can obtain free, the necessary treatment for your shoulder condition at a VA medical clinic. If the medical statement or VA examination warrants it, your claim will be reconsidered.

Q—I receive disability pension from the VA, and if my income exceeds $1,000 per year, my pension payments will be reduced. If I sell my house at a profit, and use the money to buy another home, will my pension payments be reduced?

A—No, for two reasons. First, it is a one-time payment. Therefore, it will have no effect upon an award because it may not be used as a basis of adjustment until the first of the year following that in which it was received. Second, under such circumstances, profit from the sale of a house is not considered income, and is not usually considered as creating too large an estate for pension purposes when used to purchase another dwelling.

Q—I have a service-connected disability which requires continuous treatment. Since I plan to travel abroad this summer, what arrangements shall I make regarding medication and treatment?

A—Contact the Veterans administration clinic now treating you to obtain appropriate supplies of your prescribed medication to carry with you, and for suggestions for obtaining medical supplies and services abroad. In case of a medical emergency, contact the American embassy or consular office.

Q—I am a single veteran attending college while drawing educational assistance from the Veterans administration. I plan to marry a widow with two children. Will I have to adopt the children in order to receive increased educational assistance?

A—No. You may claim them as step-children, if they live in your household. It is not necessary to adopt them to qualify for additional assistance.

Q—Is a veteran 65 years of age or older required to furnish evidence of disability to be eligible for Veterans administration pension?

A—No, unless he is also claiming he is housebound or requires aid and attendance.

Q—If I name my father as beneficiary of my national service life or U.S. government life insurance policy and later marry, is my wife automatically my beneficiary?

A—No. Written notice of any beneficiary change, signed by the insured, must be given to the Veterans administration.

Q—When I married my husband, a World War II veteran, I had two children who became his stepchildren. We were only married five months before his death. Would I be eligible for a VA pension, and if not, would the children be eligible?

A—You, as a widow, would not be eligible for a pension. But if the stepchildren were living with you and your husband, they would be eligible to receive VA benefits. We suggest you contact your nearest VA office.

Q—I frequently see VA repossessed homes advertised for sale. Are these sales limited to veterans?

A—No. Anyone who qualifies may purchase these homes—veterans or nonveterans.

Q—I receive 30 per cent disability compensation from the Veterans Administration. However, I will soon be 65 and retired. Can I waive my disability compensation and come under the VA pension program if it is to my financial advantage to do so?

A—In a word, yes. The VA suggests you make application for pension. The VA will pay you the higher amount if you are eligible for two benefits.

Q—I have a rather large dividend accumulation on deposit with the Veterans Administration on my insurance. May I withdraw only a part of the total amount?

A—Yes. You may withdraw all, or any part of your accumulated dividends.

Q—My husband receives a nonservice-connected pension from the Veterans Administration. If I start working, would it have any effect on the amount of pension he now receives?

A—No. In determining the veteran's income for a nonservice-connected pension, none of the earned income of his spouse will be counted as the veteran's income.

Q—Can a veteran go to any school, or pursue any educational program he desires?

A—Yes, if the course or program given leads to a recognized educational, vocational, or professional objective, and is approved by the state approving agency.

Q—I recently married a widow with an 18-year-old son who is now attending college. Since he is now my stepson, is he eligible for educational assistance for 36 months since I am 100 per cent permanently disabled due to service?

A—No. In order to qualify for this benefit, your stepson must have acquired this relationship prior to the attainment of age 18.

Q—I served in the army from June to December of 1955, and suffered no injuries. Recently, my doctor advised me that I have a disability which will prevent me from following regular employment. Am I eligible for a nonservice pension?

A—No. In order to qualify for a nonservice pension, you must have served 90 days of continuous duty, any part of which was during a wartime period. Since your service was not during wartime, you are not eligible for pension under existing laws.

Q—My husband died from a service-connected disability, and I am receiving monthly payments from the Veterans administration. Will the VA assist me with my heavy doctor and medical expenses?

A—No. The VA cannot legally provide medical care to anyone other than the veteran. However, if you are disabled enough to require the aid and attendance of another person, the VA can make an additional $50 monthly payment.

Q—As a veteran, am I entitled to extra payment from the Veterans administration if I have been confined to a VA hospital more than 21 days?

A—That depends on two factors. If you were hospitalized for a nonservice condition—no. Yes, if your hospitalization was for an established service-connected condition.

Q—I am a Vietnam veteran with two years of service who would like to go to college, but I lack a high school diploma. How can the Veterans administration help me?

A—You can receive from the VA, GI bill monthly payments for high school training without charge against your basic educational entitlement. After completing high school, you are still entitled to 30 months of further training.

Q—I will be released from active duty just before school starts this fall. May I apply now to the Veterans administration for a certificate of eligibility?

A—No. You will need your discharge paper and you cannot obtain this until you are actually separated from active service. However, it is advisable to apply for school admission before you are separated to increase your chances of acceptance. You should hurry, as many schools have already completed their class enrollments.

Q—I am retired from service and have a service-connected disability. Will I lose my retirement benefit if I accept Veterans administration compensation?

A—Your retirement pay will be reduced by the amount of your disability compensation, but you will not lose any of the other benefits such as commissary, medical treatment, etc. You also retain the right to go back to your retired pay if you so choose.

Q—My father is permanently and totally disabled as a result of injury in Korea. If I marry, will I still be eligible for Veterans administration educational assistance?

A—Yes. If you are otherwise eligible, your marriage will not affect your eligibility for assistance.

Q—I am married and plan to attend school full-time under the GI bill. I have two children, and also three stepchildren in my home who receive child support payments from their father. What will be my educational assistance allowance rate?

A—You may be paid for all children, including stepchildren, under age 18 living in your home. The full-time rate for a veteran with a wife and five children is $282 per month.

Q—I am a single veteran and have no other income except my military retirement pay. Is it true that if I waive all of my $200 a month military retirement pay, I could get a tax-free VA pension of $210 monthly because I am permanently and totally disabled and bedridden?

A—No. First, you are not eligible for a pension if your annual income is over $2,000 a year and, secondly, the law does not allow you to waive your military retirement pay to qualify for a pension.

Q—May I purchase a house strictly for investment purposes using my GI home loan benefits?

A—No. To obtain a GI home loan, a veteran must certify that he intends to personally occupy the property as his home.

Q—I recently moved and wish to file a change of address for delivery of future Veterans administration compensation checks. Can I use a change of address form on the envelope containing my last payment?

A—Yes. But do not forward the change of address to the treasury department—mail it to the VA office having custody of your records. Be sure to notify your local post office about your new address.

Q—Where may I obtain my discharge papers?

A—You should request your discharge papers from the branch of service in which you served.

Prowler Matmen Win Just 3 Matches In 29-9 Loss

Lincoln high school Prowler wrestlers took it on the chin Saturday night against powerful Park Rapids as the Panthers came out on top with a 29-9 drubbing of the matmen in the Panthers' gym.

With the loss, the Prowlers dropped their season mat record to 2-4 for the year with the next match scheduled for Thursday night, January 21, when East Grand Forks will invade the Lincoln gym with the B squad starting at 6:30 followed by the A team at 7:30 p.m.

Wayne Jenson put the Panthers on top 3-0 in the opening 95 pound match as he decisioned Lyle Swanson 2-0 on a first period takedown.

Mark Costello, a member of the long line of wrestling brothers at Park Rapids, pinned freshman Lonnie Olson who was wrestling for the absent Ron Kalinoski at 103 pounds for an 8-0 Panther lead after two matches. Costello's pin came with 1:15 remaining in the match with the Panther leading 4-0 on a first period takedown and predicament.

Gary Hawkins of Park Rapids decisioned the Prowlers' Dean Dahl 6-2 in the 112 pound match to up the Panthers' lead to 11-0. Hawkins led 4-2 at the end of the first period on a takedown and a reversal after Dahl had managed a two-point reversal. The second period was scoreless with Hawkins adding a third period reversal for the win.

Terry Tollefson put the Prowlers on the scoreboard at 120 pound when he squeeked by Greg Ward 2-0 on a first period takedown and held on the rest of the way for the win.

Wrestling sophomores at 127 and 133 pounds the Panthers came through with two more wins to lead 17-3. Keith Hawkins defeated the Prowlers' Rick Nordhagen 6-2 at 127 pounds with a first period takedown and a third period reversal and predicament while Nordhagen scored on a second period reversal.

Peter Henry, another wrestling family name in Park Rapids, upended Dave Furuseth 11-5 at 133 pounds. Henry took a first period 2-0 lead on a takedown and added five points in the second period on a predicament, escape and takedown while Furuseth stayed within a winning distance with an escape and takedown. The Panther grappler forged in front to stay in the third period as he gained two reversals while Furuseth added a single reversal to his point total.

Gary Boots worked over sophomore Mark Kaushagen in the 138 pound match for a 12-2 win to put the Panthers on top 20-3. Boots led 7-2 at the end of the first period on a takedown, nearfall and predicament while Kaushagen scored on a reversal. Boots added a second period nearfall and a third period reversal for his twelve points.

Joe Salratonich defeated Prowler mat captain Jerry Muzzy 6-2 in the 145 pound division with a first period takedown, second period reversal and a pair of third period escapes while Muzzy scored in the third period when he had the Panther on his back for a two-point predicament.

The Panthers continued to hammer the Prowlers in the 154 pound match as Mike Proudfoot handled Bob Sorvig 13-0 to give the Panthers a 26-3 bulge on the scoreboard.

Proudfoot gained a first period takedown and predicament and added five points in the second period on a nearfall and predicament before gaining a third period reversal and predicament for the win.

Jerry Osmundson came through for the Prowlers at 165 pounds as he gained the Prowlers' second win with an 8-3 triumph over Paul Henry. Osmundson worked Henry for a first period takedown and predicament while the Panther gained an escape for a 4-1 lead for Osmundson going into the second frame. Henry cut the margin to 4-3 with a second period reversal before Osmundson escaped for a single point and the Prowler matman led 5-3 when he added a third period escape and reversal.

Ray Hankley decided he liked it better when his team was winning the matches so he decisioned the Prowlers' Steve Thorstad 5-2 at 175 pounds with a first period takedown and predicament before Thorstad cut his lead to 4-2 with a second period reversal. Hinkley added a single point in the second period on an escape for his win.

Prowler heavyweight Jerry Myers gained the third win for Ed Krystosek's grapplers when he earned a first period takedown for a 2-0 decision over Paul Erb.

The Prowlers were out-done in every statistical department during the match as the Panthers gained 10 takedowns to the Prowlers' 4 while Park Rapids earned 9 reversals with the Prowlers getting 6. Park Rapids achieved 3 nearfalls and 4 escapes while the Prowlers gained no nearfalls and three escapes.

Welcome Commissioner Herbst

Minnesota has a new conservation commissioner. He is Robert Herbst, a career conservationist. We are very happy that Governor Anderson did not use this important office as a political payoff. Mr. Herbst will listen to his biologists. His decisions will be based on scientific research and not because certain groups are applying pressure. In addition to being a conservationist he also is a sportsman and can see problems from the viewpoint of a sportsman.

We are very happy to say, WELCOME TO MINNESOTA, BOB HERBST, AND A VERY HAPPY NEW YEAR TO YOU.

Walleyes and Lake of the Woods

'Swede' Carlson, the Warroad flyer, reports excellent fishing on Lake of the Woods. Richard Gross of Minneapolis and a party of four stayed at Swede's Youkon Palace and fished for three days. Limits were caught by everyone in the party using live minnows. A party of fishermen from Lankin and Adams, North Dakota filled out three days running. Live minnows were used. Walleye fishing is off to a good start.

HOWL

A group of dedicated conservationists has organized a new group named H O W L. This stands for HELP OUR WOLVES LIVE. Anyone interested in this group and wanting more information should write to H O W L, 300 ROANOKE BUILDING, MINNEAPOLIS, MINNESOTA 55402.

Just as in 1956 on our former television program, when we suggested naming the Timber Wolf as our STATE ANIMAL, we again suggest it for 1971.

Liars Contest

The 1970-1971 MINNESOTA OUTDOORS LIARS CONTEST ENDS ON APRIL FIRST, 1971. If you have not yet entered, send your story (tall tale) to this newspaper or to MINNESOTA OUTDOORS LIARS CONTEST, P. O. BOX 35, CHAMPLIN, MINNESOTA 55316.

Your entry need not be original. Any tall tale about hunting, fishing or camping will be welcome. Remember, the shorter the story, the better. The judges are Pat Buttram of the GREEN ACRES television program and Art Mercier, outdoor editor of Radio W B B M - CBS, Chicago, Illinois. You may send as many stories as you wish. We have some dandy prizes for the winner.

Keep A Score Card

A couple of years ago we asked fishermen to keep a fishing score card. We are making the same request this year. Here is what to do if you fish with artificial lures. Every time you catch a fish, mark down the color of the lure and make a note on whether the day was dark or bright. Mark down the time of day the fish was caught. Note the kind of fish it was. After you have several score cards completed send them to MINNESOTA OUTDOORS, P. O. BOX 35, CHAMPLIN, MINN. 55316.

From the research we have done in the past several years we are convinced that fish are NOT color blind. We have had the best luck with a bright lure on a bright day and a dark lure on a dark day. Perhaps it would be interesting if you would join in this research.

"Say Goodbye" Film Best Wildlife Film

"Say Goodbye" was a film recently shown on NBC-TV portraying our waning wildlife in all of man's predator brutality demonstrated. A film long to be remembered. As one man stated to us after viewing the film, "I shall never kill so much as a chipmunk again." Those who haven't seen it, please write to Quaker Oats Co. 345 Merchandise Mart, Chgo., Ill., asking for its release to your organizations.

February 12 a film documentary the assassination of President Lincoln will be shown on NBC at 6:30 p.m. "Say Goodbye" was one of the most outstanding wildlife films we have ever seen, sad as it was. It was truly a memorial to our wildlife who ask only to share our lakes and lands, not to keep it all for themselves, as we do. And so lose them, and our own 'estates' for without wildlife, neither can man exist.

St. Bernard Which Saved Woman from Grizzly Bear Proclaimed Dog Hero of the Year

Below was written by Tom McLaughlin of Quaker Oats Co. If you enjoy these kinds of news stories, we shall bring at least four a year from various famous reporters.

—"Grizzly Bear," an extremely gentle St. Bernard dog from Denali, Alaska, which battled and finally routed a real grizzly bear that had attacked and was mauling its mistress, was named as winner of the Ken-L Ration gold medal as 'America's Dog Hero of the Year for 1970.

The 180 pound, 20-month-old dog, amazingly enough, has always been called "Grizzly Bear" rather than by its long, officially registered name of Polar Blu Samaritan von Borri. He is owned by Mr. and Mrs. David Gratias of Denali, who own and operate a lodge, and live in a cabin behind the main building.

Near noon one day, Mrs. Gratias, 24, heard a noise in the backyard. Since her husband was working elsewhere at the time, she went to investigate. She went out the front door, the only entrance to the cabin, leaving it open with little Theresa sleeping just inside. She also unleashed Grizzly Bear, thinking to give him some exercise while she was outside. But as she reached the backyard she discovered a young grizzly bear cub there. Assuming that the mother must be near, she raced back toward the open front door, but as she rounded the house corner, she came face to face with the mother grizzly.

Apparently thinking that its cub was in danger, the huge beast reared itself up to its eight-foot height and grabbed at her. Mrs. Gratias, concious only of the fact that she must get to the open door and protect her little daughter, attempted to evade the animal and possibly get around it.

In a flash, the grizzly was upon her, raking her cheek with one paw while it sank the other deep into her shoulder. But as it bent toward her to inflict a perhaps fatal bite, the bear suddenly staggered backward as Grizzly Bear crashed into the animal with every ounce of his 180 pounds. Roaring with rage, the bear came back at her, but the dog, maneuvering smartly and slashing at the bear with its teeth, managed to keep himself constantly between the animal and the prostrate woman.

At this moment, Mrs. Gratias, overcome with terror and loss of blood, lapsed into unconsciousness. When she came to, the dog was licking her face in an attempt to revive her. Sitting up in a daze, she suddenly remembered what had happened, and raced to the open front door, to find little Theresa inside, safe and sleeping soundly. The bear had vanished.

Mrs. Gratias's wounds have since healed, and fortunately, the claw marks on her face were not so deep that they caused disfiguration. Although Grizzly Bear was spotted with blood, no wounds were found, and it was assumed that the blood had come either from Mrs. Gratias or the bear itself. But the memory of the horrible experience caused Mrs. Gratias to travel to Anchorage, 350 miles away, and stay with relatives until the terror of the incident had fully passed.

In addition to the gold medal, Grizzly Bear received a gold plaque, a gold-plated lead and collar, a custom-made dog blanket, and a year's supply of dog food. His owners will also be presented with a $1,000 U.S. bond.

Bemidji Lumberjacks Trim Prowler Cagers 55-52

Whitey Olson's Lincoln high school Prowler basketball team came close, but not close enough to winning their first game against the Bemidji Lumberjacks since a 49-46 win during the 1960-61 season Friday night as they fell to the Jacks 55-52 in the Lumberjack's gym.

The Prowlers, who have now lost 25 straight games to the Lumberjacks tied the contest 51-51 on two Dale Hanson free throws with 2:49 remaining but couldn't hang onto the ball the rest of the way with four straight turnovers.

Hanson was the game's high point man as he finished the contest with 24 points with Rande Smith also hitting double figures for the Prowlers with 12 markers. Greg Groslie was the leading Lumberjack scorer with 21 points with Karmon Bjella collecting 11.

The Jacks led at the quarter breaks 16-8, 28-19 and 45-32 before the Prowlers outscored Bemidji 20-10 in the final quarter.

Rande Smith gave the Prowlers a short lived 2-0 lead at the beginning of the contest when he broke the Jack's full court press with a lay up underneath the bucket with 32 seconds gone in the contest. Scores by Bon Degerman, Groslie, Bjella and Lyseng were answered only by a single free throw by Hanson as the Jacks stormed out to a 10-3 lead and built that margin to 16-8 at the end of the first quarter.

Two ten-foot jump shots by Hanson and another shot from around the ten foot mark by Kent Smith brought the Prowlers to within 18-14 with 5:34 remaining in the half before Groslie was able to connect on a long jump shot for the Lumberjacks for a 20-16 lead. With both teams turning the ball over on mistakes the Jacks built their lead to 28-19 at halftime.

Hanson brought the Prowlers to within seven points 28-21 at the outset of the second half when he grabbed the opening jump and raced in for a lay up with just three seconds gone before the Jacks came back on a bucket by Bjella, and two by Greg Groslie for a 34-21 lead with 6:27 remaining. A free throw by Rande Smith and a short jump shot by Mike Hamerlinck cut the Jack lead to 36-26 with 3:42 remaining in the third quarter but the Lumberjacks managed to get inside the Prowler zone defense to Groslie and Lyseng and built their lead to 45-30 en route to their 45-32 third quarter lead.

The Prowlers came out in the fourth quarter with a full court press and pestered the Jacks into turnovers to bring the good size crowd to a shouting climax in the game's final minutes.

Baskets by Hamerlinck and Hanson along with two free throws by Kent Smith cut the Bemidji lead to 46-39 before fast break lay ups by Hanson and Rande Smith put the Prowlers to within 47-43 with 5:44 remaining in the game.

A long jump shot by Allen Lyseng stopped the Prowler onslaught for a moment until Rande Smith connected on two free throws and Hamerlinck stole a Lumberjack pass and laid the ball on for two points as the Jack lead was trimmed to just two points, 49-47 with 4:14 remaining.

Prowler captain Mark Thyren made both tries at the free throw line with 3:27 remaining to knot the score at 49-49 before Lyseng scored on a short jump shot for a 51-49 lead with 3:20 remaining. Hanson tied the game once again with his two free throws with 2:35 remaining but Bjella scored on a ten-foot jump shot after Steve Boe had stolen a Prowler pass and scored on a lay-up for a 55-51 Lumberjacks lead with 1:42 remaining.

The Prowlers lost the ball on turnovers twice before Mike Hamerlinck swiped a Lumberjacks pass with 31 seconds remaining in the contest but the ball was in and out of the net as the teams exchanged free throws with 12 seconds remaining in the contest.

The Prowlers have not won a basketball game on the Bemidji hardwood since the 1951-52 season and hold 19-82 won-lost record vs. Bemidji since the schools began basketball.

Thief River Falls was a triple loser for the night as the sophomore squad lost a 57-31 decision before the Prowler B squad was knocked off by a 59-50 count.

Next action for the Prowlers will be Friday night when they will travel to East Grand Forks for a big Five Conference game with mighty "East Side" before returning home Saturday night to tangle with Cass Lake in the Lincoln high school gym.

Conservation Dep't. Will Change Name

On Jan. 4, 1971, the Minnesota conservation department will cease to exist. In its place will be a new "Department of Natural Resources", created by the legislature at the 1969 session.

The conservation department today unveiled the new insignia that will be in use when the name change takes effect and pointed out that the law which changed the department's name also made some changes in the department's structure.

One of these is the granting of authority to the commissioner of natural resources to pay the expenses of advisory groups and individuals who possess specialized knowledge on technical natural resource matters, whenever he deems their advice necessary.

Another provision in the law directs the department to take over the duties of the abolished state geographic board—the agency responsible for assigning names to prominent natural features such as lakes, hills and rivers.

The commissioner is also directed under the law to appoint two assistant commissioners, one of whom shall be responsible for coordinating all planning carried out by the department.

Only one assistant commissioner was authorized under the previous department organization.

The authority to hire the services of qualified technical experts to solve specific problems is considered a far-sighted step and a contribution to better government by department officials. It means individuals or groups can be utilized from time to time without creating additional permanent offices to agencies of state government.

The new insignia for the department will be seen on uniforms of foresters, park managers and game and fish managers soon after January 4.

Minnesota conservation officers (formerly called "game wardens") by law must carry an insignia distinctive from other uniformed personnel of the department. A new design is presently under consideration and will be announced at a later date.

The new MDNR insignia will also be placed on department motor vehicles and aircraft.

All signs and insignias identifying department installations will be phased in over a period of years as the old signs wear out in order to cut the costs of the change-over.

Say Snowmobile Mishaps In State May Hit 6,000

A survey among snowmobile owners indicates that one out of every 25 machines could be involved in a serious accident this winter, the Minnesota department of natural resources said today.

Projections from the random survey, based on the current registration of 150,000 snowmobiles, means the snowmobile accident total could reach 6,000 in 1971.

An accident was defined as one requiring professional treatment for injury or property damage of $100 or more.

Seventy per cent of the accidents reported involved personal injury. Eleven persons were killed last year while operating snowmobiles in Minnesota.

Collisions with motor vehicles and other snowmobiles led the list of accident causes and were responsible for four deaths last winter.

"It is hard to escape the conclusion that snowmobile accidents could be reduced sharply if the machines avoided roads and if limits were placed on speed and horsepower," said William Severson, outdoor safety specialist with the department.

In 10 of the leading accidents causes compiled from press reports last winter, speed and trespass on unfamiliar areas were a factor, said Severson.

Among these were collision with fixed objects, guy wires, barbed wires and cables, roll overs, smashing into unseen ditch embankments and being run down by trains.

Severson said he fears that increased emphasis on speed and horsepower in snowmobile advertising and public demand for faster machines will inevitably result in an increase in the accident rate.

"Machines are now being sold to the public capable of speeds in excess of 70 mph, and many of these are being operated during the night time hours. The hazards are obvious," he said.

Severson said snowmobilers appeared more than willing to cooperate in the survey and that 870 of the 1,000 questionnaires sent out were returned with the desired information.

Hockey coaches at the various WCHA schools include: John Matchefts, Colorado college; Murray Armstrong, Denver; Al Renfrew, Michigan; Amo Bessone, Michigan state; John MacInnes, Michigan Tech; Glen Sonmor, Minnesota; Terry Shercliffe, Minnesota Duluth; Rube Bjorkman, North Dakota; Bob Johnson, Wisconsin.

HIBBING'S Jon Enderle, a freshman forward couldn't believe his ears when he heard the referee call his number on this foul call during Saturday's 91-73 triumph for the NSJC Northmen in the Lincoln high school gym. Teammate Bob Loushine seems to be paying no attention to the call as he goes through his motions of pulling down the rebound on the shot by Northland's Tony Burke. The victory marked the first win of the season for the Northmen who have lost 12 games for the year.

NSJC Five Wins 1st; 91-73 Over Hibbing

Led by Jim Goudge who scored 28 points, the Northland state junior college Northmen won their first basketball game of the season Saturday afternoon in the Lincoln high school gym with a 91-73 smashing of the Hibbing Cardinals.

Goudge connected on 12 field goals and 4 free throws for the Northmen who also had Ron Visness (17), Tony Burke (17) and Scott Rousseau (11) reach double figures.

The Northmen connected on 34 of 77 attempts from the field for 44 per cent while Hibbing hit 26 of 88 for 30 per cent.

Northland also held the edge in rebounding as they pulled down 39 to Hibbing's 33. Tony Burke and Curt Jenson had 10 rebounds each while Rousseau hauled down 9 caroms.

Hibbing led just three times during the contest at 8-6, 14-12 and had their last lead at 17-16 with 12:10 remaining in the first half before Northland took the lead for good on Steve Haaven's lay up. Goudge scored three baskets by himself to force Hibbing into a time out with the Northmen in front 25-18 and 9:06 left in the half.

The Northmen continued to put the pressure on the Cardinals with a full court press and built up a 38-23 lead before Hibbing came back to trim the margin to six, 45-39 at halftime.

A lay up by Burke and a long jumper by Gouge put the Northmen in front 49-39 with just 40 seconds gone in the second half as the local club bulged to a 57-39 lead before Hibbing was able to score in the second half.

The Northmen built their lead to 28 points, 77-49 with Ron Visness' three-point play with 11:42 remaining before coasting to the 91-73 win.

Next action for the Northmen will be Wednesday night in the Lincoln gym when the Northmen will host the University of North Dakota junior varsity beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Aquarians Shade Moorhead 71-61

Coach Lyle Longtin's vocational-technical school Aquarian basketball team took a giant step toward their goal of reaching the play-offs of the Minnesota vocational school basketball league Thuesday night as they downed Moorhead 71-61 in a game played at Moorhead.

With the top two teams in the north and south divisions advancing to the state championship games in Alexandria next month, the Aquarians find themselves in third place but just a half game behind second place Moorhead in the standings. Staples leads the north division with a 6-1 record followed by Moorhead 5-2 and Thief River Falls 5-3. The Aquarians have handed Moorhead its only two losses of the year. In tonight's action, Moorhead will travel to take on Staples while the Aquarians will host Detroit Lakes in the Franklin junior high school gym Thursday, January 21, at 7:30 p.m.

Four players reached double figures for the Aquarians against Moorhead with Marshall Undresser leading the way with 20, followed by Terry Bowers 19, Dennis Jorgenson, 16 and Milo Reck with 12 points. Tim Erickson was high point man for Moorhead as he scored a game high 25 points.

Thief River Falls led at the first quarter break 13-10 and increased the margin to 34-28 at the half before running up a 14-point bulge, 53-39, going into the last quarter. The Aquarians continued their magic touch from the free throw line as they sank 11 of 19 gift shots while Moorhead managed just 5 of 14 from the line.

Longtin said this was the best team effort the Aquarians have displayed all year long and he is keeping his fingers crossed for a play-off berth.

The Aquarians will close out their season January 28 when they will host Bemidji while Moorhead is finishing the season hosting Brainerd the same evening.

Card of Thanks

Sincere thanks to all for your kind thoughts and gifts in the loss of our father. Special thanks to Mrs. Arnold Hammer, Rev. Sarenson, Rev. Peterson, and the staff at Northwestern hospital. The John Philipp family. 1t5p

Card of Thanks

Family of Mrs. John Back expresses heartfelt thanks to all who in anyway assisted during her illness and death, especially Pastor Cox and his wife, Doctors Herber and Bray and their wives, the nurses, vocalists, Alma Lutheran Ladies aid for serving lunch, Mr. and Mrs. Sinding and to all who sent flowers, memorials and cards and brought food to the home. May God richly bless you.

Old-Fashioned Mother

She wasn't in for politics
She seldom cast a vote,
She simply lived and labored
In a little home remote
She didn't go to clubs and teas,
Her clothes were not the latest,
But she was happy, knowing well
The things that counted greatest.

Her family was a sailing ship
That must be guided straight,
With skillful hand that faltered not,
Nor found the course too late
A captain, she, who sought no fame,
Yet served her country well,
Whose mighty deeds of sacrifice
No hero could excel.

But, now, that she's been called to rest
By her Savior, she loved so dearly—
She trusted that her God knew best
And in His promises she rests securely
And that old sweet love and courage
Seem to me so divine,
And all I am I owe to her—
That old-fashioned mother of mine.

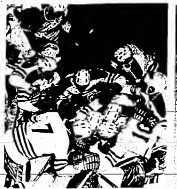
PROWLER DEFENSEMAN Rob Swenson scored the second goal for the Lincoln high school icemen in Saturday night's thrilling 4-3 overtime win for Roseau on this shot past Roseau goalie Tim Delmore with 4:37 remaining in the first period. Other Roseau players in the picture include Mitch Brandt (2) and Rick Vatnsdal (10).



UNDER THIS PILE of Roseau players is Robby Harris who scored the tieing and winning goals for his team in Saturday night's exciting 4-3 win for the Rams in sudden death overtime in the city arena. Harris scored the game's tieing goal with 36 seconds remaining in the third period and won the contest with his score with 10 seconds gone in the eight-minute overtime period.

ROSEAU'S JUNIOR WING Rick Vatnsdal raises his arms as all good hockey players do after Kent Langile scored the Ram's second goal of the game Saturday night in the city arena. Langile's goal tied the score at 2-2 in the second period with 1:10 remaining.

Rams Edge Prowlers 4-3 On Harris' Overtime Goal

Terry Abram's Roseau hockey team must have been following the old saying, "we're number two, so we try harder," during Saturday night's narrow 4-3 win in sudden death overtime over the Thief River Falls Prowlers in the city arena.

The state's number two ranked team showed its cool before the huge crowd as they tied the game with 36 seconds remaining in regulation time and followed that feat with the winning goal coming just ten seconds into the eight-minute sudden death overtime period. Senior center Robby Harris scored both the tieing and winning goals for the Rams who out shot the Prowlers 38 to 17 for the contest.

Roseau jumped out to a 1-0 first period lead when senior defenseman Mitch Brandt scored an unassisted goal with 8:51 remaining. Brandt let fly with two hard slap shots from the point before getting the second rebound and skating behind the Prowler net to shove the puck in on the short side on Prowler goalie Brian Peterson while the Prowlers were a man short.

The Rams' Dana Byfughien was whistled off the ice for cross checking with 7:01 to play and the Prowlers immediately started to put pressure on Ram goalie Tim Delmore as they just missed the corner of the net on three shots before sophomore John Wangberg tied the contest 1-1 with his power play goal with 6:39 remaining. Wangberg scored from close range to the right of Delmore on an assist from defenseman Rob Swenson.

Swenson put the Prowlers on top 2-1 as he took a Mike Hamilton centering pass in front of the net and pushed across the puck from close range with 4:37 left to play in the first period.

Roseau out-shot the Prowlers 11 to 2 in the second period with both teams scoring once to go into the final period with the Prowlers leading 3-2.

Roseau's Bill Lundbohm broke into the open and skated in on Peterson in the Prowler net but the senior netminder made a nice glove save with 3:46 remaining in the second period. Roseau scored with 1:10 remaining when Kent Langile's slap shot from the left point sailed by Peterson who was screened by a maze of men on the play. Tim Fevold was credited with an assist on the score which knotted the game at 2-2.

Roseau kept the pressure on the Prowlers in the final minute of play before Rick Burggraf was sent to the penalty box for slashing with 53 seconds remaining in the period.

The Prowlers regained their lost lead with eight seconds remaining when sophomore Tom Goddard recovered his own rebound and shoved the puck under the Ram goalie who protested the score on the play.

Roseau carried the play in the third period as they again had a wide margin in the shooting department, getting 15 shots on goal to the Prowlers' mere 5.

The Rams let their defensemen shoot hard slap shots from the blue line at Peterson for most of the period before Harris tied the game on his power play goal with 36 seconds remaining.

Prowler defenseman Mike Protz was sent to the penalty box for holding with 42 seconds remaining. Harris took the puck from the face-off to the right of the Prowler goal, came from behind the Prowler net and drove the puck in on the right side of the Peterson as he attempted to cover the short corner on his left side.

Harris' winning goal was scored in the same manner as he again came from behind the Prowler net but shoved the puck around the corner with just ten seconds gone in the eight-minute overtime period.

The Prowlers will take their 8-2-1 record into the city arena tomorrow night (Tuesday) as they play host to the Red Lake Falls Eagles beginning at 8 p.m., following the B squad contest at 6:15.

The Prowler Bee's kept their perfect record intact as they won their tenth game without a loss on the season with a 2-1 decision over the Roseau B squad in the preliminary contest.

Northland Pucksteers Lose To Itasca 6-5

Northland state junior college spotted Itasca a 3-0 first period lead and couldn't quite catch up during the remaining two periods of action as they lost a 6-5 hockey decision in the city arena Wednesday night against the conference foe.

Northland is now 2-12 on the year and will be back in action Saturday night when they host the University of North Dakota junior varsity in the city arena beginning at 7:30.

Freshman defenseman Ed Bogie put Itasca in front 1-0 Wednesday night with his unassisted goal off a hard slap shot from outside the blue line with 12:59 remaining in the first period.

Greenway native Bill Guyer scored his team's second goal with a long slap shot that slid past NSJC goalie Maurie Pearson on an assist from Mike Selmser with 9:41 remaining. Itasca's third goal came off the stick of Steve Flink from the right side with John Stacklie getting an assist on the goal with 6:18 left to play.

Northland scored again just 43 seconds later to trim the Itasca lead to 3-2 with 16:13 remaining in the second period. Sophomore Larry Skime of Roseau fired his close range shot from in front of the net for the score with an assist going to Mike Schmitz on the play.

Bill Guyer scored the two second period goals for Itasca for a three-goal hat trick for the game. The freshman wing scored his second goal of the night on a breakaway shot with 6:21 remaining with Dave Prestige getting an assist on the score. Guyer again scored for Itasca with 46 seconds remaining in the second period for his hat trick and a 5-2 lead for Itasca. His third goal was an unassisted slap shot from 16 feet.

Skime scored his second goal of the game for Northland with 15:18 left in the game as he skated by his defender for a close range unassisted goal while the Northmen were a man short.

Bob Prestige scored an unassisted goal on a rebound shot for Itasca with 13:24 remaining in the third period for a 6-3 Itasca lead before Northland came back to cut the margin to 6-5 on goals from Bob Lundbohm and Donn Haugen.

Lundbohm's goal came on an assist from Leo Marshall on a rebound shot with 5:58 remaining in the contest. Haugen scored the game's final goal on a breakaway shot from the left side on assists from Lundbohm and Tim Carlson with 1:58 remaining in the contest.

Enrollment Growth Studied By U of M

Increasing enrollments on the elementary and junior and senior high school levels are areas of concern for the Thief River Falls school district. Summary of studies and alternatives was presented at the last regular meeting of the board of education by Dr. Charles Sederberg, director of the University of Minnesota bureau of field studies and surveys.

Dr. Sederberg's study shows that Franklin junior high school has a recommended capacity of 600 students and will have 882 students in 1971-72—282 above the recommended capacity. If Mark Twain elementary school was converted to junior high school use, the recommended capacity would increase to 875—still seven below the projected enrollment for next year.

Junior high school enrollment is projected to reach 1,013 by 1977-78—when this year's kindergarten class begins seventh grade—413 greater than the present recommended capacity and 138 above the recommended capacity of Franklin and Mark Twain combined. Junior high enrollment is then expected to taper off to 971 by 1980-1981.

Elementary school study shows that only in Washington school is 1970-71 enrollment below maximum recommended capacity. (Maximum recommended capacity is based on 30 square feet of space per pupil.) At Washington the maximum recommended capacity is 360 and the enrollment is 329. At Knox the recommended capacity is 279 and the enrollment is 351, at Mark Twain the recommended maximum is 287 and the enrollment is 273; and at Northrop the maximum recommended capacity is 286 and the enrollment is 329.

St. Hilaire school, which will become part of the Thief River Falls district on July 1, has a maximum recommended capacity of [illegible] and an enrollment of [illegible].

Totals in the elementary report show that the district (including St. Hilaire) has 58 classrooms for grades 1-6, a maximum recommended capacity of 1,396 and a 1970-71 enrollment of 1,471—a total of 75 beyond the recommended capacity. Dr. Sederberg notes that five more rooms are needed for the surplus—three at Knox and two at Northrop—and that one kindergarten room is needed in addition to the present kindergarten rooms here.

If Mark Twain elementary should be used for junior high school purposes, 12 elementary classrooms would be lost. Dr. Sederberg also indicates that four existing classrooms could well be converted to provide improved supporting services. This would make a total of 22 elementary rooms needed to handle the elementary education of the district's students.

Recommended capacity of Lincoln senior high school is 723 (based on floor area), including Old Washington which has a useable capacity of 70. Use of the vocational section of the school could bring the total capacity to 1,065. Deducting the 70 capacity of Old Washington, current capacity would be 653 in the high school and 995 with use of the vocational section.

According to Dr. Sederberg's projections, Lincoln would be 105 over its recommended capacity next year with an enrollment of 758. Should the vocational area of the high school be used, even that additional capacity would be exceeded by 1978-79 when senior high school enrollment is predicted to reach 1,045.

Basic plan advanced by the bureau of field studies is as follows:

"1. Relieve the most critical enrollment problem, at the junior high, by using Mark Twain as additional secondary facilities.

"2. Relocate the students from Mark Twain plus some elementary growth in a new elementary school to be constructed in the southeast residential sector of Thief River Falls.

"3. Relieve overcrowding, improve facilities, and absorb some growth in the three older elementary schools through remodeling and small additions to each.

"4. Provide additional high school space and improve the post-high school AVTS program by reallocating existing space and by constructing a vocational school addition that will allow all post-high school programs to be operated at the AVTS site."

The bureau of field studies provides a rationale for its basic plan in accordance with its studies of the local situation.

Other alternatives offered at the junior high school were construction of an addition, construction of temporary space or rental of space.

Another alternative presented was construction of a new senior high school, conversion of Lincoln and the vocational area of that building to junior high school use, and use the Franklin school for elementary education.

The board of education thanked Dr. Sederberg for his report and requested other information which will be presented at a later meeting. Dr. Sederberg's report and supportive information covered 23 pages of typewritten material.

Changes Made In Local Ordinance For Snowmobiles

Three changes were made in the proposed Thief River Falls snowmobile ordinance during the second reading of the ordinance, which occurred at the city council meeting last night (Tuesday).

Provisions added to the ordinance would permit persons under 14 years of age to operate snowmobiles if accompanied by a responsible adult, either on the same machine or riding a different machine. The regulation previously prohibited all riding of snowmobiles in the city by persons under 14.

Another modification of the ordinance requires that snowmobilers use the lights on their machines during all operation, daylight or dark, when the machine is within the city limits. The proposal was made because of the difficulty in seeing the low-profiled machines, particularly at dusk.

The third change affects the restriction on travel on non-commercial area streets by snowmobiles. The ordinance stated that no travel would be allowed on residential streets

Man Banned For Law Violations

Lowell Thomas has been banned from Pennington county and Thief River Falls for one year's time. The banishment is a condition of the 12 months' probation Thomas received in lieu of three 30-day jail sentences imposed upon him Monday by judge of probate Stanley N. Mortenson in the municipal division of Pennington county probate court.

Thomas appeared in court to answer to three separate charges made by three different law enforcement agencies. He had been arrested by the Minnesota Highway patrol for having an open container of alcoholic beverage in a motor vehicle, the Pennington county sheriff's office for disorderly conduct, and Thief River Falls police for failure to yield right of way.

On each charge, he was sentenced to 30 days in jail, to be served consecutively, with the jail sentence stayed in each case, provided he have no further violations for a period of one year and provided that he stay out of Pennington county and Thief River Falls, unless making prior arrangements with the court before coming into the county or city.

In other highway patrol activity in court, Douglas Torbina, Thief River Falls, forfeited $15 for speeding; Gerald A. Heggestuen, Alvarado, forfeited $50 for speeding; Herbert Goethe, Goodridge, was fined $15 with $5 suspended for speeding; Wyman W. Hjelle, Newfolden, was fined $50 and sentenced to 30 days in jail for driving after suspension of his driver's license, jail sentence stayed on condition that he have no violations for one year; and James K. Sewill, Crookston, open container of alcoholic beverage in motor vehicle, $50 fine with $25 suspended.

Merle Kruschke, Thief River Falls, was found guilty at trial of spearing fish in a darkhouse without a license, and fined $15 with $5 suspended. His was the only conservation case during the session.

Police cases heard at court Monday included those of Leatrice F. Waiz, Thief River Falls, disobeying stop sign, $15 fine with $5 suspended; Sharon Sims, Thief River Falls, disobeying stop sign, $15 bond forfeit; Leland E. Burud, Dilworth, speeding, $19 bond forfeit; Daryl Voecks, Thief River Falls, violation of instruction permit, 15 days in jail, also careless driving, 15 days in jail, and theft, $100 fine and 30 days in jail, jail sentences stayed for 12-month probationary period, and William Rondorf, Thief River Falls, disobeying stop sign, $15 bond forfeit.

Municipal peace officers also produced charges against Vernon C. Beland, Thief River Falls, speeding, $24 bond forfeit; Lawrence A. Ward, Thief River Falls, driving too fast for conditions, $25 fine with $10 suspended; Harold M. Nasa, Middle River, failure to yield right of way, $25 fine with $10

Sign-Up Meeting For Sunflower Firm Thursday

Sign-up meeting for growers interested in contracting with Si-Mar Sunflower company will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. in the Rex cafe in Thief River Falls. Contract information will be presented and contracts will be available for signature at the meeting.

Si-Mar Sunflower company, a new Thief River Falls firm, is seeking 5,000 to 8,000 acres of sunflowers this summer. The company will handle seed for varieties of sunflowers used in the confectionery trade only, and will clean and grade the production in the fall.

Si Hanson, manager of the company, noted that the contract offered is better than sunflower contracts offered last year in this area.

Seniors Will Collect Bottles

To earn money for the snow festival to be held February 15-20, seniors at Lincoln senior high school will collect pop bottles Saturday. Class members will go door-to-door in the residential areas and ask that residents have bottles ready to contribute.

The class raising the most money for a selected charity will have its candidates reign as king and queen of the festival. Classes will be conducting service projects to raise funds rather than selling votes.

Snowflakes - Work For City Crew

PILES OF SNOW are loaded into the city's trucks to be hauled to one of several locations in and around Thief River Falls for disposal. The three trucks used can carry about 15 cubic yards of snow each. Ernest Bjerken, Clifford Olson, and, occasionally, Howard Nelson are the truck drivers.

by Jim Lee
Times Reporter

If cleaning the driveway and walks of snow sometimes seems like a trial, consider moving enough snow to build a pile 10 feet high and 16 feet wide and 1,350 feet long.

This is the job facing the street department crew in Thief River Falls every time the white flakes come down. On an average, they will move this quantity of snow 10 times each winter.

The amount is calculated from figures supplied by street commissioner Roy Jensen, Thief River Falls. According to Jensen, about 100 hours of truck operation, moving 150 cubic yards per hour, are required to free Thief River Falls thoroughfares of snow.

Equipment available to the crew includes three trucks, each of which has a 15-cubic-yard capacity; a front-end loader and a motor grader, all owned by the city. In addition, the city usually is assisted by one grader owned by the state highway department.

Work in the business district normally begins at midnight

'70 Tax Delinquency Only 1.96 Per Cent

In spite of much ado over-taxation, Pennington county taxpayers are apparently falling into line to make their annual contribution to the support of government services.

According to county treasurer A. E. Jorgenson, tax deliquency in the county has fallen from 2.11 per cent recorded last year to 1.96 per cent for 1970. The 1970 figure is higher, however, than the 1.80 per cent deliquent in 1968.

Highest percentage of delinquency occurred in Clover Leaf township, where 15.35 per cent went unpaid. Of the $25,283.30 total levy, $20,419.90 was paid, cancellations and abatements amounted to $2.50, and $3,881.44 was counted delinquent after credit of $979.46 was given on the 35 per cent state sales tax credit allowed.

Bray township ran a weak second percentage-wise, with 11.13 per cent of collectible tax money still outstanding at the end of 1970. This amounts to $19,533.88 paid out of a total levy of $22,785.60, with no cancellations or abatements, and $731.26 allowed on the sales tax credit, for total delinquent dollars amounting to $2,540.46.

At the other end of the spectrum was the township of Silverton, with .51 per cent ($340.08) of its taxes unpaid. Of a $65,658.84 total levy, $62,966.74 were paid by the end of 1970. The township's cancellations and abatements were $33.16 and the sales tax credit was $2,352.02.

Running second at the low end of the scale was the city of Thief River Falls with a delinquency rate of only .89 per cent. The total levy was $1,308,747.20, and total taxes paid were $1,130,498.35. The city had cancellations and abatements of $4,983.40, and a sales tax credit of $163,932.36, leaving a total of $11,691.69 delinquent.

County-wide, the total levy was $2,289,171.69. Taxes paid in the county totaled $2,009,452.74 after cancellations and abatements of $6,208.92 and sales tax credit of $229,952.64 were allowed, leaving $44,990.36 delinquent.

In 1969, $2,023,531.14 was the total levied tax, and $1,766,472.34 was paid after allowances were made for $4,[illegible] in cancellations and abatements and $211,197.06 in sales tax credits. Delinquent taxes after the end of 1969 amounted to $42,714.49.

Drug Possession Charged In City

A 22-year-old Crookston man has been charged with possession of drugs by Thief River Falls police.

Gary Alan Mason was released on $500 bond after charges were filed against him January 13. Mason did not enter a plea, pending his consulting an attorney. Investigation by police is continuing.

Municipal police also had their normal abundance of traffic accidents to investigate. On the night of January 12 Myrle Carlson, city, notified police that his car, which had been parked on south Main avenue near the American Legion building, had been struck by an unknown vehicle which had apparently come out of the Legion parking lot. Damage to Carlson's car was estimated at $50.

January 13 at 9:45 p.m., a car driven by Jan Joppru, Rt. 1, city, was traveling south on Main avenue preparing to make a left turn onto Seventh street. Another car, driven by Truman Hanson, city, which was also going south on Main, struck the first car in the rear. Then a pickup truck, driven south on Main by Larry Wollin, city, in turn struck the Hanson car in the left rear. Damage to the first car was $20, to the second $45, and to the pickup $230.

At 1:20 p.m. January 15 a car driven by Robert Lindholm, Rt. 2, city, stopped, facing east, on Eighth street waiting for traffic to clear so that he could turn left onto Dewey avenue. Gustav Peterson, Crookston, who was driving east on Eighth street, collided with the rear of the Lindholm car. The result was $250 damage to the first vehicle.

Conservationist Kloubec Honored

Robert Kloubec, Thief River Falls, soil conservation supervisor, has been recognized for his contributions in the field of soil and water conservation.

Kloubec, who supervises the soil conservation work in Pennington county and the area serviced by the Grygla office, was one of four conservationists presented awards by Harry Major, state conservationist for the soil conservation service. The award was given Kloubec in recognition for exceeding his goals, developing and managing a highly efficient office, and promoting a well-balanced program. The presentation was made at the recent annual meeting of the Minnesota association of Soil and Water Conservation districts.

ACP Helps 765 Farmers Active In Conservation

During 1970, conservation problems were assisted through the Agricultural Conservation program on 765 farms in Pennington county, according to Wallace Sparby, county executive director. This represents approximately 90 per cent of the farms in the county. Approximately $283,554 was spent in the county last year on conservation problems. Of this amount, $153,000 was cost shared through the ACP program.

In addition to the cost sharing of conservation practices, the county ACP helped provide necessary technical services by transferring $3,260.16 to the Soil Conservation service.

A permanent vegetative type cover was established on 3,556 acres. This cover was established on 183 farms.

Thirty-two livestock watering pits were installed during 1970 with cost-sharing assistance from the ACP program.

Seven wildlife food plots were established along with five shallow water areas for wildlife purposes.

Ten farms planted 11.2 farmstead shelterbelt practices. This practice is designed to provide protection from prevailing winds to add to the beautification of the farmstead and to provide protection for wildlife.

Two pollution abatement practices were established in 1970 with cost sharing through the ACP program.

"1970 was a year of extensive participation for Pennington county farmers in the ACP program. A great number of conservation problems were solved through the practices which were implemented, however, there is a lot of conservation work remaining to be completed," Sparby said.

Hagen And Blatti Vows Exchanged At Our Saviors

Mr. and Mrs. Harland D. Blatti are at home in Duluth following an exchange of vows at Our Saviors Lutheran church in this city.

The birde, the former Sandra Yvonne Hagen, is a daughter of Mrs. Esther Hagen of Thief River Falls. Prior to her marriage, she was employed at Downtown Motel in Duluth. The groom, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Blatti, Sr., of Duluth, is employed by U.S. Steel, also in Duluth.

Rev. Melvin Walla officiated at the double-ring ceremony attended by approximately 100 relatives and friends. Mrs. Ronald Hewel, a friend of the bride, served as organist. She played appropriate nuptial selections before the ceremony, the traditional processional and recessional, and also accompanied the bride's sister, Mrs. Raymond Molskness who served as soloist and matron of honor. Mrs. Molskness sang "O Perfect Love," before the ceremony, "Abide With Us", as the couple knelt at the altar, and "Together Life's Pathway We Tred" before the recessional.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her uncle, Norman Hagen of Argyle. She was attired in a street-length gown of bonded knit boucle highlighted by a silver metalic thread. Styled in A-line fashion, the gown featured long tapered sleeves and a high neckline. A crystal jeweled headpiece held her shoulder-length veil. She carried a colonial styled bouquet of Wilburn Abby roses, gold baby mums and white carnations accented by satin streamers.

Mrs. Molskness was attired in a street-length gown of gold bonded knit. Wearing a similar gown of lime green bonded knit was the bridesmaid, Miss Mary Blatti of Wisconsin, sister of the groom. Both attendants wore identical corsages composed of bronze mums and Wilburn Abby roses.

Nick Blatti, Jr., of Michigan attended his brother as best man. Roland Wold of Roseau, a cousin of the bride, was groomsman and the ushers were Raymond Molskness, brother-in-law of the bride, and Kevin Hanson, cousin of the bride. Both reside in Thief River Falls. All wore dark business suits and with the exception of the groom, who wore a Wilburn Abby rose boutonniere, all had yellow carnation boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride was attired in a navy blue two-piece ensemble with black and white assessories. The mother of the groom wore a medium blue dress styled with three-quarter-length sleeves. Black accessories completed her attire. Their identical corsages were of champaigne tinted carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was hosted in the church parlors by the mother of the bride. Centering the serving table was a square, three-tiered wedding cake, made and decorated by Mrs. Clarence Molskness. To correspond with the bride's bouquet, the cake was decorated with shaded orange roses. Topping the cake was a golden Christogram. Mrs. Evan Hanson of Thief River Falls, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Don Bernhardson, a friend, cut and served the cake as Mrs. Martin Anderson of Badger, aunt of the bride, poured.

Presiding at the guest book was Carol Molskness of Thief River Falls, a niece of the bride. Gloria Stenberg of Thief River Falls and Rose Berberich of Roseau arranged the gifts. Waitresses were cousins of the bride, Shelly Wold, Lorna Hanson, both of Thief River Falls, and Lynae Broten of Viking. Their yellow organdy aprons were gifts from the bride.

Marriage Vows Said By Mary Kraemer-Wayne Ness

Miss Mary Kraemer became the bride of Wayne Ness at a double ring ceremony held recently at St. Bernard's Catholic church in this city.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kraemer of rural Thief River Falls. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Orlin Ness of Holt.

Officiating at the nuptial Mass was the bride's great uncle, Rev. Ulric Beste, OSB, of St. John's University, Collegeville, who had also officiated at the wedding of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kraemer. Assisting Rev. Beste at the ceremony were Rev. Keough Patnode and Rev. Roger Grundhaus. Mrs. William Halbasch, a friend of the bride, presided at the organ and also accompanied Shirley Hillyer, a cousin of the bride, as she sang, "Ave Maria."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a floor-length gown of white satin, styled in empire fashion with full-length sleeves. Lace trim outlined the rounded neckline and marked the princess seaming in front and back. Miniature covered buttons cascaded down the front of the gown. Lace, identical to the trim on her gown, edged her chapel-length veil. She carried a bouquet of ivory and orange roses in cascading arrangement.

Mrs. Keith (Jane) Mackenroth of Cannon Falls, a friend of the bride, was personal attendant.

Maid of honor was Jean Kraemer of Thief River Falls, a sister of the bride. Serving as bridesmaids were LeMae Ness of Holt and Marcene Ness of Moorhead, sisters of the groom. Michelle Kraemer, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. All were attired in empire fashioned floor-length gowns of orange velveteen accented with orange and gold trim at the high-rise waistline and around the wrists of their long, full sleeves. In their hair, they wore a band of matching trim. Each carried a long-stemmed ivory rose. Their charms worn on a bracelet, were gifts from the bride.

Attending the groom as best man was his cousin, James Kaz of Osseo. The groomsmen were Michael Kraemer, a brother of the bride, and Loren Voecks, a friend of the groom. Junior groomsman was Ronald Ness of Holt, a brother of the groom. The guests were seated by Marc Pream of St. Cloud, brother-in-law of the bride, and Thomas Gast of Minneapolis, cousin of the groom. The men of the wedding party wore black tuxedos. The groom's boutonniere was an orange rose taken from the bride's bouquet. His attendants had ivory roses pinned on their lapels.

The mother of the bride was attired in a deep green dress complemented by cameo jewelry and a corsage of ivory and orange roses. A similar corsage was worn by the mother of the groom who was attired in a beige dress accented by brown lace trim and dark brown jewelry.

Special guests at the wedding were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Mary (Fred) Kraemer of this city, and the grandparents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Ness of Holt.

Approximately 250 relatives and friends were guests at a turkey supper in the church parlors hosted by the parents of the bride. Serving as reception host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kloubec, friends of the couple. Claudia Kraemer, sister of the bride, registered the guests.

The six tiered wedding cake, separated by ornate cornucopia pillars, was decorated with orange roses and topped with a wedding bell ornament. Mrs. Marc (JoAnn) Pream, sister of the bride, and Karen Kaz, cousin of the groom, cut and served the cake. Waitresses were Peggy Waldera, Val Bonitt, Nicki Kloubec and Peggy Almquist. Donell Harstad of Osseo, cousin of the groom, presided at the gift table.

Guests attending the wedding were from Winnipeg, Man., Canada; Minneapolis, Moorhead, St. Paul, St. Cloud, Osseo, Big Lake and Cannon Falls.

For her going away attire, for traveling to the southern part of the state, the bride wore a brown pant suit which her mother had made.

The bride is a graduate of the Lincoln high school and the Thief River Falls Area vocational technical school. Prior to her marriage, she was employed by the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce. The groom, a graduate of the high school at Newfolden and the Control Data Institute, Minneapolis, is employed in Anoka by Cornelius company.

Minnesota Has Highest AFDC Grant In Nation

Federal government statistics show that the average monthly maintenance payment to AFDC welfare recipients in Minnesota is the highest in the nation, according to the Minnesota Taxpayers association.

"In July of 1970, most recent month for which statistics have been compiled by the U.S. department of health, education and welfare, there were 88,600 recipients of 'Aid to Families With Dependent Children' in Minnesota," said Harald T. Miller, research director of the association. "They received an average payment of $74.50—the highest average payment in the nation, and 56 per cent above the national average of $47.75.

"Minnesota's average money payment of $74.50 per recipient topped the averages in neighboring states by from 21 to 44 per cent. The Wisconsin average was $61.35, North Dakota $54.30, South Dakota $53.25, Iowa $51.80, Illinois $55.30 and Michigan $52.55.

"The $6,603,000 total of AFDC maintenance payments in Minnesota in July of 1970 was an increase of 68.5 per cent over July of 1968. Nationally, the increase in payments in that period was 37.3 per cent.

"The 67,400 children and 21,100 adults who received AFDC maintenance payments in July of 1970 reflected a one-year increase of 32.7 per cent in the number of recipients in Minnesota. Nationally, the increase was 27.3 per cent."

Miller noted that the bulk of Minnesota's AFDC recipients are in the two metropolitan counties, Hennepin and Ramsey. In September, according to a recent report of the Minnesota Department of Public Welfare, these two counties had 61 per cent of the AFDC case load and made 69 per cent of the money payments.

"The Welfare Department has warned that both the caseload and the average monthly maintenance payment can be expected to continue upward for the next several years," Miller said.

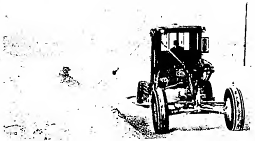
Reminds Aliens To Give Address

John W. Bowser, district director of the immigration and naturalization service in St. Paul, urges all aliens who have not yet reported their addresses to the government to do so no later than January 31 to avoid possible penalties.

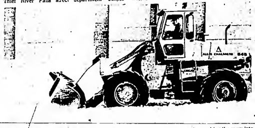
The law requires that every alien except those having diplomatic status and representatives of certain international organizations must file the address report during January of each year at the nearest post office or immigration and naturalization service office.

Forms with which to make the reports are available at all post offices and immigration and naturalization service offices. It is an easy matter to fill out one of the cards and return it to the same office.

Social security number should be shown on the registration card. Aliens and employers are advised that the possession of a social security card does not entitle aliens to work in the United States. Only aliens admitted for permanent residence or certain classes of nonresident aliens authorized to do so by the immigration and naturalization service may take employment. Violators of this restriction are subject to certain penalties.



SCRAPING THE SNOW from the ground into "windrows" is the job of the motor grader operator during snow removal operation undertaken by the Thief River Falls street department. James Johnson, Howard Nelson and, (intermittently) on occasion, Frank Lull operate the city's grader after snow becomes deep enough to cause problems for traffic.



WINDROWS OF SNOW are pushed into piles with a front-end loader, then left until the piles can be hauled away by city trucks. After working most of the night loading the trucks, the loader also is used for about three hours per day pushing the snow into piles in preparation for the next night's hauling. Loader operators are Leo Knutson and Howard Nelson.

City Crew Works To Clear Snow From Streets, Lots

after a storm or snowfall. Graders scrape the snow from the streets into windrows, so that the loader can collect the snow and place it on the trucks.

The snow is then hauled to one of several locations around Thief River Falls to be dumped—behind the Land O'Lakes plant on the east side of Pennington avenue, in the athletic field parking lot, on a lot northwest of the municipal shop, or south of the Eighth street bridge west of the Thief river.

Due to increased traffic activity, snow-hauling operations stop at 8 a.m. The loader works on for another three hours, however, stockpiling snow for the next morning's operation, and the plows, manned by a second crew, continue to open residential streets.

Snow from the first two snowfalls of the season are usually used in construction of the race track for the States-Dominion Snowmobile rally held at the Pennington county fairgrounds each winter. Besides hauling the snow to the area of the track, the city crews bank the curves and smooth and pack the track.

In addition to hauling the snow away from the downtown area and plowing residential streets and avenues, the city crews are responsible for clearing the snow at the municipal airport and on city parking lots. Work at the airport is usually done with a rotary plow between the hours of 4 and 6 a.m. The rotary plow is also used for cleaning bridges, because the snow can be blown over the railing and into the river quicker than it can be hauled off the bridge with the trucks.

Parking lots are cleaned of snow as time permits, but the streets and avenues are usually cleared completely of snow before work is begun in the lots.

Cleaning all the snow from the downtown area usually takes about four nights, Jensen says, with an eight-hour shift each night. In the residential areas, the first two nights after a snowfall are spent working with a truck-plow—one night on streets, the next on avenues. Then the motor graders begin scraping the streets and "winging" the snow back to the curbs, a procedure usually lasting about four days. In all, about 80 miles of streets and avenues are cleared after each snowfall.

Snow is completely removed from all the state highways through town out to the city limits. All of Davis avenue is also completely cleared, as are First street and Nora street, the main traffic arteries in the city.

Slippery intersections are treated with salt, in some instances, when the weather is not extremely cold. For chillier weather, when salt will not react to the water contained in the snow or ice, a mixture of sand and salt is spread on the corners to increase traction for motorists.

Men involved in snow removal in Thief River Falls are Gerhart Hanson, who spreads salt and sand as well as working with frozen water lines on occasion; Clifford Olson and Ernie Bjerken, truck drivers; Howard Nelson, who operates the loader and also drives the trucks when necessary; Leo Knutson, loader operator; Jim Johnson, who operates the grader on the night shift; Norman Bleckstad, truck-plow operator; and Gerald Pederson, mechanic. In addition, Frank Lull is often hired for a day or two after a heavy snowfall when an extra man is needed.

Commissioner Jensen has been in charge of the department since 1967. He was employed by the street department since 1960, and prior to that he worked in the city electric "power house." Before joining the city's work force, Jensen worked for a private construction company.

Biggest problems involved in snow removal, according to the commissioner, are traffic and parked cars. Traffic interferes with the trucks hauling the snow, and the parked vehicles create hazards for the men operating the plows in the residential areas.

Another problem Jensen cites is the work involved in hauling snow pushed into the streets by the owners of private parking lots. "We have to do it to clear the streets," the commissioner says, "but as far as I'm concerned, it's a case of private use of public funds."

Public funds involved are about $1,700 per week. This includes the cost of fuel, oil, grease, cutting edges for the equipment, and labor. No equipment rental charges or cost of repairs of city equipment are included in this figure.

Changes Made In Selling Grain Under CCC Loan

Changes have been made in the procedure for removing farm stored grain under loan to Commodity Credit corporation.

"If you wish to have your loan released for sale, a request must be signed by the producer prior to the release of the farm loan collateral," states Wallace Sparby, Pennington ASCS director.

"You must sign a statement noting that you have selected a buyer. Second, the authorization to remove the commodity for sale does not release you from your liability on the loan indebtedness.

"The loan collateral is released to you, the producer, for delivery to a buyer for sale instead of to the buyer."

These changes in the procedure are effective immediately, notes Winton Knutson, chairman of the Pennington county ASCS committee.

Bren Appointed As Deputy Chief

Raymond S. Bren, who has served on the Thief River Falls police force since 1953, has been temporarily appointed deputy chief of police.

The appointment was made January 13 by police chief Roland E. Waller after the Thief River Falls city council approved a reorganizational plan submitted by the chief. The plan called for dissolution of the position of police captain on the staff, and replacement with the position of deputy chief. Bren's appointment became effective January 15.

After the appointment, however, a question as to legality of the action was brought before the city council. What is termed a "legal technicality" of state law is presently under study by the city attorney and the council, pending a request for legislative action on the technicality. In the meantime, Bren will serve in the capacity of deputy chief.

Duties of the deputy chief, as laid out by the chief, consist of assisting the chief in the administration of the force, and serving as force commander in the absence of the chief. In addition, Bren will continue serving as juvenile officer and as commander of the noon to 8 p.m. shift of officers.

The acting deputy chief started working for the local police force March 15, 1953. Prior to that, he served five years in the Army and worked at the Warren creamery, Thief River Falls Red Owl store, where he was assistant manager for one and one-half years, and as a department head for Montgomery-Ward stores. A native of Oslo, Bren attended Oslo high school, but did not receive a diploma until April, 1970, when he was awarded a high school equivalency diploma.

"I had to learn it (law enforcement) as it came," the officer reminisces about his first years on the force. "There was no training as there is now.

"They fitted me out in a hand-me-down uniform, gave me a gun, and told me to go out on the street."

The size of the force has changed since that time, also. "We had one matron, a chief, two regular patrolmen and three or four part-time patrolmen at that time," the acting deputy chief remembers. "Sometimes we had only one man per shift." The force now consists of 15 full-time officers, who work in three shifts.

Bren recalls that some of his most interesting work was done while acting as juvenile officer. He says he gained great satisfaction out of his "dealings with underprivileged boys and girls. My only problem has been that I couldn't do what I would like to have done for some of them."

He also notes that there are different categories of children. "Some are easy, while others just can't be talked to. I'm surprised by the amount of cooperation I've gotten from the parents of children who have gotten into trouble with the law.

"Children seem to feel that a police officer's job is to arrest and punish them. I've tried to impress them by being willing to help.

"Sometimes I was lenient and it backfired. Then I blamed myself. Being lenient turned out all right in most cases, though."

Besides working with children in his capacity of juvenile officer, a post he has held for 15 years, Bren has also been active in working with school and youth groups. He has spent time installing and instructing school patrols, bicycle safety programs, and general safety programs for children.

In addition, the officer served two years as the local American Legion chairman of the school patrol, and served one year as ninth district Legion school patrol chairman. He also has lectured 4-H and other youth groups on safety.

While serving on the force, the officer has not been idle so far as continuing to learn about police functions is concerned. He attended identification and fingerprinting courses sponsored by the Minnesota Crime bureau, numerous Federal Bureau of Investigation courses, and traffic control courses. He has also been a member of the Minnesota Juvenile officer's association for 15 years, and a director of the Minnesota Police Officers association.

Officer Bren and his wife have five children—Carol, married and living in Rhode Island; James, in the Air Force in Thailand, Mary, a sophomore at Northland State Junior college; Donald, a senior at Lincoln High school, and Joel, a fifth-grader at Washington Elementary school. As avocations, Bren claims hunting and fishing, as well as some woodworking.

In looking back on his years on the force, the officer admits "When I first started here, I never intended to stay. I looked at being a police officer the same way everybody else did—I thought I'd be alone because I'd be making enemies all the time. But I've enjoyed the work, and the people I've worked with. My only regret is that I didn't join the force when I was younger."

APPOINTED deputy chief of the Thief River Falls police department, effective January 15, was officer Raymond S. Bren, who has been a member of the local force since March 15, 1953. Second senior man on the force, Bren will continue to serve as juvenile officer and commander of the noon to 8 p.m. shift of patrolmen as well as assisting the chief in the administration of the force.

Newfolden Leads Conference Race With 55-47 Win

Marshall County Central Nordics kept their conference record unblemished with a 55-47 win over the Roseau Rams on Friday, January 15.

Roseau led at half time 25-18 before the Nordics came back to tie the score after three quarters and pull away with the win the final eight minutes.

Marlin Bjornrud led the Nordic scorers with 17 points followed by Ron Voth with 16 and Mike Sollom hit for 11. Roo Bode led the Ram attack with 17 points and Kip Thakker added 10.

The Nordics suffered their second set back of the season January 12, at the hands of the Karlstad Rabbits 50-30.

The Nordics jumped to an early lead, but a basket at the buzzer tied the score at the half and the Rabbits went on from there to over-take the foul-plagued Nordics and run up a substantial lead.

Jim Musburger netted 20 to lead Karlstad while Ron Voth and Mike Sollom each hit seven points for Newfolden.

The Nordics are now 10-2 on the season and lead the North Border conference with a perfect 7-0 mark while Roseau remains in the second position in the conference race.

Next action for the Nordics will be Friday night when they will host Badger in an 8 p.m. contest.

Moorhead has one game remaining while the Aquarians have two games: the first one comes up tomorrow night in the Franklin junior high school gym when the Aquarians will take on Detroit Lakes in a 7:30 p.m. contest.

Thief River Falls and Moorhead will close out their seasons on the same evening when the Aquarians host Bemidji and Moorhead plays host to Brainerd on Thursday, January 28.

The top two teams in each division advance to the state tournament to be held next month in Alexandria. Granite Falls and Alexandria are the front runners in the southern division with Granite Falls carrying a 6-1 record and Alexandria stands 5-2 on the year.

Crookston Man On Drug Count

Roger Hagman, city, told police January 16 that his 1971 Arctic Cat snowmobile had been stolen from a parking lot near Northwestern hospital. Later the same day, Mrs. Ed Langlie notified police that she had found an apparently abandoned machine on west Greenwood boulevard, by the cemetery. Police checked the machine, which turned out to be the stolen one, and recovered it for the owner.

The same day, the same Mrs. Ed Langlie called police to tell them that someone had stolen her machine, a 1969 Arctic Cat, which she had left in the Family Bowl parking lot. The theft had occurred sometime between 3:30 and 4:30 p.m.

Next day, officer Harvey Tauer found the second stolen machine in the area of Red Carpet apartments on the west side of the city. Two juvenile boys, aged 12 and 13, admitted taking and riding the snowmobiles.

Vern's Outdoor sports notified police January 16 at 8:30 p.m. that a trailer bed had been stolen from a storage area outside the building. No value has been placed on the bed.

Alvin Dahlstrom, city, was traveling west on First street January 17 at 9:05 p.m. when he collided with a car driven by Edmund Peterson Jr., West St. Paul, who was going south on Kneale avenue, and due to icy conditions was unable to stop at the stop sign. Damage to the Dahlstrom auto was $300, to the Peterson car $95.

A City cab driven by Keith Hendrickson, city, sustained $100 damage, and a car driven by Richard Benke, city, had $175 damage after the two crashed at 8:20 a.m. January 18. The cab had been going south on LaBree avenue and the car east on Sixth street at the time the two met unexpectedly.

Icy conditions contributed to a collision January 18 at 3:40 p.m. when Robert Myers, city, failed to stop his car at a stop sign and struck a car driven by Richard Fell, Winnipeg, Man., Canada. Fell had been going east on Third street when Myers, who was traveling north on Kendall avenue, slid against his car. Damage in the Canadian's car was $500, to the Myers car $25.

At 8:40 p.m. January 18 a car driven by David Talmage, St. Paul, was going east on Third street behind another car, when it turned right into an alley, reportedly to miss the other car, which apparently slowed—or stopped. Talmage's car struck a light pole in the alley, causing $200 damage to the car and $65 to the pole.

Food Appeal For Mattison Family Meets Success

Response to a local appeal for non-perishable foods for the family of Mrs. Janice Mattison, Plummer, has been gratifying during the first three days of the appeal, according to Mrs. Dennis Monroe, organizer of the campaign.

Mrs. Monroe will host an open house at her home at 601 St. Paul av. S. on Friday from 7 to 11 p.m., at which time donors can meet Mrs. Mattison and visit with her. The Mattisons lost their living quarters and service station business in a fire January 10.

Canned goods, spices, baking supplies and other non-perishable items are being sought in the appeal. Anyone can bring such items to the Monroe home, or call Mrs. Monroe at 681-1987.

January 16 at 3:45 Hjalmer Anseby, Rt. 2, Thief River Falls, was driving his car on a Norden township road three miles west, four miles north, and one-half mile west of Thief River Falls. He stopped his car on the road, and the car was struck in the rear by a station wagon driven by William Bulger, also Rt. 2, Thief River Falls, who was unable to stop due to ice on the road. No injuries were reported, but damage to the Bulger wagon was estimated at $300, to the Anseby car $150.

SCHOOL LUNCH PROGRAM

Independent School Dist. No. 447 Announces New Free and Reduced Price Policy. Independent School Dist. No. 447 has long recognized the need for helping meet the nutritional needs of its students. The Grygla School and Gatzke School serve a well-balanced nutritious lunch each day. The charge to students who can pay is 12 cents. However, since some families find it difficult to pay this full price, the school will provide these lunches free of charge or at a reduced price to those children determined by Kenneth Rusten, Principal, or Joyce Larnsen, to be unable to pay the full price for their lunches.

Families who feel that their children may be eligible for free or reduced price lunches are urged to apply. Copies of the application form were sent home in a letter to parents earlier this week. Additional copies may be obtained at Grygla and Gatzke Schools. The completed application, signed by an adult member of the family should be sent to Kenneth Rusten, Grygla School or Joyce Larensen, Gatzke School. Such applications will be reviewed promptly and within 5 days the family will be notified in writing as to the decision made. All information provided on the application will be held in the strictest confidence. Decisions for approval will be based on the following Income Scale.

NOTE: "Family" means a group of related or nonrelated individuals who are not residents of an institution or boarding house, but who are living as one economic unit.

"Income" means income before deductions for income taxes, employees' social security taxes, insurance premiums, bonds, etc. It includes the following: (1) Monetary compensation for services, including wages, salary, commissions, or fees; (2) net income from nonfarm self employment; (3) net income from farm self employment; (4) social security; (5) dividends or interest on savings or bonds, income from estate or trusts or net rental income; (6) public assistance or welfare payments; (7) unemployment compensation; (8) Government civilian employee or military retirement, or pensions, or veteran's payments; (9) private pensions or annuities; (10) alimony or child support payments; (11) regular contributions from persons not living in the household; (12) net royalties; and (12) other cash income.

In applying these guidelines, school food authorities may consider both the income of the family during the past 12 months and family's current rate of income to determine which is the better indicator of the need for free and reduced price lunches.

Any unusual circumstances or hardships which affect the family's ability to pay for school lunches, such as prolonged illness in the family, unexpected expenses due to fire, flood, or any other disaster of this nature; seasonal unemployment and similar emergency situations, will also be considered.

If a family is not satisfied with the decision made on their application, it may request a hearing to appeal the decision. This request may be made orally or in writing to John Smeby, Board Chairman, at Grygla, Minn. who will review the application with them and see if different arrangements can be made.

The school district's formal free and reduced price policy statement and the procedure that will be followed when a decision is appealed are on file at the Grygla and Gatzke Schools and may be reviewed by any interested person.

Prowlers Out-Shoot Eagles 58-13 In 3-0 Blanking

Bob Tuff's Lincoln high school Prowler hockey team upped its season record to 9 3 1 last night in the city arena with a 3-0 blanking of the Red Lake Falls Eagles.

The Prowlers bombarded Eagle goalies Dale Wavra and Dick Gervais with 58 shots during the contest while Prowler netminder Tom Nepper was called on to make just 13 saves in the game. In fact, the busiest Nepper seemed to be all night was when he skated over to the Prowler bench with 6 17 left in the game to have his back scratched by the student manager.

Fans were just settling in their seats when the Prowlers scored their first goal of the evening with 2 09 gone in the opening period and for a while it looked as if that would be the only scoring in the contest. Senior right wing Merv Eriksson scored the Prowler goal from the left side of the Eagles net after taking his own rebound off Wavra from close range. Prowler captain Roger Lee was credited with an assist on the score.

Both teams had threatened before the Prowler score as Paul Johnson's hard slap shot from the right point hit the pipe with 14:44 remaining. Red Lake Falls had a scoring opportunity with 13:18 remaining when Nepper was drawn to the right of the Prowler net but the Eagles' Dick Harren could not get his stick on the puck lying in front.

There was no scoring in the second period but the Prowlers still kept the pressure on Wavra as they out-shot the Eagles 18 2.

The Prowlers thought they had a second period goal with 3 47 remaining when Mike Protz shot from the blue line and his rebound was forced under Wavra but the officials disallowed the score because the Prowlers had skaters in the goal crease.

Merv Eriksson scored his second goal of the night with 12:47 remaining in the third period as he took a centering pass from Roger Lee from the right side and fired from close range in front of the Eagles net. Defenseman Rob Swenson was also credited with an assist on the score.

Jeff Bottem just missed getting the Prowlers' second goal of the game earlier when his slap shot from 20 feet caromed off the inside of the goal pipe.

Defenseman Mike Protz finished the game's scoring with 3:49 remaining in the contest as he fired the goal from the point on a Prowler power play. Protz fired once from the blue line and Roger Lee took the rebound and passed to Protz who fired again for the score. Lee was credited with his third assist of the game on Protz' goal.

The Prowlers Bee's extended their winning streak to 11 games without a loss on the year with a 5-0 blanking of the Eagles in the preliminary contest.

The Prowlers will be on the road Saturday night when they travel to powerful Grand Forks Central in the sports arena beginning at 6 15 with the B game. Central is the number one rated ice team in North Dakota and has won the North Dakota state tournament for 10 straight years.

Next home action for the Prowler icemen will be Saturday, January 30, when they will host Baudette.

SAVES - TRF 2; RLF 18

Third Period

SCORING - TRF, Merv Eriksson, assisted by Roger Lee and Rob Swenson, 12:47 remaining. TRF, Mike Protz, assisted by Roger Lee, 3 49 remaining.

PENALTIES - TRF, Roger Lee, charging, 11:27 remaining. TRF, Paul Johnson, tripping, 9 51 remaining. RLF, Jeff LaCoursiere, hooking, 8:16 remaining; RLF, Bob St. Marie, interference, 4:17 remaining; TRF, Tom Goddard, tripping, 5:06 remaining; RLF, John Harren, hooking, 2 40 remaining.

SAVES - TRF 5, game total 13; RLF 14, game total 55.

MERV ERIKSSON fires the puck past prone Eagle goalie Dale Wavra for a score in last night's 3-0 win for the Prowlers in the city arena. Eriksson scored twice and Mike Protz scored once for the Prowlers while Prowler captain Roger Lee (12) was credited with three assists during the game. Sophomore Jon Markstrom stands in the background as Eriksson scores with 12 47 remaining in the third period.

PLAY BY PLAY ON SPORTS

with Mike Lundgren

Thief River Falls has not won a basketball game against the Bemidji Lumberjacks since a 48-46 win during the 1960-61 cage season. In addition to that mark, the Prowlers have not won a basketball game played at Bemidji since a 48-40 win during the 1951-52 season.

Since the two schools began meeting each other on the basketball court in 1926 the teams have played each other at least twice each season with the exception of two seasons when they met just once a year. During that span the Lumberjacks have won 82 games while the Prowlers have managed just 19 wins.

The Prowlers came close to ending their winning drought against the Jacks Friday night at Bemidji with a fine fourth quarter performance but mistakes gave the Lumberjacks the game in the last minute-and-a-half of the contest.

The saying in this situation is of course, "wait till next year," but 10 years and 25 games is a long time to wait.

The going doesn't get any easier for Whitey Olson's hoopsters this week as the Prowlers travel to East Grand Forks Friday night to meet powerful "East Side" before returning home against an experienced Cass Lake five on Saturday night.

Against Larry Selk's Green Wave the Prowlers will be facing the number six ranked class A school in the state who own a 9-1 season record with their only loss coming at the hands of Grand Forks Red River on a last second shot.

Forward Kurt Knoll leads the Green Wave this season with a conference-leading 24 point average. The 6-2 junior guard was last year's most valuable player in the Big Five Conference.

The remaining starters for the Green Wave include 6-7 senior Mark Syrstad at center with his 14.7 average and Scott Gravseth along with Don Johnson, a pair of 6-3 forwards who average 0 3 and 16 3 points per game and sophomore Rip Thompson at the other guard. Johnson is the leading rebounder in the Big Five Conference with 28 caroms in three games while Syrstad is second with 27.

"East Grand Forks is the best basketball team in region eight in years," said Prowler mentor Whitey Olson, who also said he might mix his line-up for Friday night's encounter.

With Rande Smith and Dale Hanson staying at center and forward, Olson might shift 6-1 Mike Hamerlinck back to a guard position with Kent Smith and insert either captain Mark Thyren or Pat Hamilton, a pair of 6-2 seniors, up on the front line.

"We've got to get the ball into our big men more since they are shooting real well around the baskets," said Olson. "We've also got to get more strength at guard so we don't get held up so much," quipped Olson.

Cass Lake will invade the Lincoln gym Saturday night beginning at 6:15 with the B game with three starters returning from last year's squad which lost only one game all year long, that being at tournament time.

The three "dandys" as coach Olson calls them are 5-10 Mike Ellis at guard 6-2 Mark Hanson at center and 6-2 Dale Vigen at a forward.

Cass Lake is 6-3 on the year, having lost to Bemidji. Little Fork-Big Falls and Remer. Olson said both "East Side" and Cass Lake will apply a man to man pressure-type defense.

Bob Tuff's Lincoln high school hockey team will have their hands full Saturday night when they take on always-tough Grand Forks Central in the Grand Forks sports arena.

The Indians have one of the finest high school hockey players in the area in the likes of Gary Purpur who leads the greater Grand Forks hockey teams in scoring with 10 goals and 23 assists for 33 points in 12 games.

Central also has the 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th ranking scorers in Grand Forks with Terry Paukert, Dave Lamb, Pat Endres and Tony Palmiseno. Paukert leads the club with 11 goals in 12 games.

The Indians lead the North Central Conference with a 6-0 record and Roy Nystrom's skaters are 12-1 overall for the season.

Coach Tuff feels his team is still gaining in valuable experience with every game and see's his club as a real contender when tournament time rolls along. "We played a strong game against Roseau and although we did have a couple of defensive lapses we did play a pretty good game," said Tuff. "our two defensemen, Paul Olson and Paul Johnson, played an exceptional game as a unit, their strongest game so far," noted Tuff.

"Grand Forks is always tough and they do have a fine player in Purpur. They like to skate but their strong point is that they play positional hockey," stated the Prowler head man.

Northland state junior college will be looking for their first win over the University of North Dakota junior varsity when the two teams meet tonight (Wednesday) at 7:30 in the Lincoln high school gym. The Northmen are 0-4 against the junior Sioux.

Coach Chet Engelman was pleased with his team's performance in their first win of the season over Hibbing last Saturday, 91-73, in the Lincoln gym. The win over Hibbing was just the second over the Cardinals and the first win since January, 1967 when the Northmen won their very first game against a Minnesota junior college team.

UND's attack will be led by a pair of 6-3 guards in Rick Lindback and Kevin Kroeger and by 6-5 forward Greg Johnson. The UND JV's are 6-3 for the year.

Northland will host Crookston Tech Friday night in the Lincoln gym at 7:30 for the second encounter of the year with the Trojans. UMC beat Northland 102-82 earlier in the season at Crookston.

"Crookston has probably the best individual player in the league in Pablo Ronderos," Engelman said. The Columbia, South American student is big, strong and quick. Crookston is also blessed with two good guards and a strong forward in Jerry Lee.

Largest crowd to watch the U of M hockey team at Williams Arena was 0,490 who watched the North Dakota contest in January, 1958.

28 Fish Caught At Derby Here; Northern Wins

Twenty-eight fish, paced by a three-pound, eight-ounce northern, were caught at the annual fishing derby held Sunday afternoon by the Knights of Columbus council in Thief River Falls. A large number of people turned out in near zero temperatures to participate in the event on the Red Lake river near the Eighth street bridge.

Last year only two fish were caught—probably because they didn't want to come from the cozy waters beneath the ice into the outside area where temperatures hovered around 30 below zero.

For quite some time this past Sunday afternoon there was a tie for largest fish between a two-pound, five-ounce walleye caught by James Mohr of Red Lake Falls and a northern of the same weight caught by Casey Kayser of Thief River Falls. Shortly before the time limit expired, however, Harold Langaas of Thief River Falls dragged his lunker three-pound, eight-ounce northern to the scales to claim top honors for the day.

Other prize winners included Maynard Garfve, Newfolden, first fish with a two-pound walleye; Oscar Stenvick, Thief River Falls, oldest fisherman at age 79, Bryan Olson, Thief River Falls, youngest fisherman at age two; and Herbert Waltz, Jamestown, N.D., fisherman from the greatest distance.

Contest officials noted that there were some complaints that prizes were not given every 10 minutes as promised. They said that it was not possible to hold the drawings as scheduled due to the large crowd and the number of fish caught. All the prizes were given away, however, and the council will make every effort to remedy the situation at future fishing contests.

Thief River Falls Times

Volume 60 Wednesday, January 20, 1970 Number 6
Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota

State Highway Map Is Major Project

Minnesota department of highways has announced that the new, colorful 1971 official Minnesota highway map is available for general distribution January release of the map again makes Minnesota one of the few states to issue its official highway map well ahead of the tourist season.

Because of mailing costs, persons are urged to obtain maps from local sources. Offices and agencies distributing free maps include: Highway department district and maintenance area headquarters, local Chambers of Commerce, and the Department of Highways, Central Office, St. Paul.

As in the past, the maps will be available from the office of public information by sending postcards to the office of public information in the state highway building, St. Paul 55101.

The 1971 edition is one of the most accurate and helpful official state highway maps to ever come off the presses with every effort made to make the map not only extremely easy to read, but to inform as well.

Hundreds of cartographic changes were necessary to update last year's map. Most conspicuous change is the appearance of detailed street maps of downtown St. Paul and downtown Minneapolis incorporating the Interstate diagram maps of last year.

Other changes on the new map include showing the completion of the northwest outer ring of I-694 and I-35E to its junction with I-35W. (This is shown on the Metropolitan St. Paul-Minneapolis insert map on the reverse side of the map.) Shown on the front is the completion of I-35 from Moose Lake to Otter Creek, and I-94 from Rothsay to east of Moorhead. Also shown is the completed portion of I-90 from its junction with I-35 north of Albert Lea to T. H. 13.

Separate city maps for all outstate municipalities over 10,000 population based on the 1970 census are printed on the reverse side of the map. The population, also based on the 1970 census, is given for all incorporated cities and villages. All metropolitan area communities are shown in red on this year's map.

The locations of 67 state parks and wayside parks and a chart showing the facilities available at each one are also noted on the map.

Safety rest areas offering complete facilities are indicated by a solid red triangle within a circle. Safety rest areas offering only limited facilities are indicated by a solid red triangle. Special maps showing the location of travel trailer sanitary disposal stations are available from the office of public information of the Minnesota highway department.

Visitors will become familiar with the appearance of Minnesota symbols: the flag, the seal, the fish (walleye), the bird (loon), the flower (showy lady slipper), the rock (Lake Superior agate), and the tree (Norway pine).

Featured on the cover of the map is a full-color picture of the Lake Latoka safety rest area on I-94 near Alexandria in Douglas county.

An enlargement of the Interstate system in Minnesota is shown on the reverse side of the map, showing the current status of the system.

This year 1,000,000 maps are being printed: This is the second consecutive year for which the highway department has authorized purchase of one million copies of the popular publication. It serves not only as a highway map, but as a complete travel brochure as well .... for it contains information on national parks, listing of state parks and historical markers, state institutions, national historical monuments, recreation areas and U.S. ports of entry, rest areas, camp grounds, canoe areas, national and state forest, Indian reservations, and wild life management areas.

Work on the map, which was a joint project of the mapping section of the planning and programming and transit planning division and the office of public information, began back in June. All cartographic and technical work on the map was done by personnel of the highway department.

The map is carefully checked for errors and discrepancies by experts of the planning section.

The basic, corrected map, incorporating latest and intended highway improvements, photographs and the supplementary information, is then combined into a single package and made available for bidding.

After the contract is approved and the copy delivered to the printer, about a month passes before a "smooth rough" of the map layout is returned for final checking and editing.

In a matter of a day or so it is on its way back to the printers, and in a month 1,000,000 copies are received and distribution begins.

This year the printing contract was awarded to McGill Graphic Arts of St. Paul, one of the larger Twin City firms in the commercial printing field. The one million copies—the same as last year—were run off at a total cost to the state of approximately $50,000 for preparation and printing, or about five cents a copy.

Ten days of printing—three shifts a day—are required to produce the million copies on enough raw paper stock to fill two railroad box cars.

The official highway map has, through the years, proved itself so authentic and so precise in the information it bears, that it has become the traditional source of travel facts and statistics for bus lines, major trucking concerns and business firms of all types which regard the map as indispensable to their operations.

If your car begins skidding or pulling to the side when you apply your brakes, it may be a sign that your braking system needs attention. One brake is probably exerting less stopping force than the other — thus causing the skid.

TO TURN AGAIN

In winter the pond freezes over, and the old mill wheel is idle. But although the landscape appears dormant, there is hidden life beneath the surface. One day it will be spring again, with water rushing over the mill wheel and corn being ground into meal.

If you have been living in a winter of your own, why not take a lesson from the old mill? The winters of our life are bleak—they are hard to weather. But forever and ever there is the chance to start again. Spring will come and your church will sustain you through doubt and disappointment and give you promise of another chance—another life.

SMOKELESS GENERATIONS WHY NOT?

"Let's make theirs a smokeless generation" is the battle cry of the National PTA's dynamic ongoing Smoking and Health Project. In the fall of 1960, the National PTA launched a major campaign, supported by funds from the United States Public Health Service, to produce America's first generation of non-smokers.

Since then, almost 10 million copies of His First Cigarette May Be a Matter of Life or Death, the project brochure addressed to parents and designed for distribution on a parent-to-parent basis, have been distributed internationally through state and local PTA's, and the European Congress of American Parents and Teachers.

A second brochure, Smokeless Generations: Why Not?, recently was added to the Smoking and Health Project's collection of materials available to PTA members. "It was designed to give 'do-something' suggestions for the continued promotion of the project," said Mrs. Carolyn Hendrick, project director. Mrs. Hendrick, who is nationally known for her efforts in the fight against smoking, recently was elected to the executive committee of the National Interagency Council on Smoking and Health.

During the period January 11-16, 1971, the National PTA has urged its members to participate in the observance of National Education Week on Smoking. This week will mark the seventh anniversary of the U. S. Surgeon General's report on Smoking and Health released in 1964.

For more information on the National PTA's project on Smoking and Health, or for copies of the brochure, His First Cigarette, write to Mrs. Carolyn Hendrick, Project Director, Smoking and Health, National PTA, 700 North Rush Street, Chicago, Illinois, 60611.

When was the last time you thought enough of yourself to have a Pap test?

If you can find time for the beauty salon once a week, you can find time for the Pap test once a year.

It's quick. It's painless. It's great to know you're free of uterine cancer. And if those reasons aren't reason enough, maybe this will be: Almost all uterine cancers are curable when detected early.

The next time you call your beauty salon for an appointment, call your doctor for one, too.

It makes sense to have a yearly Pap test.

HOW TO HANG ON TO A GOOD HUSBAND

How do you rate as a mate? Are you great — or are you a louse as a spouse? Though your best friends — including friend husband — may not want to tell you, you can arrive at a pretty accurate answer by quizzing yourself about the things you do and say.

Here are some questions to which you should be able to answer "I do!" But do you:

Spend his money wisely? Many a husband feels that one more "final sale" will be the last straw! Remember, a bargain is something you want and need, available at a lower-than-usual price; if it doesn't meet this test, it isn't a bargain. Remember, too, that there are times when the higher-priced of two items is the real buy: china costs more than earthenware, but is much less breakable.

Cook his favorite foods often! Even if he likes something you consider bad for him, he should be able to digest it once a week without dire effects. Besides, many low calorie cookbooks offer non-fattening, nutritious ways to prepare old favorites.

Keep yourself energetic and [illegible] enjoy his leisure hours more if you are smiling and unfrazzled at the end of the day. No matter how hectic your schedule, make at least one hour of rejuvenating relaxation a part of it — either an afternoon nap or a feet-up-on-the-hassock "rest period."

Help him start the day right! Most men are grumpiest when they wake up — so why add fuel to the fire? Make sure he sees a pretty sight: hair neatly combed, lips enlivened with a trace of lipstick, and soft skin he'll love to touch. And remember, this is the time of year that wind and weather team up with water and detergents to dry your skin. Do use special face preparations, like A and D Cream, to protect and restore its softness.

Entertain to do him proud! Treating his family and friends royally when they come to visit is a supreme compliment to him — and it's easier and less costly than you might imagine. Ample portions of simple fare usually make a better impression than a wide assortment of [illegible] each.

Just as important as your actions are your attitudes, as revealed in the things you say (or don't say) to and about your mate. Do you:

Build him up in public and keep his secrets! Fidelity is more than a matter of staying monogamous. You're being disloyal each time you recite "cute" anecdotes that make him look small . . . correct or interrupt him in front of friends . . . or tell friends and relatives things they have no right to know.

Compare him favorably to other husbands you know. Instead of pointing out to him how much more other husbands in the neighborhood are making, etc. — concentrate on praising and polishing his good points. You may soon have something that Mrs. Jones will try to keep up with.

Accept him as he is without trying to change him! Any "reform" campaign is not only hard on the vocal chords and the marriage ties, but futile besides, the only person who can change [illegible] spouse himself. You married him for what he was — or did you?

Tell him the good things that happened during the day! Avoid a long recital of the day's problems and woes — especially if there's little or nothing he can do about them. Chances are he had a heck of a day too.

Try the same flattery you used before you married him! It worked then — why shouldn't it work now? Try it again . . . and really listen when your husband speaks. Both actions are great remedies for domestic headaches.

Casmey Comments

In spite of the occasional hot water into which he plunges, Commissioner of Education Howard Casmey takes a pretty straight and true line in his thinking on education. His logic is borne of experience in the rural areas of the state as well as a knowledge of metropolitan problems.

In direct statements to E. J. Shukle, program coordinator of the Northwest Minnesota Educational Research and Development council, the commissioner writes as follows:

"I feel that 90 per cent of the things that we are doing in education today are correct and should be continued but should not be continued for the total student population. The American education system is set up to serve about 40 per cent of the total population. Our educational system has been predicated and dedicated to the proposition that all children upon completion of high school should pursue a baccalaureate degree and we find only 20.8 per cent of all the children graduating from high school ever receive a baccalaureate degree.

"The majority of youngsters graduating from high school who do not pursue higher education have absolutely no marketable skills by which to pursue a livelihood. I would like to see at least 75 per cent of all the youngsters in elementary and secondary schools in the state of Minnesota exposed to a world of work program in elementary and skill orientation program in the formative years of high school and the possibility of marketable skills as part of their junior-senior years leading to post high school vocational education.

"I have stated many times that I am not a strong opponent of consolidation of schools; but when I talk of vocational education, I talk of cooperative efforts knowing full well that no individual school district alone can afford a comprehensive program of vocational education.

"My basic interest is to see that every child enrolled in a secondary school in the state of Minnesota has an equal opportunity to pursue the type of program that meets his need, potential and interest. I want to use the program approach rather than the numbers approach and any school district regardless of size, if they are willing to pay the price, can offer a comprehensive program.

"I would like to compliment the people in northwest Minnesota for taking the initiative in developing at their own expense a cooperative program in vocational education. For the first time I see schools in this area truly working toward meeting the needs of all their students."

Legitimate Arms

Handgun owners are among the first targets of the anti-gun groups who hope to disarm America. Here is what the Committee for Effective Crime Control, headquartered in Minneapolis, has to say about the situation.

Handguns are legitimately used in the shooting sports, in gun collecting, and in personal defense by more than twenty-five million Americans.

About forty-five thousand Americans are active each year in competitive pistol shooting. About two million citizens actively hunt each year with handguns. As of 1970, some forty-eight states, including Minnesota, allowed handguns to be used in taking predators and unprotected game. Forty states allowed handguns to be used in taking small game. Twenty-two states allowed the use of handguns in taking big game. Improvements in loads and accuracy have made handguns, in competent hands, suitable for hunting the largest North American game. Handguns offer a safety factor in settled regions because their maximum danger range is about half that of long range big game rifles.

Included among the ranks of handguns owners are many thousands of gun collectors and millions of citizens who keep handguns for personal protection and occasional outdoor use, such as plinking tin cans. Because of its size and ease in handling, the handgun is excellent for self defense and is, in fact, the only functional firearm in many situations.

According to the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports and statistics gathered by the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence, in any recent year only five of every thousand handguns are used in major crime, i.e., premeditated and impulsive homicide, armed robbery, and aggravated assault. The number of handguns involved in accidental deaths is much smaller.

Despite this outstanding record of legitimate and safe use, many do-gooders and some concerned citizens in our society are waging a war against handguns, seeking to isolate handgun owners from other firearms owners through a divide-and-conquer strategy preparatory to eliminating them. The handgun has become a symbol of violence to such oppressors and legitimate handgun ownership is endangered by a symbolic purge which would make scapegoats of legitimate owners. Such persons are hung up on the idea that a handgun has only one purpose and that is to kill. They do not realize that a handgun is an inanimate object. Whether a purpose is good or bad depends not upon the handgun but upon the user, and, statistically speaking, owners' purposes are virtually always legitimate. Sensationalized press stories lead some of the public to believe that violent use is the usual rather than the exceptional.

It will be up to all firearms owners and all concerned citizens to do their part to help educate the public about the overwhelmingly safe and lawful uses of handguns. By consistently and moderately pointing up the facts and keeping them in perspective, legislation may be directed into proper channels. The responsibility for this education is yours.

Population Shift

Minnesotans continue to move from the farm to the villages and cities—both within the state and out of the state—according to the Minnesota department of agriculture. Last year rural Minnesota lost enough people to fill a city in comparable size to Brainerd.

Agriculture Commissioner Jon Wefald notes that the state-federal crop and livestock reporting service estimates that 3,000 farming units were lost in the state last year. The acreage is still there, but the people who lived on the farms are no longer farm residents. Commissioner Wefald describes the situation as follows:

Minnesota now has 122,000 farming units, the smallest number in over 80 years, and 32,000 less than existed just a decade ago.

According to the 1969 farm census, the average Minnesota farm family was 4.1 persons. That factor, applied to the loss of farming units last year, represents a population of 12,300 that moved from the country to the villages and cities. Over the decade, the population shift represents 131,200, equivalent to the population of Duluth and South St. Paul combined.

Commissioner Wefald saw only one heartening factor in the new statistic. The loss was the smallest in four years and consistent with the midwest and national two per cent rate of attrition that reflected a slowdown in rural out-migration.

Minnesota's loss of farms during the last decade of 27 per cent compares with the national experience of 26 per cent.

Despite the massive shift in population from farm to city in the past 10 years, the land in farms has been reduced by only slightly over one per cent. The average size farm has increased, however, from 213 acres in 1962, to 262 acres today.

Races Coming

It won't be long before the annual States-Dominion snowmobile races will be held in Thief River Falls by the local Jaycee chapter. This year the ever-growing event will offer $8,500 in cash and trophies for two days of racing—Saturday and Sunday, February 13 and 14.

While Saturday's LeMans type cross country racing may be a better test of snowmobiles, Sunday's closed course racing on the half-mile oval track is the biggest crowd-pleaser. It also is a test of driving skill and the stability of snowmobiles in competition.

Much thanks for the success of the oval races must go to the city street department. Each year the department has hauled snow from the streets and dumped it along the race track, later using the grader when time permits to smooth the track surface. Having a banked track adds to the speed of the races and thereby to the excitement of the spectators.

The Jaycees have been working hard again this year to stage another successful event. Last year a few of the Sunday races had to be canceled because snow swirling over the northwest corner of the track made driving too hazardous. The track itself, thanks to the street department, was in excellent condition.

With the prizes being offered and the high interest in snowmobiling, a large number of entries and some highly competitive racing are expected this year. It should be, as the man on the TV tube says, a "really big show".

Borrowed Nonsense

The plane bounced in turbulent air and a little old lady became very nervous. "Everybody pray!" she shouted. "I don't know how to pray," said the man sitting next to her. "Well, do something religious," the lady pleaded. So he started a bingo game.

Red Lake Co-op Announces Three District Meets

Board of directors of the Red Lake Electric cooperative has set the dates and locations of a series of three district meetings to nominate directors to be placed in nomination and voted upon at the annual meeting in Thief River Falls on April 7. Any other business concerning the operation of the cooperative also may be discussed at these meetings.

Meetings scheduled are as follows: District 3—Newfolden school on Monday, February 1, at 8 p.m.; District 6—Dorothy church on Tuesday, February 2, at 8 p.m.; District 9—Black River church on Wednesday, February 3, at 8 p.m.

Directors of the respective districts are as follows: District 3 is represented by Helmer Lind, Marsh Grove township, Marshall county; District 6 is represented by Richard Weiss, Wylie township, Red Lake county; District 9 is represented by Leonard Melin, Polk Center township, Pennington county.

While these meetings are not restricted to members of a particular district, only members of the district present at the particular meeting are allowed to nominate or vote on nominees. This is in accordance with the by-laws of the cooperative.

An area informational meeting is set for the Goodridge community hall on Thursday, February 4 at 8 p.m. All members are encouraged to attend.

Aroused Taxpayers Meet Friday Night

Discussion ranged from how high the taxes on an individual's house are to the effect of this tax on growth of Thief River Falls during an informal taxpayers' meeting held Friday evening at the Thief River golf club.

Approximately 35 local citizens attended the meeting, which was headed by acting chairman Robert Flynn. Flynn, a vice president at a local bank, noted that he was spurred to take action and call the meeting by the number of bank patrons who expressed extreme dissatisfaction with the local real estate tax level. He said that a number of those with whom he does business have mentioned selling their homes and possibly moving out of the city, due to the real estate tax situation.

Another point brought up at the meeting was the fact that several professional persons—engineers, an orthodontist, and possibly others—who have been offered positions in Thief River Falls have been influenced enough by the tax rate that they may not locate here.

Flynn noted that while perhaps nothing can be done about the high tax rate, the taxpayers' organization, should one be formed, could serve as an informational unit, telling taxpayers where the money raised by taxes is spent and why the tax situation in Thief River Falls does exist. A suggestion was made that the organization could also be a "watchdog" for the taxpayers in general, with selected representatives attending meetings of the local city government, county board of commissioners, and school board.

Explaining where the city's share of the tax money has been spent was Bill Faney, city clerk. He noted that until about 1965, the city has been in a state of relative dormancy, with no street or utility expansion or improvement for many years. With the development of local industry since that time, a growing population has demanded expansion and improvement of city services, resulting in skyrocketing costs for the city, which in turn must be borne by the taxpayers.

The rural residents of Pennington county did not go unscathed at the meeting. There was some discussion concerning the inequity of the rural area of the county having three commissioners on the county board, while the city of Thief River Falls has two, and also some rumblings from businessmen concerning the comparatively lower tax load on rent estate in the rural areas.

Those at the meeting who own farms or farm land, however, stated unequivocally that the farmer is already being "taxed to death" and that many of the farmers are forced to take jobs in Thief River Falls in order to supplement their farm incomes enough so that they may stay on the farm from year to year.

The only positive action taken at the meeting was the suggestion that Flynn select a nominating committee to select acting officers for the taxpayers' group. A show of hands supported this suggestion. No date has been set for another meeting.

Bergland Presses For Changes In Disaster Payment

Congressman Bob Bergland is pressing the U.S. department of labor "to review its inconsistent and unreasonable payment policies" toward farmers, in the 7th district's nine-county disaster area, who are eligible for unemployment compensation.

Bergland met last Friday with labor department officials, representatives from the offices of Senators Walter F. Mondale and Hubert H. Humphrey, and Eugene Sampson from the Minnesota department of manpower services.

Both Senators Mondale and Humphrey, along with Bergland, are committed to restoring full payments to eligible farmers.

According to Bergland: "It became obvious, as Mr. Sampson explained the difficulties that he was having with the program, that the federal government—not the Minnesota department of manpower services—is responsible for this ridiculous foul up.

"Prior to November 2, applications for help were readily received and full payments regularly made," Bergland said. "Then—right after the election, strangely enough—requirements were stiffened and payments denied on a wholesale basis," he added.

"There are even instances," Bergland continued, "where one farmer would receive full payment while his neighbor—operating under the same circumstances—would be denied all payments."

Throughout the nine-county disaster area, 3,200 claims have been paid, 1,300 have received no action and 3,000 appeals for payment are pending.

Farmers in the area which includes Kittson, Roseau, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Beltrami, Polk, Pennington, Red Lake and Norman counties, were offered disaster aid in the form of unemployment compensation.

Bergland is asking the labor department to review its policies and "make payments on claims acted upon after the election the same as those approved prior to the election." Bergland said he was willing to give the department adequate time to review its policies but added: "If adequate and equal payments are not made, no action—including possible court action—should be excluded from the efforts to gain what is deserved."

Watershed Plan Is Under Review

First draft of an overall plan for the Middle River-Snake River Watershed district has been distributed to the advisory committee for study and recommendations, according to M. O. Sands of Alvarado, secretary of the district.

After recommendations of the advisory committee have been incorporated into the plan, it will be available to all who wish to study it and make further recommendations. After final acceptance by the board of managers, it will be sent to the state water resources board for acceptance. A hearing will then be scheduled by the state board in the district so that all persons affected can be heard before the final adoption of the plan.

The overall plan will include an inventory of water impoundment sites, whether feasible or not, an inventory of the existing ditch systems, state, judicial and county, and an analysis of the ditch system with thought of improving existing systems and creating new ones to better manage waters of the district.

"It is the hope of the board of managers and advisory committee that any of the studies to be made, all of which are very broad and general in nature, will not cause undue misunderstanding," Sands said.

The overall plan will also be specific about known problems, their location, magnitude and frequency. Reasonable solutions may be offered and objectives or goals listed.

The plan will include a boundary map of the district and maps locating various problem areas. It should have a priority statement on the importance of possible projects. Existing resource uses—such as water used for power, wildlife, municipal water supply and waste disposal—should be listed and an attempt made to forecast future needs, Sands added.

"Restless Youth" Title Of Dr. Cashman Talk

Marvin Lundin
1971 President

Glenn Peterson
1970 President

"Restless Youth" will be the title of Dr. Paul Cashman's address when the vice president of the University of Minnesota speaks tonight (Monday) at the annual meeting of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce. The annual banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m. in the American Legion club rooms.

Dr. Arnold M. Berg will serve as master of ceremonies for the affair. Rev. Louis Hermansen of Trinity Lutheran church will give the invocation and Glenn Peterson, 1970 president of the Chamber of Commerce, will introduce guests at the event and present special awards. The 1971 plan for action will be outlined by Marvin Lundin, chamber president for 1971, and he will also introduce the board of directors and committee chairmen.

Directors for 1971 include, in addition to the president and past president, Victor Charles, first vice president; Jon Larson, second vice president; Milton Reierson, treasurer; Orin Green, Dwight Tangquist, Jerald Hendrickson, Vernon Quam, Orville Hanson, Kenneth Onken, Vernon E. Nelson, Duane Walton, Robert Carlson, Donald M. Olson and Jerry Wendorff.

Vernon E. Nelson is general chairman of arrangements for the banquet. A special report on the Diamond Jubilee, which is being observed in Thief River Falls in 1971, will be presented by Mayor A. E. Jacobson.

Indications are that attendance may be the largest of any annual Chamber of Commerce meeting in the city's history, as advance ticket sales are extremely high, according to Merle Smith, executive vice president.

Paul Cashman has been a member of the University of Minnesota staff since 1953. He first served as a teaching assistant and then as a speech instructor on the Minneapolis campus, moving to the St. Paul campus to join the rhetoric department in September of 1956.

Cashman served as director of forensics at Hamline university, St. Paul, in 1950-53 and as assistant director of admissions and director of alumni relations at Hamline from 1951 to 1953.

A member of the Speech Association of America, he also holds membership in the Central States Speech association and Delta Sigma Rho.

Serving in the U.S. Air Force from June of 1943 to July of 1945, he spent the period of 1944 and 1945 in Italy, flying 56 combat missions, and was decorated with the air medal with three clusters.

Cashman has been a full professor since 1964 and earned his bachelor of science, master of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees at the university. Born at Des Moines, Ia., in 1924, he is married and has four children.

Airline Boards 7,667 For 1970

Passenger business for the North Central airlines terminal at Thief River Falls municipal airport showed a one-third increase in 1970, but air freight was where the real percentage of increase was.

According to figures obtained from local North Central personnel, freight going out of the terminal aboard North Central flights took a 77.3 per cent jump in volume over 1969. Freight loaded in 1969 amounted to 29,369 pounds, but in 1970 the business increased to 52,096 pounds.

Workmen at the airport also unloaded 201,589 pounds of freight in 1970, 67.8 per cent more than the 120,125 pounds unloaded in 1969.

Exactly 33.3 per cent was the increase noted in the air express loaded at the local air terminal, from 9,000 to 12,000 pounds. Express coming off the planes at Thief River Falls also increased, from 32,000 pounds in 1969 to 41,000 in 1970, an increase of 28.1 per cent.

Local passenger boardings numbered 7,667, up 33.5 per cent from last year's total of 5,741. Deplanings during the past year totaled 7,521, a 32.1 per cent increase from the 5,693 in 1969.

In December 1970, boardings were 15.3 per cent ahead of December 1969—681 to 598. The increase in deplanings for the month was not as spectacular, with 797 passengers leaving the airline's jet-prop Convair 580's here in 1970, 722 in 1969, for a margin of 13.8 per cent.

On an airline-wide basis, increases in traffic were not as great, percentage-wise in 1970. 3,753,020 passengers were carried by North Central, a 16-per-cent jump over the total the year before. Passenger miles flown increased by 32 per cent, reaching 806,164,805.

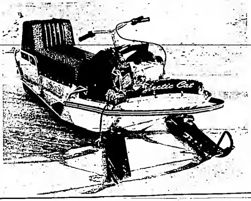
This was the third consecutive year the company boarded more than three million passengers. Part of the increase was attributable to the curtailment of service by another carrier.

Also, additional seat miles were provided by two new Douglas DC-9 fan jet aircraft. North Central's fleet now consists of 15 DC-9's and 34 jet prop Convair 580's.

The company set a monthly traffic high in August by carrying 401,981 passengers, nine per cent over 1969. On November 29, some 16,691 passengers flew North Central, making this the highest boarding day in the company's 23-year history.

Cargo, including air freight, express and mail, also showed record-breaking gains in 1970, with 10,984,825 ton miles flown—31 per cent ahead of 1969. Air freight alone accounted for 6,863,077 ton miles, a 49 per cent increase compared with the previous year.

North Central achieved an outstanding operating performance for 1970 as 25,167,089 of its 25,454,829 scheduled miles were flown, a completion factor of 99 per cent.



COLLISION of an automobile and snowmobile about 10:45 a.m. Saturday resulted in a Thief River Falls youth being hospitalized at Northwestern hospital. More Singers For Community Chorus Needed

Community chorus organized in October of 1970 at Northland state junior college needs additional members for the concert that is being planned at Easter.

Chorus members have analyzed the growth of the chorus and have concluded that greater participation might be achieved if the chorus did not require a fee.

On January 18 the chorus decided to drop the $5 membership fee and to invite everyone interested in singing to join the chorus.

Gerry Eggers, community chorus director, is planning an Easter concert and is inviting everyone in Northland's service area to join the chorus for singing enjoyment. There is no charge in becoming a member of the chorus.

The community chorus meets every Monday at Northland state junior college at 7:30 p.m.

Marlys Schwartz Marries Marvin Bakken At Trinity

Miss Marlys Schwartz and Marvin Bakken, both of rural Thief River Falls, exchanged marriage vows at 3 p.m., December 5 at Trinity Lutheran church in this city. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schwartz of rural Thief River Falls. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Bakken, also of rural Thief River Falls.

Rev. Harold Peterson officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Jack Srnsky, a cousin of the bride, was the organist. She played "O God Our Help In Ages Past" for the processional and for the recessional she played "Hark the Herald Angels Sing." During the ceremony Mrs. Arnold Hammer sang "Bless This House" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in an A-line, floor-length gown of white slipper satin with an empire bodice with princess-style seaming. Lace motifs encircled the rounded neckline and flowed down the front of the bodice, accented by full length chantilly lace sleeves. Matching lace motifs were repeated on the chapel-length train attached at the empire waistline. A crown of pearls held her fingertip veil of bridal illusion. She carried a white Bible, a gift from the groom, topped by a white orchid.

Mrs. Gary Iverson of Goodridge, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. Melville Bakken of Newfolden, sister-in-law of the groom, Miss Myrna Bakken, rural Thief River Falls, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Wendell Wegge of Thief River Falls, cousin of the groom. Their gowns, styled like the bride's, were of red velveteen with silver metallic trim around the empire waistline and at the high rounded neckline. To correspond with their gowns, they wore red velveteen bows in their hair. Each carried a single long-stemmed white mum. Their earrings in the shape of a cross were gifts from the bride.

Serving as flower girls were nieces of the bride, Misses Melissa Iverson and Miss Julie Schwartz, both of Goodridge. Their gowns, styled like the bridal gown, were complemented by red velveteen belts at the empire waistline. To complete their attire, they wore red velveteen bands in their hair and each carried a white testament, a gift from the bride, topped by a red carnation. Carrying the rings on a white satin pillow was the ring-bearer Wesley Srnsky of St. Hilaire.

Milton Bakken of rural Thief River Falls attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Melville Bakken of Newfolden, brother of the groom, David Schwartz of Goodridge, brother of the bride, and Gary Iverson, also of Goodridge, brother-in-law of the bride. Vernon Anenson of Goodridge, a friend of the couple, was usher. The groom and his attendants wore dark business suits. The groom wore a red rose boutonniere and the other men of the wedding party wore white carnation boutonnieres. Their tie clasps were gifts from the bride and groom, respectively.

The mother of the bride was attired in a blue woolen dress with black accessories and a corsage of red and white roses. A similar corsage was worn by the mother of the groom who wore an aqua blue dress with contrasting black accessories.

The parents of the bride hosted a reception in the church parlors following the ceremony. Centering the serving table was a three-tiered wedding cake baked and decorated by Mrs. Donald Rupprecht of rural Thief River Falls. Roman colonnades separated the tiers, decorated with red roses, sugar coated bells and pearlized angels. A miniature bride and groom graced the second tier. Topping the cake were two white doves in a bed of roses and white wedding bells. Aunts of the bride, Mrs. Clarence Sletten and Mrs. Mathis Nabben, both of Plummer, cut and served the cake. Pouring were aunts of the groom, Mrs. Alf Lokken and Mrs. Melvin Swenson, both of Thief River Falls.

Jacquelline Schwartz of Goodridge, niece of the bride, and Darlene Sletten of Thief River Falls, cousin of the bride, registered the guests and distributed the wedding programs. At the punch bowl were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Iverson. The groom's cake was distributed to the guests by Shelley Iverson of Goodridge and Lori Bakken of Thief River Falls, nieces of the bride and groom, respectively.

Mrs. David Schwartz served her sister-in-law as personal attendant. Waitresses were Mrs. Myron Swan, Clarice Drangstvelt, Oriette Melvie, friends of the bride living in Thief River Falls, and Miss Linda Sletten of Plummer, cousin of the bride. They wore red aprons with silver trim. Mr. and Mrs. Duane Opdahl presided at the gift table and Mrs. Orvis Sletten, Mrs. Alfred Nabben, aunts of the bride residing in Thief River Falls, together with Mrs. Howard Sletten, a friend of both families, were in charge of the kitchen. All those assisting with the reception were presented with corsages composed of either red or white carnations.

Local WCTU Given Views On Drugs At NSJC

In response to an invitation by Charles Samuelson, instructor of the health class at Northland State Junior college, members of the Thief River Falls Womens Christian Temperance union presented their views on drug addiction to the class on Friday, January 15.

Assisting the local unit in making the presentation was Mrs. Robert McWaters of Crookston, district president. She showed the film, "Decision" featuring drug pushing and the horrors of addiction and withdrawals.

The entire class session was turned over to Mrs. McWaters. She gave a short history of the WCTU stating that the Minnesota branch of this Christian organization was organized in Minneapolis 96 years ago. There are units on international, national and state levels as well as local and district. Operating expenses are paid from dues and donations. In addition to working against the use of alcoholic beverages, the WCTU was instrumental in beginning the first kindergarten and paid the wages of its first teacher. It instigated the first measure against White Slave traffic, furnishes films and film strips for public use, holds youth camps and is now emphasizing education in the abuse of narcotics.

Mrs. McWaters concluded by warning against the use of alcoholic beverages and the abuse of narcotics, saying that half of the violent crimes are caused by people using drugs and half of the traffic accidents are caused by drivers who have been drinking.

A number of women from the local unit were also present.

Pennington Gets $6,624,000 From All Governments

How big a part do government dollars—federal, state and local—play in the financial affairs of Pennington county residents? How much of their personal income comes from these sources?

Based upon a state-by-state analysis by the Tax Foundation of data recently released by the U.S. office of business economics, about 19.2 per cent of each dollar of income in Pennington county's area is from public funds. It came to approximately $6,624,000, after taxes, in 1969.

Taken into account in the study were payments of wages and salaries to people on government payrolls, the amounts going to those receiving social security benefits and outlays for unemployment compensation, pensions, interest and public assistance.

For Pennington county, applying the state average locally, the 19.2 cents consists of 9.5 cents received from the federal government and 9.7 cents from state and local agencies.

Throughout the United States as a whole, 21.7 cents of every dollar of personal income received by Americans comes in the form of government checks, the Tax Foundation shows. In the Plains states the average is 21 cents.

The total amount obtained from governmental sources during the year, via payrolls, pensions and the like, added up to $161 billion.

Of this sum, over $93 billion came from Washington and the other $68 billion from state and local governments.

Some communities get an exceptionally high proportion of their income from these sources, it is noted, due to a greater amount of public employment in their area or due to a high concentration of retired people.

The ratio of government payments to personal income was highest, 49.2 per cent, in the District of Columbia, because of the many federal employees there. Alaska, with 45.7 per cent, was next.

State and local contributions to personal income were lowest in New Hampshire, 7.1 per cent, and highest in New Mexico, 13.4 per cent.

With government payrolls on the rise and social security and other benefits expanding, public funds are becoming an ever-increasing source of personal income.

Social Security Applicant Needs Proof Of Age

To speed his first social security check, an applicant should be prepared to furnish his social security office with required proofs, advises Clifford Kittelson, district manager for social security.

Each applicant must furnish the best age proof available. A claimant who can't get a birth certificate may use his baptismal certificate. Anyone who can't get proof of his age should contact a social security representative for advice.

A wage earner will need his 1970 withholding statement. A self-employed person should have an extra copy of his 1970 federal income tax return.

Anyone who wishes may apply by telephone. Applicants who apply by telephone should have these documents at hand as a help in answering questions on the application. The interviewer will mail the completed application out for signature. Anyone on the Thief River Falls (Crookston) exchange can call without charge by dialing the operator and asking for Zenith 8450.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

Mrs. Gunhild Syrtvedt
415 Arnold Avenue south

In observance of the Diamond Jubilee of this city, this is the second in a series of recipes from a senior citizen in this area. Today's recipe comes from the kitchen of Mrs. Gunhild Syrtvedt of this city. A retired teacher, Mrs. Syrtvedt now resides at the Senior Citizens housing unit. The recipe was obtained from "Norway's Delight", a cookbook which she received from a relative in Norway. Although published in Norway, the book is printed in the English language.

We are grateful to Mrs. Syrtvedt for sharing this recipe with Kitchen Karnival together with her experiences while preparing for teaching.

Hardanger Coffee cake

1 cup butter or margarine
2 cups sugar
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup whole milk
2 eggs
grated rind from one lemon

Method: Stir butter and sugar until white. Add flour, baking powder, and lemon rind alternately with milk and eggs. Bake in a greased, floured form in a moderately hot oven (350 degrees) for 60 minutes. Frost with lemon frosting or seven minute icing with lemon flavoring. Makes one cake.

Mrs. Syrtvedt taught for 44 years in schools in the counties of Red Lake, Marshall, Polk and Pennington. With the exception of the last eight years before her retirement, she taught in one-room schools and was responsible for all eight grades.

To prepare for teaching, she attended Normal school at Moorhead from 1916-1918, staying at Wheeler hall, one of the dormitories. The school preceptress was from Boston, Mass., and was highly cultured. In addition to giving instruction in the fundamentals of teaching, she presided at the dining hall, giving lessons in table manners. In place of the rush of today's eating habits in cafeterias, the tables were set and the meals were served in formal style with a host and hostess at each table. It was considered a great honor to be appointed to serve as host and hostess. As such, one was taught how to carve, pour or serve graciously. Before being seated, everyone stood quietly at their places and bowed their heads in silent prayer.

Mrs. Syrtvedt stated that at all times, whether in the dormitories, classrooms or out in public, the students were expected to conduct themselves as ladies and gentlemen. Proper dress was stressed. Although the dormitory was very near to the school, it was announced at chapel that the girls were never to cross the streets wearing their physical education attire, which included white middy blouses, black ties, black pleated bloomers and long black stockings, unless the bloomers were covered by a skirt.

While teaching in the early years, Mrs. Syrtvedt's duties also included being school janitor, sweeping the floors, building the fires and supervising the removal of ashes. She soon learned to bank the fires in such a manner that there were live coals when she arrived the next morning after an invigorating walk from a boarding place one or two miles away. At her first school, she taught 24 pupils, had all eight grades and received $50 a month. Her first term was only six months. The wages continued to increase until she received over $100 a month in 1925.

In teaching, she used the required materials outlined in the Minnesota curriculum. Students remained in school until they received a passing mark in the State Board examinations provided by the Minnesota education department, or until they reached the age of 16.

In her first school, pupils drank from a rusty dipper hung in an old pail. Crockery fountains soon replaced this method. There were no hot lunches. The pupils carried their own lunches to school, mostly in tin syrup pails. In later years, with the co-operation of school boards, small stoves were provided and the children brought vegetables and meat from home and Mrs. Syrtvedt made soup for the noon meal.

In her years of teaching, Mrs. Syrtvedt returned several times to Moorhead or Bemidji, taking summer courses, until she was granted a lifetime teaching certificate. As the years went by, she enjoyed teaching more and more, particularly art, mathematics and geography. During the early years, she also taught parochial school for several weeks during the summer months. She recalled that the first session was taught in the Norwegian language.

Since retiring, Mrs. Syrtvedt stated that her greatest enjoyment is meeting and visiting with her former students. Mrs. Syrtvedt has one daughter, Mrs. C. M. (Marion) Birkland, who resides in Bloomington.

Variety Of Pork Roasts Can Add To Family Meals

With pork listed by the U.S. department of agriculture as one of the plentiful foods for January, consumers should find pork roasts reasonably priced this month.

But consumers should be aware of the variety of cuts available for roasting, some of them more economical than others, says Richard Epley, extension meats specialist at the University of Minnesota. Consider these pork cuts for roasting, Epley suggests:

The popular pork loin, either bone in or boneless, is always a tender cut, easy to prepare, appropriate to serve for company meals. If you buy an entire loin, you may want to ask the meat man to cut chops off part of it and use the rest for roasting. Some of this meat can be frozen immediately for future use.

Boston Butt (shoulder roast) is one of the more economical cuts of pork. If you buy a rolled Boston Butt or a cushion shoulder, you can stuff each with a bread dressing.

Smoked or fresh picnic (shoulder roast) is another economical cut.

Fresh ham is reasonably priced and is easy to prepare and to carve. It can be bought boneless and has a coating of fat to make it self basting.

Slow cooking in a low oven—no higher than 325 degrees, preferably lower—will bring out the rich flavor of pork. All the fresh pork cuts listed should be roasted in a shallow roasting pan, uncovered. The most reliable method of finding out when the meat is done is to use a meat thermometer. Insert it into the center of the meat. Don't let it touch bone or fat. Cook the roast until it reaches an internal temperature of 170 degrees F. shown on the thermometer.

Research conducted by Iowa State university and the national live stock and meat board demonstrated that pork roasts will be more juicy and more flavorful and still completely safe when cooked to an internal temperature of 170 degrees rather than to the previously recommended temperature of 185 degrees.

C. Curtisses Feted On Their 25th Anniversary

Relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Curtiss gathered recently at Our Savior's Lutheran church at Thief Lake to help them celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary.

The event was planned by the couple's three daughters, Mrs. Howard (Geraldine) Hodne, Pamela Curtiss and Rhonda Curtiss, with the assistance of relatives and close friends.

A program was given with Mrs. Eddie Johnson of Thief River Falls, sister-in-law of Mrs. Curtiss, presiding. She also read an original, humorous poem pertaining to the couple's premarital life. Other events in the life of the couple were told by Donald Osse. Vocal selections included a solo, "I'm a Little Teaspot" by Paula Hodne, the couple's granddaughter, and two selections, "I Love You Truly" and "Blessed Be The Tie That Binds," by a trio composed of Mrs. Palmer Beito, Mrs. Elwood Beito and Mrs. Donald Osse. The program concluded with the benediction by Rev. Donald Fredine and the reading of congratulatory letters from Russell Curtiss of Seattle, Wash., and Betty of Spokane, Wash., brother and sister of Mr. Curtiss.

For the reception, the tables in the parish hall were centered with bouquets of red roses. The couple's daughters, Pamela and Rhonda, registered the guests and served the punch. Paula Hodne and Dawn Nelson distributed the thank-you notes.

The anniversary cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Edwin Lund and Mrs. George Severts, was cut and served by Mrs. Arnold Haugen and Mrs. Harry Scramstad. Mrs. Florence Osmundson of Thief River Falls, a sister of Mrs. Curtiss, and Mrs. Duwayne Thygeson, poured.

For the celebration, Mrs. Curtiss was presented with a corsage of red roses and feathered mums and Mr. Curtiss was given a red rose boutonniere.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Tangquist of this city announce the birth of a son, Blake Allan, born January 11, at St. Michael's hospital in Grand Forks, N.D. He weighed 9 lbs., 3 ozs., and was 22 inches. The Tangquists have a daughter, Heidi Lou.

Trinity Women To Begin 1971 Study Program

Trinity Lutheran Church Women will begin the new year study program with a joint meeting on Wednesday, January 27, at 8 p.m. The program, due to its inspirational nature, will be presented in the sanctuary. It will feature "Vicki Talks With God," a dialogue-skit by George Good of Drake Divinity school. Mrs. Stanton (Vicki) Dahlen will portray the Christian woman in search for strength. "The voice of God" will be read by Rev. Harold Peterson.

This skit was selected by the new educational secretaries, Mrs. Frank Hamerlinck and Mrs. William Penning. It portrays the dilemma of women who through the 1970 study lessons have become aware of the many social problems, yet they are unsure of what they can do to curb such things as pollution, poverty and want. As new fields of concern are studied this year in "Unity for Quarrelsome Saints", and as greater need for power to act is felt, the women will identify themselves with "Vicki" paying an imaginary visit to God in His house-on-the hill.

Women of other Lutheran churches in the area are welcome to attend this meeting. TLCW leaders feel that this program will be helpful to those who have just completed studies of the Christian's role in today's world, and like Trinity Women, are beginning monthly circle discussions on unity among Christians.

The program will include the 1971 theme hymn, "Our God Is Live" and a hymn of rededication, "Take My Live and Let It Be." Mrs. Kermit Hanson will be in charge of the offering meditation. She will be assisted by Mrs. Art Stenberg and Mrs. Walt Larson who will play a piano-organ arrangement of the "Evening Prayer" by Humperdinck for the offertory. Half of the offering will go, as usual, directly to headquarters of American Lutheran Church Women for joint stewardship projects. Mrs. K. E. Lindberg in charge.

The business session will be very brief, according to the newly-installed president, Mrs. Morris Goddard. The secretary's report by Mrs. Oale Wennberg will be available but will not be read. The evening's program will conclude with the "Lord's Prayer" sung by Mrs. Donald Olson.

All those attending are invited to participate in the fellowship hour scheduled to begin at 9 p.m., in the church parlors. Members of the Elizabeth circle with Mrs. Dennis Wegge, chairman, will be in charge of hospitality. The Abigail circle, with Helen Horgen, chairman, will serve lunch.

State Registers Big Increase In Export Value

Minnesota has registered one of the largest increases in value of manufactured exports in the nation, according to the 1969 figures recently released by the U.S. Department of Commerce.

The $492.2 million valuation of exported manufactured products represents an increase of more than $180 million over that of 1966—or an increase of over 50 per cent in just three years.

The biggest single increase was in the value of non-electrical machinery, which accounted for $243.3 million in 1969—an increase of $112 million in three years.

C. M. Towle, Industrial Development Director for the Minnesota Department of Economic Development, said "Minnesota manufacturers are to be congratulated for their efforts in marketing their goods abroad."

One of the department's functions has been to assist Minnesota firms in exporting their products and encouraging non-exporters to think in terms of foreign markets, a function which has been re-emphasized during the last three years.

Agri-Clinic Is Set Feb. 4 For Red Lake Falls

Agri-Clinic '71 is scheduled in Red Lake Falls on Thursday February 4, an all day meeting for farmers and businessmen featuring top speakers from six participating companies including Allis Chalmers, Bohlen Manufacturing, DeKalb, American Chemical, Dodge Trucks and Piper, Jaffray and Hopwood.

Activities will be held at the Lafayette high school gymnasium beginning at 9 a.m. with registration and coffee. A free ham dinner will be served at noon by the American Legion auxiliary. Drawing for free prizes throughout the day are for a portable TV, a handpower saw, and a tractor radio offered by businesses of Red Lake Falls. The complete program continues until 3:30 p.m. An "Early Bird" drawing is at 9:30 a.m.

Dr. B. E. Youngquist, superintendent of the Northwest Experiment station of Crookston, who has been associated with many agricultural organizations in the Red River Valley for a number of years, is the keynote speaker. Master of ceremonies is W. M. "Walt" Buescher of the Allis Chalmers company, Milwaukee, Wis. Buescher has spent a lifetime in the farm equipment business and has been in charge of his company's participation in crop clinics for seven years, speaking throughout the United States and Canada.

The agri-clinic is designed to provide farm information on various lines—more information than could be gathered any place else in one day, according to sponsors. It is a farmers information clinic, the first such event ever held in the area and the only one booked this year in northern Minnesota. Similar meetings are scheduled by the same companies in North Dakota and Montana.

Herbicides, insecticides, fertilizers and seeds are prime topics that will be covered in detail. Sponsors invite farmers to bring ideas and questions. There will be specific topics of no-til and its effect on the environment, and new harvest efficiency data in a film report by Professor Delbert Byg of Ohio State university, just one of the speakers. Using five years of field research data, Professor Byg will outline ways for farmers to plug that hole in their profit pocket.

The backfiring car almost seems a relic of bygone days. However, the modern car can backfire, too -- especially when the fuel mixture is too lean and the engine cold. Other possible causes are sticky or leaky valves or ignition leakage. If your car backfires, take it to your favorite service outlet.

Jobless Rate Up, Seasonal Rate Remains Stable

Minnesota's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate remained unchanged from November to December, Commissioner Emmet J. Cushing of the Minnesota department of manpower services announced today.

The seasonally adjusted rate for both November and December was 4.8 per cent, which compares with national rates of 5.8 in November and six per cent in December. The Minnesota rate for December of 1969 was three per cent.

Although the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate remained steady, the number of unemployed increased from 78,000 in November to 82,800 in December. This increase can be attributed to anticipated seasonal layoffs.

However, the increase in the number of unemployed from December of last year to December of this year is 31,900, reflecting the downswing in the economy, Commissioner Cushing said.

This decline in employment from a year ago can be attributed principally to decreased employment in the "Other Durable Goods" category which includes electrical and nonelectrical machinery, ordnance, scientific, instruments and other industries.

The decline in durable goods was offset to some degree by increases in the nonmanufacturing category which includes services and government, Commissioner Cushing said.

The number of people employed in December declined 2.5 per cent from November and 1.6 per cent from December, 1969. Total number of persons employed were 1,558,900 in December 1970, 1,599,100 in November, 1970, and 1,585,000 in December, 1969.

The civilian work force increased from 1,636,000 in December of 1969 to 1,641,800 in December of 1970.

Manufacturing production workers earned an average of $145.82 per week at $3.65 per hour working a 39.9-hour week. In November, average earnings were $142.80 while working 39.4 hours at $3.63 per hour. Average weekly hours and earnings did not change significantly from last month.

Compared to December of 1969, average weekly earnings at $141.70 were less than in December of 1970, while the workweek was 1.6 hours longer.

SMOKE SCREEN

If you're looking for another reason to quit smoking, consider your driving safety. Tobacco smoke leaves a dulling film on the inside of your windshield. The result is reduced visibility and stronger glare. If you do smoke, periodically clean the inside of the windshield with a solution of water and vinegar to wash away tobacco film.

Daily Hospital Costs Increase During Past Year

Daily cost of hospitalization rose during 1970, according to a Minnesota Blue Cross and Blue Shield study released this week. The study also showed a significant trend toward increasing use of out-patient facilities and a slight decrease in length of the average hospital stay.

The study of hospital cost data from the first 11 months of 1970 showed that an additional 1,000 Blue Cross subscribers in the Minneapolis area alone made use of out-patient and emergency facilities at area hospitals. To accomodate this increase, several hospitals have expanded their out-patient facilities.

Although the decrease in length of hospital stay is only a fraction of a day compared to 1969 figures, it is an important one, reflecting increased efficiency of hospitals and a conscious effort toward reducing unnecessary hospitalization.

Hospital charges continued to rise in 1970 at approximately the same yearly rate as in the past five years. Minneapolis hospitals averaged at 14.3 per cent increase for room, board and ancillaries compared to 1969 charges, according to the study, while St. Paul hospitals averaged a 14.8 per cent increase. Duluth hospitals averaged a seven per cent increase.

However, the decrease in length of hospital stay has lessened the effect of the increase in charges. For example, while hospital charges rose in Duluth, the total hospital bill in 1970 was $5 less than in 1969. The decrease was due to a shorter average stay.

According to Blue Cross statistics, the average hospital bill in the Twin Cities for a seven to eight-day stay was between $709.31 and $719.22, while the average hospital bill in Duluth was $567.38 for an 8.5 day stay.

Unique Bridge Built On Trail Near McGregor

A unique bridge built to span ice covered rivers and to be removed during the summer for boat traffic is proving a boon to snowmobilers on the Savanna trail north of McGregor in Aitkin county.

Built by the department of natural resources (divisions of parks and recreation, and lands and forestry) the bridge is installed on the Prairie river after it is frozen over. A slot is cut in the ice in the middle of the 80 foot wide stream and a center support column is erected. Then two approach ramps are winched and bulldozed into position from each bank of the stream and connected with the central column.

Norway pine is used for the framing of the bridge and metal landing mats are used for decking. Oak poles fastened together are used for the central column. Installation takes about six hours.

The bridge was used last season and was installed on Dec. 8, 1970 to handle this winter's snowmobile traffic.

The bridge crosses the river on a trail which starts two miles north of McGregor and intersects trails in Savanna Portage state park.

Snowmobilers have found the bridge quite a novelty and foresters have observed some driving back and forth over the bridge several times before continuing on the trail.

USDA Implements Food Stamp Plan

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Richard Lyng said today that USDA's food and nutrition service is already moving to implement new food stamp legislation approved January 11 by President Nixon.

Lyng said the new legislation provides the principal food stamp reforms requested by the administration, including uniform national eligibility standards, provisions for free stamps for the very poor, maximum charge to other participants not to exceed 30 per cent of their income, and authorization for eligible families to buy less than their full stamp allotment.

In its major features, the new food stamp law:

Extends the authority for program appropriations through fiscal year 1973. A maximum appropriation of $1.75 billion is authorized for the current fiscal year (ending June 30, 1971), with no limitations set on amounts that may be appropriated for fiscal years 1972 and 1973.

Provides for the establishment of uniform national eligibility standards, eliminating the inequitable State-to-State variations in eligibility rules.

Provides a stamp allotment sufficient to purchase a nutritionally adequate diet.

Authorizes free stamps for those with little or no income.

Provides that all other eligible families will receive their stamp allotment for a charge not exceeding 30 per cent of their income.

Calls for revised definitions of a "household" as a group of "related" individuals.

Requires able-bodied persons between 18 and 65 years of age—excepting persons caring for dependent children, "bona fide" students, and people working at least 30 hours per week—to register for or accept employment at applicable Federal or State wage rates.

Provides for the value of the food stamp allotment to be reviewed annually, to take account of changes in retail food prices.

Permits eligible families to buy less than their full stamp allotment, thereby adding flexibility to the program.

Permits elderly persons to spend their food stamps to purchase meals delivered to their homes by nonprofit agencies.

Facilitates the participation of welfare families by permitting them to purchase food stamps by a "check-off" from their welfare grant.

Requires the States to undertake "Outreach" efforts to acquaint eligible families with the food stamp program, and authorizes federal sharing of the costs involved.

Authorizes concurrent distribution of food stamps and donated commodities in areas requesting both programs.

Provides a "fair hearing" procedure for aggrieved program participants.

Following the precedent set in implementing school lunch and child nutrition legislation last year, USDA will publish proposed food stamp regulations and invite comments on them. Lyng said April 15 has been set as a target date for publication of the proposals in the "Federal Register," to allow time for necessary consultations with other federal departments over the next several weeks to insure coordination and compatability of key policies with related federal programs.

In addition to publishing the proposed regulations, USDA will issue new schedules establishing the cost of food stamps to participants, the assistant secretary said.

USDA Decides Against Formula For Milk Price

U.S. department of agriculture has decided against use of a proposed "economic" formula for pricing bottling milk to dairy farmers under all federal milk marketing orders. This issue was considered at a public hearing at Clayton, Mo., in January of 1970 and at New York, N. Y., in February of 1970. A tentative, or recommended, decision was issued on Sept. 29, 1970.

USDA's consumer and marketing service said the final decision affirms the findings and conclusions of the earlier recommended decision that no action should be taken to adopt the proposed pricing formula. Officials said the formula is a composite index of 12 economic indicators, which would gear milk order bottling price changes to movements in the general economy.

The decision states that the hearing on the proposed formula did not establish that the "economic" formula would reflect accurately needed changes in bottling milk prices, maintain appropriate price relationships among markets and uses of milk; and be compatible with other program responsibilities of the secretary of agriculture.

Following the recommended decision, a period was provided through November 10 for submission of exceptions to the recommended decision. In addition to their exceptions, interested parties were asked to file views on whether the hearing should be reopened to take further evidence. There were no requests to reopen the hearing on the proposed formula.

With the issuance of the final decision, USDA has terminated the proceedings, and no further action will be taken on the basis of the hearing held in January and February of 1970.

Copies of the final decision will be available next week from the market administrators of the various orders, or from the Dairy Division, Consumer and Marketing Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250.

Governor Reagan Will Be Speaker At GOP Banquet

J. Robert Stassen, South St. Paul, state chairman of the 1971 Minnesota Republican Fund Raising Dinner, announced today that California Governor Ronald Reagan will be main speaker for the annual Minnesota Republican fund raising dinner.

The dinner will be held March 26 at the St. Paul auditorium where a crowd of 6,000 to 7,000 is expected. Last year Vice President Spiro Agnew's appearance attracted a record crowd of more than 8,000 persons.

The date has been set back to March 26 to fit Governor Reagan's busy schedule.

"It was difficult for Gov. Reagan to accept the invitation," Stassen said, "because the Democrat-dominated California state legislature is in session and the governor's schedule is heavy.

"Former Gov. Harold LeVander, however, convinced Reagan that the Minnesota Republican fund raising dinner is of such stature as to justify the time it will require."

Stassen said that over 17,000 Minnesota Republicans participate in ticket purchases for the 1970 dinner, contributing an average amount of about $40 each.

Adopting the theme "Operation Comeback," the dinner is one of the two major fund raising activities of the Minnesota GOP. The other, called "Neighbor-to-Neighbor," will be launched in the spring.

Kittson County Average Tax Levy Going Down

While taxpayers in a number of northwestern Minnesota counties chafe at the bill over property taxes, some Kittson county residents are getting their second tax reduction in two years.

One of the things affecting the county's tax structure is a lowering of the county mill levy, down 1.60 mills from the 70.74 mills in 1970 to 69.08 mills for 1971. Mill levy rates for the Karlstad and Lancaster school districts have also dropped, the Karlstad district by 12.77 mills and Lancaster by .97 mills.

The average rate in Kittson county in 1971 is 248.56 mills, dropped from 1970's 250.67 mills. In 1970, while Kittson county's average was 250.97, Marshall county taxpayers shelled out an average of 275.93, Roseau county residents paid 463.48, Polk county 294.94, Pennington county 385.73, and statewide, taxpayers forked over 329.18 mills.
